WASHINGTON AND LEE DEFEATS N. C. STATE

Wolfpack Puts Up Game Battle For Close Score—Upset Dope by Scoring Against Generals—Both Teams Weak on Defensive.

Refusing to be run over by the Washington and Lee Generals, the Wolfpack forced them to be contented with the big end of a 20-to-12 score. The Generals, rated as one of the first three elevens of the Southern Conference, were forced to fight all the time for their scores and at the same time hold the Wolfpack in check.

State Muddles Dope

State's stand in the game, viewed from every angle, can be classed as an upset of the dope, for the Generals had been figured to win at least by three touchdowns, while no one thought that the Wolfpack had a chance to score. Everyone thought that the game belonged to Washington and Lee without very much trouble at all. Instead, they found the Wolfpack game to fight to the death. Not only that, but they refused to remain on the defensive, snapping and tearing at the Generals' line, flashing an overhead attack, and repeatedly playing their opponents to a standstill; even better than that, answering touchdowns with touchdowns. They hung on grimly to the

N. C. STATE BAND IS BIG ATTRACTION AT NORFOLK

The Band boys showed the people of Norfolk what kind of spirit we have down here now. The night before the game the Band marched up from the station to the hotel, playing the entire distance. Next morning we went down to meet the Washington and Lee team and students. The train being late, a concert was given to the crowd that had collected at the station. We paraded from the station with Washington and Lee in automobiles decorated with their colors, while the Band was almost red and white from the number of pennants and colors the boys had hanging to themselves and their horns. After we had marched to their hotel we gave another concert in the lobby. We then marched back to our hotel. After dinner we marched out to the game and paraded on the field. After the game started, we showed the people that we were behind our team from start to finish. With "Ditty" Ray as cheer leader we gave yells practically every minute of the game. Norfolk will not forget that we have a real band down here.

FRESHMAN TEAM HAS SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Opening Game With a Victory Over Hartsell's Reserves, Wolflets Show Good Material For Varsity Squad.

One hundred Freshmen reported to Coach Homewood for football practice when the call was issued. From that number a well-balanced football team was obtained. The men were new at the game and it took some time for them to get together, but after once doing so they were a hard bunch to stop.

The season opened with a victory over Coach Hartsell's reserve. A goodly number of men were given a chance in this game and all showed up well for that time of the season.

Rockingham High School was next on the schedule. After scoring three points from a drop kick by Quarterback Austin and playing on equal terms for most of the game, they let Rockingham get away with a long pass which was good for a touchdown. This was one of the prettiest passes seen on Riddick Field in a long time.

Mars Hill was played off their feet, but, as before, a pass spelled their downfall. The Wolflets made 15 first downs to 3, but lacked the punch to score a victory. Anderson, Mars Hill right end, showed up especially well in this game.

Davidson was the first real victor of the Freshmen. At Pinehurst, Fair

SUMMARY OF 1923 FOOTBALL SEASON

Spirit Unsurpassed Although Team Lost Many Games—Captain Bostian Deserves Much Credit.

Although the Wolfpack did not win the majority of their games, the football season may be classed as successful. True, they lost most of their games, but they lost every one of them fighting. The spirit and morale of the 1923 Wolfpack is the best that has ever been at State College. State College this year had a green, hard fighting football team and every man gave State College the best that was in him. On September 6th Coach Hartsell gathered his football men together for their first practice of the season. A large squad of men reported for practice and, led by Captain Bostian, started a period of strenuous training to get themselves in condition. Every position on the club was open to the best man. State had a small squad of veterans back working for their position, but their positions were not

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM BY CAVENEY COMPANY

The members of the faculty having charge of the selection of the lyceum attractions for the year made a very wise choice in obtaining the Caveney Company, who so delightfully entertained the students and faculty at Pullen Hall on the evening of December 1.

The company, composed of Mr. J. Franklin Caveney, Mrs. Marie M. Caveney, and Miss Pauline Woods, had their program well arranged between music, art, and sculpture. Mr. Caveney made a number of landscape drawings, cartoons, and caricatures, especially pleasing the students with portraits of several members of the faculty. With amazing rapidity he modeled in clay figures of Indians, Shakespeare, Lincoln. Mr. Caveney kept his audience in an uproar of laughter by a continual stream of jokes, readings and recitations. Mrs. Caveney sang the "Flower Song" from Faust; "Lapaloma," and "Toy Balloon." Then in a duet with the pretty Miss Woods,

ATTENTION, TRACK MEN!

There will be a meeting of all men interested in Track in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, Saturday after dinner. All men who are interested in Track be there, whether you have had any experience or not, both Freshmen and Upperclassmen. There should be at least two hundred men at this meeting Saturday.

Editorials

Football players are among those few who are cheered for kicking and blocking.

Overheard at a girl's college: "I do not like football players; they are too rough."

If everybody in the United States learned football, book agents would be a thing of the past.

What's a little rouge between a girl and her football hero? Nothing if it is on her lips.

It has been well said that the best football men come from the broad open spaces where men are men and women are girls.

The best way to train a football man is to make him fall in love. Is that why so many good looking girls have been attending the games?

Football men must be tough, so they feed them steak in the Dining Hall. Gee whiz! Who will get that steak now that the season is over?

"Are you going with a football man?"

"Yes."

"What position does he play?"

"Tackle, mostly."

Does a football coach have four wheels?

Do the guards walk the goal posts?

Are the scrubs used to clean the players?

When a player is down is he also out?

Was Thanksgiving declared because the football season ended at that time?

NEW STAFF MEMBERS

We are pleased to announce two additions to the staff: A. B. Hunter, assistant to the managing editor, and E. J. Whitaker, assistant to the editor. It is hoped that these men will put our paper a notch higher in the world of publications.

THE COLLEGE CALENDAR

For the first time in the memory of the writer there appears a weekly calendar of the college in the paper. We believe that this addition is much needed, and we ask the help of the different clubs, societies and other organizations in making this calendar as useful and reliable as possible.

A CRIME AS WE SEE IT

What could be more discouraging to the staff of a college publication than to have a sophomore or a junior in the college ask what THE TECHNICIAN is. When a college man is associated with the activities of his school and takes no more note of things than is shown by this question, we think that it is time for that fellow to begin a reconstruction within himself and learn something of his college. He owes it to himself and to his college to know of the things that are going on about him.

OUR FOOTBALL TEAM

At the first of the football season every State College man was behind the Wolfpack, and at the end we were even more for our team than ever. This is, of course, the spirit that every college should have; yet, in some cases, a disastrous season will kill the spirit of the students as well as the spirit of the players. We believe that the 1923 Wolfpack is undefeated in spirit. It is true that our team has not won a great number of victories this year and we advance no direct reason for this fact.

The players have trained consistently and have given their best to the college on the gridiron, and we are proud of every man that donned the uniform, whether he played in one game, every game, or did not play in a regular game. A man that goes out on the football field every afternoon and works hard deserves the support and congratulations of us all. A football man foregoes many privileges and pleasures in order that he might be at his best when the game is called. Movies late at night, candy, pie and sweets are but few of the things that the athletes deny themselves. Our men have trained and worked, and we tell the world that we are proud of every-one of them.

THE TECHNICIAN CALLS YOU

At a recent meeting of the entire staff of THE TECHNICIAN it was decided to reorganize the club of reporters and assistants and put these positions on a competitive basis. Here is our plan: We want every man that is interested in the publication of the paper to come to the office and tell us what phase of the paper he is most interested in and we will put that man to work and give him just as much to do as he wants. Then, when the time

FINCHLEY'S IN TOWN

Dub: No, but we have some soft hats to match your head.

(Apologies to the Pa. Punch Bowl) comes for the selection of the new staff officers, there will be several men running for each position and each man somewhat familiar with the workings of his special field. The athletic positions are open to competition and so should the publication staff be chosen from a broad field of contestants. Freshmen and all others are urged to join in and help us make the paper the best in the South. We need men now in every department of the staff. Come over; we want you.

STATE CROSS-COUNTY MEET HERE SATURDAY

The State Cross-Country Meet will be held here Saturday. Every college in the State is expected to enter a team. There will be much competition for honors this year, as many good distance men have been brought to the front this year in every school. Bailey, of Wake Forest, is expected to give Scott a good run for a place.

There is much to be looked forward to in the race between Bailey and Scott, as they tied in the Trinity meet in Durham, November 24th, and are to run off the claims to the second and third medals that were to be awarded over there. Both are determined to win the medal for second place and the title.

The State team has shown up well so far this year, having taken second place at the meet in Durham against Washington and Lee, Carolina, Trinity and Wake Forest. Washington and Lee took first place, with N. C. State right behind it. This gives State an edge on the other schools of the State. The local team bids fair to be cross-country champions again this year.

The meet will be held at 2 o'clock, and the course will start at the mess hall and end in front of the Y. M. C. A. The course is four miles long, covering the country beyond the Experiment Station and the Catholic Orphanage.

The State team will probably be composed of Scott, Lattimore, Wright, Schrader and Robinson. McIlwean will probably be entered also. Let's be out to back the team Saturday.

A Character Football Team

Coach Oliver Cutts addressed a body of Bates College men on the subject: "A Character Football Team." He likened the game of life to a football game, and gave the line-up which would spell success and also the team which opposes all attempts to win out. Following is the line-up:

Success		Failure
Caution	c.	Recklessness
Courage	lg.	Ill-temper
Temperance	rg.	Self-indulgence
Earnestness	lt.	Indifference
Perseverance	rt.	Sloth
Patience	re.	Jealousy
Confidence	le.	Doubt
Virtue	qb.	Selfishness
Energy	lh.	Vice
Enthusiasm	rhb.	Fear
Honesty	fb.	Untruthfulness

The analogy was clearly and forcibly drawn. It made a deep impression on the hearers.

Why I Believe in Football

Football fixes in every student the spirit of fight and the will to win. It is all a mistake to say that the men on the bleachers get no benefit. They receive incalculable benefit in the spirit that surges through them in the support of the team—the spirit of determination and irresistible attack.

Football fuses the college into a unity. Before the first big home game each year, the college is only a mass of individuals, but with the long yell that greets the team for its first big fight, a new and living entity comes into being. In the game the soul of the college is awakened anew, and he is no man at all into whose heart the thrills of the contest do not send currents of devotion and loyalty which will flow till his heart no longer beats.—Dr. John M. Thomas, President Pennsylvania State College.

Alumni Notes

Observations and Communications of Zippy Mack

As The Technician is this week getting out a special Football Edition, we thought that it would be interesting for us to look into the things that our former football stars are now doing. In doing this we should like to go back to the very beginning and look up every man who has worn the famous old "A. M. C." or its successor, the more modern "N. C. S.," because of his prowess upon the gridiron. We should like to come up through the "middle ages" of State College, when our own Tal Stafford, Harry Hartsell, John Bray and their colleagues suffered their only defeat at the hands of the monstrous V. P. I. eleven. But obviously that is impossible within the small space allotted us. The most we can do is to look into the doings of a few of the stars of latter years, whose playing many of us have seen. In some cases the locations and occupations we have secured for them may not be up to the minute, but they are as modern as we are able to obtain.

—Mr. J. I. Wagoner, of the Class of '19, was formerly agricultural supervisor at the Lowes Grove Farm Life School, but is now engaged in farming at Gibsonville.

—Mr. S. L. Homewood, of the Class of '19, is, as most of us already know, instructor and Freshman athletic coach at N. C. State College.

—Mr. J. E. McDougall, of the Class of '17, who made his letter in about everything there was for it to be made in, is now cashier of the Morris Plan Bank here in Raleigh.

—"Runt" Faucette, who was captain of the strong 1921 team, is now with the Athletic Supply Company, of Raleigh.

—Mr. S. C. Weathers, captain of the wonder team of 1920, is now in the employ of the Highway Commission, and has helped somewhat in the coaching of Sanford's Eastern State Championship eleven this year.

—Mr. A. G. Floyd, first president of the Student Council, and captain of the team of 1922, is now in far-away Porto Rico, where he is experimenting on plants for the Chilean Nitrate Committee, whose headquarters are located at New York.

—Mr. R. N. Gurley, captain of the great team of 1919, is now athletic director at Shelby High School, where he has turned out some of the strongest teams ever had there.

—Mr. T. N. Park, State's star punter on the teams for the past four years, is now a draftsman for the Highway Commission here in Raleigh.

—Mr. J. B. Lawrence, of the Class of 1921, is teaching Vocational Agriculture at Rockingham School, and is spending a little time in turning out a team which was strong enough to beat our Freshmen this season.

—Mr. C. D. Kirkpatrick, of the Class of '21, is now athletic director at Charlotte High School, where he has this year turned out the Western State Champions, who will contend with Weathers' Sanford crew for all-State honors this week-end.

—Mr. J. F. Baum, who was president of last year's Senior Class, is with the Highway Commission, but spends some of his time coaching the team at Cary High School.

—Mr. J. H. Ripple, of the Class of '21, who was one of the few State College men who have ever been placed on an All-American eleven, and whose brother is on the Wolfpack line-up now, is with the Marshall Field Company, at Fieldale, Virginia.

—Mr. W. W. Riddick, of the Class of '16, and son of former President Riddick, is now president and treasurer of the Demopolis Mills, Demopolis, Alabama.

—Mr. Nat D. Pierson, of the Class of '21, who made up in a wonderful manner with brain what he lacked in brawn in the Wolfpack, is now city engineer at Enfield, N. C.

—Mr. W. C. McCoy, of the Class of '21, is now in the Poultry Extension Department of the University of Georgia, at Athens, Ga.

Over the hills we long to go

Where griefs and cares are few.

Over the hills and far away
Someone dreams that here
Beneath our hills his feet will find

MY IDEAL MAN

[EDITOR'S NOTE.—About a month ago The Technician printed two articles: one on the "Ideal Man," and one on the "Ideal Woman," which were commented on by many of the students. Because of this interest the editor thought you might like this article also. The writer of this article had not read the former articles, so this is in no way an answer to them. This article was written as a formal personal letter, which accounts for its familiar style. The writer's consent was secured for this publication.]

Ain't girls funny, anyway? Yes; girls in general, I mean. I don't mean they're comical one bit—but just funny, that's all. They all have different opinions, like different styles, crave different kinds of amusement. Some are tall, some small. Some admire one type while another admires the extreme opposite, and so on down to the end of time.

But, there's one similar goal they work for, and what that is is coming on later, if you'll be so kind as to persevere to the end of this piece of "prose," to enlighten your wondering mind. You needn't argue or deny it 'cause it characterizes everyone of the fair sex. Whatever type she may be she has in mind "Her Ideal Man."

What does he have to be, anyway, to be ideal? More than I know, that's a certainty. But here's an attempt to strike in high places, anyway. That man must have qualities I've never seen in one yet. Maybe, some of them have some of them (qualities, I mean), maybe none of them have any of them; perhaps some of them have none of them. But here's one thing I know to be a fact, "None of them have all of them." If they did they'd be ideal. Therefore, the ideal man must be yet to be manufactured!

Poor old Adam. Didn't he set a bad example? Now, here's a chance to do a bit of remodeling and make yourself like this: thoughtful of the girl whom you admire above all others, in every way (every day, too—if you think she won't get disgusted). Think of her first, always, even before you think of the ones more attractive and entertaining, the more popular, too—those flappers! Don't try to make her jealous by "seemingly" falling for one of the creatures—when it's all just to test her out. Must have a true knowledge of the odor of intoxicating drinks, even though one taste of it is prohibited.

Again, smoking "ain't" the best habit in the world, but it is passable, since you might as well smoke here as hereafter. Musn't "cuss," but to keep her from thinking you are a sissy, "consarn" may be substituted when an occasion presents itself that calls for some spoken exclamation. Don't let her walk over you. Show some backbone; you'll be appreciated more. Don't be ignorant of all new expressions; and please keep up the current newspaper topics. Make folks think you know something, even though you yourself sometimes wonder if you were intended to be a donkey instead of the so-called "ideal." If you don't know the meaning of "niggardly," don't look for the dictionary, for no girl can tolerate a man who suggests a dope as soon as the drug-store comes into sight when, really, the girl is having fair visions of a banana split, and hates the man who advocates quantity instead of quality.

A man must have a kind of predominating air, but even that must be used in its place, and that place must not make its appearance too often or too noticeable, even then. A girl likes to have unusual attentions paid her. And when the man is a close observer he soon detects the little things that please her, and the correct comments about her looks that "hit home" and make her smile. Then that's when she appreciates you and you're beginning to mold into a real hero in her sight, if in no others. Are you sympathetic, understanding of her feelings? Then you're a true pal; and there is one more star to your credit, counting toward the ideal that you're striving for. Do you know how to talk to the older folks without feeling uneasy, and acting shy and timid around them?

In other words, to sum up, are you perfect? Don't even 'spect you to be. And since it is impossible, just hit at the above as best you can and you'll be a little above the average, anyway. Then, if your girl don't like you, she'll tolerate you, maybe, even if it isn't for any other motive than to pay you for those honest efforts, which won't be wasted energy after all.

Summary of 1923 Football Season

theirs until they defeated the men set up from Coach Homewood's undefeated eleven of 1922. Bostian, Cox, Beatty, Lassiter, Holland, Ripple and Wallis were the lettered men back who reported for the first practice. Every man except three of Coach Homewood's Freshmen were there and were willing to fight for their position of the varsity. And, true, every man who made the varsity was made to fight and work hard to get a place there.

The Opening Game

After three weeks of hard and intensive training, the Wolfpack opened the season with a 6 to 0 victory over Roanoke. The game was hard fought and only by taking advantage of the only break of the game was State able to score. This was late in the game, when Elms grabbed a fumble and raced across the line for a touchdown. Roanoke gained more ground than did the Wolfpack, but was never able to cross the Wolfpack's goal line.

Penn State Game

On the following Saturday the Wolfpack went to Penn. State, where they were expected to lose by at least five touchdowns. But this was not the case, for they fought the much stronger eleven for every inch of ground that was made. When the final whistle blew it was seen that Penn. State had only been able to cross the Wolfpack's goal line twice and make one field goal. The final score was 16 to 0. The trouble with the Wolfpack was that there was too much Wilson. Big Eller, State's right tackle, sustained a broken leg in this game.

University of S. C. Game

Next came the University of South Carolina, who were defeated by the score of 6 to 0. This proved another hard-fought contest, but the game was won when Charlie Shuford intercepted a forward pass and ran 50 yards for the only score of the game. Both teams showed more defensive ability than offensive.

Fair Week Game

On October 18th the University of North Carolina journeyed over to Riddick Field to battle with the Wolfpack, and walked away with the big end of a 14 to 0 score. The largest crowd ever gathered together to witness an athletic contest in Raleigh ventured to Riddick Field on this day. Each team was hoping and fighting for a victory, as this was the fifth meeting of the two elevens since they had started athletic relations again. In the four previous years each team had two victories to its credit. This was the big game for each. The University showed a much better offense than State and was also able to hold when the time came. State's defeat was the result of too much McDonald to Morris. These two men completed passes which defeated State. It was a hard-fought battle, and the University displayed the best football and earned the victory.

V. M. I. Game

Going up against one of the best teams in the South, the Wolfpack not only held them to three touchdowns and one field goal, but also scored a touchdown off them. White, of V. M. I., was too much for the State eleven, but they did score on them, which was not done by very many other elevens. The recovery of a V. M. I. fumble by Johnson and a pass, Lassiter to Elms, was good for a touchdown. State won glory in defeat against V. M. I.

Davidson Game

The Wolfpack journeyed to Charlotte to take on the Davidson Wildcats and came back to Raleigh with the big end of a 12 to 6 score. The Wolfpack should have won this game by a much larger score, but the breaks were against them. Dutch Holland was the star in this game, scoring both of State's touchdowns and playing a fine defensive game. A long pass in the last few minutes of the game gave Davidson their touchdowns. State's were made as a result of forward passes coupled with line plunges.

V. P. I. Game

Again the Wolfpack covered itself with glory by holding the fast V. P. I. eleven to a 16 to 0 score. In the first half State clearly outplayed the Virginia eleven, not allowing them a single first down, while they were able to gain ground but never had the necessary punch to carry the ball across. The Wolfpack was unable to withstand the attack launched by the Virginians in the second half, so they fell before a 16 to 0 score. They were supposed to be defeated by a much larger score but gave V. P. I. blow for blow.

University of Maryland Game

The University of Maryland, who fought Yale to a finish before losing by small score, came to Raleigh good for a 35-point victory, but left well pleased with the large end of a 27 to 12 score. They opened the game with a rush and scored three touchdowns in the first half. They took advantage of several fumbles and with Captain McQuade leading, carried the ball across State's goal line three times without very much resistance. Just as the first half belonged to Maryland, the second half belonged to the Wolfpack. In this half State opened up the best exhibit of forward passing seen on Riddick Field in a long time. Lassiter to Johnson and Shuford, coupled with short gains through the line, was good for two touchdowns in the second half. An intercepted pass gave Maryland their fourth and last touchdown. The passing game by State completely bewildered the whole Maryland team.

Wake Forest Game

This game proved a great disappointment to State followers. Wake Forest brought to Raleigh a team well balanced and made up to a large extent of former State College men. They clearly won a victory over the Wolfpack to the tune of 14 to 0. State was unable to get going as she had done in the previous game. Rackley and Greason proved the big ground gainers for the Baptists. The Wolfpack was stale for some reason.

Washington and Lee Game

On Thanksgiving Day State played Washington and Lee in Norfolk. Washington and Lee, considered one of the three leading teams of the South, had the game won by a large score long before it was started, but at the end they see how lucky they were to be on the big end of the 20 to 12 score. The Wolfpack made 19 first downs to Washington and Lee's 17. They completed 9 out of 15 forward passes against 4 out of 7 by their opponents. On five occasions they carried the ball to Washington and Lee's goal line, but only twice were they able to put it across, whereas Washington and Lee had the same chance and pushed it across three times.

The 1923 football season at State College might be summed up as follows: A failure so far as games won is concerned but a success in that the team was a hard fighting and a good losing team.

The men were new and green this year, but, with one season behind, they should be able next season to win by playing the same hard fighting game that they put up this year. The student body was behind the team this year better than ever, although the team was not winning, but next year the student body will be behind a winning team.

Freshman Team Has Successful Season

Week, the Wolflets defeated the Davidson Freshmen by the score of 7 to 0. It was a hard-fought battle, and the best team won.

The Freshman reserve defeated the Cary High School by an overwhelming score the following day.

On November 10 the Freshmen went to Roanoke Rapids to take on the Carolina Freshmen in their annual classic. The records showed that Carolina was best, but on the field it was different. State Freshmen clearly outplayed the Carolina Freshmen during the first half, but Carolina truly had the umpire with them and every time there was a break Carolina got it mostly through his efforts. Carolina gets credit for the victory that her football team did not win. If the breaks had been even or had the State Freshmen gotten a fair decision, then the story might have been different.

The Freshmen journeyed to Dunn, where they were held to a tie score by Dunn High School. They were confident of victory and did not deserve a defeat by putting up the brand of football that they did.

The season closed with a 6 to 0 victory over Trinity Freshmen at Fayetteville. Both clubs displayed a fine brand of football, but State showed up the better.

In the backfield were a bunch of fine looking prospects for the 1924 varsity. Led by Captain Nash, of Goldsboro, the Freshmen had a very successful season. McAuley, Austin, Horne, Davis and Utler were the best backfield men. Green, Austill and Snipes held down the flank positions in fine style. Lambe, Coley, Nicholson, Petree, Beal, Hinton, Crisp, Anthony, Williams and McLean were a hard fighting and heavy bunch of linesmen. The Freshmen class is sending up a nice club of football players to the 1924 varsity.

end, never being out of the race. Not for a moment did they let the Generals let up and have it easy. On the contrary, they forced the Generals to their limit to win the game. Twice the Wolfpack forced their way through the Generals' defense for touchdowns.

Analysis of Game

A close analysis of the game shows that both elevens were weak on the defense, while their offensive was an honor for any team. Five times State carried the ball within striking distance, and three times the Generals held and then punted out of danger. Likewise, the Generals carried the ball within striking distance and twice the Wolfpack held and then punted out of danger.

State led in first downs, scoring 19 to 17 registered by the Generals. The Generals resorted to seven aerial attacks and put over four. State completed nine out of 15. In line driving the Generals showed the best gains. Cameron, Wilson, Hamilton repeatedly made the necessary ten yards. This, with a little better generalship in the pinches, tells the difference in the two clubs.

State had a drive in the line that the Virginians found hard to cope with. This, coupled with short passes over the line of scrimmage, netted first down after first down and two touchdowns. They lacked the punch to carry the ball across after staging these wonderful advances.

Cameron Makes Good

In the Generals' offense, Cameron made good the rep that he had made in previous games. He carried the ball across once and was the leading man in carrying it up to the goal line. He was head above the rest of the Virginians in their offensive.

Hamilton, Burke and Wilson showed plenty of speed and driving power. The kicking of Burke and his ability to pull in forward passes helped the Generals in many tight places. The Washington and Lee line must not be forgotten, for they opened up the holes for their backs to go through.

Shuford in Limelight

Walter Shuford was the outstanding star of the Wolfpack. He was the ram whereby State gained mostly through the Washington and Lee line. Johnson performed very ably as his running mate. Lassiter showed much cleverness in his forward passing and was able to gain through the line. State's line was much better in the offense than defense, but high above the rest on the defense stood Captain "Big Dick" Bostian, center. If there had been several more just like him there might have been a different story to tell.

How Scoring Was Done

Washington and Lee opened the game by wiping the Wolfpack off their feet in the first few minutes of playing by scoring a touchdown. Wilson carried the ball over, but Burke missed goal. Later in the quarter State started a march down the field, but Washington and Lee held and then kicked out of danger. The two elevens battled on even terms the rest of the first half.

In the third quarter the Generals marched down the field for their second touchdown. Line drives by Wilson and Hamilton and a pass, Wilson to Burke, were good for the touchdown. Burke added the extra point by place-kicking.

Receiving the ball, the Wolfpack started their first spectacular drive of the game, using forward passes and short line drives for a touchdown. Shuford was the star of this advance, and carried the ball over for the touchdown. Lassiter missed the try for extra point. The Generals came back in the fourth quarter and increased their lead by using line plunging and one forward pass, Wilson to Hamilton, which was good for a touchdown. Burke again added the extra point.

State ended the scoring a few minutes later by using the same tactics that scored their first touchdown. A pass, Lassiter to Johnson, was good for a touchdown. The game ended with the Generals again on a march towards State's goal line.

THE N. C. STATE COLLEGE TENNIS TOURNEY AT END

J. Matheson Winner, Defeating Shelor 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, in a Well Played Match

Darwin's theory of "the survival of the fittest" has never held truer than in the recent tennis tournament, when, out of the thirty aspirants who entered, only one remains undefeated. Admitting that the final match was not quite so gruesome as those engaged in by our prehistoric ancestors for similar distinctions, it was just as fiercely contested. Shelor, although not in his best form, made up for it by placing his shots in all parts of the court, and continually keeping his opponent on the run. Matheson, from beginning to end, played the offensive game and was never seriously in danger. However, the game was closer than the scores indicate.

Tennis heretofore at State has been more name than game. Today we have prospects of putting out one of the best teams in the State. Besides having the entire last year's team back this season, we have some brilliant new material. Their ability in wielding the racket has well been proven by the excellent showing made by them in the recent tournament. Only one member of the 1923 team reached the semi-finals, as compared with three new men.

Previously tennis has been conducted on a very unorganized basis, no coach, no money, no courts, no nothing. Now we are exceedingly fortunate in having as a coach Mr. A. S. Williams, who coached for two years at Georgetown University. Coach Williams not only can tell you how tennis should be played, but also can demonstrate to you the best way to play it. Coach has put out winning teams before, and he feels sure that with the proper support he can do likewise here.

Last year the few intercollegiate tournaments were financed by the students themselves. Now the Athletic Association, noting the interest shown by the students, and realizing that tennis affords wholesome exercise to as many students as any other branch of athletics, has appropriated enough money to enable the team to play tournaments with a number of colleges within the State.

To make a long story short, tennis, like all other branches of athletics at State College, has taken on new life and with the proper support the 1924 team will far surpass any previous teams in the history of State College.

A POOR EXCUSE

"Here," bawled the hotel watchman to a nightshirt-clad man who was pacing the corridor at 2 A.M., "what are you doing out of your room?"

The man opened his eyes and seemed to come out of a trance.

"I beg your pardon," he said. "I am a somnambulist."

"Well," roared the watchman,

"you can't walk around these halls in the middle of the night in your nightshirt, no matter what your religion is."—Union News.

They couldn't destroy the work he did

"The Republic has no need for savants," sneered a tool of Robespierre as he sent Lavoisier, founder of modern chemistry, to the guillotine. A century later the French Government collected all the scientific studies of this great citizen of Paris and published them, that the record of his researches might be preserved for all time.

Lavoisier showed the errors of the theory of phlogiston—that hypothetical, material substance which was believed to be an element of all combustible compounds and to produce fire when liberated. He proved fire to be the union of other elements with a gas which he named oxygen.

Lavoisier's work goes on. In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company the determination of the effects of atmospheric air on lamp filaments, on metals and on delicate instruments is possible because of the discoveries of Lavoisier and his contemporaries.

This is the mark of the General Electric Company, an organization of 100,000 men and women engaged in producing the tools by which electricity—man's great servant—is making the world a better place to live in.
