IDC Ball Tomorrow Night

The big social event for the dormitory students is tomorrow with the annual Interdormitory Council Ball.

The formal dance is to be held at the College Union from eight till twelve p.m. Tickets to the ball can be picked up from the dormitory residence counselors. The attire for the dance is formal and may include ROTC uniform with a white shirt and a black bow tie. Special arrangements have been made so that formal attire can be rented from Sharpe's Formal Wear at a reduced price.

Si Zentner and his Orchestra will be the only band at the ball this year. In former years the IDC Ball has had two bands, one upstairs in the Student Union ballroom and one downstairs in the snack bar area. However, the IDC has arranged for the music of Zentner's orchestra to be piped throughout the College Union.

The theme of this year's ball is Autumn Leaves. The decorations are to be made with actual leaves and will be put up by IDC members to help keep the expenses of the dance down.

IDC is operating this year on a budget of voluntary contributions of two dollars from each student for the first time in five years. Because of the smaller budget the parts of the ball which brought no benefit to the student were cut. One of the cut items was the formal invitations to the dance.

Sponsors for this year's ball will be presented during the intermission.

WKNC, the student broadcasting system of N. C. State, will hold a preliminary meeting for all students interested in college radio broadcasting at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, November 8. If you would like to be an announcer, radio salesman, music editor, or news reporter, you may come to the meeting Sunday evening.

The Latin Club will meet today at 7 p.m. in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union Room 248-250. Social activities for this semester will be planned.

The India Association is celebrating "Diwali" with an informal gathering Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union room 248-250. There will be mu-

Frosh Honorary Picks Members

Phi Eta Sigma, Freshman scholastic honorary society, will initiate six new members tonight in the Danforth Chapel in the YMCA.

Qualifications for initiation in Phi Eta Sigma include the attainment of a 3.5 or better average. This is the equivalent of a record of half "A's" and half "B's." Membership in the society is considered the highest scholastic honor a freshman can attain at State. Phi Eta Sigma's members are active throughout their sophomore year and "strive to promote high scholastic standards."

New initiates are: Richard J. Auld, Raleigh; Denis S. Jackson, Newton Grove, N. C.; Thomas J. Chastant, Mobile, Alabama; Albert H. Dobyns, Arlington, Virginia; Allie R. McCullen, Clinton, N. C.; and William O. Tyndall, Jr., Salemburg, N. C.

Board Of Review Selected By SG

The seven-member Board of Review, as designated in the SG Constitution, has been established for the 1964 academic year.

The three student members of the Board, chosen by the President from the student body at large, are Herb Goldston, Clyde Wrenn, and Sam Senter. The three faculty members are Dr. A. R. Nolstad, of the Mathematics Department; Dr. H. G. Eldridge, of the English Department; and Dr. Emol A. Fails, of the Economics Department. The seventh member, elected from within the Legislature, is Robert Cole.

The function of the Board of Review is to determine whether a student convicted by the Judicial Department shall be granted a new trial.

Homecoming Queen Bill Poole Captures Treasury Race

Major events at Wednesday night's Student Government meeting concerned the approval of the "Homecoming Queen Resolution" and the departure of one of the student legislature's most respected senators.

In opening remarks, SG President John Atkins indicated that he was "sorry to see the defeat of the presidential veto amendment" and stated that the measure would be presented again at a later date. In addition, Atkins announced the appointments of Curtiss Moore as NSA Coordinator, Robert E. Lewis to the Cafeteria Advisory Committee, and Biff Mullins to the North Carolina Intercollegiate Affairs Committee. The initial plans for the 1964 Campus Chest Drive were also announced in Atkins' president's report.

In the only legislative business of the evening, the resolution suggesting changes in the process of selecting the homecoming queen passed with some revisions in its content. Senator Bill Howle moved to delete the section including student representatives on the final committee of judges. Howle stated that the judging of the finalists "should be left to those persons who are fully qualified as judges." The student legislature indicated its agreement by approving Howle's amendment.

The final edition of the resolution contained primarily recommendations for the composition of the committee for the selection of the ten finalists for the position of homecoming queen. In addition, a committee will be established by Student Government to coordinate with Blue Key on the suggestions made by the resolution.

Graduate Senator Ed French brought his successful tenure in the student legislature to a close with a casual address to that assembly. French, who was serving this semester in the capacity of ex-officio senator, stated that his studies made it necessary for him to relinquish his position in SG and he expressed his gratitude to SG for allowing him the experience with governmental process.

In his final remarks to the student legislators, Senator French stated that "student government here is really a switch from the old days in Argentina where the primary job of student government was to organize revolutions."

In a moment of retrospect, French recalled the achievements of past Student Governments and challenged the present legislature to attempt even greater projects. Replacing French in representing the graduate students will be those new graduate senators elected in the fall elections.

Open House In Ag Tomorrow

Over 2,500 visitors will attend an open house sponsored by the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences this weekend.

The visitors will be taken on campus tours following opening remarks by Chancellor Caldwell and Dean H. Brooks James at 9 a.m. The theme will be "Careers in Agriculture and Life Sciences" and will be pointed toward educating young people about the School and opportunities in the Biological Sciences. According to a statement by Dean James, students entering the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences are aware of only 10 per cent of the opportunities available to them in careers and in the School.

The guided tours will be scheduled until noon on Saturday when the visitors will break for lunch in the cafeterias. All departments in the School will be open to visitors until 3 p.m. when the Open House officially ends. Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity house will participate by having open house for visitors desiring information on fraternity life. Carmichael Gym will also have all facilities open for inspection, and several suites in Lee Dormitory will be open on a tour basis conducted by the residence counselor.

This annual occasion will attract representatives from all 100 counties of North Carolina.

Homecoming Queen Bill Poole Captures Treasury Race

Jim Bailey, a student in Liberal Arts, captured the presidency of the freshman class in the runoff elections held yesterday. Bailey controlled a total vote of 433 in his victory over Bill Iler, who received a vote of 406.

The voting turnout exceeded the usual average in such elections. The total number of freshman voting in the runoff was 839 for a percentage vote of 36.5.

Timothy Scofield emerged victorious in his campaign for the freshman class vice presidency over Chris Christy. Scofield garnered 508 votes to Christy's 329 for an approximate 62 per cent of the vote.

In the contest for treasurer of the freshman class, Hardy Poole swamped his opponent, Thomas Finch, Jr., by a count of 513 to 309 respectively.

Victorious in the quest for the two senate seats for the School of Design were William Barbour, totaling 46 votes, and Wes McClure, totaling 38 votes. Their opponents for the student legislature positions, William Everette and Wes Fink, totaled 31 and 35 votes respectively.

Lewis Murray defeated Chris Christy by a count of 35 to 19 for the one available seat for the School of Liberal Arts.

The School of Education yielded the closest race of the election with Terry Daniels nipping Parke Thomas 13 votes to 12 for the senate seat from that school.

Graduate senators elected were Tom Jefferson, Jim Whisnant, Larry Leslie, and Larry Valcovie. Senators from the School of Forestry will be Jim Lang and Bob Williams.

SAE Appeals IFC Decision

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity appealed the decision of the Interfraternity Council Investigations Board at the Tuesday night meeting of the IFC.

The IFC Investigations Board placed the SAEs on social probation for the remainder of the year. They are allowed only one weekend party.

Jim Martin, president of SAE, in a statement to the IFC, said, "We feel that the penalty is too severe since we will be allowed only one weekend party for the remainder of the academic year... We feel that a much lighter probation combined with other penalties, possibly constructive, is in order."

According to the constitution of the IFC all motions must be carried forward one week before a vote is to be held.

The Wayward Fraternity

The recent turn of events involving the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity has left the whole fraternity system in an unfortunate situation.

The case against the SAE's charges that the fraternity made alcoholic beverages available to minors, or more specifically, to high school girls at St. Mary's prep school. This immediately gives a bad image of the fraternity, which was placed on probation just last spring for holding an unauthorized party. Now they have not only broken the fraternity law but the state law as well.

The maximum penalty for such a violation is the revocation of the offending fraternity's charter. However, in this case, the Interfraternity Council Investigations Board has chosen to let the SAEs off lightly with two semesters of probation. In view of their past record of violations, the SAEs may rest assured that even the slightest violation of their probation could mean that their fraternity has had it at State.

The SAEs were one of the 12 fraternities to move to Fraternity Row last spring. There are five others that in all likelihood will some day be housed on the row in one of the new $100,000 dwellings. If the SAEs are not careful, the day may come sooner than expected when the administration goes tapping on doors looking for a new crew to take over a vacant house.

Perhaps it is true that the SAE house was merely the fraternity which happened to get caught violating the rules. No doubt the SAEs really meant no harm. However, harm has been done and not only do the SAEs suffer but the entire fraternity system suffers as well. The SAEs are part of one big body, and a mark against them is a mark against the 16 others.

One day the fraternities are praised for their excellence, the next, they are condemned. In each case, it takes only one fraternity to make the ball bounce in either direction.

Society Rules

The charge of making alcoholic beverages available to anyone, not simply minors, is perhaps due more consideration than it is generally given.

The rule against having alcoholic beverages on campus is brought up for serious discussion only under such conditions as the SAE violation. Even then it is brushed over lightly and tucked away with the stigma of a step-child.

This particular rule is an excellent example of the double standard that exists throughout our society. It is a trap that attracts its victims on the premises that nearly everybody does it and few get caught. Naturally, once the rule is enforced, someone gets hurt. It is only then that the question of the fairness of the rule arises.

The issue is not a matter of the rightness or wrongness of this rule, but rather, it is a question of hypocrisy. And, unfortunately, our society appears content to be hypocritical, forcing its members to tread the same ground and suffer the consequences.

GO, FRATERNITIES!

To the Editor:

I am proud of the record which our fraternity system here at North Carolina State has compiled in Student Government activities. It gives me great pleasure to see one of your columnists point out one fraternity's accomplishments in this field. Sigma Chi, as well as many others, has been among the working leadership of this campus for many years.

I would like to commend Mr. Andrews and his Sigma Chi brothers for the favorable publicity they have received in your newspaper. The Wolfpack Sig is no doubt proud of the brothers of Sigma Chi for their acceptance of the responsibility named in the highly complimentary article of November 2, 1964.

SG AND ME

To the Editor:

Re: Mr. Bob Holmes (SG and Me)

In order to avoid a verbal battle in your newspaper, I will not attempt to show you the many fallacies contained in your recent attacks on the Sigma Chi fraternity and Mr. Chip Andrews. It is quite enough for me to simply express my thanks to you for pointing out that this is one organization which is sincerely interested in our campus, its students, and their welfare; and willing to endeavor to do something about it.

I would like for you and your readers to know that I—not being a fraternity member of Sigma Chi—give my sincere congratulations to Mr. Andrews and other Sigma Chis that are in the legislature for their work in Student Government operation; and, that I place my confidence in these men who will continue to work unselfishly and without bias, for the good of the student body.

VETO COMPLAINT

To the Editor:

I would like to take issue with your editorial of November 2. In it, you attempt to place the blame for the defeat of the veto amendment to the Student Government Constitution on the shoulders of some unnamed few troublemakers who you infer are also the kind to support Goldwater for President.

Yet on the same page, you infer in an editor's note over a letter to the editor that David Goddard had something to do with the defeat of the measure. Which group are you calling responsible for the defeat, Goddard and his friends who go around wearing Scientists and Engineers for Johnson-Humphrey buttons, or the kind of people who support Goldwater? These two groups do not overlap, to the best of my knowledge.

Perhaps it was some influence that you ignore in your treatment of the defeat, which you

While reading the UNCCH Daily Tar Heel, we noticed the front-page headline:

'CAN-KICKING' GETS STUDENT DORM FINE

It seems that one Carolina Gentleman was just kicking a trash can up and down a dorm floor during quiet hours. It sure looked interesting for a minute, though!

DTH LIZARD OF THE WEEK: The parking lot attendant on Columbia St. who admitted dozens of cars to a packed lot, only to tell exasperated drivers who complained on the way out that the lot was full, "Why, of course it's full—it's been that way for two hours."

LOSER OF THE WEEK: Mikhail Suslov, Russian Communist theoretician who was instrumental in deposing Nikita Khrushchev, only to find himself "confined for a kidney infection" two days later. Well, if there was a chance you could go to Siberia, your kidneys might not work too well, either.

Believe it or not, some of the most interesting tidbits in campus tabloids are in the mazuma material (i.e., the ads):

If there happens to be a morsel of integrity left in your black little heart, you will return the bike to Higgin's Cycle Shop before October 23, which is when the rent runs out!

HAPPINESS IS:

Brenda Pittard — getting married in June.

Dottie K. Turner — having a box of prunes.

We guess that if you can't get a husband, the next best thing is a box of prunes. We understand they solve lots of problems.

If we had not seen it in the Daily Tar Heel, we would have never believed it!

Some 85 per cent of 64 residents polled by the (UNCCH) Stacy dormitory newspaper, Stud, favored an end to drinking at football games.

Only 6 per cent supported unlimited drinking at football games. "People should use discretion," one resident said. "Authorities are perfectly right in banning outward display."

Resident Advisor Tom Jarrett said, "I see as much drinking in the alumni section." Another resident added, "The rule should apply to all spectators since it is a state law."

"The guy who controls himself should be allowed to drink," expressed on student. Many urged that the law should be applied to all spectators, "if it is used at all."

Good grief! With subversive thought like this rampant, what is the No. 1 professional party school coming to?

Theta Chi And Sigma Chi Reach Football Finals

Theta Chi and Sigma Chi, second place finishers in Sections #2 and #1, won semi-final round victories in the fraternity intramural football playoffs to advance to the championship round Monday afternoon. Theta Chi won its final berth by edging undefeated Sigma Phi Epsilon 7-6 while Sigma Chi downed Pi Kappa Alpha, 18-13.

The Sig Eps, last year's fraternity champions, scored first in the game during the first period to take a 6-0 lead. The scoring play was a 24-yard pass from Doug Monday to Pat Calhoun. SPE controlled the ball for the rest of the game except in the final minutes of play. The winning series in the game came after a Sig Ep punt gave the ball to Theta Chi deep in their own territory with two minutes remaining. At that time, the Theta Chi attack had netted only 28 yards for the entire contest, but the next two plays gained 51 yards on two passes for the tying score. Shelton Meade scored the TD on a long pass from Joe Dellostritto. The extra point play came on a pass from Dellostritto to Steve Swain to give Theta Chi a 7-6 victory.

Sigma Chi and Pi Kappa Alpha played to a 0-0 tie at the end of the first period before Sigma Chi broke loose for two scores in the second quarter for a 12-0 advantage. Wheelless completed both scoring passes to Dhue. Pika closed the lead to 12-7 in the third quarter on a 45-yard kickoff return by Morrison, and then went ahead 13-12 on a pass from Morrison to Leary.

The Pika lead was short-lived, however, as Wheelless put the Sigma Chi's ahead for good, completing his third TD pass to Dhue for the 18-13 victory.

Twelve Teams Considered For Tobacco Bowl Bids

The Tobacco Bowl Selection Committee today released the names of twelve teams under consideration for bids to the first annual Tobacco Bowl football game to be played in Raleigh's Riddick Stadium December 19.

The list includes East Carolina College, North Carolina State, Villanova, University of North Carolina, Duke, Air Force Academy, Clemson, Wake Forest, Virginia Tech, Richmond, West Virginia and Florida State.

Selection Committee Chairman Charles Gordon said, "Naturally, other teams will be added to the list as the season progresses, but we feel that a game between any of the teams we have mentioned would be a good one."

East Carolina is currently rolling along with a 6-1 record, having lost only to Richmond 22-20. Their two year total is 15-2, including a 27-6 win over Northeastern last December in the Eastern Bowl.

"There has been some evidence of interest among students and alumni of ECC for a game with Richmond," Gordon said. ECC has lost its last three games to the Spiders by a total of six points over the last three years (27-26, 10-7, 22-20).

Villanova is undefeated (6-0), and West Virginia and Virginia Tech are one-two in Southern Conference standings.

Duke is tops in the ACC with a 3-0-1 mark, while State is 5-1-0 in conference play.

VPI's Bob Schweickert Is Defensive Problem

North Carolina State, which has had trouble with running quarterbacks all year, runs into the most elusive of them all when the Wolfpack meets Virginia Tech and Bob Schweickert Saturday at Blacksburg, Va.

For the fifth straight week, State will be meeting an outstanding runner-passer quarterback, Joe Namath, and his replacement, Steve Sloan at Alabama, Scotty Glacken at Duke, Bob Davis of Virginia, and Dan Reeves of South Carolina, all presented difficult defensive assignments for the Wolfpack. Now 'tis Schweickert.

"Our problem is to contain Schweickert. If we don't, look out!" notes Wolfpack coach Earle Edwards.

"If he finds as many holes in our defense as some of those other boys did, we will end up as Schweickert cheese," adds Edwards.

Schweickert has gained nearly 800 yards in Virginia Tech's 4-3 season to date. He has thrown six touchdown passes and scored 26 points himself after getting off to a slow start due to an injury.

"Schweickert is a shifty, scrambler-type. He'll run around you, rather than run over you like Dan Reeves," says Wolfpack scout Ernie Driscoll. "He is a fine punter (38 yard average), also."

Fullback Sonny Utz, with 465 rushing yards and eight touchdowns, combines with Schweickert to give the Southern Conference Gobblers a strong fullback-quarterback offense.

Highlight of the 1964 Tech campaign has been the stunning 20-11 victory over previously undefeated Florida State.

The Wolfpack has also been a scrambling type this season. State has not overpowered any one, but the Pack has been dangerous on most any play, as it has come up with a surprise 5-2 record and a 5-1 mark in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Both Virginia Tech and State were their respective conference champions in 1963 as each had 8-2 records. The Wolfpack edged the Techmen, 13-7, in Raleigh a year ago. State did a good job in containing Schweickert most of the way, but the clever quarterback managed to get loose for a 59-yard run which set up his one-yard score.

Dormitories Complete Schedules, Championship Play-offs Start Soon

Wednesday's action in the dormitory intramural football league brought the regular season to a close with complete schedules in all sections except Section #4. First and second place in each section, however, have been decided.

Section #1 leader, Berry-Welch-Gold, defeated the number three team in the section, 13-0. Carter scored all three touchdowns in the game, receiving two passes from Montgomery and one from Vinson.

Second place Bragaw North #1 won by forfeit over Lee #2.

Becton remained as one of the two undefeated teams in the league by defeating Owen #1 by a 13-7 margin. Owen took a 7-6 lead in the first period but the Becton team rallied for a score in the final period for the victory. Owen #1 ended up in second place for the season.

In the other Section #2 game, Lee #1 won by forfeit from Owen #2.

In Section #3 action, Syme defeated Tucker #1 on yardage to force a tie for first place with Tucker #2. The game ended in a 13-13 tie with Syme having 141 yards to 96 for Tucker #1. In the other section contest, Tucker #2 defeated Bragaw North #2, 27-6.

Section #4 leader, Alexander, remained undefeated by downing the section's number two team, Turlington, 19-6. In the section's other contest, Bragaw South #2 won by forfeit over Lee #3.

Statistics Can Lie!

Anyone looking at the statistics for the seven weeks of Atlantic Coast Conference football action to date would probably place N. C. State's Wolfpack in the second division of the standings instead of its second-place position.

In the six major phases of football statistics, the Pack ranks no higher than seventh in Total Offense and Passing Offense, and fifth in Rushing Offense. In concrete figures, State has totaled 1688 yards, rushing and passing, while the opposition has a net gain of 1928.

On the defensive side of the game, State holds first place in Pass Defense, fourth in Total Defense and fifth in Rushing Defense.

The Wolfpack leads its opposition in two phases, first downs by penalties and fumbles. The breakdown is as follows:

State	Opposition
99 Total First Downs	106
64 First Downs Rushing	67
24 First Downs Passing	32
11 First Downs Penalty	7
14 Fumbles	13
7 Fumbles Lost	7
32 Penalties	48
341 Yards Penalized	466
81 Total Points	111

There is, however, one very important point not covered in the game statistics; it is the dedication and will-to-win that separates a winning team from a second division team.

Action in the fraternity intramural volleyball league moved into the second week of action with six matches Wednesday night. Two games were played in Sections #1, 2, and 4. No matches were held in Section #3.

Last year's champion, Phi Kappa Tau, won its second game of the season by downing Farm-House in three games: 11-15, 15-2, and 15-1. Martin, Pindell and Emmons sparked the PKT victory. In other Section #1 action, Delta Sigma Phi downed Sigma Alpha Nu, also in three games: 15-10, 2-15, and 15-8. Isley, Bare, and Paton paced the winners.

Sigma Phi Epsilon remained undefeated in Section #2 with a two-game victory over Lambda Chi Alpha, 15-9 and 15-13. Sigma Nu, paced by Hendrix, Morris, and Huntsman, defeated Kappa Alpha, 15-10 and 15-4, in the other Section #2 contest.

Action in Section #4 saw Tau Kappa Epsilon win its second game of the season by defeating Pi Kappa Phi, 15-9 and 15-6. Sigma Pi won by forfeit over Kappa Sigma.

CORE To Hold Clinic In Durham This Weekend

The Congress of Racial Equality will hold its southern regional conference Friday and Saturday at the Union Baptist Church in Durham.

The two-day meeting will include several discussions by prominent state and national civil rights workers. Registration for the weekend's activities will be between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Friday.

At 4 p.m. there will be a "job clinic" conducted for Negro business school and high school graduates by Mrs. Sarah Herbin, consultant to the Governor of North Carolina on employment. Delegates from state chapters and interested visitors will attend a panel discussion on labor union discrimination later in the afternoon. The panel includes local labor and education leaders and a California attorney. The panel's moderator will be Floyd B. McKissick, National Chairman of CORE.

Saturday will begin with a panel discussion on equal employment opportunities and the Poverty Act with McKissick moderating. In this panel will be William Darity of the North Carolina Fund and a representative of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, as well as other educators and civil rights authorities.

Anyone interested in further information concerning the conference may contact CORE Field Secretary Walter Riley, 213 W. Main Street, Durham.

Foundations Meeting Here

A review of the private-fund raising activities at State during the past fiscal year will highlight a day-long meeting of Tar Heel agricultural and industrial leaders on campus today.

Some 400 directors of the University's eight foundations are meeting jointly for the first time in the 22-year history of N. C. State's private assistance programs to observe "All-Foundations Day."

C. A. Dillon of Raleigh, chairman of the institution's Development Council, will report on the year's fund raising efforts at a general session this morning. Also speaking at the general session will be Chancellor Caldwell.

The meeting will conclude with an address by Paul A. Gorman of Chatham, N. J., president of the Western Electric Company. He will speak on "Education for Growth and Change" at a banquet at the Faculty Club tonight.

Included on the day's agenda will be annual luncheons of each foundation. The respective organizations' presidents will report on activities of the past year. The afternoon program will be devoted to campus tours.

R. W. Shoffner, director of foundations and development, in announcing plans for the meeting, said the men and women representing the various foundations have raised over $11.1 million in private support for N. C. State over the past 22 years.

Of the eight foundations, seven were created to support specific programs, Shoffner said. These are Agricultural, Dairy, Design, Engineering, Pulp and Paper, and Textile Foundations, and the 4-H Development Fund, Inc.

The eighth, the N. C. State College Foundation, supports campus-wide programs, including the University's unique "Talent for Service" scholarships to deserving and needy high school graduates.

Music Lounge Open Again

The music lounge on the second floor of the Union building reopened its facilities Wednesday morning at 11 a.m. The system's amplifier is still being repaired, but a substitute will keep the music flowing in the lounge.

The lounge has over 300 tapes of all types of music available for use. A card catalog of selections and an intercom-type phone are placed in the room for ordering the selections to be placed on the tape system downstairs at the Union desk.

Work Load Too Heavy?

By JIM ROBINSON

Is our present grading system at State necessary and useful? Is the work too heavy to allow students to absorb the subjects they study as well as they should? Should there be a program of undergraduate research to inspire a desire to learn?

These and several similar questions will be considered as State faculty and students meet over this weekend at the "Climate of Learning" Conference at Betsy-Jeff Penn 4-H Camp near Reidsville.

Attending the conference will be approximately one-half of the Faculty Senate, plus an equal number of professors not serving in the Senate, thus making faculty attendance about 45 persons. Student leaders from campus groups such as the Student Government, Union, YMCA, Publications Board, and the Engineers' Council, have been invited.

The conference is meeting with the purpose of producing concrete ideas for the improvement of the intellectual climate at State. Upon arrival, the students and faculty will be split into seven groups, each group to discuss a particular area of concern related to the main theme.

Along with those questions introduced at the beginning of this article, they will take up the problems of faculty-student relations, the cultural atmosphere on campus, and the attitude of both students and professors toward the pursuit of knowledge. Each discussion group will include a recorder to preserve such ideas as arise in its meetings, a convener who will call the meetings and note the fundamental points to be covered, and a resource person who has prepared a one page description of the area of concern.

After the meetings of the discussion groups and the summarization of their suggestions, a single main report will be prepared by the conference as a whole.

Planning for the "Climate of Learning" conference was begun several months ago. A ten-man planning committee under chairman Herb Sanborn, president of the Erdahl-Cloyd Union, has directed the setting up of the program.

The weekend's schedule for the participants will include several group meetings, a panel discussion, and two addresses to the group by Dr. C. Addison Hickman. Dr. Hickman was a member of the State faculty from 1953-60 and is presently doing research and teaching graduate studies in economics at Southern Illinois University.
