JACKIE MITCHELL

LADSON HART
As candidate for president of the Student Government, I respectfully submit to the student body my platform of office.

When carrying out this platform in accordance with student opinion, I wish to make known the fact that I will not be under the control of any individual or any group of individuals other than the student body. I have made no commitments which will effect my faithfully carrying out the responsibilities of the office of president. I promise the student body a government in the interest of students rather than government by clique. Some of my recommendations follow:

LADSON HART

1) Better recognition of student problems combined with foresight into future issues.

For example, campus parking is a student problem. However, was not the difficulty predictable when one considers the lack of construction of parking spaces in conjunction with an increase in off-campus housing? Certainly many of the parking difficulties could have been eliminated if, in anticipation, parking spaces had been provided for Lee Dorm residents.

2) Improvement of the climate of learning at State. Teaching and learning activities deserve further review and some improvements may be made. The student advising program at State can be strengthened. Cultural and social development of students should be given more prominence. A more extensive orientation program would provide to newcomers a greater familiarity with what is expected of them in class and on campus.

3) Expression of student grievances through the president. The individual student often feels thwarted in his attempts

DOUG LIENTZ
There are actually some things I would seriously like to try to do if elected Student Government president.

My first point is that all of the various campus rules on which disciplinary action can be based should be written up in some single publication. This, I believe, could be accomplished. Along the same lines, I would like a guarantee of a trial by one of the Code Boards, and a guarantee that no student would be tried both in criminal courts and one of the Code Boards for the same offense.

On the subject of campus food service, I think something could be done, if the students who eat there would participate in a coordinated program aimed at correcting specific problems one at a time. For example, if every student buying a glass of juice would completely fill his partially filled glass from another of the glasses available, pretty soon Slater would get tired of washing the empty glasses that accumulated.

I would also like to see some changes in the regulation of the various honor societies around this campus. This would include setting certain minimum standards that must be met before an organization could claim to be an honor society, and the movement of control of homecoming game activities from the three "Leadership Honor Societies" which now control it to the Interfraternity Council.

This would also take the job off the shoulders of the few people who also have a number of commitments to large organizations, and give it to the most active people on campus, in larger number and less individual commitment.

Naturally none of this could be done if the student body continues to ignore the existence of Student Government, but it could also not be done if Student Government continues to believe in its own overpompous estimate of its own value. One thing I will guarantee will be corrected if I am elected is the failure of Student Government to take stands of any kind on the issues which most affect the average student. I will personally see that something is introduced at the first meeting of the legislature after the existence of an issue becomes evident on this campus.

JACKIE MITCHELL
As a candidate for Student Government president, I am running on a platform to continue the progressive reforms begun in SG this year and to initiate a new series of programs and ideas to make Student Government more effective.

I will work to make Student Government responsible for the publication of an annual student directory to include students' names, school addresses, home addresses, telephone numbers, and other information pertinent to the student body.

I will urge investigation, and revision wherever necessary, of the present faculty-student advisor setup. It is obvious that in many cases students receive no real benefit from the present system. Special emphasis will be placed on the possibility of student advisors for freshmen.

Probably the most controversial issue on campus at present is the status of the National Student Association. I agree that much of the $888 which is spent yearly on NSA is a complete waste. However, with good leadership, the regional seminars and many of the programs of NSA can be beneficial not only to Student Government itself but also to the student body. Rather than disaffiliate with NSA, I propose to eliminate from the SG budget the $600 used to send our general delegation to the National Congress each summer. The money thus saved can be applied to the publication of the student directory.

Within the structure and framework of Student Government itself, I will continue the SG constitutional study and revision which was started this year. This will include the expanded use of agencies such as the Representation Study Commission, and special attention will be given to academic requirements for persons holding office in campus organizations. In addition, I will work for a codification of all Student Government resolutions and policies currently in effect.

If elected, I will work toward the establishment of residence facilities solely for the use of graduate students of North Carolina State. A graduate student deserves to have the proper study atmosphere, and it is a shame when he cannot find this opportunity on campus.

I will work to establish a Student Government complaint and information center to help in the direction of individual problems of N. C. State students. Furthermore, I will encourage the strengthening of such existing programs as the Summer Employment Commission, the Cafeteria Advisory Board, and Climate of Learning.

As in the past, I will continue to support student opinion for the name "North Carolina State University" and the amendment of the Speaker Ban Law.

I will investigate the possi-

Open Letter

Fellow Students:
The Student Government of North Carolina State is constantly striving to inform and educate the student body about situations which concern them.

I urge you to take the extra step and make it a point of informing yourself on the candidates seeking office and to find their opinions on matters which concern you on this campus. It is your interest and your concern for a better Student Government that will decide whether the elections are successful or not.

I remind you that you as a student are the sole financial supporter of Student Government. I also remind you that it is the intention of Student Government to be "for the students and by the students," but this cannot be a true reality without your genuine concern and interest.

I look forward to joining you at the election polls Thursday.

John Atkins, SG President

Ferguson Seeks VP Alone

Although I find myself unopposed for the office of vice president of Student Government, I feel it is my duty as a candidate to inform the electorate of my qualifications and platform.

Of all the duties of the SG vice president, probably the most important is chairman of the Student Government legislature. As well as having executive ability the vice president must also be familiar and experienced with parliamentary usage. It is his responsibility to assist in the expediting of business in every way compatible with the rights of the members.

I have become familiar with parliamentary procedure through experience in many legislative bodies observing strict parliamentary rules, such as the National Student Congress, State Student Legislature, and the Student Government.

Stand Up And Be Counted

It's been said that Americans will travel thousands of miles to defend their precious liberty, but they will not take the trouble to go two blocks to vote. This is overly indigenous of college students. They vehemently resent administrative authority; and yet a little less than a third of the students show enough responsibility to turn out for each year's election.

At this time each spring, our campus blossoms out with posters and high-sounding words of promise. State along with every other college in the U. S., tries to get its students to "get out and vote!"

It seems to us that some new approach should be devised to make the whole student body more aware of election importance. In the past, campus leaders have worn themselves out while spouting trite phrases like "Every student owes it to himself and his college to have a say in who governs his campus. . ."

No matter how sincere are these leaders, or how basically true their words, somehow all the urging falls flat upon deaf or indolent ears. The truth of the matter is the majority of the students don't give a damn!

Well, what can we add to our predecessors who have tried so hard to convince the student body that campus elections are something more than petty politics? Should today's campus leaders beg, should they threaten, should they give it up for a lost cause? What type of repercussions do you think we would have if Holladay Hall said that we were not going to have elections this year? Would it take this to remind the students of one of our foremost and basic freedoms? We can only guess.

Thursday, April 1, is election day at State. This year, as in all others, we will again see if it's worth a few minutes of your time to decide upon your leaders for 1965-66. One can only hope that this year will not be a repeat of last year in which scarcely 31 per cent of the student body bothered to "stand up and be counted."

We'll Know Next Year

As everyone should know by now, there is a new organization on campus called the University Party. However, whether the students have a favorable opinion of this organization or not is another facet of the situation.

Exactly who can belong to this organization? The answer to this question involves much criticism within itself. Actually the answer can be summed up in a couple of words . . . mainly the campus leaders in addition to anyone else who is willing to pay $1 for membership.

To inquire even further, one might ask what is the objective of this newly formed organization? It is in resumé the following: "To advocate more responsible senators and to promote a more effective SG."

Is this organization a meaningful one? This question creates much debate. Some feel it is not really so worthwhile due to the fact that it doesn't have an opposition party. Nevertheless, there is a factor which indirectly contradicts this opinion. If the organization is not valid, then why are the campus leaders members?

Regardless of the opinions at the present time, the organization's real worth will be proven not during elections, but when the organization begins to function next year.

SG: 'We Have Begun-Let Us Continue'

Mitchell

By JIM FERGUSON
The North Carolina State Student Government has in the past been criticized for "do nothingness."

This year as a result of a study made at the Student Government Retreat a dynamic move is underway under the banner, "Let us begin . . . Let us not continue." Student Government is trying to make itself more effective. To this end the legislature is undergoing a "house cleaning" program.

The legislature adopted new operating rules, the most important of which provided for a two-week period between introduction of legislation and its consideration.

Two constitutional amendments were approved by the student body in the spring elections. These amendments revised the election articles, provided for election of half of the graduate senators in the general campus elections; and provided that newly elected Senators would take office at the final two meetings of the school year.

A number of study commissions were set up to investigate various aspects of Student Government.

The Honor System Study Commission report resulted in a reaffirmation of faith in the honor system by the Student Government legislature.

The Representation Study Commission is presently working on suggestions on the method of representation in the Student Legislature.

Another committee is working on the Student Government constitution with the object of revising it. To have an effective Student Government it is necessary for the legislature to start in its own house, and this is what Student Government is doing.

A number of bills have been passed by the legislature in its role of representing the student body. The name for the yearbook was kept as the Agroneck pending a vote of the student body. Student Government, which is fortunate enough to set its own parking rules, has passed recommendations for solution of the growing parking problem on campus.

A new method of selecting the homecoming queen, giving the students more voice in selection of the finalists, was recommended.

Recommendations concerning the operation of the Print Shop were also adopted and resulted in much more acceptable policies in the Print Shop.

A number of stands taken on issues in the past few years were restated by this year's Student Government legislature. The name North Carolina State University for this school was reaffirmed as well as the proposed calendar change and mandatory ROTC. Resolutions concerning both of the latter two were passed last year.

As a result of Student Government approval, the State-Carolina football game will be played in Raleigh in 1965 for the first time in many years.

In an effort to keep the Student Body informed on what is going on in Student Government and other campus organizations the student legislature passed a bill to authorize construction of bulletin boards at various locations on campus.

The legislature recently passed a resolution requesting the North Carolina General Assembly to reinstate appropriations for a music and band wing for the new college union.

Student Government is sponsoring many programs this year including the Tutorial Project and the Student Government Summer Employment Commission. The Summer Employment Commission has already processed hundreds for applications but no figures on the number of placements will be available until after the end of this school term.

Student Government is planning to sponsor one of the spring performances of the Frank Thompson Theatre as well as speakers and lecturers. Many campus organizations are sponsored and assisted by Student Government with both money and members.

Student Government keeps in contact with the other branches of the Consolidated University through the Consolidated Student Council and with other schools through organizations such as State Student Legislature and the Carolina-Virginia Region of NSA.

The North Carolina State Student Government has a good start in being a really meaningful and effective representative organization. The slogan should now be, "We have begun . . . Let us continue."

Hart

to rectify disagreements with the administration and faculty. I promise to keep an open door to all students who feel they need assistance.

4) Improvement of campus and off-campus communications.

Student organizations are often hampered in their activities because of their inability to contact students. Individual students on many occasions are surprised to learn an activity they are interested in has passed them by. The fault lies neither with the organizations nor with the individual student.

I promise to establish an information source (possibly in booklet form and made available to each student on a regular basis.) Included will be facts on Student Government and general information about organizations and student activities.

5) Continuation and encouragement of a self-reliant Student Government influenced by the student body alone.

No cliques or powerful minority groups should exercise total control over the students' representatives. Students have a right to equal representation; I promise to defend this right. Governmental control by clique must be prevented.

bility of using part of the $7,000 Student Government surplus for additional parking facilities and improvements in the D. H. Hill Library. During the past year, we have seen outstanding improvement in our pep program and school spirit. I sincerely believe that an appropriation for the pep program should be included in the SG Budget so that the student body can better be represented on the athletic field in the future. I also pledge my support to help our Music Department in any way possible to recover from losses sustained in the Pullen Hall fire.

My previous Student Government experience includes serving as senator, reading clerk, and presently as secretary. If I am elected, I will always remain open to suggestions, ideas, and criticisms from the student body.

Ferguson

ment legislature.

I have served as head parliamentarian of the Engineers' Council. In Student Government I was a senator for two years and Elections Committee chairman last year. In the executive department of Student Government I have served on the Presidential Advisory Board as public relations secretary.

I hope that you will give my qualifications your consideration when you vote on Thursday.

I am a member of the University Party and support the Party platform. Since the University Party has taken no stand on the NSA issue, I would like to add that I am in favor of this school disaffiliating with NSA. Having attended two regional and one national NSA conventions, I have seen the NSA crew in action.

I could write pages against NSA but at this time I would like to say only two things: (1) What has the ten thousand dollars we have spent on NSA in the past 12 years gotten us? (2) All NSA services of any use are available without the school's being a member.

No 'Contention' Wed

There will be no Contention column in Wednesday's paper.

In past years, letters to the editor have been submitted just before election day containing unsubstantiated charges or appeals to the voters. Opposing candidates were unable to answer these letters.

In fairness to all candidates, no letters concerning the election will be run Wednesday.

Ballots, Coffee, & Donuts But Bob Cole Has It Rough

"About the roughest in Student Government," is the way Bob Cole, chairman of the Elections Committee, describes his job.

The Elections Committee, consisting of six SG senators, has the responsibility of organizing all campus-wide elections.

The job includes collecting election material, supervising candidate meetings, checking candidate's grades, lining up poll officials, supervising ballot counting, notifying candidates of poster violations, placing elections announcements, and a host of other jobs including

"ordering coffee and donuts if ballots are to be counted by hand."

The job, Cole pointed out, involves a lot of hard work. "It is no glamour job," he added, for the Elections Committee prepares no legislation directly associated with the students.

Cole also pointed out that the job of the Elections Committee this year has been complicated because the recent rulings and re-rulings on the subject of academic requirements for candidates have necessitated many deletions, additions, and re-counts of candidates.

At Ford Motor Company, perspective results from the necessary training, background and further education a college graduate needs to obtain the advancement he wants. Perspective, in a painting, is the illusion of depth. With us there's no illusion.

Perspective at our Company often starts with the two-year College Graduate Program. While in the Program, a graduate progresses through a series of developmental moves. He becomes familiar with our business. Takes on ever-increasing amounts of responsibility. And accelerates according to his own application and ability. We want him to succeed. Because the greater his success, the greater ours will be. One recent graduate, Carl Marcucci, typifies this success story.

Since joining us in 1960, Carl has gained wide experience in our Quality Control Office. For example: He put together a coordinated program to test a new engine . . . served as a liaison between one of our foundries and our manufacturing plants . . . and represented us with vendors who supply our manufacturing plants. In addition, through our Employee Continuing Education Plan, Carl furthered his academic accomplishments by earning his Master's Degree. Carl presently is taking a seminar course to qualify as a registered professional engineer. This added knowledge and the many work situations he encountered have greatly enlarged Carl's perspective. Make him better able to reach the right decisions in his current job—Section Supervisor of a Quality Control Department with 52 people under him.

This is not an isolated case. Many college graduates have grown just as rapidly. If you want a future as big as you'd like it to be, see our representative when he visits your campus.

MIKE CAUBLE

JOHNNY HANDAL

SG Treasurer Position Challenged By Three

My platform is simple and straightforward — Service. If elected I, Mike Cauble, intend to perform the duties of the office of treasurer in the manner prescribed by our constitution and the student legislature.

In the course of the next year I would be charged with drawing up a budget of $20,000. I would keep records, make all disbursements, and be prepared at any time to present a financial report.

I am a sophomore in Applied Math. I am in the legislature this year, on the Budget and Finance Committee, and represented N. C. State at the CCUN. I solicit your vote; I am willing and anxious to serve.

During the past year I, John Barnes, have filled several student positions which I feel qualify me for the office of Student Government treasurer.

I am presently a sophomore senator for the School of Engineering. I have been a member of the Traffic Committee since last summer, and I will serve on the 1965 Orientation Committee.

As a representative from State to the Consolidated University Student Council, I have traveled with the present Student Government officers to the other campuses of the Consolidated University.

It is through these visits that I have gained real experience and insight into such key issues as the name change and the Speaker Ban Law. I also served as a delegate in the House of Representatives in this year's State Student Legislature.

As treasurer of Student Government, I would like to see more money benefit more students. This could be carried out through a more effective use of Student Government appropriations.

I would like to see the Frank Thompson Theatre initiate free admission for students, since the theater is now receiving Student Government money.

I also would like to work with Raleigh Merchant Bureau concerning a possible five to 10 per cent discount to State students at member stores of the bureau. More Student Government sponsored social functions for all students is another point I favor.

I feel that my experience in the affairs of North Carolina State, the Consolidated University, and my desire to serve you as Student Government treasurer qualify me of this Student Government position.

I, John Handal, would like to take this opportunity to present myself to the student body as a candidate for treasurer of Student Government.

I have served this past year as the Sophomore Textiles Senator and as a member of the Election Committee. I am also a representative of the sophomore class to the Tompkins Textiles Council and of the Student Government to the Campus Chest.

As treasurer of Student Government, I would make proposals that accurately reflect the desire of the students, keeping such proposals within the confines of the budget. I would guarantee more reports to the students of our expenditures and would suggest that any surplus be used to directly benefit the students.

I had received the support of Robert Holmes, Mike Wise, Gene Eagle, Jim Robinson, and Harvey George, among many others. I hope many of you will join these individuals and support me as your Student Government treasurer.

JOHN BARNES

JIM BAILEY

Three Candidates Make Bid For Student Government Sec.

My proudest claim is that I, John Sullivan, am neither a member of the present Student Government nor am I associated with the University Party. Both of these entities (which, incidentally, amount to about the same thing) have shown by their action, or rather their inaction, that they must improve considerably before they can expect the student body to take them seriously.

However, this is not to imply that I have no experience which would qualify me for the office of secretary. I have served as president of the freshman and sophomore classes, in which capacity I had a major role in planning the State's Mid-Winters, which was the first successful interclass function this campus had ever seen.

I feel that the following proposals are among the more important points in my platform, but they are not intended as the only ones. Anyone desiring to contact me about my position on any other issue may do so.

1) Keep the students better informed about the Student Government and what it is doing. Toward that end I will strive to keep better minutes which will give at least the gist of debate.

2) Enforce the SG operating rules. There are enough of these in existence to fill a fair-sized booklet, but they are honored primarily by the breach rather than the observance.

If you're satisfied with the present Student Government by all means vote for my UP opponent. You wouldn't be happy with me as secretary. But if you want something better, then I need your support.

In the office of the secretary, it is essential that one have a working knowledge of Student Government and an understanding of Student Government's relationship to other groups.

JACK SULLIVAN

For this reason, I, Celia Parsons, feel it is necessary and in the best interest of the students to elect an individual with previous experience in these areas. The following summarize my experience in these areas:

Student Government Senator (LA), 1963-64, 1964-65; secretary of Elections Committee, 1964-65; Consolidated University Student Council, 1964-65; Liberal Arts Council, 1964-65; State Student Legislature, 1963-64, 1964-65.

As a University Party candidate, I support the party platform which endeavors to eliminate some of the problems and to create a more effective Student Government.

One of the major problems SG has faced in past years concerns the unqualified persons who have taken office (both legislative and executive) and not been able to fulfill their responsibilities due to a lack in initiative and/or experience.

As of this year, a secretarial committee was established to assist the secretary with his many responsibilities. If elected, I will endeavor to extend the responsibilities of the secretarial committee; bridge the gap of communications; continue the efficiency of the secretary's office; assist the establishment of executive committees to bring about (1) an increased social program, (2) a national speaker program; and promote executive department programs.

If elected to the office of secretary of Student Government, I, Joy Johnson, promise to give each upcoming issue my full consideration and to try to decide upon an action which will be agreeable to a majority of the student body.

I feel that my past experience has given me an opportunity to learn what most students want, and also to be able to give it to them in several aspects of campus life.

I have served two years as a class officer, been on three Union committees, chairman of one, been secretary of the Math and Saddle Clubs, vice president of the Science Council, and a member and secretary of Thirty and Three.

I have attended a number of college-sponsored conferences, including the Climate For Learning conference last fall. I am also an active member of the Capital City Sports Car Club.

I feel that one of the main troubles of Student Government

Soph Candidates Solicit Class Prexy

The candidates for sophomore class president are Jim Bailey, Glenn Lancaster, Bobby Gray, Jim Simpson, and Gene Seals.

Bailey served as publicity chairman for the Mid-Winters weekend this year. He also attended a Student Government meeting as an alternate.

Lancaster's platform includes plans to take steps to represent the majority view of the sophomore class.

Gray contends that he will serve as a voice for the students he represents.

Included in Simpson's platform is an effort to rid the campus of its "general apathy toward campus politics."

Seals stated he will try to improve the campus food service, Student Supply Stores, and Student Government.

is that it needs some new ideas. These ideas can only come from the student body. To receive them Student Government needs a direct line of communication with the students. I feel that the best means of communication is this paper. After each meeting a report should be made to the students by the secretary through this paper.

If you agree with me, I ask you to vote for Joy Johnson April 1. Then I will begin to work on your projects, whether they be connected with the Speaker Ban Law, NSA, or getting better seats for the ball-games.

University Party States Position

North Carolina State has seen the birth of a new political party on campus this year.

The University Party, headed by SG presidential candidate Jackie Mitchell, has adopted a constitution, taken stands on campus issues, adopted a platform, and nominated 30 candidates for office.

The most far reaching plank in the platform is to work for naming this institution North Carolina State University. The fight for this name has been headed by the Party's vice presidential candidate, Jim Ferguson, who is the present publicity director for Student Government.

The platform also includes working toward the amendment of the present Speaker Ban Law. The remainder of the platform is as follows:

1) To investigate and urge revision wherever necessary in the present Faculty-Student Advisory setup with special emphasis on the possibility of student advisors to help incoming freshmen.

2) To initiate a complete Student Government constitutional revision.

3) To make Student Government responsible for an annual student directory.

4) To establish a Student Government complaint and information center to help in the direction of individual problems of North Carolina State students.

5) To establish a working Student Government executive committee to work in conjunction with the Erdahl-Cloyd Union in helping to foster a National Speaker program on the North Carolina State campus.

6) To establish a working Student Government executive committee as an aid and coordinator in all campus efforts to bring about a better social program at North Carolina State.

7) To work toward the establishment of a residence hall solely for use of graduate students of North Carolina State.

8) To follow the pace set by the present Student Government in trying to make Student Government an actual voice of the students as well as a service to the students.

The University Party has endorsed Mitchell for president of SG, Ferguson for vice president, Celia Parsons for secretary, and John Barnes for treasurer.

"Help free seniors from exams and bad seats" is my platform. If elected, I, Leroy Hite, will work for reinstatement of senior exemptions from examinations and for senior priority for tickets at athletic events.

Compare my platform with those of my six opponents who bothered to share their views. My deepest appreciation goes to those of you who support my election to the presidency of the senior class."

You have probably never heard of Bob Thomas before, but so what! Does it take a well-known person to be a good class president? I think not. In fact, I'm running on the "Why Not" platform. "Why Not" elect Bob Thomas president of the senior class? What have you to lose?

As for my qualifications, for two years I have been a senator in Student Government; I was an alternate delegate on State's 1964 State Student Legislature delegation; and I held several class offices in high school.

I promise no miracles, no earth-shaking ideas, no leadership that will make this senior class world famous, and I don't think you really care about being famous. All you want to do now is graduate!

If elected, I will work for

increased social activities, a sensible gift from the class to the University, impressive graduation ceremonies, and a nice senior class graduation dance. As for senior exemptions—sure I'd like to see them, who wouldn't, but this issue has been dragged around for years with no results.

The senior class president can't do anything about them (or hasn't in the past), and he still can't do anything about them. We will get senior exemptions back only when the administration is good and ready for us to have them back.

Well, everyone's making promises to do this or that if elected to such and such an office. The office which I, Jim Fulghum, seek offers tempting possibilities for promise-making on such attractive senior issues as exam exemptions and seating at athletic events.

But the practical end of the job I feel has been overlooked in the discussion of "new" projects which have been old for quite a few years now. The practical part of the job as senior class president is that of the very inglorious duty of the proper organization of the many events surrounding the graduation exercise.

I intend to be around for graduation and therefore make the following single campaign promise: As your senior class president, I will do all within my power to see that our graduation goes as smoothly as any this school has ever had.

As for the other "issues," such as exam exemptions, I will make no promises or pledges of accomplishment that I am not positive I can keep.

It is obvious, however, that all seniors, including myself, are concerned with these questions and I would not be a candidate for this office if I did not feel that I could fully and properly represent your concern.

My campaign platform contains no specific promises as to what will be accomplished. Instead, it contains the fact that I, Woody Fulton, sincerely desire to be elected senior class president, the reason being that I want to see the Class of 1966 graduate from this institution leaving behind a meritorious impression.

I think that the class president should hear the views of the class, and act upon them, as this is the manner in which a person elected by popular vote should manage his office.

This would pertain, as an example, to all class business, such as a class project, senior class privileges, and academic treatment of the class by the school. I would be open for discussion of any problem that the class might have.

As a junior class officer for the past year I, Gail Fitchett, have come to three important conclusions.

First, there is more to being a class officer than holding the position. He has the responsibility to work. This work includes making the blazer contracts, selling blazers, making class ring contracts, selling class rings, and planning State's Mid-Winters. Attendance at the meetings is just a beginning.

Secondly, there is tendency toward inactivity, especially in the senior year. This loss of senior leadership is a definite weakness in the class officer system.

This leads to my last point. It is essential for the president of the senior class to have a working knowledge of his position. This comes only from having been an active class officer.

Now as a candidate for the presidency of the senior class, I would like to clarify my position.

First, it has taken a year for me to realize the vast amount of work a class officer must put forth.

Next, I have become aware of how important it is for every officer to do his part.

Thirdly, I recognize the true value of experience. For example, as decorations chairman for the States' Mid-Winters Dance, I started from the beginning and, consequently, I made the usual mistakes.

As a candidate for president of the senior class, I do not promise to be perfect, but I do promise not to make the same mistakes twice.

MAC MCGARITY

As a candidate for president of the junior class, I Mac McGarity, feel there are three major functions that the President of the junior class must correlate: the sale of class rings, the N. C. State blazer sale, and the all-campus social weekend known as Mid-Winters.

During the past two years I have served as president of the freshman and sophomore classes. I believe that the experience gained during this time is definitely an asset to me and that it will enable me to carry out the duties of the class with a maximum of efficiency.

This experience will also allow more time to be placed on class projects such as the re-establishment of the senior exempt rule and the campus beautification contest.

The exempt rule would allow seniors who have an 85 or better average to be exempt from the exam in that course. The campus beautification contest would be sponsored by our class and would allow for awards for the best idea from each class and a final award for the best idea from the entire school.

This is in essence my major goal: efficiency and progress through experience and unity.

I, Ron England, candidate for the office of president of the junior class, feel that the person holding this office should endeavor:

1. To support the present SG recommendation for changing the school calendar.
2. To support investigation of how States Food Service is set up on this campus.
3. To support the Tutorial Project.
4. To support an Agromeck which presents the N. C. State University.
5. To establish a utilize Junior Class Social Committee to promote and handle weekend functions.

6. To support petitioning of the state Legislature to repeal the Speaker Ban Law.
7. To support presentation of the accomplishments and activities of NSA to the student body through a periodical bulletin.
8. To support Student Government and the presentation of the activities and accomplishments of this organization.

The support and votes of the members of next year's junior class will be sincerely appreciated and adequately rewarded.
