Bagwell Counselor In Need Of Blood

A fellow student needs help. Jerry L. Jenkins, a junior in electrical engineering underwent several serious operations May 11. Volunteers are needed to donate over 25 pints of blood to replace that which was used. Jerry is still in serious condition and is expected to be in the North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill for at least another month.

JERRY L. JENKINS

This year Jerry has served as secretary of the Interdormitory Council and president and second floor counselor of Bagwell Dorm.

Blood may be donated at the Blood Bank at Wake Memorial Hospital on Highway 64 during the next few weeks. Donors under 21 must have their parents consent before a donation will be accepted by the hospital.

Friends of Jerry's have compiled the following directions for contributing blood:

Upon arriving at Wake Memorial Hospital at the Blood Bank, tell them that you are donating the blood for Jerry Jenkins in North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill, to make sure proper credit is given.

Donations may be made on weekdays from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., and on Tuesday nights from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. It takes approximately 30 minutes. You are requested not to eat within 2 hours of the time of donation (four hours if you have eaten eggs). Also a low fat content diet before volunteering blood is recommended.

Atkins Outlines SG Action For Next Year

By Bob Holmes

John L. Atkins has assumed the presidency of the Student Government and immediately initiated reforms which he hopes will revitalize student life on this campus.

The architecture major, who hails from Durham, brings three years of Student Government experience into the presidency.

In conjunction with his inauguration, Atkins announced his overall plans for the coming year. In general, "... an overall campus study program and a structural streamlining of the Student Government are being initiated," Atkins said.

In an interview with The Technician, Atkins enumerated some of the problems facing the SG. These included 1) an absence of co-ordinated overall programs in past years; 2) a trend of inward growth of the legislative body; 3) an absence of real coordination of student activities; and 4) a general lack of contact between the Student Government and the student body.

Recognizing the fact that the disinterest within the student body partially stems from the Student Government's lack of initiative in taking a more constructive approach, Atkins has installed a sweeping program which will look into a cross section of campus life.

"We will try to work in areas which are of real value to the students," Atkins said. Tentative plans call for study committees to investigate such fields as curriculum, athletics, and campus honor. Students from all walks of campus life will be asked to serve on these committees. "We hope to broaden the scope of Student Government and thus increase its value to the students," Atkins related.

In co-ordination with such committees, a study of the actual structure of SG will be made to determine its effectiveness.

"Actually, some changes have already been made to streamline the SG administration. The Campus Beautification Committee and the Trailer Park Commission have been eliminated as ineffective and other commissions have been decreased in size," Atkins stated.

The new president also indicated that emphasis would be placed on better public relations. "In the past, communication between the SG and the students has been limited. To help publicize next year's activities, we intend to improve on this through a special group set up for that specific purpose. It is hoped that such a program will increase student interest by keeping the students better informed on our activities," Atkins said.

According to Atkins, preliminaries for these new programs are already under way and work will proceed during the summer. Individual students and groups will be contacted during the summer in connection with next year's programs and the new groups will begin to function as soon as possible.

Dorm 62 Will Have No Bar

By Ernie McCrary

The manager of the Students Supply Store has explained why Dorm 62 will not contain a snack bar.

At a meeting of the Students Supply Store Advisory Committee last night, Manager L. L. Ivey said the original plans for the new 840-man dorm called for a snack bar, but it had to be cut out at the last minute to meet FHA loan specifications. A dormitory must contain a minimum amount of living space per student to be approved for an FHA loan, and the dorm did not meet these requirements with the snack bar included, Ivey said. The space originally allotted for the snack bar had to be converted to student rooms.

Ivey expressed disappointment over the exclusion of the snack bar from the dorm. He said the profit from it would have been three times as great as the room rent from the dorm residents. Forty-five per cent of all Students Supply Store profits goes to the academic scholarship fund and the remaining 55 per cent is used for athletic scholarships.

Gene Eagle, a student representative on the Committee, spoke at the meeting and expressed student concern about high book prices and low resale value at the SSS. Ivey explained that some books sell for more than the price printed on the cover because publishers' prices often increase after the books are ordered. He said the books are sold at a price that brings 20 per cent profit, but about 18 per cent of this goes for handling and other overhead expenses. No comment was made on the resale value of books, according to Eagle.

Eagle commended the SSS and Ivey for "excellent cooperation and assistance in campus affairs," and singled out contributions in the Campus Chest Drive for special comment.

Dr. W. L. Turner, head of the office of Business Affairs, recently attended a national convention of Students Supply Stores. He told the students that the N. C. State store was recognized at the convention as one of the most outstanding in the nation.

Band To Give Final Concert

Symphonic Band will give the last outdoor pops concert of the year tonight at 7 p.m. on the lawn of the Erdahl-Cloyd Union.

Music lovers are invited to bring along a blanket or chair for the final program in the series that has featured various music organizations at the University.

A feature of the concert will include Bainum's "Three Trumpeters," played by a trumpet trio whose members are Ben Sloan, Robert Johnson, and Greg Leonard.

Joe Hancammon will narrate the program.

Selections on the program include the following: "El Capitan March," by John Phillip Sousa; "Orpheus," by Offenbach;

"Damnation of Faust," by Berlioz; "Lawrence of Arabia," by Jarre (arranged by Reed);

"Sea Medley," by Lang; "Irish Washerwoman," by Leroy Anderson; "Lights Out," by McCoy.

Law To Be Debated

The Speaker Ban Law will be up for debate at the Baptist Student Union Forum Friday night.

Professor Slater Newman and Raleigh attorney Armistead Maupin will get the debate underway at 6:45 p.m. in the YMCA North Parlor.

Newman will speak against the law which prohibits Communists from speaking on state supported campuses. Maupin will defend it.

Newman teaches psychology here and has followed the bill intensely since its creation last summer.

Maupin has been an instructor in Business Law here and past president of the North Carolina State Bar.

The debate will be open for questions from the floor. Both students and faculty are invited to attend.

Two weeks ago Senator Clarence Stone was the guest of the BSU. His speech in favor of the law attracted a "full house."

Ag School Given Record Budget

The School of Agriculture and Life Sciences has been given a record budget of $319,037 for next year.

The budget was approved and granted by the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation at a Board of Directors meeting Wednesday. Dr. H. Brooks James, Dean of the school, said the budget "will aid nearly every phase of our research program and provide some support for extension activities".

The largest new item in the budget is $25,000 for research on poultry diseases, which Dean James said was the biggest production problem now facing the North Carolina poultry industry.

Other new projects approved by the board include $10,000 for consumer food marketing research, an equal amount for the employment of an extension specialist to help boost production of fruits and vegetables for processing, and $11,000 to support area extension specialists. The new budget is about 50% per cent larger than the 1963-64 budget.

The board met at the Faculty Club with Foundation President J. T. Moss of Youngsville presiding.

The Agricultural Foundation, which was established in 1944 has raised over $3,000,000 to support college activities. One of its most successful programs is the widely-known "Nickels for Know-How" program.

Library Committee Becomes Tax Free

The Library Committee, Incorporated, is now officially a non-profit, tax-exempt organization.

The Committee met last night to amend its charter to comply with Internal Revenue Service regulations concerning non-profit corporations.

The Library Committee has been operating on a tax-free basis since its organization about six years ago, but has been advised by the IRS to revise its charter to include a provision that any funds left over in the event of the corporation's dissolution be turned over to another similar organization.

It states that funds would be turned over to the University if the corporation is ever dissolved.

IFC To Meet On Tuesday

The Interfraternity Council will continue its discussion of social rules Tuesday night at 7.

The Council met yesterday and discussed the rules but reached no definite decisions.

Lost And Found Auction Adds To Loan Fund

Student Government became $187.41 richer as the results of the lost and found auction held at the Erdahl-Cloyd Union last week. Herb Sanborn (left), president of the Union, presented the check to SG President John Bynum (right) Tuesday night. The money will be added to the short term loan fund sponsored by Student Government and handled by the Financial Aid Office, headed by Kingston Johns (center).

Parthian

There can be no doubt that the worst thing a newspaper can do is to pat itself on the back. There is, then, no excuse for what follows.

This has been in many ways a discouraging year, for the students have not received one single thing they have really asked for; larger diplomas, senior exemptions, Slater's removal.

It has been a discouraging year for us, also. For if there is one thing The Technician has tried to be this year, it is a voice of student opinion.

We feel that we have succeeded in many ways, however.

Although we respect Mr. McNulty's views, a casual stroll through the dorms has revealed pinups of Julie London and the Coed of the Month on student bulletin boards. Whatever may be said about sex, the average NCS male's interest in it cannot be denied.

There were two special elections issues and one fraternity issue this year; not because the students desired them, but because we felt it our duty to provide as much information as possible to the students.

We had hoped that our Liberty Bowl color issue was something the students really wanted; a permanent record of what, even in defeat, was a high honor. We still suspect that had NCS won, interest in it would have been greater.

We hope that we have made students aware of one fact; that no one, in the administration, the faculty, or the student leaders and the student body; is infallible. None of us cannot be, for we are all human.

If we have fostered the realization that the administration cannot be right every single time; that Slater just might be able to do a better job of serving food, that Student Government does not necessarily represent the voice of the student body, that the faculty doesn't always realize that students are human, too; then we have succeeded in our efforts. It has often been painfully obvious that we too are human, of course.

We have been accused from time to time of being "soft" on many subjects. There is one area in which we suspect this might be true, and this is Student Government. We still feel that, considering what Student Government was at the first of the year, it has done a commendable job. We urge next year's senators to build on this reputation.

For the stands we have taken which have not necessarily agreed with student opinion; on the name change, on integration, possibly on NSA; we make no apology. Conscience can not always be compromised.

If there is one single message we would wish to leave with the students; it is this. Be honest. We have yet to meet an honest man who wasn't respected. We have yet to meet a situation which, in our opinion, could not have been resolved through the honesty of all parties. True honesty cannot be found, for it is impossible to find it. But if there is one thing we have found, it is that honesty can never be a losing cause; for even in losing, the rewards are great.

We would like to thank Max Halperen for teaching us this and other things when we first started out.

To everyone: good-bye, and the best of luck on your final examinations.

CLOTHING DRIVE

To the Editor:

Each year at this time we in the YMCA sponsor a Book and Clothing Drive on campus to help the American Friends Service Committee in their program of international refugee and student relief. It is our hope that we will have a good degree of success this year as in past years.

We need clothing of all sorts, yet in good condition. Worn-out clothes and shoes are of no use if they cannot be used.

Also needed are books. We can only use academic books and journals printed since 1950.

In order to collect these needed items, we will place a large cardboard box in each dorm. Students should put their contributions in this box.

As in the past, we also expect some of the clothing to be damaged by some dorm students for no apparent reason. Some books will be stolen and sold later. I suppose that must be the price we pay to live in a nation with large numbers of irresponsible, perverted people.

We wish to thank those students who have contributed in past years and those who will help this year. There are many people around the world who appreciate these gifts State students give.

PROBLEM: SG

To the Editor:

Student Government is not a strong body on this campus. This fact is usually attributed to "student apathy". No doubt—this exists; but the apathy itself is caused by the ineffectiveness of Student Government. A vicious circle!

Good student leaders could stop this circle in short order; but once again there is a snag: This is a technical school—we have few Law, Business, or Political Science majors to act as a stimulus for political interest and activity. Therefore the elected leaders of the students are under virtually no pressure from the student body. With no specific mission for the officers to accomplish, the motivation to hold office is not a desire to perform a service to the campus but rather an opportunity for personal glory and political advancement.

This has been evidently the case this year in the person of the Student Government president. Little has been accomplished of benefit to the university and he has avoided all major campus issues, refusing to take a definite stand on anything. He has been extremely active in state politics—the motivation for which is evident to the point of comedy. I'm sure the state leaders have found him a useful puppet.

Such action, however, is neither unusual nor unpredictable. It has been the rule rather than the exception in the past several years, and the newly elected president seems to fit the pattern exceptionally well, which is why I admittedly favored his opponent in the recent election. But the election is in the past and he is capable of fulfilling the duties well, if just a few students get just a few senators to push Student Government into action on vital campus matters, and if just a few students will volunteer to help in the way most appropriate to them. Just an interested, concerned few can force the Legislature and the president into effective action.

Otherwise we will have another year like this one, where the Administration either avoids the students (the Slater Petition, etc.) or steps on them at will (the I.F.C., etc.) without the slightest word or action from Student Government.

Outstanding Senior Award Presented

Tom Brown was made recipient of the outstanding senior award for Recreation and Parks Administration majors Thursday night.

The award, along with new officers of Rho Phi Alpha, was announced at a banquet at the Faculty Club, according to Robert Hudson, the incoming president.

Other new officers are Peggy Hollingsworth, vice president; Nancy Barbour, secretary; and Jim Sellers, treasurer.

Associate memberships were awarded to Ralph J. Andrews, director of North Carolina Recreation Commission, Thomas Hines, head of RPA curriculum, and Herbert Brantley, faculty advisor. Maxine Barbour, RPA secretary received honorary membership.

STEAMPIPES

MISUSE OF THE LANGUAGE, PART II:

There are more important things in life than botany field trips, or ten cent cokes. One of these is the Kennedy Memorial Library Fund.

North Carolina has pledged $240,000 toward the construction of the library and the collection of material. Everything the late President wrote will be saved for our descendants to use as they see fit. The total cost of the library will be $10,000,000.

We, as students, owe a great debt to the late President Kennedy. The easiest thing to do is to pay it.

Sunday is the last day to contribute to the fund. Make your checks payable to the Kennedy Fund. Send them to: Kennedy Fund, c/o the Governor's Office, Raleigh.

YOU WON'T BELIEVE THIS, BUT . . .

Slater Food Service has come under attack for many things in this column. I feel it is generally well deserved criticism.

Tonight, however, I think I should give credit where credit is due. Paul O'Brien, head of the College Union Food Service, I salute you.

The Student Activities banquet was held at the Erdahl-Cloy Union Tuesday night. The food was not only hot, it was delicious. The waiters were prompt, courteous and ever present to fill the occasional empty coffee cup. Not a soiled piece of silverware was to be found—before the meal.

This has been typical of the service to be found at the Union for most of the year. Maybe some day the rest of the campus will catch up.

PROLIFIC PUBLICATION

Everyone has heard of Slater, and no one has heard of "THE GRAB BAG," which is a new publication from the School of Design.

The new publication is a true student publication. The students in the class were given complete control over the contents. As the name implies, anything goes.

Fred Eichenberger is the professor who assigned the problem to his "design graphics and packaging" class. He is reportedly "tickled silly" at the results to date. The class had no money and only half a semester left when the idea formulated. It will be published in vivid, vivid color come June.

FERRARI AND CHRYSLER CORP. TO MERGE

The latest poop from my Italian correspondent is the planned purchase of SEFAC Ferrari by the Chrysler corporation.

I can see it now, a hemi-head pushrod Superleggera 7.2 liter Chryslerrari 4 plus 4 station wagon hauling kids to Brownie Scout meetings.

Actually, though, there is nothing new under the sun, for Ford tried the same thing last summer. It fell through when it was discovered that the Ferrari financial resources were all being held in Swiss banks. The Swiss wouldn't tell Ford how much Ferrari was worth.

Ford has put many pigs in pokes, but they will never be accused of buying one.

Well, if the Q.P.'s are willing, I'll see you next year.

The Windhover In Review

By Billi Darden

"All we can do is do what we feel is right and fitting, and yet free . . ."

This statement from "A Painter's View" by Joseph Cox, a State design professor, in Windhover seems to represent the opinion of the editors of the publication, and they have done a pretty good job.

The poetry selections, brief ones for the most part, are contributions from State English professors, students, and a Stetson English professor. They are involved a good deal in describing emotions.

Fiction selections are remarkable similar in that they concern middle and lower class people. One story, "Easy Rider," is part of a novel by Frank Justice, a Raleigh resident who was a member of 1963 Creative Writing Workshop.

Other highlights of the publication are art works and a discussion of art by Joseph Cox.

Edward Albee's discussion of the modern theater with members of the Design School is also included.

So End Another Year

So ends another year for the Wolfpack of North Carolina State, a year with its high points, many low points, and several exciting moments.

A single star shines bright in the sky over major sports, football. State's victory over Duke, a share in the Atlantic Coast conference championship and a trip to the Liberty Bowl will long be remembered. Swimming was strong as usual and should merit an ACC title in the near future. Baseball and basketball leave much to be desired as seventh place became home for the Pack.

Much improvement was noted in soccer and golf, with wrestling and track remaining average. Each sport had its high points on individual honors. Tennis remains at the bottom of the ladder with only one team victory in ACC competition.

Perhaps State's policy of limiting scholarships to major sports, compared with a school like Maryland which gives scholarships from football to cheerleading, has something to do with the standings. —MW

Phi Kappa Tau Wins Fraternity Softball

Phi Kappa Tau defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon, 7-5, to become the 1964 intramural softball champions. This is the second time in a row that the PKT's have finished first. The win gave the champions a perfect 9-0 record for the season.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Kappa Tau won semi-final games over Pi Kappa Alpha and Kappa Alpha prior to the championship game.

The Sig Eps tallied five times in the first frame of their game with Pika to take a comfortable lead. Three more tallies in the third kept the lead at five runs and a final three tallies in the sixth frame iced the win for SPE. Roberts of Pika hit two home runs while Morrison had one. Perrou of SPE had the only homer for the victors.

Phi Kappa Tau scored three runs in the fifth to take a 6-4 lead over Kappa Alpha. The KA's had trailed 3-1 until they tied it up in the third. A single run in the top of the fifth had given them a momentary lead.

In the championship game between SPE and PKT, the Sig Eps led 1-0 after the first frame only to fall behind 3-1 after the second. In the top of the third frame the lead went back to SPE at 4-3. In the bottom of the inning, the PKT's went ahead for good at 6-4. Each team scored one more run before the game ended. Crossland of PKT hit a home run.

New Trophy To Be Given In Intramural Awards

The Annual Intramural Awards night will be held Monday, May 18, at 5:00 in the game room of Carmichael Gymnasium.

Awards will be made to winning teams in each of the intramural sports for the Dormitory League and Fraternity League in all sports; Open league in football, bowling, basketball, and softball; and the Wildcard League in basketball. Other sports awards will be made to the Dixie Classic basketball winners, squash and handball champions, and members of the "Big Four" Sports Day team.

Trophies for first, second, and third place in the final intramural standing will be made and outstanding players will be honored.

This year for the first time, the Interfraternity Council will award the President's Trophy for Intramural Excellence to the first place fraternity team.

Intramural Notices

There will be an Athletic Directors meeting Thursday, May 14, at 7:00 p.m. in the intramural office. This is a very important meeting and should not last more than 30 minutes. Directors are asked to think about best athlete, best athletic director, etc. before the meeting.

Awards night for intramural athletics will be held at 5:00 p.m. on Monday, May 18, in the game room of Carmichael Gymnasium.

Lost and Found—the intramural office has been making a collection of lost and found items. The collection consists of eight tennis rackets that were left in the cage, one watch, one putter, a seven iron, a five iron, several jackets, and a class ring. If you can identify any of these items, notify the intramural office so that they can be returned to their rightful owner.

Turlington Wins Crown In Dormitory Softball

Turlington dormitory outlasted Alexander 10-7 in the finals of the dormitory intramural softball tournament to become the 1964 champions.

In semi-final action, Turlington routed Tucker #1, 18-2 and Alexander topped Bragaw South #2, 8-5.

Turlington held a 6-2 lead after three and one-half innings before scoring 12 times in the bottom of the fourth frame to take an 18-2 advantage. Cherry homered to score both Tucker #1 runs. Pope, Owenby, and Furr homered in the fourth for Turlington.

Alexander took a 4-3 lead after the first frame in their game with Bragaw South #2 only to see the score tied 4-4 in the second. Three runs in the fourth gave the Alexander team their victory, winning 8-5.

Others who received awards were Mrs. William Morgan, Mrs. Ronald Rackley, Mrs. Dave Phillips, Mrs. Don Ellis, Mrs. P. H. McDonald.

Mrs. John T. Caldwell was made an honorary member of the group. Chancellor Caldwell presented the wives of seniors with Ph.T. diplomas for "Putting Hubby Through."

3500 To Attend Summer School

If you are planning to go to summer school, you will have lots of company.

According to figures released by Dr. Jack Suberman, director of the summer sessions, 3,500 students are expected to take courses.

Students from State are completing pre-registration now. Students who will be visiting the State campus for summer courses will register until the end of the first week in June.

General registration for the first summer session will be held in Reynolds Coliseum June 9 from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Suberman said "... students who are becoming aware of the broad spectrum of subject matter offerings ranging from highly technical engineering and math courses to music courses are requesting applications in greater numbers than ever."

Problems Ahead

Professors are going to have a problem next year. Next year's Technician will compete with their lectures.

If plans now being studied come about, students will pick up The Technician on their way to morning class.

The prospect of a morning paper have been considered and, hopefully, approved by the Publications Board today.

If the project is approved, students will pick up the paper at their academic buildings on their way to class every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Then the students will be able to read The Technician in class, if the professor will let them.
