An instrumental combo and a folksinging group will highlight the Ag Council Combo Party this year.

The feature band at the combo party on October 11 will be "The Tassels", according to John Arnold, reported for the Agriculture Council.

"This promises to be the most outstanding combo party we have yet sponsored," Arnold continued. "The Stratford Road Singers will provide an intermission concert to keep the party going steadily."

Admission to the combo party, which will begin at 8 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Erdahl-Cloyd Union, will be by registration cards. Coat and tie will be the dress for men of the School of Agriculture and Agri-

Girls in formal gowns will be dancing to the strains of the Glenn Miller Orchestra.

Saturday night of the Duke-State game, October 26, will be the night of the annual IDC Ball. According to Carl King, IDC Social Director, "With the entire Student Union reserved on the weekend of State's first home game, we expect this year's Ball to show a record attendance."

With the Glenn Miller Orchestra as the featured band in the main ballroom, the dance will be at 8 p.m. Dress will be formal with either tuxedos or military uniforms with white shirts and black bow ties acceptable. King also stressed that no one will be admitted without a bid. Bids may be picked up, starting October 6, from dormitory counselors and officers.

'Peace Marchers' Set Here Friday

Critics of the world's policies toward Cuba will meet with students Friday night.

The meeting, set up by members of a pacifist group, will be held in the North Parlor of the King Religious Center.

If so, a group you might agree with is holding a meeting on the Cuban situation in the North Parlor of the King Religious Center at 8 p.m. tomorrow night.

The Committee on Non Violent Action, according to Jack Shiro, a spokesman for the group, is holding this meeting in conjunction with their Canada to Cuba "Peace March" the group is holding.

The meeting is open to all interested students.

Enrollment Increases As Frosh Total Dips

For the second year in succession freshman enrollment has decreased, while total enrollment, according to the Student Affairs Office.

This fall there was an increase of 104 coeds over the 1962 enrollment. This is 3.3 times the increase between 1961 and 1962. With 308 coeds on campus this year, the male-female ratio stands at 25:1.

In the past two years the enrollment of new students has decreased in spite of an increase in total enrollment. There was a decrease of 46 from the fall of 1962 registration and a decrease of 226 from the fall of 1961 registration. In spite of the decrease in new-student enrollment the total enrollment has increased.

This year the total enrollment topped last year's by 431 with a record of 8,370 students. This figure includes 749 night students. The School of Engineering led the other schools in enrollment as usual, but there was a decrease of 110 students from the 1962 figure. Agriculture was second to Engineering with an increase of 134 students. The School of Education was in third place followed by Physical Science and Applied Math in fourth place. Textiles took fifth place with 516 students, an increase of 46 over last year.

This semester there are 3,550 students housed in dormitories, 300 living in McKimmon Village, 327 living in fraternity houses, 537 living in the homes of either parents or relatives, and the remaining 2,737 living in other off-campus facilities.

This year's freshman enrollment is 1,466, a decrease of 342 from 1962. There are 1,677 sophomores, 1,419 juniors, and 1,249 seniors.

All of the states are represented on campus except Maine. Two U. S. possessions and 56 foreign countries are also represented. The largest group of students, 5921, hail from North Carolina. The foreign countries contribute 362 students, and the remainder are from states and possessions.

According to the statistics the largest religious group on campus is the Baptist. Methodist are second with 1,497 students. The smallest group is Bahai with two. Many students showed no preference of religion.

There are 1,784 married students, 182 being women. Of these married students 819 have a total of 1,398 children. This is an average of .9 children per married student.

There is a total of 1,463 students taking extension courses. 275 of these are at Gaston Technical Institute. The largest group take their courses at extension centers off campus.

Foresters Revisit Days Of Logging

A day from history will be repeated again this year by State's Foresters.

The scene will take place at the Annual Rolleo sponsored by the Forestry Club. The Rolleo this year will be held at Hill Forest on Saturday, October 5.

A Rolleo is a field day of Forestry when two-man saws were the rule and loggers spit tobacco juice for distance. Some of the flavor and ruggedness of life of a northwoods logger is preserved in the other events—log rolling, axe throwing, pole climbing, and wood chopping.

Events will last most of the day with a barbecue lunch being served to keep the men going.

As usual the seniors are out to take first place in the competition, but all new freshmen, even those who haven't been to a meeting yet, are urged to come out and support their class. Transportation will leave Kilgore on Saturday morning for all who need it.

Book Shortage Explained

By Jim Kear

The rumor that State is no longer using textbooks is false.

In the past few weeks sentiment has risen long and loud over the shortage of certain books at the Student Supply Store, according to students.

The reason such shortages occurred this year, according to the Supply Store's Book Department Manager, C. L. Chambers, is the justifiable inability of faculty and staff members of the various departments and schools to estimate correctly the number of students who will enroll in a given course.

This predicted enrollment, made well in advance of registration each semester, must be transmitted to the Book Department on a book order request form. As Chambers pointed out, in each case, the number of students anticipated by the department responsible for a course, and hence the number of books requested, is met to the letter.

In addition to the shortages caused by inaccurate estimates, delays in re-ordering the deficient texts occur when instructors do not secure accurate counts of students in each class until the second or third meeting of the class. Once the corrected enrollment figures are available, orders are placed daily by telegram and delivery usually follows within ten days.

Continuing Chambers said further that the shortages incurred this year were in no way out of the ordinary or uncommon with years past. Some sources theorize that the shortages occurred in more crucial and thus more noticeable areas such as math and Chemistry. Others suggest that perhaps students are simply more prone to complain loudly this year.

Chambers summarized by saying that most deficiencies were met within two weeks and that now we are almost back to normal. He said the problem has been felt at every large institution in the area and that in most cases the situation was more serious than it was here.

SG Meeting

If proposed legislation on tap for tonight's SG meeting passes the Legislature, an investigation of deferred pledging will be put under way.

Freshman elections rules, with a new provision added which would make the Campus Code Board the final authority on appeals of disqualified candidates, will also be considered, according to SG Vice President Lynn Spruill.

Spruill said that both of these proposals are to be introduced by the Elections Committee.

In other legislation to be considered, the Rules Committee will introduce a bill concerning senior privileges. According to Spruill, the reason for the introduction of the bill is the lack of privileges for seniors here.

Agromeck

Friday is the last day for Sophomores and Ag Institute students to have their pictures made. Pictures are made on the top floor of the Student Union from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Magnificent Seven

Separation Of Powers

The new set of elections rules for the coming freshman class elections are scheduled to come before the Student Government Legislature tonight for ratification. In all probability these new rules will contain a provision for disqualification of those candidates who choose to flaunt the rules.

In past elections the Elections and Rules Committees have worked together to smoke out violations and bring the perpetrators to justice. Several cases have occurred in which the disqualified candidates wished to appeal their disqualification.

One such notable case concerned a man who won the election for SG President and was disqualified by the Rules Committee for an alleged fund overexpenditure. The disqualification was upheld in the SG Legislature after an embarrassing and unruly session, but was subsequently reversed by an appeal to the Honor Code Board for an interpretation of the rule wording.

This kind of haggling and rule interpretation has no place in the legislative body which originally made the rules. This violates one of the principles of the balance of powers theory of government by three branches.

The new proposed rules provide that the Rules Committee have the power to disqualify any candidate they find in disobedience of the rules. There is some question as to whether the decision of the Rules Committee will stand or be subject to acceptance by the SG Legislature.

If the rules state that the report of the Rules Committee must be accepted by the SG Legislature, the haggling over disqualifications and shades of meaning in the rules will again slither into the Legislature and much of the merit of the rules changes will be lost.

It is therefore hoped that the new rules will state that disqualification by the Rules Committee without consent of the Legislature will be binding unless the disqualified candidate wishes to appeal. Any subsequent appeals would then be made to the Campus Code Board in the Judicial Department.

This procedure would be slightly irregular in that the committee would not have to submit its report to its parent body, but the change would provide the desirable separation of powers and get the interpretation of rules off the floor of the Legislature.

We Are Disconcerted

We always have and probably will remain strong advocate of NSA for this and other campuses.

However, regardless of much potential we feel NSA has, we are forced to admit that it has been doing a poor job on this campus. We entered the current school year with high hopes, visions of NSA performing wonders, making laughing stocks of its former critics.

We are now disconcerted.

We attended the National Congress this summer in Bloomington, Ind. and we were overwhelmed by the potential which NSA has as both a service organization to its member schools and as a forum for student viewpoint on matters of interest.

We are now disconcerted.

Its not doing its job.

Letter To Editors

Settle Upheld

To the Editors

In your editorial regarding the conduct of the audience at the Hootenanny on September 25, you stated that Mike Settle's remark about the good behavior of the audience possibly was intended to be ironic. Actually Mr. Settle was quite pleased with the audience participation and conduct. He mentioned that the night before at Belmont Abbey the audience was so raucous that the show almost had to be closed, so maybe the audience here was pretty well-behaved comparatively.

Of course the audiences behavior should be geared to the type of performance. In this case audience participation in clapping, stomping, and singing was encouraged so for the most part the behavior was justified. However in a part of the program in which the behavior deserves criticism was during the performance of Carolyn Hester. Her artistry was impaired by the catcalls and noise of the audience. Although there were dead sound spots in the Coliseum where Miss Hester could not be heard clearly; this was the fault of the sound system and not hers. Incidentally, this system will soon be replaced by one designed especially for concerts in the coliseum.

The audience was lucky with Hester because she kept on singing. However when future New Arts Inc. concerts take place, the audience should make consideration for the performer and his art. Indeed, the concert may terminate rather abruptly when the performer decides that she or he has had enough of the audience. For an example, Julie London has had to end concerts earlier than usual because of the boisterous behavior of the audience. It is hoped that the audiences of New Arts, Inc. will continue to behave in a manner befitting the nature of the artist and performance, because only then can the communication of a live performance to the audience be fully realized. In the case of New Arts Inc., the size of the audience has been kept as small as possible in order that this type of performance can be enjoyed by all. Even so, the audience is still large and the rowdy behavior of a few can spoil the evening for many; and can give us a reputation which will hamper the efforts of New Arts Inc. to obtain future engagements of artists.

Respectfully yours,
John R. Monroe

One hundred fifty-two sophomores have received Phi Kappa Phi certificates for achieving a quality point average above three during their freshman year.

These awards are made by Phi Kappa Phi President David D. Mason, a professor of experimental statistics. They were sent out yesterday said John Kanipe, assistant director of student housing.

Phi Kappa Phi is the highest scholastic honorary society on this campus, and is comparable to Phi Beta Kappa on a liberal arts campus.

There were 1790 freshmen last year.

Defenses Alert In Dormitory Football

By Don Green
The second week of intramural dormitory football was a complete turn-about from the first week of action. Instead of high scoring games, they were mainly defensive battles.

The best example of this was the Tucker #1-Bagwell game. The final score was 0-0, but Tucker won on yardage with 56 more than Bagwell.

The highest scoring game was between Turlington and Bragaw N #2. Bragaw won 18-0 as Nance threw three TD passes. The first was to Funderburke in the second period. Swartz caught the other two in the second half.

Both Owen #2 and Bragaw S #1 defeated their opposition by 12-9 scores. Owen downed Be-ton on touchdown passes from Holthouser to Gilleland and Honeycutt. Becton scored on a safety in the second period and a pass to Duncan in the fourth quarter. Bragaw S #1 trailed Tucker #2 9-0 at the end of the first half of action but rallied in the last half for two touchdowns.

Watauga beat Bragaw S #2 13-12. Lineberger and Elkins received passes from Campbell for Watauga's two scores. The winning point came after the first score. Mulp threw to Stutts and Butler for Bragaw's TD's.

High scoring Alexander was held to 13 points by Bragaw N #1, but Bragaw could only score 6 points. Both of Alexander's scores came on passes from Creech to Cartwright. Bragaw scored on a pass from Leonard to Doughton.

Ellen caught two TD passes from Vann, and Davis ran an intercepted pass back to give Owen #1 an 18-7 victory over Welch-Gold-Fourth.

Coach Edwards Says

We met a real "fired up" football team Saturday night at Hattiesburg, Mississippi and we were real happy to come away with a victory. The game was played to the "tilt" by both teams. Our passing and kicking were responsible for the win. There was good effort on the part of our squad but it was well matched by the boys from Mississippi. We had trouble running against them and then had trouble stopping their running. We made more mistakes than we did in our opening game and we must overcome these errors if we are to be successful against other opponents. The most disappointing play in the game was the recall of Tony Koszarsky's long run. One of these days Tony is going to make a big one without the flags down.

Clemson has a fine football team despite losses to two outstanding teams in the nation. This will be a hard game and an important one for both of us. I know our squad will try to be as ready as possible to meet the Tigers in Death Valley.
