N. C. STATE NINE HAS A SUCCESSFUL TRIP THROUGH THE STATE

Davidson, Guilford and Elon Fall Before Our Team, Which Scores 30 Runs to Opponents' 5

The State College baseball nine completed a most successful trip through western North Carolina when they defeated Davidson, Guilford and Elon in a row. State scored a total of 30 runs during the three games, while their opponents were only able to get five between them. Davidson was defeated to the tune of 10 to 1, while Guilford and Elon went Davidson one better and scored two runs while State was scoring ten in each game.

Davidson Game

State opened the successful trip by completely swamping Davidson on Monday by the score of 10 to 1. With a shifted line-up State opened the game by getting next to Captain Boushee in the first inning. They never let up their attack during the whole nine innings of the game. While State was pounding Boushee all over the lot, McIver and Redfearn had Davidson eating out of their hands. McIver pitched shut-out ball for six innings and was then relieved by Sam Redfearn, who held Davidson at bay for the rest of the game. Davidson would not have scored but for a costly error behind Redfearn which was followed by two hits.

Simpson and S. Alford played the best game for Davidson, while the entire State team played well, but outstanding was the hitting of Lassiter, Correll and Shuford and the pitching of McIver and Redfearn.

Guilford Game

Going against the team that held them to a 2-to-0 score on Riddick Field and against the same pitcher who held them to five hits, State College pounded out fourteen hits for a total of ten runs, while Captain Allen kept them eating out of his hands for six innings and then turned the game over to Redfearn, who held Guilford to two runs during the remainder of the game. Errors again paved the way for Guilford's two runs. State opened their attack on Shore at the beginning and never let up during the entire fray. Brother was fighting brother. State's and Guilford's nines are both coached by the Doak brothers, and "Chick," with much the best team, defeated his brother, who was fighting for a victory.

The feature of the game was the hitting of Correll, Gladstone, Holland and Johnston and the pitching of Captain Allen.

Elon Game

State continued their triumphal tour of the State by trouncing Elon

Student Government Officers Are Installed

Farewell and Inaugural Addresses Feature the Occasion; Student Body Assembles for Installation

The new officers of the Student Government of N. C. State College were given the oath of office on April 17th at an assembly period called together by the President of the College, Dr. E. C. Brooks. As a part of the program of the morning the Band, under the capable direction of Captain Price, was on hand and did their usual stunt in their usual fine way.

The exercises were under the direction of the Student Government officers for this year. Mr. J. B. Crater, vice president of the Student Government, acted as chairman of the meeting. After the devotional exercises, led by P. T. Dixon, president of the Y. M. C. A., Dean E. L. Cloyd delivered the address of the morning, which is given in full in another part of this issue.

Ex-President P. C. Beatty made a brief talk, in which he thanked the Student Council for the support that they had given, the faculty for their co-operation, and the student body for their help in making Student Government the success that it has been this year. "For Student Government to be a success," said Beatty, "every student must have an earnest desire for Student Government and the administration of the College must co-operate with the students." In speaking further he remarked that "Student Government depends on the integrity of the individual student. Men not willing to co-operate and work with the constituted authority would do the greatest good by getting out of the College at the earliest possible moment."

The incoming president, Mr. C. R. Hoey, complimented the old officers on their successful year at the wheel of the ship and pointed out the improved conditions on the campus that have resulted from the successful working of Student Government. Hoey set forth his intention to carry out all the rules and regulations of Student Government, and solicited the aid of the students in securing the desired end.

The oath of office was administered to the new officers and the new Student Council while the student body stood as an expression of their promised support.

N. C. STATE DEFEATS DAVIDSON--12 INNINGS

Game a Thriller Throughout; Davidson Comes From Behind to Tie Score in the Ninth

Davidson and State battled for 12 innings on Riddick Field before State was able to obtain a 2 to 1 victory. The game was the most exciting seen on Riddick Field in a number of years.

State had the game won except for three outs in the ninth, when Davidson by straight baseball tied the score, when a pinch hitter connected with a man on second. State came right back in the ninth and seemingly had the game won, when Al. Johnson hit one far into left field with Shuford on second base. But the game was not won, as Davidson's right fielder, Vance, made one of the most sensational catches that has been seen here in a number of years, thereby robbing Johnson of a home run.

In the eleventh, Davidson drew new life when an error put a man on second with nobody down. Two sacrifices and he was out on a very close play at the plate.

SENIOR CLASS GIVES TO MEMORIAL FUND

Determined That the Sacrifices of the World War Shall Not Be Forgotten

The present Senior Class, in a regular meeting last week decided to give the sum of five hundred dollars to the Memorial Tower Fund of the College. The letter to the committee reads as follows:

Raleigh, N. C., April 12, 1924.

Professor C. L. Mann,
Chairman of the Memorial Fund,
N. C. State College,
Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Sir:—Whereas, the Class of 1924 wishes to leave some kind of monument to its memory on the campus of our dearly beloved Alma Mater, we have, as a class, at a regular meeting on April 11, 1924, so expressed our desire that the sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00), now on deposit with the Bursar of the College in the name of the Class of 1924, be applied to the building of

STATE DOWNS WAKE FOREST IN EASTER MONDAY CLASSIC 4-1

Capt. Jim Allen Hero of Game; State Outplays Rivals in Every Department; 6,000 See Exhibition

Before the largest crowd ever assembled on Riddick Field to witness a baseball game, North Carolina State College defeated her ancient rival by the score of 4 to 1. State started hitting the ball from the start and it was only luck that she did not score more runs.

State drew blood just when Holland walked to start the second and Gilbert sacrificed. Holland decides to take two bases on it, but instead got three, and Martin threw to third to catch him when there was no Wake Forest man present to take the throw. Wake Forest's lone tally came in the sixth, when Martin opened with his second double and two sacrifices put him across. Once before when he doubled he was caught asleep on second and put out.

The sixth was State's big inning. Holland opened with a triple across the race track. Stany was jerked for Jones, but it was too late. Gilbert greeted him with a single, scoring Holland. Captain Allen laid down a bunt and beat it out. Cowell sacrificed Gilbert and Allen one base. Gladstone slapped a single down the first base line and two more runs were on the right side for State. This ended the scoring, but not the hitting, for State kept on hitting, but lacked the necessary punch to put across any more runs.

Honor and glory belong to Captain Jim Allen, who hurled a wonderful game and kept the Wake Forest batters popping up. It was the best game of his college career. For six innings there was not a single runner left on base, not a single man was walked during the entire game. Only four Wake Forest batters were able to connect safely during the nine innings, one of these being caught off base, one scoring and the other two being left stranded there. Of the four hits obtained by Wake Forest, three were double, but only one counted in the scoring. Wake Forest was at the mercy of Allen during the whole contest.

Gladstone was the big man at the bat for State, getting three singles in four times up. Martin had the hitting for Wake Forest, getting two doubles in three trips to the plate.

Al Johnston, of State, and Edwards, of Wake Forest, contributed the fielding features of the game by racing over the entire outfield to make brilliant catches.

The best team won the game. State had the edge in every department of the game. They outhit, outfielded, and outplayed Wake Forest for nine whole innings. State's pitcher held Wake Forest to four hits while ten

Editorials

In the spring, as the State boys say, the young man's fancy turns to trouser bottoms of 22 inches.

A spry young maiden asked a State "Cake" at the game Monday what ship he was from. His answer came spontaneously, "Ship Ahoy!"

Wonder what the Sailor Lads are thinking about the infringement on their rights to wear bell-bottomed trousers. It has been rumored that patents have been denied the gobs.

State College is right there in the running for State championship in baseball this season. Let us all support that team and help it win this championship that it deserves with the class of ball that they play and the personnel of the team.

We hope that you all had a very enjoyable vacation. The old campus looked rather bare with so many of the fellows away, but those that were here made the most of the opportunities and put in some good sleep, and some others even got industrious and worked on their class delinquencies or other important matters.

The next few issues of THE TECHNICIAN will be handled by the new staff. The next editorials will bear the stamp of Wallis, and the other sections and parts of the paper will also change hands. So, in parting, with this week's paper, we wish to say a formal GOOD-BYE. It has been a great deal of pleasure to write for this column from week to week, and it has been a source of great help to think along the lines of campus interest. We hope that you will like the new slant that will be in evidence from now on, and that you will give every possible support to the new staff of your college paper.

Ambition is life's greatest highway that points to the stars—it is lighted by the rays of hope that spring from the heart of man and paved with beads of sweat that fall from his brow. Few of us are fortunate enough to reach the heights for which we strive, but we gain all we get from the strain and sweat—and the struggle is always worth while.

The local chapter of the Pi Kappa Alpha is to be congratulated on the dance that they sponsored Easter Monday evening. The Dining Hall was very attractively decorated and the whole affair carried out with the best of management. Good conduct was observed throughout and the dance was very well planned and executed.

Our Managing Editor returned from the Easter holidays with a sad look in his eyes! We asked him if he had gotten married, and he answered, "No, but it was not my fault." We reminded him that he had lots of time and that his next attempt would perhaps be more fruitful. He accepted the soothing syrup and, as you see, he is back in the harness.

The present Senior Class is to be complimented for the action that they recently took with reference to the memorial that they wish to leave to the college. The class as a whole decided to give $500 to the Memorial Tower Fund. It is fitting that they should do this; the tower is being constructed by subscriptions from alumni and students of the college as a lasting memory to the State College Men Who Died in the World War. In a recent editorial of one of the leading New York papers it was said that the people of the United States were inclined to too soon forget what took place on the fields of France and were wont to forget the sacrifices of our boys who lay in Flanders' Fields. Let it never be said of the people of North Carolina that we have forgotten! What our boys have done will live forever in the hearts of our people, and North Carolina is proud of all that her sons have done. It is well then that the Senior Class has acted so wisely as to contribute to this tower that will mark for many centuries the appreciation of the State College men for those fellow students that gave their all for the safeguarding of the principles of democracy.

It is hoped that every man as he leaves college will make another contribution to the Memorial Tower Fund. Let's finish this thing as soon as possible and let the rest of the world see that we have not forgotten and that we do not intend to forget. The action of the Class of 1924 should be worthy of the consideration of the other classes now in college when they look about for a place to invest their money as a memorial to their Alma Mater.

BLUE RIDGE SWIMMING POOL

LIKE SWIMMING?—LET'S GO TO BLUE RIDGE!

The splendid big pool at Blue Ridge is waiting for you and will be still there when you get there in June. There's nothing like a plunge early in the morning to wake you up and start you right for the day's work, and the pool at Blue Ridge can't be beat. When it comes to size, there's plenty of room for everyone, and the springboards are the best yet. Every year, along with the rest of the athletic contests, a swimming meet is held, and this year N. C. State is hoping to win the swimming banner along with several others. You ought to be there when State comes out on top.

And swimming isn't all. Some fine speakers will be there to tell you about the things that you have been trying to think out alone all winter. They'll help you to solve those problems and set you on the right line of thought. We ought to be especially interested because some of these speakers are to come from our own campus. Dr. J. A. Ellis, of Pullen Memorial Church, will be there to speak to us and help us in our work. Other speakers who will be there are: Dr. Henry H. Sweets, of the Presbyterian Church; Dr. O. E. Brown, of the Vanderbilt School of Religion; Prof. G. W. Carver, of Tuskegee Institute, and Dr. C. G. Hounshell, of the Methodist Church. —Br. '25.

Robeson County Club Elects Officers for the Ensuing Year

The Robeson County Club held its annual spring election meeting Monday evening, April 14. The meeting was called by the president, Mr. J. M. McGougan, and was one of the most interesting meetings of the year, in spite of the fact that several members were absent. After short discussions of a few matters of minor importance to the club, the president called for the nomination of president for next year. The officers elected were L. E. Cook, president; B. C. Steed, vice president; and W. E. Lewis, secretary-treasurer. It was voted by the club to wait until next fall to elect the remaining officers so as to be sure of them being back.

The Robeson County Club is one of the largest and most active of the county clubs on the campus, and has just passed a most successful year under the leadership of Mr. McGougan, who leaves us with the hope that we will have even a more successful year during 1924-25. Fellows, let's bring a large number of freshmen from Robeson next year and show State College what Robeson County can do.

FAITH AND SCIENCE

There were eighty-two people present to hear the first of two talks on Faith and Science given by Mr. Gilbert T. Stephenson in Pullen Memorial Student Sunday School Class. Mr. Stephenson is taking this subject with three sub-heads.

1. Attitude of Science toward Christianity.
2. Contribution of Science to Christianity.
3. Attitude of Christianity toward Science.

Only the first subhead was covered by the first talk. The other two will be taken next Sunday, April 27.

Though primarily a business man, Mr. Stephenson has kept in exceptionally close touch with religious and scientific development. He has gathered interesting material from both fields to serve as a foundation and proof of what he says. It is not his purpose to overestimate the one or underestimate the other, but to evaluate each as they go to make up the complete life of man.

The officers of State College Bible Class of Pullen Memorial feel justified in urging every student of State College not affiliated with other classes meeting at 9:30 a. m. to take advantage of hearing this vital and interesting talk next Sunday morning.

Ima: "I understand your son is very much inclined toward study."

Lyre: "Yes, he inclined so much he slid to the bottom of his class."—Ex.

The Future N. C. State College

North Carolina State College has a large and specific division of the State's labor to perform. It is supported by the State of North Carolina through a tax upon her people because the citizens of the State want the job done which the College alone is equipped to do. It is the duty and desire of the College to serve to its fullest capacity the economic and social life of the State. In order to do so it has assumed three great tasks. First, to discover by most careful and detailed study the agricultural and industrial potentialities of the State. Second, to teach the facts which it discovers through this research, and from all other sources, to all citizens of the State who come to its campus for resident instruction. Third, through extension teaching and demonstration, to relay out to the whole State the facts and knowledge which it discovers by research and which it is systematically teaching to its resident students.

In 1920 North Carolina had 895,852 persons over ten years of age engaged in gainful occupations. Of these 690,698 were engaged in agriculture, manufacturing and mining; and an additional 89,232 were engaged in the businesses of trade and transportation. That is, 92.1 per cent of all the persons over ten years of age gainfully employed in the State of North Carolina were engaged in professions and occupations for which North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering train men; 57.3 per cent of them were engaged in agriculture; and 23.7 of them were engaged in manufacturing.

The professions and occupations mentioned above are not simple; they are complex. In fact, each of them includes a number of vocations, professions and occupations for which men must be specifically trained. The College is prepared to train men for these professions.

Watch State College Grow!

With the building program which is under way at State College, we are going to have a well equipped school here next year. The gymnasium, library, new dormitory, and power plant which will all be under construction as soon as the work on the power plant is begun, are very needful here now, but are almost a realization. This means that we are going to have the equipment materially. And with our Physical Education Department added to the many other departments, we are not going to lack the equipment for instruction. The next thing to get is the students.

This task of getting the students lies on the shoulders of every man in State College. Probably all of us know some men who should be in college, or are going to college next fall, but have not decided where to go. There is where our work comes in. We must sell this school to these men.

When we are at home this summer let's all try to find some one to bring along next fall. Show to the fellows at home that State College is what we believe it to be—the best school of its kind in the South. Get the undecided fellow to see what is in store for him here by showing him that State College men do things, and that it has the biggest future of any college in the State. If he wants agriculture, boost our agricultural school. If he wants engineering, show him that our textile school is the best in the country, that our electrical, civil and mechanical engineering schools far surpass any others in the State. Be a salesman for State College.

We want to see our school leading in athletics, enrollment, and scholarship. It is up to us to make it such. Let us not be found wanting.

TRINITY DEFEATS STATE BY THE SCORE OF 7 TO 4

Captains Allen and Sanderson Chased to the Showers; State's Rally in Seventh Comes Too Late

State College was defeated by the Trinity nine in the first important game bearing on the State championship. Two pitchers were used by each team. Captain Allen started for State, but had to be relieved by Hill in the fourth frame. While Captain Sanderson was driven from the box in the seventh frame and relieved by Dempster.

Trinity started the scoring in the opening frame when Smith opened with a hit, was sacrificed to second by Towe, was put on third by Gilbert's error of Turner's grounder, and both scored on a double by Spikes. Spikes then scored on a hit by Johnson. In the third frame Sanderson tripled and scored on a double by Dempster.

State was unable to hit Sanderson until the seventh inning, when they hopped on him for four hits and four runs and drove Sanderson to the outfield. "Dutch" Holland opened up the fireworks with a single which was followed by Gilbert's single. Hill was out on a foul tip to catcher. C. Shuford hit for two bases, scoring Holland. Gladstone was out on a foul tip to catcher. Towe errored Correll's grounder, Gilbert and C. Shuford scoring. Johnson's double scored Correll with the tying run. Scoring was further prevented when Dempster was rushed to the rescue, with Johnson on second and W. Shuford hitting. He was an easy out.

Trinity came back and scored three runs on three hits, an error and a wild pitch. English got a hit, Smith was walked, Towe sacrificed, Turner was walked, but Spikes came through with his fourth hit and this, coupled with an error and wild pitch, gave Trinity victory. State was unable to solve the curves of Dempster for the rest of the game.

Turner, the Methodist shortstop, was the fielding star for his team. Twice he jumped into the air and robbed State batters of hits. Spikes did the dirty work with the stick, getting two doubles and two singles out of four trips to the bat. He drove in all of his team's runs except two, one of which he scored himself. "Red" Johnson continued his heavy hitting for State by getting a double, single and sacrifice in four trips to the plate. Gladstone accepted six chances at second without the least sign of an error.

Dean Cloyd's Address At Installation of Student Government Officers

By Dr. E. L. CLOYD, Dean of Students
(Editor's Note—This is a report of Dean Cloyd's address at the installation of the new Student Government officers.)

Young candidates' first campaign and very first speech. Much encouraged by hearty welcome of local committee and by elaborate preparations for meeting. Band to play before the speech.

At last the chairman came forward
and addressed the crowd as follows:

"Fellow citizens, we have with us today young men destined to take high place in the ranks of our beloved party. He comes to tell us of the burning issues that confront us, and his fame as an orator has, of course, preceded him. He will now address you, and when he has finished, the band
will call you together again."

John R. Mott, in his address at the Indianapolis convention, said:

"If I were to try to characterize this generation, I would say that it has traits which give ample ground for the prophecy that the members of this convention can and should achieve results which will surpass those accomplished by our predecessors. The generation represented here are dissatisfied with the past, and they certainly have a right to be. They are very much dissatisfied also with the present, and again I say they have a right to be. They are keenly critical. What have they not criticized? How much better this is, however, than the apathy, indifference and inertia which have characterized far too many in the past. The present generation is the most alert and inquiring generation that the world has ever known.
They are asking leading questions and they are determined to have satisfying answers. They hate sham and hypocrisy with bitter hatred, but are cour-ageously responsive to the note of reality wherever they find it. Surging in their minds and hearts are tides of new thought and social passion; where may not these tides bear them if but controlled by the living Christ and His unselfish representation?"

One way in which this alertness and this inquiringness shows itself is in the desire on the part of students
everywhere to share the responsibility in the government of the college community of which they are a part. Students are taking an active interest in education itself and college officials and faculties are recognizing this interest. The president of Dartmouth has just recently appointed a student committee to help advise on new educational methods. Student papers are discussing the real problems of the college as a whole. There is also an increased interest among students in keeping themselves in touch with leaders of the "outside world" as is shown by the organization of every conceivable kind of club. International relations clubs, polity clubs, forums, discussion groups, etc. All over the country college students are gathering in conferences to discuss questions relating to education such as the recent Yale conference of "Activities," the Federation of Southern College Students discussing such questions as publications, student government, athletic-ics, etc. All these are signs of a quickened sense of responsibility on the part of students of today.

Now, to come back to our own local campus, we are now in the third year
of active student government at State

College, and in my opinion these have been three years of progress. To be sure, we have not reached perfection,
but we have accomplished many things that are worth while. There is far better order in and around our dormitories than used to exist. There is a better understanding between students and faculty, and there is a growing consciousness that I, as a student, have a direct responsibility as a citizen of this community.

But we have many things before us.
We need to take more pride in our dress and general appearance. We need to take more pride in the way in which we keep our rooms. We need to co-operate in the beautifying of our campus. We need to be willing to de-vot our time and our capacity to the problems of government on our own campus. We need to attend all meetings which are called for the discussion of problems which affect our life
in this community.

Now, just a word to the members of the faculty. Student government can never reach its greatest success
without your whole-souled co-operation. The instructional side is a vital part of the college life. As Dean Royster said a short time ago: "We cannot avoid in our instruction the reality of the life about us." We must have your sympathetic co-operation if our community life is to improve. We appreciate the valuable contribution you are making in training us to think along certain lines, but that is not enough.
You must not only passively agree that student government is good in theory, but you must help actively in working out the problems which exist on our campus.

In conclusion, gentlemen, our president with the aid of the deans of our school, has reorganized our curricula in such a way as to present to the people of the State the definite aim of each department. Our landscape architect has worked out a definite plan for the development and beautifying of our campus so that our future growth will be planned ahead. It now remains for us, students and faculty, to work together in the closest co-operation in working out a system of government here which will not only assure us good government here, but which will give us that training which will enable us to fit into the life of the communities into which we go and make our lives of the greatest service to God and to our fellow man.

Observations and Communications of Zippy Mack

Rexall (Rick's Hall) answers Number Forty-six and a Half: Why do college boys wear sideburns? That's easy. So they can shave without taking off their specks.

The Easter holidays which have just come to an end remind the old fellows that these student days are not so bad, after all, as holidays are not usually found out in the cold, cold world. It is good to see the fellows back again, ready to start on the last lap of the school year.

"Dick" Kirkpatrick, former football star, was seen around last week-end. "Dick" is now athletic director for Charlotte High School, where he has turned out some championship teams.

Mr. D. M. Farmer, of the Vocational Class of '22, was around the campus the other day.

Among the old men attending the Wake Forest game Monday were Messrs. Raper, Kelly and Tatum, all of whom are '23 Vocational men. There were a good many others, but we just failed to check them in. Wasn't the game fine?

We regret very much to hear of the death of Alexander Caswell Hamrick, of Asheville. Hamrick was a Mechanical Engineering graduate of the class of '22, and was extremely popular here on the campus, holding several important places in student organizations, among which was the captaincy of Company "A." He had been in failing health almost continuously since his graduation.

P. S.—We couldn't arrange to say anything last week, but we notice that the printer was kind enough to put Joe Johnson's social dope under our heading. That was fine.

to the tune of 10 to 2. Johnnie Hill worked out a wonderful game for State after the first inning, when three hits netted Elon two runs. After that he had them eating out of his hand and only giving up three hits for the remainder of the game.

State again opened up their attack in the first, and pounded R. Brown for fourteen hits, six of which went for extra bases. Every man of the State team connected at least one time.

The features of the game were the hitting of the entire State team, who were led by Correll, Gladstone, C. Shuford and Hill, and the pitching of Hill.

game for 11 innings, weakened in the twelfth, and three singles filled the bases. Red Lassiter hit one where nobody was and the game was won.

The pitching of Laird and Allen, who relieved Hill in the fourth, along with Vance's stellar catch, were the features of the game. Both clubs played well, considering the condition of the field and weather.

THE MEANING OF EASTER

We have just concluded a series of holidays known as Easter Holidays. It is likely that but very few of us have stopped as much as once to recall or consider the reason for Easter. Our scientific studies train us to look for a cause for every effect or result. Would it not be of interest and value to look into the cause for Easter holidays, since they are so universally accepted and enjoyed?

The word goes back to a far distant past, being derived from the Greek word meaning East, the source of the rising sun and the new day. From this origin also came the name of the goddess "Eastre," who was goddess of the spring, since spring represented new life and activity of all nature. In other words, spring was the rising sun, and a new day for nature and so the name of the god or goddess of spring was logically named according to the source of power.

It is an interesting coincidence that the death and resurrection of Christ should have taken place at just the time of year when all nature was being resurrected by the supposed power of "Eastre." With this rising of a sun in another realm and the coming of a new day in spiritual experience, the word "Easter" was shifted into a newer and bigger meaning. At this time of the world's history the Jewish lunar month was the basis of the year. The Sunday of the resurrection was the fourteenth day of the first lunar month of the year. When this is translated into our present calendar, it becomes the first Sunday after the full moon, which fell on the 21st of March, or within the following 28 days. This accounts for the varying dates of Easter.

This great event brought into being new customs as well as giving new meaning to many already in existence. These influences have lasted throughout the centuries to the present time; coming to us in the form of a holiday from school, special music and services in the churches. The exchange of flowers and Easter cards, Easter egg hunts and rabbits. All these point back to the great dawn of a new day ushered in by the rising of a new sun in the spiritual life of man. The egg for many years before the resurrection of Jesus had been the symbol of resurrection, presumably because it had the power to create and bring forth life. It was natural, therefore, that the egg should be used with the same but greater meaning in connection with Easter, to represent the new life of Christ.

The Resurrection of Jesus naturally brought joy and gladness to those of His followers, and as the meaning of it became more understood the joy of the occasion became all the more magnified. It was the practice of the clergy of the early church to present in more or less dramatic way and by the use of music the great events on which their teaching tended toward a more or less hilarious or humorous type of service to celebrate Easter. It is said that in some cases even jokes would be told to create laughter. With this extreme abuse of the real purpose and meaning of Easter, a reaction was set up and dramatic performances for any purpose or event was not tolerated by the church. The music, however, did not receive such complete excision from their services.

There is one outstanding surviving achievement of this original religious dramatic impulse, which has neither suffered at the hands of human irreverence and depravity nor been swallowed up by the magnitude of modern dramatics. It is the "Passion Play" of Oberammergau. Space does not permit a detailed description. In brief, it is a play re-enacting the Trial, Death and Resurrection of Jesus according to the knowledge of these events gained from the Bible and other sources of history. The language and scenery follows closely that found in the Gospel of St. Matthew. While this play grew out of the original practice of dramatizing Biblical events, it took final form in the year of 1632, when the inhabitants of the little town of Oberammergau, in order to avoid the black plague, made a vow to give this play every ten years thereafter. The plague was stopped and in 1634 the first play was given. They have not missed yet their decennial performance and now thousands of people from all over the world make a pilgrimage to see this play. Its last performance was in 1922, being postponed on account of conditions in Europe. The next is being planned for 1930.

With these present-day manifestations of this great event in human history, are we not responsible to give thought, study, reverence and worship to the Christ whose Resurrection we recognize and celebrate by Easter Holidays. R. M. W.

PI KAPPA ALPHA DANCE

The most delightful social event of the holidays was the annual Easter dance, given by the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity Monday night from 9 till 2. The dance was held in the spacious dining hall; and music was furnished by the Phil Henry Orchestra, of Greensboro.

The dining hall was beautifully decorated with garnet and gold streamers hanging from the ceiling, while the walls were adorned by a banner and coat-of-arms of the respective Greek letter fraternities represented at State College.

Several dances were reserved for the hosts, and with the lights dimmed they danced beautifully to "The Dream Girl of Pi K. A." Shortly after intermission favors were given out and the grand march, led by Judy Chamberlain and Miss Elizabeth Dunn, of Kinston, was started. With streamers and confetti flying and horns and whistles blowing, the beautiful march played around the hall and gave the dance lovers a thrill that they shall not soon forget.

The dance was attended by State College fraternity men, members of the German Club, and friends of the hosts from Carolina, Wake Forest and Trinity.

The following members of the Alpha Epsilon Chapter are due the credit for the brilliant success of the dance: Judy Chamberlain, Aaron Quinn, Buck Puckett, Bill Bogart, Red Smith, Jake Geitner, Lloyd H. Cook, Henry Kendall, Buck Jones, Fred and Randolph Logan, Sam Pierson, Red McBrayer, M. C. Comer, C. A. Femster, Jim Roland, and Paul Dixon.

Smook Nowel, Dunk DeVane, Bob Sloan, Eddy Ruffy, and Nick Carter motored to Henderson Tuesday night to attend the Cotillon Club dance.

Bill Carroll, former student of this college, is now in Manchester, England.
