

The Peace Corps Is Here!

Members of the Peace Corps Information group who are on campus this week include Ray McEachern, John Helwig, and John Eriksen (from left). Any students interested in joining the Peace Corps or in learning more about the Corps may stop by the information table in the basement lobby of the Erdahl-Cloyd Union any day this week. Placement tests will also be given in the Union this week. (Photo by Traynham)

NSA Coordinator Appointed By SG President John Atkins

Steve Johnston has been appointed National Student Association coordinator by Student Government President John Atkins.

Johnston is returning to the post after resigning last fall because of a "heavy" academic load. He is a senior in nuclear engineering.

Johnston was first appointed to the position last spring and agreed to continue holding the job last fall "only until someone else could be appointed," he said.

Curtiss Moore was named as Johnston's successor last fall but withdrew from school in December for financial reasons. The position has been vacant since that time.

Johnston expressed hope of "trying to pick up the tempo." He remarked, "I think NSA can be of worth to the campus."

He added, "It is very unfortunate that Curtiss had to drop out and no one of his caliber could be found to carry on the fine work done by Terry Lowder last year."

Lowder was formerly NSA coordinator. He is now regional NSA vice president.

Johnston said one of the main items before him now was the spring elections. Six delegates will be elected to attend the annual NSA convention.

A poop session is being planned for all candidates seeking the offices prior to the election, according to the new coordinator.

Fraternities Elect Officers At This Time For Next Year

Several fraternities have elected new officers since the beginning of this semester.

The ruling groups are elected once each year by the individual fraternities. The newly elected officers are as follows:

Pi Kappa Alpha—President, Jim Riddle; Vice President, Nelson Furman; Treasurer, Dave Safrin; Secretary, Ed Harris.

Pi Kappa Phi—President, Bob Sarratt; Secretary, James Groom; Treasurer, Tom Boyd.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon—President, Tommy King; Vice President, Dan Winter; Secretary, Charles Bennett.

Sigma Nu—President, Dennis Tharpe; Vice President, Steve White; Secretary, Butch Chesley; Treasurer, Earl Riley.

Alpha Gamma Rho—President, John Vollmer; Vice President, Jim McKee; Secretary, Doug Waters; Treasurer, Riley Caudill.

Delta Sigma Phi—President, Murray White; Vice President, Gary Jones; Secretary, Tom Summer; Treasurer, Frank Frederick.

Kappa Sigma—President, Ned Hamilton; Vice President, Tony Warner; Secretary, Jimmy Teat; Treasurer, Paul Heilig.

Lambda Chi Alpha—President, Burke Barbee; Vice President, Bob Brantly; Secretary, Bill Marsh; Treasurer, Pete Wright.

Sigma Phi Epsilon—President, Frank Davis; Vice President, Frankie Miller; Secretary, Randy Croxton; Treasurer, Riley Kirkpatrick.

Sigma Pi—President, Lock Ireland; Vice President, Albert Traynham; Secretary, Tommy Willard; Treasurer, Carter Ward.

"We don't want to run into the same problem we had last year," he said. Only two of the six candidates for representation attended the convention last summer in Minnesota.

Student Parking Closed Tomorrow

The student parking bays at the Coliseum will be closed tomorrow, according to the Traffic Committee.

The committee has closed the area to students due to the afternoon basketball game in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament. Regular parking restrictions will be in effect on the rest of the campus tomorrow.

The parking bays will open again Friday.

SBI Asks For Student Help In Solving Case

The State Bureau of Investigation yesterday issued an appeal for student aid in solving the case of the campus arsonist. Lt. Detective Robert E. Goodwin said, "We think that someone in the student body knows who did it, other than the culprit himself. We ask that students with any information which may be of value come by our office in Holladay Hall, room 11."

Goodwin also said that the campus patrol has been streamlined, and that only professional personnel are now being used. This includes some students with previous police experience. The person who called himself the "Imperial Chicken" has been caught, Goodwin said. The "Chicken" was operating a citizens' band transmitter from Tucker dorm when he requested that someone bring some gasoline for his stalled car. He also said he wanted enough extra to set Williams Hall on fire. Goodwin said "the Chicken has been plugged, but we are still investigating the case."

The Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament is not expected to change the security arrangements. "In fact, it will probably help the security due to the extra police and highway patrolmen on campus at the time," Goodwin said.

When asked how many suspects the investigators had in the case, Goodwin asked, "How many students are there?"

J. Perry Watson, Director of Music, said that no other contributions to the Emergency Musical Fund have been made. The only contribution to be received thus far is the $60 given by Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity last Thursday. John Vollmer, president of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, said that organization was currently collecting a contribution from the brothers which is expected to total about $40.

Interview Schedule

Students may sign up for interviews at 239 Riddick with the following companies March 4. The companies will be on campus March 18.

Corning Glass Works—Any degree in Engineering, PSAM, Liberal Arts, or PPT for positions in research, development, production, sales, marketing, accounting and finance, process engineering and process development. (March 18 & 19).

Atlas Chemical Industries, Inc.—ChE, EE, ME, TXC, CHEM.

Dept. of the Navy, Bureau of Yards & Docks, Washington, D. C.—CE, CEC, EE, IE, ME, NE, ARCH, Landscape Arch., Entomology. (March 18 & 19).

The William Carter Company—IE, TXT.

United Fuel Gas & Affiliated Companies, Columbia Gas System—CE, EE, ME.

ITT-Kellogg—EE.

Employers to sign up for on March 5. (On campus—March 19).

American Standard-Industrial Division—EE, IE, ME. (For Sales Engineering).

Shenandoah Life Insurance Company, Raleigh, N. C.—Any degree interested in sales.

Astronaut Will Speak To Engineers' Council

An astronaut will be presented at the annual St. Patrick's Celebration by the Engineers' Council to inaugurate the first annual Awards Convocation.

Air Force Captain William A. Anders, a member of the Manned Spacecraft Program, will be the featured speaker at the convocation to be held March 20 at 10 a.m. in Nelson Auditorium.

This awards presentation for seniors in the School of Engineering will be the first in an annual series to be held in conjunction with the St. Pat's Dance which is held each spring.

Three seniors will be honored at the convocation with the Outstanding Engineering Senior Award, the Outstanding Engineering Citizen Award, and the Hamilton Award, which is given to an engineering senior who has combined proficiency in his academic major with achievements in the social sciences and humanities.

The afternoon's program will feature a lawn concert by Maurice Williams and the Zodiacs on North Carolina Field in front of the 1911 Building. Following the concert from 2 to 4 p.m., Williams will perform in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union snack bar for the St. Pat's Dance at 8 p.m. Pat Dorn and his orchestra will provide music in the ballroom for the semi-formal dance.

Additional seniors will be honored by induction into the Order of St. Patrick at the dance. The Knights of St. Patrick consist of engineering seniors who have demonstrated outstanding character and leadership qualities during their undergraduate careers. Twenty outstanding freshman engineering students, Companions of St. Patrick, will be introduced along with the seniors.

Nominations for membership in Blue Key, national honor fraternity, are now being accepted.

All male juniors and seniors who wish to be considered for membership may obtain nomination forms in 351 Daniels Hall. Students as well as faculty members may make nominations.

The completed nominations are due by April 1. New members are inducted into Blue Key each semester.

Female Colonel To Be Featured At Military Ball

The Military Ball Association has announced a contest to select an honorary colonel and two lieutenant colonels to reign as queen of the March 27 Military Ball, which has been moved from the Coliseum to the Erdahl-Cloyd Union.

According to Robert Vaughn, president of the MBA, any cadet wishing to enter his date in the contest should submit both a picture (no smaller than 4x5) and a sheet giving her name, home address, mailing address, age, height, weight, where she is presently working or attending school, the color of her hair and eyes, and a brief sketch of her hobbies, interests, and personality.

All entries must be turned in to the Military or Air Science instructors or at Brigade or Wing headquarters before 4:30 p.m., March 19. The girls must be here for an interview on Saturday morning, March 27, at a place to be announced later.

All information submitted is confidential, and the pictures will be returned, if the cadet's name and address are written on the back.

1,015 Make Dean's List

A record number of 1,015 State students made the dean's list for the fall semester.

This is approximately 800 more than were on the list last fall, according to J. J. Stewart, dean of Student Affairs.

Each student will receive a certificate of commendation from the Dean of Faculty.

A student must be carrying at least 12 hours and must make at least a 3.0 grade point average to qualify for the dean's list.

SLUMP

By Jim Robinson

"It isn't whether you play the game, it's how you win or lose."
... anonymously rearranged

In the playful old city of Frunkenhausen-by-der-Sea there lived an itinerant pencil salesman by the name of Krupp. Krupp lived all alone on the edge of the campus of the University-of-Frunkenhouse - Tech-by-the-Sea - of - Frunkenhausen State, next to the gymnasium.

Krupp's only friend was the owner of the goatball team which used the gym. (Goatball was an early form of basketball played in an inflated goat-skin in the 1700's in Bavaria.) The goatball team was very good. The owner of the goatball team, whose name was Clugenschlafer, was also very good. "I am very good, ho-ho!" he would frequently say.

Krupp, the pencil peddler, and Clugenschlafer, the team owner, used to get together on occasion to talk over how very good they were. Only Krupp was not so good as Clugenschlafer. "I have it made," Clugenschlafer would say to Krupp, "I own the goatball team which brings fame to the university here in sleepy old Frunkenhausen-by-the-Sea. I soak students and other fans who watch my team. They buy food and programs. The students pay fees to support me, but I am autonomous."

And poor old Krupp could only nod sadly, realizing his monopoly on the sale of books and pencils to the students could never rival the profits of the goatball team.

But he was cheered by the fact that he too contributed to the goatball team. With large profits from the sale of the books. Percentage of profit in pencils was low, but the profits given the team amounted to nearly $60,000 a year, which, he would say, "is a lot of goat-skins."

Unfortunately, someone in the University - of - Frunkenhausen-Tech-by-the-Sea - of - Frunkenhausen State realized what a good idea it would be to tax the twin monopolies on the university property, the bookstore and the athletic department. Books were needed for the library, buildings were needed for the students, better professors were in demand. One young professor further asked, "Why, when the goatball team is supposed to exist for the benefit of the university, should it not take part in some contribution to scholastic pursuits? What is it that prevents us from drafting smart goatball players, if the team has so much money? If the team is going to give 140 goatball scholarships for a total of $213,000 a year, let them get us students as well as professional athletes."

When the team owner heard this proposal, he was most upset. "I am most upset!" he said. "We are a great goatball team in a great state in a great conference and we are making our own money and it's for athletics and we don't particularly care what happens to the library," he bellowed in one long breath.

"Yeah, you tell 'em, Cluggie," ranted Krupp, the pencil pusher. "We don't make money, only profits, and they are going to sports and what do you think a university is for, anyway? Besides, the students like my exorbitant prices and his stimulating, mind-stirring spectacles." In the end, the goatball team won out by becoming the All-Bavarian champions and so smothering any adverse publicity about their usefulness or mental ability.

Peace Corps: Time To Help

The mission of the Peace Corps is to wrap up the ideals of America in an individual and send him overseas as a personal messenger of freedom.

—Sargent Shriver, 1961.

John F. Kennedy recommended the establishment of a permanent Peace Corps in 1961 "to help foreign countries meet their urgent needs for skilled manpower."

The Peace Corps has since grown into a massive full time operation in the past few years.

This week Peace Corps officials are seeking to enlighten State students with facts about the opportunities available to them through the Peace Corps.

While the primary objective of the Peace Corps is to help others, an individual stands to gain, too. The Peace Corps offers its trainees an opportunity to learn the culture, the language, and customs of the people in the country in which he will serve.

If you'd like to know more about it, the representatives here this week will be interested in talking with you.

The Peace Corps does not require you to make an on-the-spot decision. If you are thinking about joining up when you graduate, even though this might be two or three years away, it isn't too early to get familiar with the organization.

The Peace Corps is certainly no glamour job. It involves hard work, but the rewards are gratifying.

Jobs, Men And The Future

Back at the end of World War II, former Vice President Henry Wallace, who seemed too radical to many, appeared to be indulging in unwarranted exaggeration when he spoke of the possibility of 60 million jobs in the United States.

Now the labor force is in excess of 77 million.

The Labor Department predicts that it will mount to 86 million in 1970 and possibly to 101 million by 1980.

Obviously automation has not outrun population growth. Not automation but ignorance increasingly brings the threat of unemployment. Said the Labor Department even as it reported the increase in jobs: "The competition will continue to increase and it will be difficult for many young workers to find jobs in an economy where there has been little expansion in demand for unskilled workers..."

The young today cannot afford to give up training and the country cannot afford to let them do it if they would.

SACRIFICE

To the Editor:

While it is very important to the "Consolidated" University that the "Gag Law" be repealed or at least amended, it does not warrant or require the sacrifice of our identity (or what little we have left) to make this change. As long as we have the present conservative, do-nothing state administration in power it is going to be difficult to change the "Gag Law." These people aren't going to accept any swap (even our name) for their precious little law. They don't care what our name is as long as they can protect our tender little ears from the Communists.

If you are so anxious to share the same name as UNCC, UNCG, Charlotte College (or is it High School) and whatever other little two-bit community college happens to have power in the Assembly, why don't you just go to Chapel Hill. You could even go to journalism school there and learn how to write a newspaper.

N. C. State has successfully been a part of the University for 34 years without having Chapel Hill's name. Why is it so necessary to hide under their name now? It is interesting to note that all of the "venerated institutions" which you mentioned are individual universities within themselves and have not been swallowed up by massive name sharing. Our name hasn't hampered progress yet and it seems strange that it should do so now.

If you really want to achieve "greater unity with the Consolidated University" why don't you propose the discontinuation of the athletic competition between the two major divisions? This would do more to abolish our "pride," which you despise so much, than a mere name change. Or better yet, combine our athletic programs and build a big stadium and coliseum in the swamps between here and Chapel Hill where all the divisions of "Charlotte College" can join together to compete with other "venerated institutions."

However, I think the best solution would be for you to take your unsigned editorial and run off to Charlotte College or some other prideless consolidated garbage heap where you will be happily drowned in the nameless murk of The Greater University at Hog Wallow.

Jim Marchman

WHOLE-HEARTED SUPPORT

To the Editor:

I would like to express my whole-hearted support for your editorial of Friday, February 12, 1965.

First, if one takes the time to objectively consider all the proposals, I don't see that there is any realistic answer to the name-change argument other than the University of N. C. at Raleigh. In 10 years' time this campus will be closely linked with the campus at Chapel Hill due to courses offered at each and the advancement of The University as a whole, and to deny this fact is blindness.

I really can't believe that these individuals are trying to give much thought to the future of this institution. Obviously, the name, UNCR, is a step toward a consolidated university and appears to be an excellent means of remedying the situation which promotes the objectives of The Consolidated University whereas the name NCSU promotes division. It must be apparent that this university as a whole is not nearly on a par with the more respected colleges and universities of the U. S. Each year the majority of high school students in N. C. in the top 10 per cent of their graduation classes choose to attend institutions of higher learning outside the state. Also, many of the more intelligent students who initially come to this campus eventually transfer to other institutions. This is reflected in the general level of classwork we are doing at the present time.

Secondly, the stand taken in the editorial against the Speaker Ban Law is perhaps the most significant point of the entire editorial. It is obvious, I believe, that this school cannot become a greater University in every sense of the word with a restriction such as this placed upon it.

It seems very significant to me that many letters have been published concerning the name change, and yet no mention has been made of the Speaker Ban Law. The common objective says that this issue is more important than the name of one branch of the Greater University.

The Speaker Ban Law affects every institution of higher learning in the state, whereas the name change concerns only 8,000 students. It would be a pity if these few blocked the development of many due to loose emotions.

AND WHAT A THEATRE!

To the Editor:

At last this university has a theatre—and what a theatre! All honor to Henry Bowers, Banks Talley, and unnamed students who envisioned it! All honor to Ira Allen, Chuck Stillwell, and their dedicated coterie who implemented the vision! And honor to you for recognizing the accomplishment!

Let no would-be Mencken ever again refer to this part of the Southland as the "Sahara of the Bozart." The liberalizing influence of theatre as experienced at Frank Thompson will be a profound one for all members of the campus community. If success does indeed beget success, what delightful theatrical pleasures and stimulation we all have in store—as participants and viewers!

LACKING SOMETHING

To the Editor:

Re: letter by Bascombe J. Wilson, "Contention," February 22.

While it would be an obvious waste of time and words to try to show Mr. Bascombe J. Wilson beauty or meaning in anything, it is difficult to refrain from asking about his marvelous dictionary. For example: how does this book define aesthetic? And what about the word paint? Does the book say that paint is aesthetic? Or marble?

A person is entitled to his opinion about art; in fact, the greater part of art evaluation must, of necessity, be based upon the opinions and reactions of informed critics. However, the critic who goes to a dictionary for his definition of art or declares the medium an artist uses "un-aesthetic" must surely be ill-informed and lacking some basic sensibilities.

Cage Finals Begin In Dorm, Fraternity And Open Leagues

Regular season cage action in the Dormitory, Fraternity, and Open Leagues came to a halt last week with the top two teams in each league's four sections advancing to this week's championship playoffs.

Turlington ended the season in dormitory play with an undefeated 6-0 record and is the favorite to take the 1965 dormitory crown. Bragaw North 2, Owen 1, Alexander, and Tucker 1 all have 5-1 records and are very much in contention for the crown.

Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Sigma Nu completed action in the fraternity league with perfect 6-0 records and loom as favorites to take the championship. Three teams with 5-1 marks: Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Mu, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon are the top contenders.

Each of the section leaders in the Open League are undefeated and have the potential to become champion of the league. The Bulldogs, Diane's, and the Raiders have 6-0 marks, while the Swampers are 5-0.

Table Tennis, Handball Play-offs In Full Swing

Action in the dormitory and fraternity handball and table tennis play-offs got into full swing this week with the first rounds being completed in both sports. Handball, which started two weeks ago, has reached the semi-final round of play in the winner's bracket of both leagues.

Sigma Alpha Mu, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau, and Sigma Phi Epsilon reached the semi-finals in the fraternity league while Turlington, Alexander, Bagwell and the winner of the Owen 2-Bragaw North 2 match are the four finalists in the dormitory play-offs.

In recent fraternity action, SAM defeated Sigma Nu, LCA downed Sigma Pi, PKT won over Kappa Sigma, and the Sig Eps defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon. In dormitory action, Turlington won over Becton, Alexander topped Lee 3, Bagwell defeated Tucker 1, and Bragaw North 2 downed Lee 1.

Table tennis completed its first round of play in the double elimination tournament in both leagues last week. First round winners in the dormitory league were Lee 3, Berry-Welch-Gold, Tucker 1, Bragaw South 1, Bragaw North 1, Becton, Bragaw South 2, and Turlington. Syme, Bagwell, Lee 1, Bragaw North 2, Lee 2, Owen 3, and Owen 1 were the first round losers.

In fraternity action, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Sigma Alpha Mu were winners in the first round.

by Sargent Shriver

"This book combines the vision and hardheaded, practical touch of its author, one of the ablest new figures in public life of our generation. It is a book to give courage and hope to the anxious and fearful, and to confirm the faith of those who see what a great future lies before mankind. If Sargent Shriver's ringing words could be read by millions — as I hope it will be — it would advance the cause of peace and tell Americans more about their true selves than any book I have seen in many a year. It is a distinguished and thoughtful book by a shining personality."

— DAVID E. LILIENTHAL

"An extremely valuable resource and contribution in the War on Poverty around the world and in our own backyard."
