SAE To Face Trial Tonight

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will plead guilty tonight to charges of serving alcoholic beverages to high school students, according to SAE President Jim Martin.

The Interfraternity Council Investigations Board will officially charge the fraternity with making alcoholic beverages available to high school students at St. Mary's on October 21, according to Bo Duncan, chairman of the board.

According to the fraternity code, violators are subject to having their charters revoked, Duncan said. However, this action is not mandatory, he noted.

Duncan said that since the fraternity has admitted its guilt, the purpose of the meeting will be to review the case and to establish the penalty for the violation.

Martin stated last night: "Many important factors must be considered by the board, and we intend to bring them out. We have admitted our guilt and have cooperated with the investigations board in every way. The violation consisted of making champagne available with the meal at an open house. We were not aware of the rule at the time."

Campus Crier

The Ag Institute Club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Union Ballroom.

The Agronomy Club will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the McKinnon Room of Williams Hall for a speech contest. Refreshments will be served.

The American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. in 216 Broughton Hall. Two State graduate students will speak on working for the Douglas Aircraft Co. this summer.

The Forestry Club will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. in 159 Kilgore Hall.

The Taylor Sociology Club will meet Thursday at noon in Harris Cafeteria for a luncheon meeting. Dr. Bert Adams of UNCC will speak on "Visitation Patterns and Kinship Roles of Young Married Couples." The public is invited.

There will be a meeting of all fraternity treasurers Wednesday at 7:30 in 211 Peele Hall to discuss financial matters related to fraternities.

Wolfpack Stops USC Birds; Coed Reigns At Homecoming

NCS Quarterback Ron Skosnik, No. 15, receives a critical block from End Ray Barlow, No. 83, on his 72-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter. In his best performance to date, Skosnik accounted for a total of 257 yards during the afternoon including his game-winning sprint in the last period. (Photo by Cashion)

By MARTIN WHITE

The NBC-TV Regional "Game of the Week" became the "Spectacular of the Week" in Riddick Stadium Saturday afternoon, as State's Wolfpack and the Gamecocks of South Carolina fought to the wire with the Pack taking a shaky 17-14 victory.

A Homecoming crowd of 21,000 plus a 12-state television audience saw the Pack come from behind on a 72-yard run by Ron Skosnik to take a 17-14 lead and then stop the Birds' last upset hopes on an interception by Bill Gentry with two minutes remaining in the game.

The pesky South Carolinians showed a surprisingly strong offense on their first ball possession by going 72 yards in 18 plays for the first score of the game and a 7-0 lead. Bird quarterback Dan Reeves, who had 738 yards passing prior to the game, threw only twice in the drive, once incomplete and once to set up the score from the 15 to the five-yard line. The drive consumed the first nine minutes of the game.

State's first scoring opportunity came early in the second period after a 50-yard drive brought a first down on the South Carolina 15-yard line. The visitor's line held for two downs and two passes were incomplete to end the threat.

State broke into the scoring race late in the half when Bill James snagged a Reeves pass and returned it to the State 43-yard line. From there the Pack used eight plays to tie the score. Skosnik completed four of four passes on the way, good for 48 yards and the TD. Bill Gentry, a six-foot, five inches tall, 217-pound sophomore, received the first and last pass of the drive, scoring on a 14-yard toss to the goal line.

The Wolfpack took the second half kick-off and marched down to the South Carolina eight yard line for another scoring opportunity. Skosnik completed a 34-yard pass play to Shelby Mansfield that brought a first down on the SC 17-yard line. Three plays netted only nine yards and the fourth went for no gain as the Gamecocks took over.

State's second ball possession in the quarter brought what appeared to be the second Pack TD of the day when Skosnik raced 10 yards into the end zone after a 54-yard drive. Offensive holding was called on the play, putting the ball back to the Birds' 26-yard line. The quarter ended with Skosnik hitting Gentry on the five for a fourth and five situation.

On the first play of the final period, Harold Deters booted a 22-yard field goal, his fourth out of seven tries this season, to put the Pack ahead for the first time in the game, 10-7.

The glory was short-lived, however, as the Gamecocks took the following kick-off and raced to a 14-10 lead in only seven plays. Reeves covered 60 yards in two of the plays to set up the score. Reeves entered the game with a net gain of only 32 yards for the season, but hit the State defense for 126 yards to bring his season total, rushing and passing, to 3,104 yards. He is the first South Carolina player to reach the 3,000 mark.

The crowning play of the game came after the ensuing kick-off when the Pack took over on its 26-yard line. On the second play from scrimmage, Skosnik broke into the open and raced 72 yards for the winning score. Ray Barlow led the interference on the play and took out the last defender to free Skosnik.

Skosnik, along with 13 other seniors, was playing his last game in Riddick Stadium and made it the best of his college career. He completed 11 of 19 passes for 151 yards, added 106 on the ground for a total of 257. Shelby Mansfield also had a brilliant day, catching five of Skosnik's passes for 88 yards, and rushing for 70 yards.

The win brought the Pack's overall record to 5-2, 5-1 in ACC competition. South Carolina is still winless with a 0-3-1 ACC mark and 0-5-2 overall.

Halftime Award Goes To Weathers

Editor's Note: It is said that it is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all. This well may apply to the finalists in this year's Homecoming Queen contest, according to Janeen Smith, one of the finalists and staff writer on The Technician.

The 10 homecoming finalists were introduced to the judges for the first time at an informal coffee session at the Erdahl-Cloyd Union at 4 p.m. Friday. We met out in the halls, comparing names and notes and sharing nervous expectation.

The judges were Raleigh businessman Phillip Eskridge, N. C. State social studies professor William F. Edwards, and Mrs. E. Stanhope Dunn of Dunn's Women's Apparel.

The formal interviews were held Saturday morning at 9.

Welch, Theta Tau Win Display Contest

Winners of the "Beat the Gamecocks" display Saturday were awarded trophies by the Raleigh Merchants' Association.

The winners in the Dormitory class were Welch, Syme, and Watauga, in that order.

The winners in the organization division were Theta Tau, Alpha Phi Omega, and Tompkins Textile Council.

The winners in the fraternity class were Lambda Chi Alpha, Theta Chi, and Phi Kappa Tau.

Finalists and their escorts collected in the music lounge, biting their nails while they waited to be called in for private questioning sessions.

Such questions were asked as "What do you think of the topless bathing suit?", "What is the greatest problem in the world situation?", and "Why do you want to be Homecoming Queen?" We girls had prepared ourselves for any sort of question, and the judges were wonderful at putting us at ease, so the interview was for the most part painless. The waiting was the worst.

When all the finalists had been asked their questions, the judges deliberated a few minutes, and then spoke to the contestants as a group. They congratulated us and told us of the difficulty in making a decision.

There was a tremendous feeling of relief when we were dismissed. For better or worse, the judging was over.

The game absorbed my interest until halftime, when we prepared to go out onto the field. The contestants hadn't been present at any of the practice sessions, and all we knew of the ceremony was what our escorts had related to us.

The time we stood on the end of the field seemed interminable. There was plenty of time for envisioning spills over a microphone cord, broadcast in 12 states.

Then we marched out onto the field and lined up in the planned formation. We held our breath one last moment while announcements were made, then "Second runner-up, Nancy Johnson; first runner-up, Alice Avett; Miss Wolfpack, Mary Ann Weathers." We stood on the field for one more anti-climactic moment and then filed off, rushing to congratulate the queen and runners-up.

The coed finalists shared in Mary Ann's joy. A State girl had finally made it!

MISS WOLFPACK 1964: MARY ANN WEATHERS

Elections: Success And Failure

From the point of view of Student Government, last week's campus election was both a success and a failure. The straw vote brought out a record number of voters, but a minority group managed to defeat what was potentially the most beneficial of the amendments.

The presidential veto amendment failed to be ratified by a very narrow margin. While lack of information may have contributed to the amendment's downfall, a good deal of the "credit" belongs to the group which has been a pain in the side of Student Government for some time. These individuals claim to be "supporting" SG while their efforts are actually hindering the progress of that body.

The dissenting group on the veto showed its true colors by leaving the anti-veto material unsigned. Signatures of the publishers are almost always required on this type of material in national elections. In the case of the anti-veto handouts, the students were deprived of the knowledge of the identity of the opposition group. This may have been intentional, depending on the motivations of those individuals involved. However, the identity of the veto's opposition is suggested by its use of such phrases as "in your heart you know it's wrong" and its means of distributing the material.

Perhaps this group is merely maintaining ideological consistency in opposing changes in the existing situation. However, this is no time for conservatism in Student Government. A complete modernization is required.

In keeping with this need, Student Government has plans to revise its entire constitution over the period of this school year. In presenting the three amendments, SG indicated that it felt that a gradual process of change would allow the general student body the time to become more familiar with the changes being made and their consequences.

Unfortunately, in the case of the presidential veto, an "interested" group of students managed to take the amendment out of context and grossly misrepresent its effects. Instead of presenting logical opposition to the principles of the amendment, they chose to publish misleading information. Listing virtually every activity of the SG president as a great "power," the objectors called the veto "the last straw" leading to the supreme domination of the presidency. While such tactics have been proven effective, they are unfair both to the students and to the Student Government. Drastic revisions in policy and in constitutional composition may be necessary to achieve a status of effective authority. In addition, accommodation will have to be made for the growth of Student Government in the future. The veto amendment was only one of the many new changes to be proposed in connection with impending constitutional revision.

While the voices of dissenting groups are valuable in any democracy, actions such as those taken by the opponents of the veto are not. Although it is difficult to determine the extent of the damage done by these "friends" of Student Government by their misrepresentation of the veto, one point is clear. Student Government must have its proposals considered objectively by the student body if it is to move forward successfully.

THANK GOODNESS!

To the Editor:

Thank goodness for the 18 people who had the foresight and wisdom to refute the causes of the present Democratic and Republican candidates for governor and join me in writing in the name of L. Richardson Preyer. Though Judge Preyer has repeatedly voiced his support for the Democratic ticket and urged his followers to follow suit, there are those of us who cannot and will not sacrifice our principles even in the name of The (Democratic) Party. How can anyone, having supported a man of such character and integrity as the judge, throw down his mantle and blindly follow such a colorless individual as the present Democratic candidate? For me, this is an impossible task.

Judge Preyer has urged his supporters to become "the loyal opposition," in other words, vote for and support a man in whom you do not believe. These are the words of a defeated candidate who must affiliate with his party at all costs. This is an awkward position for any man to be forced to take. I feel that the 19 votes which went to Richardson Preyer yesterday contribute to making this situation less awkward.

VETO THE VETO!

To the Editor:

Our Student Government legislature continues to amaze me. Because of the activity of several senators, the Student Government legislature took a firm stand against the Publications Board "railroad" of the Agromeck name change. Therefore the Student Government administration, led by President John Atkins, resolved the controversy in a matter very satisfactory to the students. Now the Legislature has fallen victim to an even more efficient railroad. The railroad measure is the proposed presidential veto amendment to the Student Government Constitution.

First, a bill, I-1, 164-1, was passed that stated there should be a constitutional amendment. When the Student Government administration tried to use this bill as a proposed amendment to be voted on by the students, several interested students pointed out emphatically that exact language has to be submitted for the student body's approval. A special meeting of the legislature convened Monday to consider the actual language so that the amendment can be voted upon tomorrow. Also ready to be submitted was a much more extensive bill calling for general legislative-executive separation. The senators backing this proposal merely wanted to start consideration on general revision, rather than rushing ahead with just a presidential veto. They were never given a chance. Only two persons were recognized during consideration of the proposed amendment, one who moved for adoption of the bill and the other who moved the previous question (to end debate). The presiding officer acted as if there were no opposition, even though the printed alternate proposal was there. This meeting took all of 15 minutes, including the opening roll call.

This again demonstrates the tremendous power of the president. Mr. Atkins stated that the meeting was called as a formality, and it was. Presidential powers include appointment of legislative committees and membership in the legislature. With a veto a president could thwart very effectively the expression of student opinion if he should be out of contact with the average student or, even worse, be blatantly opposed to their ideas.

Therefore, I strongly encourage my fellow students to vote against the presidential veto amendment, and thus mandate the Student Government Legislature to consider general executive legislative reform.

On The Campaign Trail

(Editor's Note: The following is the fourth of a series of background and platform information submitted by the candidates in the fall elections. The material is written by the candidates and, except for necessary editing, is printed as submitted. This coverage will continue until Wednesday, the day before the run-off.)

He should then present the majority opinion before the campus governing body concerned with the issue. In this capacity he will gain recognition for the freshman opinion, and the freshman opinion will be taken into consideration when decisions are made concerning the whole campus.

Another side to this platform is the fact that if the freshmen are asked for their opinion on critical issues, and if they know that their opinion will be voiced, the majority of the freshmen will take a greater interest in these issues, which affect the campus. Along with this interest, a greater sense of unity among the freshmen would develop.

Now that you, the freshmen of NCS, have heard Bill's platform and some of the benefits it will bring, you should therefore have a basis for comparison of the candidates. Bill hopes that the whole class will vote on Thursday and thereby have a voice in determining the leadership.

FRESHMAN CLASS PRESIDENT Bill Iler

All of a candidate's policies and principles are put forth in his platform, which should therefore be studied by the voters in order to compare his beliefs with those of other candidates.

Bill Iler's platform consists of his belief that the freshman president should be the man to solicit the opinions of the freshman class on critical issues which affect the student body.

SG and Me

By Bob Holmes

As predicted, the campaign organizations of the fraternities, paid off handsomely in the recent campus elections.

Perhaps the most successful of these organizations has been the one established by the Sigma Chi fraternity. In fact, the Chis have so many members within the three departments of SG that it would appear that anyone with a Sigma Chi membership card has it made in Student Government. The long tentacles of Sigma Chi extend to the student legislature, the campus code and honor code boards, and to the posts of assistant and committee member within the SG executive branch.

The Sigma Chi fraternity is obviously proud of its position in Student Government and said so in its newspaper, The Wolfpack Sig. The editor-in-chief of that publication is none other than SG presidential assistant, Chip Andrews. In the fall election, Andrews included an article emphasizing the significance of the Sigma Chi position in SG. The item read as follows: "Possibly our most 'significant showing has been in Student Government work. With ten brothers as Senators, and several others as presidential aides and committeemen, we sometimes control a near majority in the legislature. This number does not include eighteen of our new freshman pledges who are now campaigning for elective offices. Brother Smith is on the Consolidated University Student Council; Brother Fields is the chairman of the NCS delegation to the State Student Legislature (with the power to choose his committee . . . a few Sigma Chis?); Brother Louder is the NCS representative to the Raleigh City Council; Brother Bostrom is on the Traffic Committee; Brother Craven is on the Honor Code Board; Brothers Cooke and Plasky are on the Campus Code Board; and Brother Andrews is the Assistant to the President of Student Government."

The reference made by The Wolfpack Sig concerning the control of "a near majority in the legislature" is well supported by the size of the Sigma Chi delegation within that body. In addition to the 10 brothers already in attendance, the freshman primary elections provided five more with several others, including Lewis Murray of the School of Liberal Arts, contesting the senatorial seats available in the run-off election this week. As of now, the Sigma Chi total within the student legislature is 15 out of 70 or roughly 22 per cent of total membership of the legislature. In comparison with the membership totals of similar groups, the Chis could indeed control a near majority.

At the present time, there are 22 Sigma Chis in the three branches of Student Government. However, this figure does not include those members contesting positions in the coming run-off elections or those "few Sigma Chis" that The Wolfpack Sig suggested for appointment to Student Government committees. Should all the Chis in the run-off be successful and the suggested appointments be achieved, the Sigma Chi fraternity may well achieve 30 per cent plus membership in the legislature.

The Wolfpack Sig apparently feels that all these efforts place the Sigma Chi fraternity in a very enviable position within SG. At any rate, the success of the Sigma Chi political organization has been proven.

Fraternity Football Tourney Begins Today

The championship play-offs in the fraternity intramural football league begin this afternoon with eight teams trying for a second-round berth. Pre-tournament favorites include the three undefeated leaders of Sections #1, 2 and 4; Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Nu, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Section #3 leader, Phi Kappa Tau was defeated only once during the season, on yardage.

The second place teams in the four sections will draw the section leaders in the first round of the tournament. In Sections #2, 3, and 4, Theta Chi, Pi Kappa Phi, and Pi Kappa Alpha won the number two positions during regular season play. In Section #1, Sigma Chi defeated Kappa Alpha, 9-6, to win a tournament berth. The two teams ended the season with 3-3 records.

The four winners in today's first round will advance to the second round to be played Wednesday afternoon. The two finalists will decide the Fraternity Football crown Monday afternoon, November 9.

The dormitory football play-offs will not begin until next week as this league still has one regular season round to be played. Half of this round will be played this afternoon with remaining games being played Wednesday afternoon.

Booters Defeat Dook For Season's Sixth Win

By WALTER LAMMI

Two new records were set on Friday as the soccer team in its last home and last conference game of the season defeated Duke, 4-1. This victory marks the first time the team has won half of a season's conference games. In addition, the Wolfpack, with a 6-4 record and only one game to go, is assured of being the second State soccer team in history to achieve a winning season.

The game started slowly, neither side scoring at first. In the second quarter State's Jaime Ferrand attempted a seemingly impossible shot from the corner which spun out of the Duke goalie's hands into the net. In the opening moments of the second half Ferrand recovered a fumble by the Duke goalie to score again. Ten minutes later Pedro Lozada dribbled into position for a shot that increased the Wolfpack's lead to 3-0. Duke's lone goal was made after a corner kick in the last quarter. Benito Artinano converted a penalty for State's fourth and final point in the final period.

Defensive standouts were goalie Halis Alkis, fullbacks Pablo Schick and Dave Serbeck, and halfbacks Moshe Feldman, Ali Oner, and Ruben Levi.

This was the last ACC battle for six graduating seniors: captain Benito Artinano, co-captain Mete Kantar, halfbacks Moshe Feldman and Ismail Misirli, and fullbacks Dave Serbeck and Pablo Schick. Artinano, the team leader for three years, was awarded the game ball.

Intermural Volleyball

In fraternity action, last year's champions, Phi Kappa Tau, downed Sigma Alpha Mu in two games, 15-6 and 15-9. Last year's runner-up, Sigma Phi Epsilon, also won in two games over Kappa Alpha, 15-6 and 15-4. McClenny, Favor, and Pendell were outstanding for PKT while Miller, Donnan, and Moser paced the Sig Eps.

In other contests, Delta Sigma Phi topped Farmhouse, 15-9 and 15-11; Lambda Chi Alpha topped Sigma Nu, 15-2 and 15-3; Tau Kappa Epsilon, paced by Goodnight, defeated Sigma Pi, 15-3 and 15-0; Dellinger, Wood and Smith led Sigma Chi to a 15-5 and 15-7 win over Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Theta Chi downed Alpha Gamma Rho, 15-1 and 15-8.

Dormitory action saw Alexander defeat Lee #2, 15-5 and 15-0; Bragaw South #2 down Bragaw South #1, 15-12 and 15-8; Owen #1 top Owen #2, 15-9 and 15-4; Becton defeat Syme 15-2 and 15-13; and Turlington win over Tucker #1, 15-9 and 15-11.

"The development of management is essential to our goal of great growth"

At the 1964 stockholders' meeting, Arjay R. Miller, President of Ford Motor Company, emphasized the Company's far-sighted recruitment program and its accent on developing management talent:

"One aspect of our planning is crucial to the success of everything else we do. It engages the best thoughts and efforts of our whole management team, from top to bottom, throughout the world. I am speaking of the development of management. The immediate future of our Company depends heavily upon the abilities of the people who are now key members of our management team.

"In the longer run, our future depends on what we are doing at the present time to attract and develop the people who will be making the major decisions 10 to 20 years from now. We are developing management competence in depth in order to attack the problems that will confront a company of great growth—and great growth (both in profits and sales) is exactly the goal we have established for Ford Motor Company.

"We are continuing to emphasize recruiting. Last spring, 180 of our management people devoted part of their time to recruiting outstanding graduates from colleges and universities throughout the U.S. Last year, these efforts resulted in our hiring over 1,000 graduates, 220 more than the year before.

"We are seeking and we are finding young men—and young women, too—with brains and backbone—people who have the ability and the desire to make room for themselves at the top. We give our trainees challenging assignments with as much responsibility as they can carry. We promote them as fast as they are ready. Those who are interested in easy security soon drop out. Those who have what we want stay with us, and move up quickly to increased responsibility and the pay that goes with it. Thanks to the quality of the people we are recruiting and developing, I am firmly convinced that our outlook is most promising."

International Booters Lose

By HENRY MAHERAS
State's International Soccer Team lost to Cherry Point by a score of 4-1 last week in its second game of the season.

The winning goal was made with only three seconds remaining in the game. The contest, which was the first meeting of the two teams, was played in Cherry Point.

The first half was scoreless, but in the latter part of the second half, the Marine forwards pressed the State defense and for a few minutes took complete control of the game.

Dressen of the Marines scored on a penalty shot to put his team ahead 4-1.

The State International players are as follows: Maheras, Dahler, Rueda, Scoff, Lammi, Stephankis, Wright, Sarria, Tarim, Alencastro, Michalopoulos (Mejia).

The players are from Greece, Turkey, Germany, Colombia, Peru, Ecuador, Venezuela and the United States.

Coeds Attend Meet At MIT

Two coeds represented N. C. State at the American Women in Science and Engineering symposium held at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass. last week.

Miss Ethel Oliver, a senior in Chemistry, and Mrs. Adelaide Carpenter, a student in the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences, attended the conference held to discuss the opportunities and difficulties of women in the fields of science and engineering. Among the speakers were representatives of industry, government, education, and science.

Coeds Guests At FarmHouse

The FarmHouse fraternity recently completed what is believed to be the biggest large-scale maneuver to be undertaken by the chapter.

The FarmHouse brothers invited the entire on-campus coed student body here to the house for a "home-cooked" meal. The girls were invited in groups of 10 each on Tuesday and Thursday nights. About 50 girls attended.

The purpose of the project was to familiarize the guests with "FarmHouse tradition and hospitality."

Birth Control Discussed At SAM Lecture

The necessity for birth control was recognized by ministers of the Catholic, Jewish, and Baptist faiths in a panel discussion at the Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity Wednesday.

Father John Breunig, Rabbi Abe Schoen, and the Rev. Leroy Richardson led the discussion on birth control.

"Beside the rhythm method," Father Bruenig stated, "there is no alternative but self-restraint." He added that the Catholic Church has a Pope-appointed group examining artificial contraceptives.

Rabbi Schoen said that planned parenthood is banned from the Orthodox point of view, but that the majority of the Jewish people approve birth control when necessary.

The Rev. Mr. Richardson expressed a similar view. He stated that parents have the right to decide their family size, and that they may use whatever medically approved method they feel is appropriate to accomplish that end.

BOLD NEW BREED

These are big stripes. Bold stripes. The kind you'll never get lost with in a crowd. This is Arrow Cum Laude: a bold new breed of sport shirt that asserts itself, but always in good taste. Has long swooping collar points and a tapered body line to match. Made to your exact sleeve length, like a dress shirt. In red and gray, or red and black combinations. Pure, soft, "Sanforized" labeled cotton. All for a timid price of $5.00. A bold new breed of shirt for a bold new breed of guy. ARROW
