WKNC Signs Off Airwave Hopes To Return Soon

WKNC, the campus radio station, has closed down indefinitely.

The station went off the air last week in order to rebuild equipment and reorganize the staff, according to Bill Powell, station manager.

Program Director Ronald Pearson stated yesterday he plans an overall revamping of the station's programs. He said all commercials will be dropped and a program of variety music probably will be adopted.

Pearson said the present staff was too small to run the station properly. He said the deletion of advertising would eliminate the amount of work necessary to make up the "spots." The profit received was a small part of the station's overall budget, he added.

He said he expected the station to be open by late November.

Design Publication Distributed Today

The fourteenth edition of the Student Publication of the School of Design will be distributed today.

This issue is in the form of four booklets, each dealing with the development of a project by one of four architects. They are Alvar Aalto, the design for the church of Vuoksenniska in Imatra, Finland; Le Corbusier, the design for l'Eglise de Firminy, a church in France; Louis I. Kahn, the design for the Second Capital of Pakistan at Dacca; and Paolo Soleri, the design for the Cosanti Foundation, Arizona.

The booklets contain reproductions of drawings done by the architects during the design of the structures. The development of the work from the beginning to the final concept is shown.

The co-editors for this issue were Reyhan Tansal and Keller Smith Jr.

Wolfpack Loses To Tide For Seasons First Defeat

Sloan Heads Drive After Namath Hurt

By MARTIN WHITE

Alabama's third nationally ranked football team unleashed a torrid passing attack in Tuscaloosa Saturday to drown the Wolfpack in a "Crimson Tide," 21-0.

One of the main concerns of the Wolfpack coaching staff prior to the 1964 season was that the Pack secondary would not be as strong as necessary to stop the opponent's attack.

This concern became a smashing reality during and forever after the second period of Saturday's contest as the passing and running attack of Crimson Tide quarterbacks Joe Namath and Steve Sloan repeatedly crashed the Pack defense for long rushing and passing yardage to bring a 7-0 lead at the end of the first half.

Alabama had ball possession four times during the first half; lost the ball twice on fumbles recovered by Bill Hall and Bennett Williams, punted once, and scored on their last possession.

The scoring drive went from the Alabama 31 to pay dirt in 15 plays. Five of the plays went for 10 or more yards, three of which were perfectly executed, uncontested passes. Two five-yard penalties within the 10-yard line delayed the drive, but both penalties were followed by a pass that put the ball within three yards of the goal. Sloan scored on second down from the one-yard line.

The second half started out much like the first half ended—with the Crimson players marching 51 yards in only nine plays for their second score. Three of these plays netted 46 of the 51 yards. Fullback Steve Bowman romped for 3 yards to score. Grady Elmore converted for the second time and a 14-0 Alabama lead.

The victors had ball possession twice in the third period, punting once and losing the ball to Rosie Amato on a fumble.

The final period began with the Pack getting as deep as the Alabama 15 on a long pass that was nullified on a clipping penalty. This was the last effort asserted by the Pack.

With 6:10 remaining in the game, the romping, stomping Tide ended a 63-yard drive on the ninth play by a nine-yard pass. Elmore kicked again for a 21-0 lead.

Thus ended the scoring and a miserable day of "blind mice" pass defense for the soundly defeated Wolfpack. All three of the Alabama scores were a direct result of the blazing passing attack by Namath and Sloan, completing 15 of 18 passes for 171 yards. Most of the passes were uncontested and thoroughly accurate. The total Alabama yardage was 342. For State it was 84.

"SOUTHERN ENGINEER" RECEIVES AWARDS

The Southern Engineer, the publication for engineering students, won two first place awards in nationwide competition last week at the Engineering College Magazines Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio.

According to this year's editor, Dick Paschall, who attended the convention, last year's publication copped five awards: first place for the best editorial in a single issue, first place for the best layout in a single issue and three honorable mentions for best editorials (overall), best all around magazine, and best technical article. The best technical article, entitled "Bio-Engineering," was written by Paschall. Last year's editor, John Buchanan, was responsible for the editorials.

The first Southern Engineer of this year is due next week.

Kenfield And Bubas To Discuss Big Time Athletics Wednesday

"Big Time Athletics—Asset and Liability" will be the topic of discussion at Wednesday night's meeting of the Apollo Club.

John Kenfield, professor in physical education and tennis coach, will lead one side of the discussion while Vic Bubas, head coach of the Duke Blue Devils, will present the other.

Kenfield was a pilot with USAF during World War II before earning his A.B. and M.A. degrees at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The author of "Teaching and Coaching Tennis," Kenfield is tennis instructor at the Lake Shore Country Club, Glencoe, Illinois, during the summer months.

Bubas was head coach of freshmen and assistant coach under Everett Case after playing star basketball at State. He is a member of the Golden Chain leadership fraternity here.

The 1964 Apollo program is composed of the presentation of a controversial subject from two points of view by persons of strong opinion on either side.

The program next week will be entitled "Where Does the Emphasis Belong—Teaching or Research?"

John Kenfield, professor in physical education and tennis coach.

Vic Bubas, head coach of the Duke Blue Devils.

London Symphony Receives Big Welcome, Plays Encores

The London Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Georg Solti, received a warm welcome from a nearly full house both Saturday and Sunday nights.

The Overture from Vaughn Williams' "The Wasps" was the first selection to be played in the concert Saturday. The music was written by Williams for the Cambridge production of The Wasps by Aristophanes.

Soloist Barry Tuckwell entertained the audience next as the orchestra played Horn Concerto No. 2 in E Flat by Mozart.

The first portion of the concert ended with Symphony in 3 Movements by Igor Stravinsky. This piece is the exact opposite of classical music in that it is a succession of clearly outlined blocks which are united through the continuity of a logically evolving organic force.

Following the intermission, the orchestra performed Brahms Symphony in C Minor which was the favorite of the orchestra. The piece is composed of four movements which begin with a rhythmic surge that relates organizationally with the pulsations of the final coda.

The enthusiasm of the audience which followed the final scheduled selection encouraged the orchestra to play two encores.

The next Friends of the College concert will be presented October 22 and 23 when Isaac Stern, violinist, will appear as guest soloist with the Japan Philharmonic Orchestra.

Campaigning Underway

Campaigns for all freshman and graduate positions in the fall election are officially underway.

A total of 30 freshmen signed up for the four class offices. Forty-one students are contesting the available senatorial positions. The number of senate seats open for this year has not yet been determined.

Up for vice president are Steve Bolick, John Wood, Ken

Norman, Everette Grayson, Chris Christy, Tim Scofield, and Robert Adcock.

On the books for secretary are Mary Ann Weathers, Linda Jean Collins, Bob Dhue, Babs Miller, and Andrew Symmer.

The five competitors for freshman class treasurer include Thomas H. Finch Jr., Chip Donald, Lynn Stewart, Hardy S. Poole, and Frank H. Ross.

The distribution of the students bidding for senate seats according to their school is as follows: Agriculture—4; Design—6; Education—1; Forestry—0; Liberal Arts—6; PSAM—3; Textiles—2; Engineering—18; and Graduate—1.

Ag Publication - You Name It

Nobody can legitimately complain that the proposal to change the name of The Ag Student is an attempt to undermine the students.

The staff of the magazine, which serves students in the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences, has decided to throw the name change open to the entire campus, not just the students in the school. And, on top of that, the staff is offering a prize of $5 for the best name.

It sounds ideal. Not only do the students have a chance to participate, but whoever's suggestion is chosen also gets the money.

The The Ag Student staff members don't plan to get stuck with just any name. If they don't like the suggestions, they plan to keep the old name.

In other words, they want everybody who has anything to say about the name to say it. Then a special committee will make the final decision.

The staff is aware of the fact that their present name does not include the entire school body, only the ag students. The students in the Life Sciences, who were already members of the school but not included in the actual school name until last year, are left out. But the staff members want to do something about it.

It seems that they are making a clean-cut move to get the name changed, that is, if anybody wants it changed. The only people likely to complain are the ag and life science students themselves who feel that the name of their magazine should be suggested by the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences, not the whole campus.

Fair Week: It's Here

The State Fair is back in town.

For most people, the fair is something everybody takes for granted. It will come and go each fall just as regularly as the leaves fall off the trees.

The fair never really changes. The list of entertainment usually increases; a record number of people are predicted to attend; and it is likely to rain during the week.

But still, everybody wants to go.

They want to go because they have become accustomed to going every year and somehow it just wouldn't seem as if fall were really here unless they went. Or they are going because it's close by and there's nothing else to do in Raleigh. Or they haven't been in two years and they think maybe they'll see something new or different. Or they've never been and they want to see what it's like.

Well, whatever the excuses or reasons may be, the trip is usually worth while. The fair, with all its enticements, its money-making schemes, its girly shows, and its dust, is an education within itself.

ARE FRESHMEN CHEER-LEADERS NECESSARY?

To the Editor:

At last after five years of faithful attendance at all varsity and freshman football home games, my wrath can no longer be contained.

Are cheerleaders at freshman games really necessary? Usually, only the more avid fans like myself attend the freshman games; and we go to see what sort of football talent is present on the freshman squad, not to listen to some leather-lunged individual bellow through a microphone "who's going to beat Carolina?" (We were behind 26-0 with less than two minutes to play when this question was brought forth.)

It honestly detracts from the enjoyment of the game to have to listen to this clap-trap. I think the fact that the man-with-the-microphone went the whole game without receiving even a glimmer of response to his efforts indicates that the rest of the crowd at the game would agree with me.

Even the dullest witted individual would recognize these facts-of-life. I hope the freshman cheering squad does.

Name Withheld by Request
WHOSE ANNUAL IS IT?

To the Editor:

Being a senior, I am not worried about seeing my picture in this year's annual. What does concern me is the dictatorial attitude taken by this year's Board of Student Publications. I fully realize that the committee has definite authority and justification to modify the annual in the manner felt will be most beneficial to the student body. But, does this course of action have to continue regardless of student opinion? Must the name and format of the annual be altered in spite of obvious discontent by many students?

This question leads us to the next point of how do the students feel toward both changing the name and deletion of class pictures. The Publications Committee has stated that it feels the students are not well enough informed on the subject to be able to vote intelligently on the matter. Surely, the committee doesn't think the students' level of intelligence too low to grasp the facts and implications of the annual question. Or does the committee think that the students don't understand all the facts about what the new book is to contain?

In any case, it is the obligation of the Committee as a representative of the student body to deal with the problem as fairly as possible—even if bending over a little is necessary. Since each student has already paid for his annual, I believe that the committee has a moral obligation to allow each purchaser an opportunity to express himself on a matter which directly concerns him. This is not to say that each student has an "unalienable" right to a vote in the matter, but for the committee to have permitted a vote on the issue seems much more prudent than simply ramming the proposals down our throats, "come hell or high water."

I am not necessarily opposed to the name change, but do question what percentage of the student body will be interested in a 40-page section concerning the events during the year. Such sections as married student housing will mean little to those in the dorm.

In any case, I would appreciate the opportunity to voice my opinion on a student issue which affects me and have it counted. This seems necessary since the voice of the SG is to be taken as oppressive by the Publications Committee and this paper. This course appears the only alternative other than bureaucracy.

In conclusion, I wonder if the reason behind the committee's refusal to a student vote is inability to reach the "right" decision, or could the committee fear that the wishes of the majority would be contrary to their own? Whose annual is it, anyway?

DOWN ON THE FARM

To the Editor:

Thanks for the candid views expressed by the coeds. I don't know why I came to this school. It's so hard to get a date here. I had figured the odds at about 20 to one, but the girls say only three dates a night. Wonder what the other seven thousand boys do for kicks.

And really we must change our opinion of the coeds. You know they aren't looking for a husband. Who'd come here? They are here to learn. So they will have a future to look for. Think of all the demands for female Civil Engineers or Forest Rangers.

Why shouldn't Carolina want dates here? So they got a wrong number and called Watauga instead of the farm.

Really, I'm sure we all love the coeds, and when all the Peace, St. Mary's, and Meredith girls are gone, I'll go to Watauga and look for a smile!

Donald Bryant
INDIA STUDENTS MISREPRESENTED

To the Editor:

Your article on the India Association in your last issue, at best, misrepresents the Indian students at State. To start with, in big headlines on the front page your reporter calls the normal expiry of the yearly term of our president a resignation.

May we feel happy that of all the international clubs, a small incident like this in the "little India" made news in your paper or be pained by the hypercritical attitude reflected in what follows a false headline? To give you a few facts, election to the post of the president during the last two years has been unanimous. In fact, in 1962, all the posts were filled by requesting various people to become officers of the executive committee.

This year a very crucial question of the requirements of the president came up. How would the students at State react if a person from UNCCH wanted to contest the presidency of the student body here? Under the pressure which a question like this plus nationalistic overtones brings to any group, the "crisis" amounted to nothing more than a prolonged discussion which was resolved into a democratic solution agreeable to all.

Secondly, and more important, the glib reference by your reporter to the lack of leadership in "Big India" and the "Indian things" was, at best, uncalled for in a campus newspaper. To me your reporter has made a mountain of a mole hill in his search for sensation. Worse, in doing so he has gone very near to the point of commenting on the character of a nation. Do not we, belonging to "Little America" and "little India" here at State owe it to our countries and the world at large to report and discuss matters like students rather than like politicians?

SG and Me

By Bob Holmes

What does a veto for the Student Government president mean to the students?

Since it is the students who will decide the issue in the fall elections, the importance of this power needs to be fully understood. A referendum will be presented to the entire student body during the elections and a two-thirds majority of those voting is required for passage.

A presidential veto has long been demanded by some elements within SG. Until now, such a question has been purely academic and of little interest to the general student body.

In the past, the student legislature has been intimidated by the president. Until this year, it has been the policy of the president to speak out against measures he did not like. Almost every bill denounced by the chief executive was defeated in the student legislature. Obviously, the senators hesitated to violate the president's wishes.

Situation Reversed

The veto bill supposedly reverses this situation. However, some doubt remains as to whether the senators will be able to muster the two-thirds majority required to override the veto. They may continue to be intimidated by the desires of the president through his veto.

The real importance of the veto stems from the fact that SG may soon find itself with a more powerful voice. The judicial branch of SG, the Honor Code Board, meets tomorrow night to decide whether SG has any real authority over the Board of Publications. Should the controversy be resolved in favor of SG, the presidential veto could become a very potent weapon. Since such a decision could be extended to include other organizations as well as the Publications Board, the effects of a veto may be far-reaching indeed. This would be especially true in the case of a weak student legislature and a strong president.

Checks And Balances

As of now, some points are fairly obvious. The veto in itself probably will not prevent the president from intimidating the student legislature if he so desires. The measure will not provide SG with an internal system of "checks and balances" as claimed by some senators. It may give the SG president far-reaching authority, possibly to include the various campus publications and organizations. Who can say what might have happened in the yearbook name-change issue if SG had had the authority and its president had had veto powers?

At this point, the importance of the presidential veto can hardly be overemphasized. Pending the decision of the Honor Code Board, the veto referendum will require careful consideration before the votes are cast.

Dormitory Football Resumes After Rain

By RONNIE CAMPBELL

This was a week of one-sided games in the dormitory intramural football league as none of the nine contests played were closer than 14 points. This was only the second round of action in the league due to rain last week.

Bragaw South #2 dropped two games this week by 20-6 scores, losing to Turlington and Alexander. Leonard threw two passes to Mauro and one to Webster for the Alexander scores.

Bragaw North #1 soundly defeated Bragaw South #1 by a 28-2 score. Scoring for North #1, Houthouser passed to Craver, Blythe, and Hughes for touchdowns and ran the fourth one over. Lee #2 went down to a 27-6 defeat at the hands of Berry-Welch-Gold. Carter hit Montgomery with three touchdown passes and threw to Vinson for another. Willis scored on a 28-yard run for the losers.

Owen #1 scored in every period while holding Owen #2 scoreless to win 23-0. Two of the scores were safeties. Bob Hudson scored twice on passes from Mike York and a third time with a pass interception. Becton romped over Lee #1 by a 22-0 score.

In the two highest scoring games of the day, Tucker #2 downed Tucker #1, 25-0 while Syme defeated Bragaw North #2, 30-12. Travis with two scores, and Price and Woodall with one each, were the big guns for Tucker #2. Syme scored five times to defeat Bragaw North #2. Wall, Linburgher, and Gaede tallied for the winners while Barns and Nance scored for Bragaw.

Lee #3 won by forfeit over Bagwell.

Becton, Kappa Alpha Lead In Track Meet

Becton with 14 points and Kappa Alpha with 25½ points are the current leaders in the dormitory and fraternity track meets with the running finals being Tuesday night.

Tucker #1 with 13 points is pushing Becton for the title while Kappa Alpha has a comfortable lead over Sigma Phi Epsilon, 9½, and Phi Kappa Tau, 8.

Three students have been placed on probation and five were reprimanded by the Men's Campus Code Board.

Two students were placed on one semester probation for using fire crackers. Another student was given a two-semester probation for coming in his dormitory drunk and starting a fight with the floor counselor.

Five students were reprimanded for breaking into a high school football game held in Riddick Stadium September 18. The students pleaded guilty but stated that they did not know they were violating the code. The Board warned that such cases would be dealt with more seriously in the future.

State Fair Opens: Strippers And Sawdust

By CORA KEMP

The gates open at 10 a.m. today at the N. C. State Fair where an estimated one million people are expected to visit this week. The Fair, known to State students for its variety of entertainment, sawdust and strippers, will be open every day through Saturday until midnight.

Getting the fair underway tonight will be Al Hirt, nationally known trumpet player, who will perform at the fairgrounds at 8:30 in the Dorton Arena. Tickets will be on sale at the arena box offices.

State students may be found anywhere, anytime among the crowds. The School of Agriculture and Life Sciences will sponsor its own "Ag Fair" in the exhibit halls. The departmental clubs will set up the demonstration booths. Three clubs will open concession stands in the midway.

The Circle K Club will be working full time at the fair, their annual fund-raising project. Members of the club will work in the arena, the grandstands, concession stands, and in the parking lots.

Rides, girlie shows, rodeos, and the thrill shows will also highlight the entertainment. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police will make nightly appearances, plus appearing tomorrow and Thursday afternoons.

The Kochman Thrill Show and the Joie Chitwood Auto Thrill Show will be held in the grandstands during the week.

Another attraction will be the "Golden Knights," a free-fall parachute jumping team from Fort Bragg.

Many of the fair's exhibits will be based on the theme of "Food and the Future." David S. Weaver, retired director of Extension Services here, is general chairman of the theme exhibits. The displays will be in the basement of the Dorton Arena illustrating the four major divisions of producing, processing, marketing, and consuming.

The Department of Food Science here is arranging a series of six exhibits on food processing. Dr. John A. Christian of the department is directing the activities.

The Food Science Department will also have exhibits on the main floor of the arena called "Food and the World," featuring dairy products, poultry, fruits and vegetables, and nutrition demonstrations. One display, according to Dr. Christian, will illustrate how much work is involved in the production of one pound of meat.

Fair manager Robert W. Shoffner is also a member of the N. C. State administration. Shoffner is the director of Foundations. He was appointed to his position with the fair by N. C. Ag Commissioner James A. Graham, an alumnus of the University.

The fair has been located west of the University's dairy farm since 1927.

The scenery at the State Fair tells the tale of all the sights which may be seen there.

By BILLI DARDEN
The Contemporary Scene Lectures series will open Friday with Pulitzer Prize winner Robert Penn Warren.

The lecture will be held at 8 p.m. in the Erdahl-Cloyd Ballroom.

Warren's best-selling novel All the King's Men was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1947 and was again recognized two years later when the movie version received the Academy Award for the year's best film.

Band of Angels
Other novels which have added to Warren's popularity are World Enough and Time, Band of Angels, and The Cave. Along with these, he has written such animated verse narratives as "The Ballad of Billie Potts" and "Brother to Dragons." Flood is Warren's greatest novel to be published. It came out in April of this year.

Artist, Critic, Educator
Warren, who has been an artist, critic, and educator for over 30 years, was born and bred in Kentucky. With his participation in the "Southern Agrarian" expression of the early 1930's, he has been articulate concerning the experiences and social problems of his region.

The versatile author has always made narrative craft serve philosophical and social purposes. All the King's Men is a study of the degeneration of local Southern democracy and a portrayal of human response to evil. "John Brown: The Making of a Martyr" and "Segregation: The Inner Conflict of the South" are non-fiction works which explore the Southern dilemma.

Southern Review
While teaching at Louisiana State University, Warren helped found and edit the "Southern Review," the early forum of the "New Critics."

The renowned author has also published two textbooks: Understanding Poetry and An Approach to Literature. The latter was accomplished with the collaboration of Brooks and John T. Pursor.

The public is invited to attend this lecture which is presented free of charge by the Union.

Ag Student To Receive New Name; Contest Sponsored By Ag Council

Need $5 anyone?

All students and faculty members are invited to submit entries in the Agriculture Council's contest to rename its publication, The Ag Student.

"The name should include the biological science aspect of the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences," according to John Arnold, editor of The Ag Student. Also, Arnold felt that the name should be short, snappy, and emphasize that this magazine is "of the student, by the student, and for the student" in the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

Anyone wishing to enter should fill in the application blank below and turn it in at the Union Main Desk or to Dr.

E. W. Glazner's office in Patterson Hall. The winning name will be picked by a committee of three faculty members and the editor of The Ag Student. The winner will receive a prize of $5 at the annual Ag Council Combo Party November 20.

Glee Club To Be On TV

The Varsity Men's Glee Club has been invited to participate in a series of NBC broadcasts entitled Great Choirs of America.

It is planned for a local television station, WPTF, to record the program over NBC lines. This recording will in turn be broadcast over the entire nation October 25, and November 1 and 8 from 10:05 to 10:15 p.m.

According to J. Perry Watson, director of music, the Glee Club will be performing The Testament of Freedom, Song of Peace, Shall I Wasting, Holy, Holy, Holy, and A Sailors Al- leluia on this program.

In addition to this series, the glee clubs will give a performance at the annual Christmas concert December 11.

Watson stated that an increase in the size of the clubs has been made since last year. This is due, he said, to the addition of a third section intended to help students who need further instruction.

Students who are unable to meet the requirements of the Varsity Men's Glee Club are eligible to audition for the Collegiate Men's Glee Club. Both groups participate in concerts on and off campus.

FOLK SONG SEMINAR:

Many of the reasons for Odetta's acclaim by knowledgeable folk music fans are evident in her latest Dynagroove album. Here—in a cross-section of 12 great folk songs—her pure voice and emotional power extract the essential meaning of such ballads as "Troubled" and "Wayfarin' Stranger" as well as the humorous flavor of "Froggy Went A-Courtin'" and "Sea Lion Woman." If you could own the albums of just one folk singer, Odetta is the one you should choose.
