WOLFPACK READY FOR CAROLINA; BOTH ELEVENS IN GOOD CONDITION

STATE VICTOR IN HARD-FOUGHT CONTEST WITH THE GAMECOCKS

Fifth Meeting of Two Teams; A Hard-Fought Battle Due and Expected; Record Crowd Will Witness Fair Week Game; State College Spirit Has Returned.

Thursday, October 18, N. C. State and Carolina will meet for the fifth time in what is most likely to be the game which is to decide the State championship of North Carolina for 1923. They have met during the past four years here on Riddick Field to decide the championship of North Carolina. Both teams have twice been declared winners. Carolina won the game in 1919 by the score of 13 to 12. State won in 1920 and 1921 by the scores of 13 to 3 and 7 to 0, respectively. Carolina won in 1922 by the score of 14 to 9. By these scores it goes to show that each year a hard-fought game has been played and that the two elevens have been evenly matched. A victory for either team this year will mean a great deal for them, as it will give them a margin of one game over their opponents. Each team is going to put everything they have in this game, but we feel sure that the Wolfpack will come through this year with flying colors.

The Wolfpack

The Wolfpack has gone through three games so far and have won honors in all of them. Roanoke and the University of South Carolina have been defeated and Penn State held to the smallest score this school

REPRESENTATIVE SENT TO NATIONAL MEETING

W. S. Morris Chosen as Delegate to the Fall Convention of the A.S.C.E. in Richmond

At the meeting of the Student Branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers held last week, it was decided to send a local representative to the meeting of the national organization, which is to be held in Richmond from the 17th to the 20th. Mr. W. S. Morris, a Senior in Highway

Front row, left to right: C. W. Tilson, Mars Hill; R. H. Scott, Haw River; and P. T. Dixon, New Bern.

Competing against similar teams from South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama at the Southeastern Fair in Atlanta, the Tech team won first place as a team and took two silver loving cups and two cash prizes in individual scoring.

N. C. STATE COLLEGE LIVESTOCK JUDGING TEAM WINS AT THE SOUTHEASTERN FAIR

The livestock-judging team, representing North Carolina State College, won highest honors in the collegiate livestock-judging contest held in connection with the Southeastern Fair at Atlanta, Ga.

The North Carolina team consisted of P. T. Dixon, New Bern; R. H. Scott, Haw River, and C. W. Tilson, Mars Hill. Mr. J. A. Smithwick, of Manson, was an alternate. The team was coached by Professor Fred M. Haig, of the Animal Husbandry Department.

This contest is the largest of its kind in the South. Teams of students from various agricultural colleges of the southeastern states are entered. Competition for places on the judging team is very keen at all the agricultural colleges. The team is finally picked from animal husbandry students who have shown greatest proficiency in their work previous to the contest.

In this particular contest the students were required to judge ten rings of livestock, placing the animals and later giving oral reasons. Therefore, the student must not only know how to place the different animals, but must also be able to tell the official judge his reasons for each placing. There were five rings of dairy cattle, three rings of hogs and two rings of beef cattle. Four colleges took part in the contest and their standing is as follows:

North Carolina State College, first, with a total score, 4,014.

South Carolina Agricultural College, second; with a total score, 3,905.

Charlie Shuford Intercepted the Ball and Scored Lone Touchdown of Game; South Carolina Has a Strong Defensive Team: Aerial Attack Used by Both Elevens.

The Wolfpack received and took advantage of its breaks and won a hard-fought battle from the South Carolina Gamecocks by the small score of 7 to 0. The Wolfpack had the greater power of offense, but the defensive work of the South Carolinians held the Wolfpack in check. State also presented a well balanced defensive team, not a single first down being made through our line, and only one around our ends. Charlie Shuford gave us the victory by snatching the ball out of the air and racing half the length of the field for our touchdown.

South Carolina kicked off and from then on the game was fought between the two forty-yard lines. The Wolfpack gained more ground than did their opponents. We made eight first downs to their three. Our best offensive work was done during the first quarter, when we made four first downs. State was held for downs in the first part of the game and punted. Wheeler of South Carolina was soon called upon to do likewise. State gained possession of the ball on her own twenty-yard line. The Wolfpack started what looked like a victorious march up the field, but after making two first downs they were forced to punt on the fourth

NAMES FOR OUR DORMITORIES

The Pine Burr Society has undertaken to secure suitable names for our dormitories, so The Technician gratefully concedes this to them. The Pine Burr Society is strictly a North Carolina State College organization, and we feel sure that our dormitories will be satisfactorily named. We offer our assistance in every way.

THE MILITARY OFFICERS

Word has been received from Colonel Gregory's office that the officers for the R.O.T.C. unit have been chosen. There has been much speculation on the campus as to who would be Lieutenant-Colonel of the Regiment. Our good friend, P. B. Little, has been selected to fill this important office, and we feel sure that "P. B." will fill the position in a creditable manner.

WOULD YOU LIKE MORE JOKES?

In this issue we are running two columns which were a feature during a large part of last year. These are "As It Is" and "Tit Bits and Random Wits," both of which are prepared by our associate editor. He says he is willing to contribute these columns as often as there is space for them if they are liked well enough by the students. The associate editor says what he would like better is to make a column of original jokes and sayings collected from the campus. If the fellows who know some of the good jokes and campus sayings will co-operate by writing these down and dropping them in The Technician office or in the box at the door of the Dining Hall, we can have a real Campus Saying column. We trust we are not making a joke of The Technician, and certainly we do not propose to make The Technician of jokes. But "a little foolishness now and then is relished by the wisest of men."

THE FLAT-RATE LAUNDRY PROPOSITION

In reply to an invitation extended through this column for discussion on the proposed flat rate for our laundry, the following letters have been received:

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 13, 1923.

To the Editor Technician:

Dear Sir:—In regard to the flat-rate laundry system, we could not take a better step, as the actual cost to me is $1.50 per week. If we were on the proposed system it could not be over 50 cents.

This not only applies to me, but to the majority of the other students. I spent two years at Davidson College and have seen the proposed system work to perfection.

Hoping the Student Government will pass this system. W. H. BOGART.

Editor Technician:

What has become of the proposed flat-rate laundry system which was under discussion a few weeks ago? If we intend to have it in force next spring, it should be definitely settled now, in order that the necessary arrangements may be made.

A flat rate should be beneficial to the students of State College as a whole. There is no doubt but what such a rate would save money for the students. As I understand it, a committee composed of students will act as a board of arbitration to settle claims and disputes, and their decision will be final. In order that it might be binding on both sides, the laundry was to furnish bond that they would abide by the decisions of the committee.

Under such arrangements, the students would be assured of fair service. The question should be definitely decided upon. A. W. GREEN, Jr.

Raleigh, N. C., October 13, 1923.

Mr. W. S. Morris, Editor-in-Chief, The Technician,
State College, State College Station, N. C.

Dear Mr. Editor:—I am fortunate in the fact that I have just read a copy of your wonderful college paper, The Technician—I want to congratulate you and your efficient staff on getting out such a good paper—it is not only a credit to yourselves, but to your College, and to your good State which your College so ably represents.

I have just read your editorial on "What Has Happened to Our Flat-rate Laundry Proposition?"—and I note with pleasure that you ask that any member of State College alumni voice their opinion in this matter.

As a member of State College alumni, and as the newly elected President of the Wake County Chapter of State College Alumni, I am interested in State College, and want to see our College in the very front rank, where it rightfully belongs. Without a doubt we have the best and the biggest man for a College President in the South, and my prediction is that if the student body, the faculty and we alumni will co-operate with Dr. Brooks and meet him half way, he will make it the largest, the best, and the most heard of College south of the Mason and Dixon line.

I am particularly interested in the laundry proposition, and for two years have advocated the fact that with a well equipped laundry already on our campus it should be required that all students have their washing done at this laundry, providing, of course, that a flat rate could be established whereby the students of State College could get their washing done at a reasonable and fair price. I made investigations as to flat-rate prices charged for washing at the University of North Carolina and at Meredith College, and I found that at the University the boys pay a flat rate of $25 per year and at Meredith College they pay a flat-rate of $10 per year—just for flat work—with a limit to pieces to be washed per month. After making the above investigation, I went to Mr. Cullins—who now operates the College laundry—and talked the matter over with him, and while he admitted that he believed the flat-rate proposition would cost him money, he was willing to try it out, and I understand since that Mr. Cullins has made the student body a proposition to do each student's washing—without limit to pieces—at a flat rate of $13 per year—which rate, to me, seems mighty reasonable.

I think the most progressive step the College student body could take at this time would be to insist that all washing of the students be done at the laundry on the campus, providing, of course, the flat rate can be established, and I give as my reasons for so thinking as follows:

1st. State College is now the home of 1,300 of the best boys within the borders of our State, and they should have the very best to be had.

2d. The most essential thing to a student is his health—the foundation of health is "sanitation"—washerwomen are not sanitary—a steam laundry is sanitary.

3d. North Carolina boasts of the fact, and has proven, that she has the best State Board of Health in the United States, and I am willing to wager that the North Carolina Board of Health would not endorse washerwomen for North Carolina State College students.

Here is hoping that the student body, which started the laundry flat-rate proposition, will pick it up with renewed energy and at an early date will make a contract with the laundry, thereby taking one of the most progressive and important steps of their student life.

Thanking you in advance for your kind indulgence, and with best wishes for your continued success in the good work which you are doing, I beg to remain, always,
For State College,

JOHN S. McDONALD, Class of '03.

WOLFPACK READY FOR CAROLINA BOTH ELEVEN IN GOOD CONDITION

has ever held them. This shows we have one of the best balanced teams this school has ever presented. The spirit of every player on the squad is fine, and a team with good spirit is hard to beat, and the Wolfpack, besides having fine spirit, must blot out the defeat of last year and give us a one-game advantage. Every man on the squad is in good condition, although two of our stars were kept out of Saturday's game against South Carolina, but this was only so that they would be in the very best of condition for the Fair Week game. These two men were both anxious to get in the game, but Coach Hartsell thought it best to keep them out, so as not to take any chances of them hurting their wounds which they received in the game against Penn State. "Dutch" Holland, who has been out of the line-up most of the season because of injuries, will be able to get back into the game by Thursday. There are a number of other men who have been out for like reasons who are ready to show their stuff when called upon. The Wolfpack is ready and waiting for Carolina. They are going to give us everything they have, and it is up to us to give them everything we have in return for it. It's our team that is playing—let's get behind it and help them play the game!

Carolina

Carolina has been saving her men for this game, so it can be expected that every one of them are in the best of condition. Their first team has played only two games, while the Wolfpack has played three—that gives us at least a little more experience for this season. Carolina has suffered a great deal from injuries and other things, but still they have a good team that is going to work hard for that game. Carolina will bring their student body over for the game, which shows that they have confidence and are backing their team. On paper the two elevens are about evenly matched.

"Captains"

"Big Dick" Bostian will lead the Wolfpack into the fray, while "Casey" Morris is the man whom Carolina has chosen to lead them. "Big Dick" is finishing his third year at center for State. He has all the qualities that are necessary of a good and dependable center. He is a man well fitted for the captaincy of a team like State now has. He is giving us everything he has, and, with everybody working as hard as he will, there is no doubt but that he will lead his team to victory.

"Casey" Morris will lead his team against the Wolfpack. He is rounding out his fourth year at end on the Carolina eleven, and is considered one of the best ends the State has turned out in a long time. He will be working hard to lead his team to victory.

The winner of this game must get the breaks, and we are looking for the Wolfpack to get these breaks, either by faults of Carolina or by superior playing, and the Wolfpack is sure to take every advantage or break that is given them. A victory for the Wolfpack can be predicted.

Record Crowd Expected

The Athletic Committee has done everything so as to try and seat the great crowd that is expected to be here for that game. Permanent bleachers have been erected on the east side of the field. In every available place bleachers will be erected, so that we can accommodate the many people who will be here to support their teams. Last year the largest crowd ever assembled here for an athletic event were packed in every place possible. This year a still greater crowd is expected, and every means is being used whereby they will be able to get a seat. State College, or people who believe in State College, will be located on the west side of the field, while the east side is being left for Carolina supporters. The seats are being reserved so that people who want to and know they are going to see the game will not have to rush out early, but are sure they will have a seat when they get here. Be here and support your team.

State College Spirit

The true spirit of State College has or is gradually returning to the campus once again. The rooting in the first game was terrible. Then the Wolfpack left for Penn State. Did the fact that the student body went to send their team off help to keep the score what it was? There is no doubt but that it did. Captain "Big Dick" Bostian in his speech told us that the student body was good for two touchdowns in any game against any team. We scored our touchdown in that game, but we again failed when the South Carolina Gamecocks were here. The game in which the student body must and is going to score two touchdowns is right here at hand. It will take every man who is a supporter of State College to get these two touchdowns, and if a single man fails, then that is a part of our loss and somebody must do the work of two.

Now is the time to find out who is a real State College supporter. Nobody will be a State College supporter unless that person is yelling for the State College team from the time they enter that field until the last man has gone back into the dressing rooms. When that team comes on the field lets start and not stop until they have all left it. So, when the game is over every State College supporter rise to their feet and yell, whether victor or loser, until our men have disappeared behind the walls of our Y. M. C. A. They may get the larger score, but they can't beat us!

Engineering, was elected by the Society to represent the N. C. State Chapter at the convention. Morris left Tuesday afternoon and will return to the college on the 22d. Peculiar interest attaches to this meeting for North Carolinians because a prominent place on the program has been assigned to W. S. Lee, of Charlotte, vice-president and chief engineer of the Southern Power Company, who has been asked to discuss "Interconnection of Southern Appalachian Power Systems."

The American Society of Civil Engineers was founded in 1852, and is one of the outstanding professional organizations of America. Its annual conventions are always events of moment. North Carolina has a prominent place on the program of the approaching convention. Besides the address by Mr. Lee there will be an address on "The Development of State Highway Systems," by C. M. Upham, of Raleigh, chief engineer of the North Carolina Highway Commission, while Chairman Frank Page, of that commission, is slated to open a discussion on "Fundamental Principles of Highway Financing."

GENTRY WINS BY THE LENGTH OF MOUSTACHE

Charges Fraud in Gymnacrobat Election and Noses Out Ike Summerell in Race for Presidency

The newly formed Gymnacrobat Club was threatened with disruption at the last meeting when Mr. Gentry formally brought charges of fraud against the de facto president, Mr. Ike Summerell. He claimed that, in the presidential election, there were six votes cast and that there were only two members in the Club at that time. He claimed, furthermore, that five of these votes were for Mr. Summerell, and went so far as to say that Mr. Summerell had deliberately stuffed the ballot box, thereby perpetrating a fraud. In an eloquent denunciation of Mr. Summerell's political methods, he demanded that the former election be set aside. So hotly did he push these charges that Mr. Summerell announced his willingness to let the matter be decided by another race in which the best man might win. Accordingly, promptly at midnight, they each started from the top of the smokestack in a wild race to the top of the textile tower. It was felt that the one who could reach the platform first was rightfully entitled to sit upon it. Mr. Summerell led most of the way, but it happened that he had bitten one of his finger nails that day, and this, coupled with the loss of a rubber heel, kept him from getting a very secure hold on the wall. With victory almost in his grasp he slipped, and Mr. Gentry won the race and the presidency. Mr. Summerell appears to be taking his defeat in good spirit, and seems to derive a great deal of satisfaction out of the fact that, from now on, he will hold the money sack.

New Members Initiated.

Having satisfactorily determined who should be president, the question of initiating the new members engrossed for a time the attention of the Club. Mr. "Billy" Doar was first inducted into this live-wire organization. The Club was especially glad to welcome Mr. Doar because it is thought that he is of the stuff from which heroes are made, he having had the courage to ride in a bus from Camp McClellan to Anniston, Ala., clad only in a pair of pajamas. The previous report that Mr. P. B. Little had been taken in was declared by President Gentry to be false, but Mr. Little has not given up hope. He still has two ways left and is confident that he can get in by one or the other. Mr. "Beau Jack" Johnston was taken in immediately after Mr. Doar. The Club feels that in Mr. Johnston they have secured a valuable member because they believe that by using his influence in Raleigh society he can get engagements for the Club to put on gymnastic exhibitions at the various functions at the Woman's Club and elsewhere. Pete Barber also was taken in, but it is rumored that it was his reputation as a loud talker rather than as a gymnast that got him by. His duties in the Club will be those of announcer for the various exhibitions to be staged by the other members from time to time. Ted Causey was turned down flat because the members thought that he would be unwilling to stop "holding the sack" long enough to attend the meetings.

Mr. Summerell then introduced a motion that the Club stage an exhibition between halves at the Carolina game. In this way he hoped to gain a little publicity. The motion was carried unanimously, and we are confidently expecting a demonstration in rope-walking from this live-wire organization. As for the rest of the exhibition little is known, but it is whispered that part of it will consist in having a member stand on his head on each of the goal posts throughout the game. The wire backstop also holds great possibilities, and it is quite probable that the gymnasts will utilize it in their exhibition. Whatever they decide to do, the spectators may rest assured that they will be treated to a most thrilling and amazing sight, as the Gymnacrobat warriors trot out upon the field.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT"

In the beginning, let us say that we are not radical, merely progressive. We shall each week attempt to call to the attention of the students some defect of or good point about the living conditions in the dormitories, or compare the different activities of this College with the similar activities of other colleges of equal rank. We feel that as members of the student body, living in the dormitories, we are able to see the real conditions existing upon the campus better than those who only come in contact with the student and student life through the classroom. We are not attempting to knock the school or its executives, merely trying to bring to the attention of the College some of the minor yet important defects as we see them.

We have existing upon this campus an ancient relic of the days when this school consisted of only a few hundred students. It is a left-over custom from the time when it was a strictly military institution, a practice which should have been abolished, even before the days of student government. It is the habit of turning off the lights at eleven-thirty. College students have arrived at the stage where they know when to retire. They might as well have some one to come around and tuck them in bed as to be compelled to retire at a certain time.

It is our theory that the abolition of this custom will cause a marked decrease in the number of class absences, the cause of which is that the lights are turned out before the students have finished the preparation for the next day's recitations, and the temptation to retire is stronger than the ambition to study by candle light. They, therefore, deem make-up slips more desirable than zeros.

No institution in this State, out of the prep school class, is tied down hand and foot by such a practice. We cannot claim that we have gotten away from the old idea of government when we have such a custom existing on our campus. The fact that this is the only large institution in the State in which such a condition prevails is sufficient proof that it should be abolished. It exists because of reasons unknown to us. We, therefore, see no reason why it should continue, and believe that it should be discontinued. W. '26.

Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company

Of Philadelphia—Established 1865

(FORMERLY, THE PROVIDENT LIFE AND TRUST COMPANY)

The Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia is pleased to announce a material increase in policyholders' dividends for the year 1924, which will result in a considerably lowered net cost for life insurance in the Provident.

This Company has long been noted for its very low net costs, and during the past twelve months has made two material increases in its dividends, thus reducing its former very low net costs.

This announcement will be of interest and good news to the many policyholders of the Company in Raleigh and vicinity, and of like interest to future policy holders.

Before deciding on an Insurance Policy, investigate our Maturing Old Age Pension Policy.

Before buying any policy, get the Provident's rate quotations; you'll find it the Lowest in Cost.

This Company paid in cash to living policyholders of maturing policies $4,080,791.90, during the year 1922.

The pleased, well-satisfied policyholders of this Company are its highest endorsement; more than half century of honest and successful conduct of its affairs has demonstrated its excellence.

The Company's remarkable financial stability; its care and integrity in management; its low net cost for insurance, make it the Ideal Company for the careful, thrifty buyer of insurance.

WOLFPACK VICTOR IN HARD-FOUGHT CONTEST WITH THE GAMECOCKS

down with only one yard to go. After that the Wolfpack had a much harder defensive team to get through. In the third period State's back came through again with the needed punch and made two first downs in succession. Sprague broke through their line for one, while a penalty gave us the other.

Gamecock Defense

The Gamecocks presented a wonderful defense, and many times they broke through our line and threw our backfield for losses. Meyer, Long, Wheeler and Murdaugh were the men who gave us the most trouble. It must be remembered that one of our regulars from each side of the line was sitting on the bench. Our defense was strong, also, because South Carolina was not able to make any gain through our line at any time.

The Touchdown

In the third quarter, after Elms had punted and Sigmores had signaled for a fair catch, South Carolina started down the field in a steady march. Rhame gained two yards and Boatwright made another, then Wheeler, who did the punting, was called back to punt, but instead he circled right end for a gain of 25 yards and first down. Holland gained three yards through the line, Boatwright failed to make any more, and then Rhame pulled the play that lost the game for his team. He let loose a pass which was intercepted by Charlie Shuford, our right half, and running close to the side lines tore past the last Gamecock for a touchdown. He was given good interference and well deserved a touchdown. "Red" Lassiter dropped-kicked for the extra point.

The aerial attack which the South Carolinians uncorked in the last half proved very unfortunate for them. Seven passes were attempted, one was completed, and three were intercepted. The Wolfpack showed up much better in this department. Of the six attempted, one was intercepted, two grounded, and three completed.

State's best chance to score by rushing the ball was during the third period. Lassiter attempted a drop kick and South Carolina gained possession of the ball on her twenty-yard line. After several line bucks had failed, they kicked to Sprague, who returned the ball twenty-five yards. First down was made in two quick plays. A penalty and a good and bad pass left the Wolfpack on South Carolina's forty-yard line. Lassiter failed at another try for three points from the forty-yard line. Lillard and Long broke through and broke up his kick, but allowed Lassiter to turn around and recapture the ball. If one had thought and clipped Lassiter the other could have easily recovered the ball and raced across our goal line for a touchdown. They did not take advantage of their break.

Features of State's Play

Sprague, Johnson and the Shuford brothers were the best ground gainers for State. Johnson showed fine ability in getting around the ends for gains, while Sprague ran back the punts with the ability of a veteran. Both of the Shuford boys were able to gain ground when given the chance. But we cannot forget the work of our fullback, "Red" Lassiter; he was in every play and always willing to do his best when given the chance. "Big Dick" Bostian and "Red" Lassiter backed up the line in fine style, both of them followed the plays and ball as well as can be expected. Each of them intercepted a forward pass and gave State College the best that was in them. Every man on the squad played fine football and made a good showing.

DR. SWAN BRINGS US A VITAL MESSAGE

Dr. Eugene L. Swan of the American Social Hygiene Association Brings Us a Message That is Different in Its Appeal to Boys

Dr. Swan told us of how the proper and most efficient functioning of the body depends so vitally upon the condition of the different glands. He told us something of the elements of vitality each set of glands contributed. But the heart and core of his message was his appeal for his hearers as college men, and men who were passing into the mature age, to remember the boy of the age of adolescence. We owe it to the boy to be his friend, wherever we find him, and under whatever circumstances.

Dr. Swan stated that the period of adolescence was the most painful period in the life of a boy. It is the period when a boy grows so fast that his feet are too big for his shoes and his hands too big for his pockets. He is all out of proportion. The boy realizes this and is prone to exaggerate it in his mind, even to the point of desperation and suicide at times. Many thousands of boys of this age commit suicide in the United States each year.

The audience sat in silence while Dr. Swan made his plea for the boy. Why? Because it is a subject which would touch the heart of any man. Men, think whether in your relation to boys you are their real friend with a purpose to help them develop or just a casual unconcerned observer.

N. C. STATE

Here is to our old N. C. State,
A college that is growing great,
With the best of them she took her place,

And is still going up at a good pace.
In the public opinion she stood the test,

So, why not help us keep her the best?

She is our college and our school.
It's here for us to run and rule;
So every man must from the start
Fall right in and do his part.
Make the college glad that you are here.

Don't act like you did not care.

If you are not an athlete,
And can't help our rival to defeat.
You can get the spirit of N. C. State
And help that much at any rate.
Cheer the college, cheer the team;
Cheer the college that plays clean.

It's up to us to hold her high,
And we can if we just try.
If each one each day does his bit,
Old N. C. State will win out yet,
And some day you will feel elate,
When you say that you went to N. C. State.

STUDENT CHAPTER A.S.C.E. HAS SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Dr. Brooks and Mr. Warren H. Manning of Cambridge, Mass., Were Speakers of the Evening

The Student Chapter of the A. S. C. E. met Tuesday night, October 9, in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. The speakers of the evening were: Dr. E. C. Brooks and Mr. Warren H. Manning, of Cambridge, Mass.

Dr. Brooks, in his usual entertaining manner, gave the students some inside dope on the present building program of the college. He stated that he could not see any reason why the engineering students should not help work out the plans and specifications for the erection of new buildings and improvements of the campus, and thus reap of the benefits, through practical experience, of the large sums of money that the college is spending for improvements. He also stated that the students, with the aid of the faculty, should be allowed to help carry out these plans.

Mr. Manning, the landscape engineer for N. C. State College, discussed in general the plans for beautifying and improving the campus in the near future. He stated that since State College was on the two most important lines of transportation leading into Raleigh, it was to the benefit of both College and city to beautify the College campus as much as possible.

After the addresses, coffee and sandwiches were served by Mrs. W. L. Trevathan, Mrs. L. C. Yergan, Miss Orphia Allgood, and Miss Naomi Long. Everyone reported a good time, especially the civil Freshmen, who were the guests of the occasion.

HONOR FOR A STATE COLLEGE PROFESSOR

Prof. Browne Elected President N. C. Branch of Society for the Improvement of Engineering Education

A short time ago there was held at Trinity College a meeting for the purpose of perfecting an organization in North Carolina to sponsor and improve engineering education.

All of North Carolina's engineering schools were represented and much interest was displayed over the outlook. Professor William Hande Browne, head of the Department of Electrical Engineering was elected president, and was instructed to proceed with the plans of organization.

When interviewed Professor Browne stated that no definite plans have been made—his energies at present being devoted to the extension of membership.

The staff of The Technician believes that they express the sentiment of the student body in congratulating Professor Browne, and in assuring him of their loyal interest and support.

OBTAINED AS A RESULT OF IMAGINATION

At the beginning we might say truth may be defined as the ultimate result of the imaginative and the real. Men are working every day to find truth. The chemist makes an analysis of matter. He breaks up compounds into molecules, molecules into atoms, atoms into electrons. Who knows but what there are still other divisions to be made. What causes men to think there is something else? It is imagination. Then we see that these things are dreamed of before they are realized, and the former gives way to the latter. The same is true in ideals. A man has ideals which are high above his trend of life and these have the general tendency to pull him upward. This is true of the world in general, because everyone has some ideal. Then it is my belief that in the end when truth is fully realized, it becomes synonymous with immortality.

THE SPIRIT OF ST. MARY'S

On the past Saturday night the students, in celebrating the victory over the University of South Carolina, let their enthusiasm go to an extreme and were openly insulted when they attempted a serenade at St. Mary's. In the first place the State students were wrong in attempting this serenade when they have met with a disastrous failure on all previous attempts, but heretofore they have never been insulted as on this occasion.

We are aware of the fact that St. Mary's has favored all North Carolina colleges more than State, but as our opponents in this game were from another state, we expected to be received with courtesy, if not with enthusiasm. But we claim that we have not been treated with the courtesy that we would expect from ladies, and in fact we have been indecently treated. We did not believe that the students of St. Mary's would belittle themselves so as to act as they did upon this occasion, and we assure them that they have had their last opportunity to give State College a demonstration of their poor sportsmanship.

WHAT DO WE WANT?—WE WANT A SONG

How often have we heard the above words as we stood before Meredith or Peace, after winning a victory on the field, court or track. And how little do we realize that we really do want a song. Not from someone else but a song of our own.

There have been many specific instances when we "wanted a song."

For instance, one night at one of our serenades at Meredith, some girl asked the familiar, "What do we want?" The other girls replied with the equally familiar, "We want a song." Did they get it? No; State College had none to give. Another instance: in the South Carolina game, that handful of South Carolina rooters got up and sang as their team came on to the field for the second half. But when our team came on the field there was yelling—and singing. But what kind of singing? Is "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" a song worthy of our team, the N. C. State Wolfpack?

But, fellows, we have a song! You will find it on page 11, in our hand-book. Let's learn it, fellows. And let's sing it, on the campus, everywhere.

Seniors, get into this. Turn back in your memory and try to remember what was the tune when you sang it—our song—as Freshmen.

Juniors, if you've heard it, tell the rest of us; if not, learn it and let's get together.

Sophomores, get out that little hand-book, and let's know our song.

Freshmen, we look to you to take part in this thing. Learn our song by heart.

All together, let's sing our song:

Here comes the team, boys, rise strong and great,

We're going to win for old N. C. State;

So while they're fighting let's show that we have no fear,

And make the hills echo with our cheer.

Rah! rah! rah!

And when they've won, boys, ring out the bell;

Let its old voice the glad tidings tell
While we proclaim the glorious name
Of our beloved College, dear Old N. C. State.

So stick to it, boys, play the game every man;

Fight it to the finish, do the best that you can,

While we shout, Victory!

While we shout, Victory!

While we shout, Victory, and N. C. State forever!

CAMPAIGN AGAINST GAMBLING AT GAMES

Last year before the annual football game between Carolina and N. C. State, an agreement was made that no gambling would be permitted. This movement was started by the Y. M. C. A. at the two institutions. It was unanimously approved by the two student bodies.

In the past it has been thought that in order for a student body to show that it believed in its team it must bet on it. This is a mistaken idea of college spirit. It places the men on the team, in the mind of the man betting, on the level with a race horse. A student body can show its support more by yelling and cheering than by gambling on the games.

Another reason a student should not gamble is because he is not spending his own money. A large percentage of the student body are in school due to a sacrifice made at home. The money that you gamble with is your father's money. Think about the chances you have of losing it. The opposing team may get a break in the game and gain a touchdown that would defeat your team.

Let us think about these things before the game and show our college spirit by not betting. Let us keep the team on the high plane that it deserves and cheer them on to victory.

Mistakes do happen sometimes. The other day "Deacon" Allen received a card notifying him that a baby carriage was being shipped to him.

The same classic shapeliness—The same writing balance
New Parker D. Q.—Students' Special, $3

WHEN you buy a Parker Pen of any model, at any price, you are getting a standard that never existed before the Parker Duofold was created; and which exists today only in the Parker make.

Parker's lower priced black pens are like Parker Duofold in everything save the size and point. Yet even their points are tipped with NATIVE Tasmanian Iridium and polished to the smoothness of a costly jewel bearing.

Only the Parker crafts-guild is trained to make Duofold quality, and this same skill produces all other Parker Pens too.

If you want the Over-size Pen with lacquer-red barrel, flashing black tips and 25-year point—get Parker Duofold, $7. (Duofold Jr., or Lady Duofold, $5.)

If you want Duofold's classic lines and writing balance in a low-priced black pen of good size, get the new Parker D. Q. specially made for students, $3.

Any near-by pen counter can supply you. But be sure the pen is stamped "Geo. S. Parker" if you want the new-day improvements.
