Housemother Deal Alarms The Greeks

By Charles Wood

A number of fraternities have become alarmed at the recently stated policy that no houses will be allowed to open this summer unless they have housemothers.

The administration has been accused by a number of fraternities of contradicting itself less than a month ago.

A statement of policy in the fall of 1962 reads: "Each housemother must sign an annual contract with the fraternity approved by the Office of Student Activities. She will be employed from September 1 to June 15 (or as revisions in the college calendar may require), at a salary of $125 per month. Each fraternity will provide adequate quarters and meals while school is in session. She will be expected to remain in resident for the period indicated except for officially scheduled school vacations."

Joe Moore, president of the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, who presented the "housemother" proposal to the Interfraternity Council Wednesday, expressed the opinion that there is no physical need for a housemother.

"The kitchen will not be opened and a chaperone may be acquired for any social event," Moore said.

Moore also added that when the TKE's moved on the row they were assured that administrative policy would be the same and that each house would be assured of economic gains during the summer months.

Banks Talley and Tom Covington, the director and assistant director of Student Affairs, had comments to make about the fraternities' dissatisfaction. "I would suggest that two fraternities could go together since a majority of the houses will only have about half of their members in school during the summer. I suggested this to the TKE's and the PKT's three weeks ago. Actually there would be very little trouble in hiring a school teacher to live in the houses. We make it quite clear to the fraternities that this fall the policy would be that the housemothers would remain at all times."

Moore told The Technician last night that they were informed verbally one week ago that they would be required to have their mother stay through the summer. "We told Covington that we would not hire our housemother and would open. He called our national headquarters on this matter. National requested to me that we abide with the decision. There is no way of doing such without losing money that we can not possibly afford to lose."

First Come First Serve

The Windhover is waiting to be picked up.

The new literary magazine, appearing for the first time, is available in the student activities office of the Erdahl-Cloyd Union and the English Department main office in Winston Hall.

Copies are being distributed on a first come, first serve basis. They are free, but bring your registration card.

The 88-page magazine measures nine by six and one-half inches. The cover is brown.

'No Mother, No Open'

A tempest is brewing between the IFC and the administration over a policy recently announced by the Student Activities Office.

The office has added another requirement for the operation of fraternity houses during the summer: they must maintain a housemother in order to remain open during the summer session.

The fraternity reaction to this requirement, which was unexpected, according to Donald Schort, past president of the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, has been stormy.

The housemother requirement was discussed in detail at the Interfraternity Council meeting Wednesday. A number of the fraternities had become alarmed by the new instructions due to the increased costs of summer operation.

In view of this situation, the council unanimously passed a proposal to allow the fraternities to employ housemothers if they were financially able to do so. The proposal states "... that the acquisition and maintenance of a housemother during the summer by the individual chapters chartered at N. C. State will be up to the discretion of the individual chapters as they determine their economic and physical needs at the time. It is requested that the Department of Student Activities act in an advisory capacity in this matter."

Joe Moore, president of Tau Kappa Epsilon, who brought up the proposal, expressed the opinion that there is no physical need for housemothers. "The kitchen will not be open and a chaperone may be acquired for any social event," Moore stated. "There is no continuity of operation in her position during the summer," he added.

However, the administration apparently has a different view of its "advisory" capacity. When queried on the IFC proposal, Tom Covington, assistant director of Student Activities, stated, "We (Banks Talley and

he) were at the IFC meeting and we made it perfectly clear that the policy of Student Activities would be that the fraternity houses would not be open at all during the summer without the services of a housemother."

The housemother requirement seemed sudden to several of the fraternities. However, Banks Talley, director of Student Activities, stated that he, Covington, Dean Stewart, and Chancellor Caldwell had set a "university policy" two or three months ago calling for housemothers during the summer. Reaction to the requirement from the various fraternities had centered around the financial hardships that it places upon them.

Under the terms of the housemother's contract, she must be given board and a minimum of $125 per month. By continuing this through the summer, a number of the fraternities would be unable to defray their usual expenses under such a burden.

Covington has suggested that two of the fraternities combine to help defray this added expense according to the TKE fraternity. He also suggested that the TKE fraternity take in non-fraternity men to help expenses, stated the past TKE president, Donald Schort.

Bob Harrison, president of Phi Kappa Tau, stated, "The brothers voted that the house would operate during the summer under the administration's requirements if it was economically possible. But with only half of our brothers in the house for the summer, we would not make enough profit even to pay the depreciation on the furniture if we have to pay for a housemother. If the administration forces the housemother requirement, we will have to close the house for the summer."

Jack Watson, past president of IFC, stated, "I am violently opposed to the administration's decision that housemothers will be required to live in the house if the house is open during the summer. As for this requirement being imposed three months ago, I had a conference with Tom Covington approximately one month ago. We exchanged ideas on the house operations this summer and I was told that an absolute decision has not been reached."

"Aside from catching many of the fraternities off guard by this decision, it seems to me as I explained to Mr. Covington during our discussion that a much more workable solution could be found than to impose this requirement."

"The administration seems to believe that the presence of housemothers guarantees to a great extent that fraternity men will maintain a high level of conduct. This position is fairly ridiculous. And certain housemothers will agree with that."

Several of the fraternity presidents stated that they were unable to retain their present housemothers for the summer session.

Leaders Needed

Orientation leader applications are still available.

Any students wishing to participate in the orientation of freshmen next September may apply by filling out an application from the Erdahl-Cloyd Union main desk and or the Financial Aid Office in Peele Hall.

Auction

You may can buy it for less than you think.

The annual lost-and-found auction will be held Friday in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union ballroom. The auction will start at 7 p.m. and last until everything is sold.

The articles to be auctioned off include eight bicycles, several slide rules, many textbooks and articles of clothing, and according to Dave Phillips every thing but the kitchen sink.

The proceeds from this auction will go to the student loan fund.

Phillips Explains Invitation Issue

Senior Class President Benny Phillips has shed a little light on the confusion surrounding graduation announcements.

The date of commencement was changed from May 30 to May 29 by the administration. When announcements were picked up this week, seniors found the original date on the cards with a correction slip in the envelope. Phillips said last night that the senior class received no official notification of the date change, and he did not know about it until he read it in The Technician.

"When we found out about the change, we immediately checked with the Students Supply Stores, since the announcements were ordered through it, to make sure the printing company was told of the new date," Phillips said. Class Secretary Bill Layman said he was assured by an official of the SSS that "everything has been taken care of."

"We assumed this meant that the date would be changed on the announcements. We had no idea that a correction notice would just be put in with them," Phillips stated. He added that he was not aware of what had been done until he picked up his announcements this week.

"We can only conclude," he said, "that the printers were just notified too late to make the change."

State Students for Preyer for Governor will meet tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the catering room of the Union. All interested students are welcome.

The Ag Ed Club will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in 114 Tompkins. The program will consist of election of officers and other business. (See CAMPUS CRIER, page 4)

The Agromeck Is Coming...

The Agromeck will probably be here next Tuesday.

According to latest reports, the delivery of the first 3,000 Agromecks is scheduled for Tuesday, shortly before noon.

All students who have paid their fees for both semesters are eligible to get an annual.

The procedure is as follows:

1. Go to the desk outside the Students Supply Stores, or the College Union and present your blue ID card for this semester.
2. Two lines will be formed at both distribution centers; A - L in one, M - Z in the other.
3. If your name is on the list being checked by the Alpha Phi Omega people who are handling distribution, go to the business office and pay the remainder of your fees.

Military Presents Awards

The departments of Military Science and Air Science presented their annual awards Tuesday amid tumultuous applause, musical fanfare, and occasional laughter.

A total of 56 cadets received awards with some cadets receiving two. Awards were presented by each military department and by various civic and business groups. The event was mandatorially attended by most of the cadets from each service branch.

The Joint Army-Air Force individual ROTC awards for the 1963 academic year are as follows:

The Master Sergeant Horace

C. Thomas Award, presented to the MS II who won the Army ROTC Best Drilled Cadet Competition, awarded by MSgt Thomas (Ret) to Cadet SSgt Clyde S. Overcash.

The Best Drilled Pershing Rifle Cadet Competition Award, presented by MSgt Thomas to Cadet Charles L. Biggs Jr.

The Best Drilled Air Force Cadet Awards presented by Maj. Waterman to Cadet Milton R. Haas, AS I, Cadet TSgt Paul J. Baragona, AS II, and Cadet Major David B. Hill, Jr., AS III.

The Air Force ROTC Flight Leader Award, presented by Maj. Waterman to Cadet Captain John M. Spainhour.

The Scabbard and Blade Awards, presented by Maj. Lawson to Cadet MSgt Leo G. Miller, AFROTC, and Cadet John C. Pratt, Army ROTC.

The Scabbard and Blade Marksmanship Medal, presented by Maj. Lawson to Cadet Captain Phillip G. McMillan.

Now just what's going on here?

IFC passed a rule yesterday recommending that the hiring of housemothers for the summer be left up to the individual fraternities.

Deans Covington and Talley stated last night that these rules were not in accordance with "University policy." The "university policy" states that housemothers will be hired this summer by all fraternities who wish to stay open.

This "university policy" was formulated three months ago by an entire chain of command, ranging up to the Chancellor. This is a definite policy and will not be changed, Talley says.

This "definite policy" was transmitted verbally to the fraternities two months ago.

The fraternities disagreed. A former president of IFC was told that the "definite policy" was still somewhat nebulous one month ago.

At a meeting of fraternity presidents one month ago Covington said having housemothers in the summer was made as a "suggestion."

The recommendation is based on a rule IFC passed a number of years ago recommending that housemothers be hired, and only implemented this year.

Many of the houses signed nine-month contracts when they hired housemothers. Two months ago they had to change this policy. Or was it one month—or today?

Many of the houses say that keeping a housemother during the summer will ruin them financially. Suggestions from Peele Hall include: (1) Combining the fraternities, two or more in one house, (2) taking in non-fraternity men.

Why did nine-month contracts come about if a "definite" IFC ruling was applied? The information we have points to Student Activities as recommending in writing nine-month contracts.

If twelve-month contracts are definite, then why weren't they made definite a year ago? Two months ago? One month ago? today?

We don't know, but we do know this. Many fraternities have had to take on a severe financial burden to come on fraternity row. They desperately need to make money during the summer. They can't if they have to close. They can't if they have to pay housemothers.

Now, a fraternity can do this if they (1) combine, or (2) take in non-fraternity members.

Now, are we talking about fraternities or dormitories?

We could go on. So far, this editorial has been pretty factual.

But we must come to a conclusion.

We're not going to accuse the administration of attempting to turn Fraternity Row into a glorified social club or dormitories.

We're not going to link two events and ask why the SAE's one of the strongest fraternities in the IFC, went on social probation just before this incident arose.

Not yet.

We're not going to make these accusations, although we intend to investigate this whole affair with both of these thoughts in mind.

But we have every right to accuse the Student Activities of the most glorious job of misinforming the fraternities we have even seen.

This department has managed to have a "university policy" which does not exist in writing, not did it ever exist in writing until one week ago.

Did IFC know about this "university policy"? Nope, not until yesterday. Well, they'd been told about it, but it was a recommendation and they were "still thinking about it."

Why? Are the students still incapable of making their own decisions? Does in loco parentis have to come up again and again? Are there things students shouldn't be allowed to learn until the last minute?

When will we learn these things? Two months from now? One month from now? Today?

Sigma Phi Epsilon Dedicates New House

Sigma Phi Epsilon officially dedicated its new fraternity house Saturday in the presence of over 200 alumni, parents, and guests.

The ceremonies began about 2 p.m. with Dave Parrott, alumni president, acting as master of ceremonies. Assistant Director of Student Activities Tom Covington spoke on changes in the fraternity system on campus necessary to meet the University's higher educational demands.

Guest speaker Bedford W. Black, attorney from Kannapolis, officially dedicated the new house "to the service of mankind and Sigma Phi Epsilon."

Black is the past Grand National president and former Grand National secretary of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He has also served as representative to the North Carolina General Assembly.

Preceding Black's address, local past president Carlos Williams presented outstanding alumnus awards to seven alumni who have in past years made significant contributions to State's chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

A tour of the new house followed the ceremonies.

MISUSE OF THE LANGUAGE, PART I:

The National Safety Council is very proud of its contributions to traffic safety. For example, its primary slogan is and has been for years, "Speed Kills."

The number of deaths due to traffic accidents has actually declined when compared to the number of vehicles on the road, or the yearly mileage accumulated by these vehicles. In 1934, the average number of deaths per 100 million vehicle miles traveled was 16.7. Currently, it is 5.3 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles.

Speed does not kill. Neither does horsepower. People kill. A pistol is absolutely harmless until someone picks it up. A car is just as inanimate as a pistol until it is touched by human hands. Then it is a deadly weapon when improperly used.

No one gives a child a pistol. No one should give a child a car. Proper training and the mastering of certain skills are necessary for proper usage of either object.

An emotional appeal for safe driving is worse than nothing, by far. Does anyone remember December 1, 1955? This was the nation's most massive emotional appeal for safe driving. The President and over 200 local and national agencies co-operated to appeal to the nation to drive safely. It was called "National Safe Driving Day." However, the best laid plans . . . etc. The death toll climbed 10 per cent over equivalent days.

A well trained, observant driver who knows what his vehicle will and won't do, and is likewise aware of his own limitations, however high or low, is far safer driving at 65 mph than is the little old lady who drives at 45. The term "Little Old Lady" is hereby applied to anyone who has never placed a car in an intentional skid, whether on ice or on pavement.

I am not urging a road race through Cary after school is out this year. I am only asking the students to take stock of their driving.

Driver, not their cars, are the ones that kill. Driver education cannot be too highly stressed, both in the knowledge of traffic rules, and in the actual practice of intelligent control of the car. Statistics prove a person is safer in a 300 horsepower car than in a 150 hp car. This doesn't mean everyone should go buy a 300 hp car to be safe. It takes some intelligence to be safe.

Safe drivers are half of traffic safety. Proper speed laws and

IFC OVERRULED

To the Editor:

We the undersigned as brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity feel that it is our duty to inform the student body of the current state of affairs existing between TKE and the Student Activities Office. The main problem stems from the requirement by administrative policy that each fraternity be required to have a housemother in residence during the summer.

The ruling passed by the IFC was that the choice of a housemother in the summer would be left to the discretion of the individual houses as determined by their economic and physical needs at the time. In direct conflict to this ruling the Student Activities Office stated that they would not even consider the IFC ruling and that housemothers would still be required for summer occupancy.

The first announcement concerning the requirement of having a summer housemother came informally to Tau Kappa Epsilon on March 11, 1964. Upon further communication with the Student Activities Office, the impracticality of the proposal was presented. Their reply was that they recognized these points as being legitimate and that they said, "We will see what we can do." At a later date it was revealed to TKE that the only reason was for a "continuity of operation."

What in essence do these statements really mean?

In rebuttal the house presented the following points:

1. The original housemothers contract was to run for nine months of the school year. This would allow her a three months summer vacation with the stipulation that she would have the privilege of retaining her quarters for short term occupancy and storage of her personal belongings during the summer months. This contract followed the recommendations of the Student Activities Office. With these stipulations Tau Kappa Epsilon contracted Mrs. Margaret Lewis, realizing that due to previous commitments she would be unable to act in the official capacity as housemother during the summer.

2. In the original concept of fraternity row, the income realized during the summer months would be used to offset the HIGH operating and maintenance costs which TKE must pay during the regular school year. These costs include the payment of $1,036 per month for rent payable for the nine months of the school year.

3. As a solution to the problem, the Student Activities Office suggested that a female school teacher reside in the house free of charge so that TKE could comply with policies set by the administration. In our opinion this person would be a direct antithesis of what we and the administration had set forth as the qualifications of a housemother. We believe that TKE has exhibited its ability to govern itself and to assume the responsibilities of operation and maintenance of the house.

We therefore believe that we should be allowed to operate during the summer without a housemother, or a facsimile thereof. In support of our position, the Student Activities Office has stated that TKE has satisfactorily governed itself during the past years. On the issue of cleanliness the brothers and pledges of TKE have maintained the house to the satisfaction of the Student Activities Office without the assistance of a hired cleaning service.

The main issue of our problem is the question of self-government with responsibility, which the Student Activities Office has said that we have shown. With this new policy we are being denied the opportunity of this responsibility. The IFC has voted unanimously this responsibility to each fraternity.

Will we be allowed to exercise this responsibility?

DORM RULES

To the Editor:

Since the announcement of the curfew rules for the coed dorm, I have tried to objectively and honestly analyze them. I feel that I can no longer give my consent to them by keeping quiet.

I object to such rules which will take from the NCS coed the chance to develop mature responsibility and offer in its place a "baby-sitting" service. I object to such rules that will further the inequality of women here.

The nature of the student, male or female, attending NCS is different from the nature of the student at Chapel Hill or Greensboro. Any rules should be made to benefit the student here and not to comply to norms of other institutions.

Since I am a graduating senior, my concern is not for myself directly, but for the change which could take place in the future coeds of State. If this change is desirable, then the coeds who will be affected should quietly accept all restrictions.

However, the curfew rules should not be accepted by us simply because they are what we expected. Any rules should be accepted because they are what the coeds merit and because they are what the coeds think would be the most beneficial to everyone.

PP, M&O — SOS

To the Editor:

It is a lovely spring morning. The sun is shining, the breeze wafts gently through the quadrangle. Birds are singing somewhere. The dominant sound, however, is that of a jack-hammer being diligently operated by one of the stalwarts of the physical Plant staff. They are tearing up the curbs in front of Owen Dorm, to replace them with brick ones—asphalt isn't picturesque enough.

Last week our brilliant PP (which we still tend to fondly call M&O, for Mistakes and Oversights), performed another task of inestimable value: they installed brick sidewalks on the north side of Dunn Avenue. This is a most worthy and meritorious project; at least half a dozen people must have walked on the new installations since last week.

What in heaven's name is PP trying to prove? That they know how to waste time, effort, and everyone's money? They have already done so, in my book! The "renovation" of the sidewalks and curbs around the Morris Building provide ready evidence of the hideous waste that is going on in that department. Why do they not do something constructive, for a change, like putting in some of the brick sidewalks, that they love so much to install, around Harrelson Hall, so that students would not have to wade knee-deep through mud in the winter and after the spring rains? No money for walks around Harrelson? It's no damned wonder!

SLATER

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to examine a few of the points in the Cafeteria Advisory Committee's rebuttal to the anti-Slater Petition group in the April 27 issue of The Technician. I am not directly connected with either of the above groups, but I believe that my views will coincide with those of a great many State students.

The statement that Slater does not monopolize campus food service is ridiculous. True, there are snack bars. Do cold packaged sandwiches compete with hot meals? If this is true, then the electric power companies are in grave danger of competition from the candle industry.

To state that Slater competes with off-campus facilities is to

State Cops "Big Four" Day, Wins Fourth Straight Trophy

State and Carolina together won eight first places in the nine events of the annual Big Four Intramural Sports Day activities as each team won four. State however, placed third in one more event than did the Tar Heels to win the overall crown.

State intramural teams have won the Big Four Day trophy for the last four years and six times in the last eight years.

The West Raleigh athletes also placed first in the Big Four Rod and Gun meet with three first and one second place in the four events. Glen Harris and John Smith placed first in skish, Donald Mackland captured the target rifle competition, and Tom Jernigan placed first in archery.

State totaled 33 points in the field day events to 31 for Carolina, followed by Duke with 19 and Wake Forest with 16.

After the first five events had been completed, State took a quick 21-13 point lead with first place in three and second in the other two. The next three events finished with Carolina taking first in all three for 15 points while the Pack collected only seven. With one event remaining, the score was tied, 28-28. The bowling results put State in first with five points to three for Carolina. This gave the Pack their two point winning margin for the day.

State players met Tar Heel athletes in four finals in the nine events and split two each. The ninth championship went to Duke in table tennis.

Wolfpack Tops Duke, Ends Season Tuesday

State's baseball team won their eighth game of the season last night by defeating the Duke Blue Devils, 3-1, in Durham. The win gives the Pack an 8-12 overall record, 4-6 in conference activity.

Robert Young led the State hitters with a two-run home run in the second inning. Scoring ahead of Young was Wendell Coleman who had walked to open the inning. The Pack scored again in the eighth frame when Warren Lineberger doubled, went to third on a pass ball and scored when the catcher's throw went into left field. State loaded the bases in the ninth with one out but could not score.

Buck Johnson went the distance for the fifth time this season for the win, he is now 5-4.

State travels to South Carolina this weekend for games with South Carolina and Clemson before ending the season against Wake Forest on Tuesday.

Seven Teams Have Berths In Tourney

Three of the four sections in the fraternity intramural softball league have completed their standings with first and second places decided. In the fourth section, the first place team is definite while three of the remaining teams fight it out for second.

As a result of this week's double hitters, only Phi Kappa Tau, last year's champion, remains undefeated and is the tournament favorite. Contenders will be Sigma Phi Epsilon and Delta Sigma Phi who have 5-1 records.

In Monday afternoon action, Phi Kappa Tau won over Kappa Sigma and Pi Kappa Alpha by 11-2 and 13-4 scores. Caldwell collected the only home run for PKT in the two games. The PKT's lead in Section #1 and will represent the section with Pi Kappa Alpha in the Tournament.

In their other contest, the Pikas doubled the score on the Sigma Alpha Mu team, winning 16-8. The winners scored 12 runs in the last three innings to overcome an 8-4 SAM lead. Warren of PKA and Youngman of SAM had home runs.

Sigma Alpha Mu was successful in their second game of the day, winning 12-8 over Kappa Sigma. Cook of Kappa Sig and Wise with two and Mann of SAM had home runs.

Sigma Phi Epsilon nailed down first place in Section #2 with victories over Pi Kappa Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon by 16-6 and 10-9 scores. The Sig Eps with a 5-1 record and Kappa Alpha with a 4-2 mark will represent Section #2 in the playoffs.

SPE scored seven times in the first frame against the PKP's and added seven more in the next two innings to enjoy a comfortable lead throughout the game. The Sig Eps had to come from behind to win over the Sigma Alpha Epsilon team. The SAE's scored three runs in the first and went ahead 8-3 after two and one-half frames. The Sig Eps came within one run, 8-7, in the third and went ahead one, 9-8, in the fourth. The winning run came in the sixth inning after the SAE's tied it at 9-9. King of SAE and Perrou of SPE each hit three home runs in the first inning.

Second place Kappa Alpha won over Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 9-6, and lost to Pi Kappa Phi, 4-2. Six runs in the last two innings for SAE was not enough to top the nine run lead built up by the KA's. King of SAE had a home run. Kappa Alpha suffered their second loss of the season at the hands of PKP.

Delta Sigma Phi began this week with a 4-0 record but lost twice to drop them into a tie for first with Sigma Nu with 4-2 records. Sigma Nu and Lambda Chi Alpha won over the Delta Sigs, 18-6 and 19-10. Barkley of LCA, James of Sigma Nu and Goodson and Bare of Delta Sig had home runs in the contests.

In the other two Section #3 contests, Sigma Nu topped Sigma Chi, 20-15, and Lambda Chi Alpha beat Sigma Chi, 22-16. The win for Sigma Nu placed in a first place tie with Delta Sig. Hayman of LCA, Millsap of Sigma Chi, and Huntsman with two, Riley, and Hendrix of Sigma Nu hit home runs.

Section #4 has Theta Chi in first place with a 4-2 record followed by Alpha Gamma Rho, Farm House, and Tau Kappa Epsilon with records of 3-2, 3-2, 2-3 respectively. All three have a chance for second place.

In Monday's action, Sigma Pi downed Tau Kappa Epsilon, 16-15; Alpha Gamma Rho won over Theta Chi, 18-8; TKE topped AGR, 13-9; and Theta Chi defeated Farm House 14-11.

evade the issue that Slater is a monopoly on campus. There is no readily apparent reason why in large volume, low overhead, marginal service cafeteria should compete with small relatively inefficient private restaurants. The sad fact is that this competition does exist.

The small restaurants on Hillsboro Street and elsewhere constantly offer food of much higher quality taste-wise. (Anyone can buy grade-A beef; it takes rare intellect to ruin it.) By the very nature of the two types of service, this is expected. The surprising thing is that the small restaurant's prices are very close to those of Slater. Sometimes they are lower.

The Advisory Committee's spokesman was right about the service lines being shorter here than at other institutions in the area. No one who can possible avoid it eats at Slater's.

It is a real job and a blessing to my heart, brethren, to know that in this age of decadent youth there are still those who can live under the most adverse of conditions without a word of complaint. Of course, some of these silent ones are on scholarships or other aid and had rather have a toothless horse than to have no horse at all. So much for the "present patrons" of the cafeteria.

Finally I would really like to know why the food service at Carolina (the only institution in this area that can be fairly compared to State in this respect) can serve a meal of meat, two vegetables, bread, margarine, and drink for 40 cents and break even on it while Slater does not even approach this price except on their inconvenient boarding plan. Slater can't make a profit either.

at its best in being well suited in natural shoulder clothing . . . truly natural with lapped seams, hooked vent; three button jacket and trousers that fit only as you like them. Stand head and shoulders above anyone who wears a "would-be-copy" in this the epitome of tradition.

traffic laws in general are the other half.

North Carolina is fairly progressive with respect to speed limits. The highway patrol does an excellent job. The rub comes in the State Legislature.

Every representative wants better roads for his area, but not all of these people are willing to accept the fact that higher speeds are part and parcel of better roads. The speed limit on Interstate highways in N. C. was raised to 65 mph this year, after long and heated debate.

The opposition to the higher limit insisted that the raise from 60 to 65 would actually be a raise to 70, since the highway patrol allows everyone five mph over the limit anyhow.

What's wrong with 70 mph on an Interstate highway?

Everyone has probably heard of the German autobahns. These superhighways have no speed limits outside of towns. Why? Well, once upon a time the Germans became worried about their high traffic mortality rate. As an experiment they posted a 62.5 mph speed limit on a particularly dangerous section of the autobahn. The death rate remained constant, and the accident rate doubled. After a few months the speed was cut to 42.5 mph. The accident rate doubled again, and the death rate remained constant.

In desperation, the limit was lifted entirely. Everything returned to normal. Please note that the death rate was constant, and the property damage quadrupled.

John D. Williams, head of the Mathematics Division of The Rand Corporation, said, "The physical and social structure of the country would be almost frozen in its present attitude were we to freeze the speed of the automobile. Speed is one of the really crucial factors in our society. I cannot help but believe that we would manage better if we were conscious of the need for more speed, rather than believing the exact contrary. Our laws tend to be aimed at the limitation of speed rather than at the promotion of traffic flow. If one recognizes that the central problem is to promote the smooth and rapid flow of lots of traffic one is likely to devise measures that will in fact operate in this direction—and it will probably have reasonable safety." To be concluded.
