WOLFPACK HOLDS FLYING SQUADRON TO SMALL SCORE

V. M. I. Wins by Score of 22 to 7; Elms Scores Touchdown for Wolfpack; Flying Squadron Had Necessary Punch to Score Touchdowns.

In a game marked by many thrills V. M. I. defeated the Wolfpack by the score of 22 to 7. Going in the game, slated to lose by a much larger score, the Wolfpack fought the Flying Squadron off time after time in the first half, but weakened under the strain during the last quarter, and allowed them to score twice. After White, the mighty fullback of the Flying Squadron, had to be taken out of the game, on account of injuries at the beginning of the second half, the Cadets changed their tactics from the aerial route to sweeping end runs. These proved too much for the Wolfpack.

First Period

Neither side was able to advance the ball to any great extent in the first quarter, and after an exchange of punts had given the Flying Squadron an advantage, White sent the ball through the bars from the 40-yard line. A second attempt from the 50-yard line went wild by just a few inches.

Second Period

In the second period V. M. I. started an aerial attack, which resulted in a touchdown for them. White shot passes to Barbour and Watkins for gains of forty-five and twenty yards. Then with the ball in midfield White shot a pass to Ryder, who ran down the side-line and then reverse to the other side of the field and continued until he had crossed the Wolfpack's

J. STITT WILSON IS COMING TO STATE

A Great Speaker, and a Man Experienced in the Political and Industrial Field

Mr. J. Stitt Wilson, a noted Christian layman, has been secured by the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association to deliver a series of lectures in the colleges of the South. His theme will be "The New Spiritual Renaissance."

Mr. Wilson is a scholarly man, a forceful and magnetic speaker, and a man experienced in the political and industrial field. He has made careful first-hand study of the labor problems confronting the country, and for a number of years he was mayor of Berkeley, California.

Fifteen State College men heard Mr.

M. E. SOCIETY MEETS IN SPITE OF ABSENCES

J. E. Britt and Professor Johnston Make Interesting and Instructive Talks to the Society

After the Society had disposed of the usual business matters, Mr. Britt gave a very informing discussion regarding the furniture industry in North Carolina. Having given some time to the study of furniture manufacturing in the State, Mr. Britt was in a position to present some very interesting facts as to its size, and the rank of North Carolina in this industry.

Following Mr. Britt's discussion, a very fitting and appropriate talk was made by Mr. Johnston of the English Department on the value to the engineer of a broadening education. This is a topic to which every engineering student should give more serious thought, and we are very glad Mr. Johnston chose this subject, as its importance hardly can be over-emphasized.

Remembering very clearly a previous introduction of a certain person, at a certain time, and at a certain place, our president was careful in his last introduction to avoid all flowery or otherwise extravagant expressions, which sometimes lure one into making untrue and absurd statements. Henceforth and forever, our president, no doubt, will be a close adherent to the policy of "safety first" in the introduction of people. That he is so inclined was evinced in the meeting the other night. Judging from the briefness of his introduction at the last meeting, he evidently was working on the assumption that with brevity he could reduce the number of possible errors to a minimum or thereabout. At any rate, Mr. President, we wish you well, and hope that you may keep up that grand old determination to conquer, for you may yet prove yourself "worthy to be among us."

THE HAM-RAMSEY EVANGELISTIC PARTY COMING TO THE CITY

Will hold a special service at the City Auditorium, Monday, Nov. 5th, at 7:30 P. M.

The Evangelistic Party will be accompanied by the Ramsey Choir of Durham, composed of the best singers.

All church choirs and other singers are requested to be on the platform and assist in the music. Song service begins at 7:30. Let all who read this come and spread the news to others.

DR. TAYLOR ADDRESSES INTERSTATE MEMBERS

Some Helpful Suggestions Were Made as to How the Club Should Function

The members of the Interstate Club met in the "Y" auditorium last Thursday, October 25th, to be addressed by Dr. Taylor.

We were glad to have Dr. Taylor speak to us, and were very fortunate in getting him, but we all know that he is always willing to render his service to any of us. Dr. Taylor, having much experience in work of this kind, gave the club some very good ideas on which they could work. We know that they are all fine suggestions, or they would not have been given to us by Dr. Taylor, and we expect to carry them out as much as possible.

Dr. Taylor suggested that we should get together and associate with the students of other colleges in Raleigh that are from our own respective states and from the other states that are represented in our club.

He also suggested that we should be interested in learning more about the other states besides our own. To do this, each man could tell the other members of the club something about the state he is from. In doing this, every man would not only learn something about the other states, but would learn more about his own state that he did not know before, while searching for the best facts and features of his state to tell the other club members, as every man would naturally do. We should not only be interested in learning more about the different states in our own country, but should visit the other clubs of the College, such as the Cosmopolitan Club, and learn what we could about the different foreign countries.

We should get together on some of our holidays, which most of the boys of North Carolina spend at home, and have a picnic or a feed of some kind in the woods and enjoy ourselves. Nearly all the boys of this club are too far away from home to spend the few holidays we have during the year there, so these days would be very appropriate for things of this kind.

Dr. Taylor gave us some very good examples of these suggestions in his speech, and, as has been said before, the club expects to carry them out as much as possible.

The club as a whole wishes to express their appreciation and most sincere thanks to Dr. Taylor.

The Freshmen Clearly Outplayed Mars Hill, But Were Unable to Score; Wolflets Lead 15 to 3 in First Downs, But Mountaineers Win, 6 to 0.

Although outplaying and making five times as many first downs as did their opponents, State College Freshmen lost to the Mountaineers from Mars Hill by the score of 6 to 0. A long double forward pass, Sams to Anderson, to Kuykendall, gave the Mountaineers a touchdown during the third period of playing. It was the lone score of the game, and Anderson's attempt at placement kick was blocked. From the very first of the game until the final whistle the Freshmen were able to gain ground at will, until the punch was needed for a touchdown.

Mars Hill earned its opportunity to score by recovering a fumble on the Wolflets 45-yard line. Launching an aerial attack from this point, Anderson shot a pass to Perry, which was good for twenty-five yards. Three other passes were grounded, but on the fourth try Kuykendall took a pass within a few yards of the goal line, and stepped over for a touchdown.

At no other time during the game did the Mountaineers seriously threaten, being held beyond the 20-yard line. On the other hand, the Freshmen reeled off yardage consistently throughout the game, but the stubborn resistance of Mars Hill, time after time, staved off disaster after the Freshmen had rushed the ball well up into the territory of the mountain boys.

Both lines played well, the work of

A Few Remarks From Pittsburgh, Pa., as to How N. C. State College Was Founded

Indeed, there are wonders of wireless; two State Juniors were thrilled Sunday night by what may be called a wonder. While listening in on the church services of the East End Christian Church of Pittsburgh, Pa., broadcasted by KDKA, these two students were surprised to hear the preacher, whose name they failed to catch, say, "After this, Mr. Page went to North Carolina, where he formed a small club, and although this club only lasted two years, it was through their energy and influence that the North Carolina State College at Ra-

Editorials

A "RADICAL" NUMBER

In the office last week we decided to make quite a few changes in this week's edition and note the effect. What do you think of it? Do you like our new method? If so, tell us about it, and if you don't like it—say so.

THE AG. FAIR

During the past week the Agricultural Department has worked diligently on their Fair, which was presented this week. For this reason the news of that department will be limited on account of lack of time. However, our next issue will contain all the news of the Big Fair.

THE COLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION

The last of this week the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association meets at Trinity College in Durham. Although our information about the meeting has been obtained indirectly, we believe in the Association and hope to be represented at the sessions.

FRESHMAN COUNCIL VISITS CAROLINA

The officers of the Freshman Friendship Council were the guests of the Freshman Friendship Council of Carolina last Thursday evening. A delightful supper was enjoyed by all. Our president, Mr. Griffith, told the Carolina boys how we ran our Council; a number of other good talks were enjoyed.

THE LAUNDRY CONTRACT AGAIN

Since the last issue, the editor has had the pleasure of visiting Carolina with Dean Harrison, Dean Cloyd, and Mr. Owen on an inspection trip concerning the College laundry contract. After seeing the system in operation and hearing it explained, we are sure that such a system is needed here at State.

One change is offered in the proposed plan published a few weeks ago, that is, have the contract drawn between the College authorities and the laundry instead of with the students. We believe that a flat rate is the thing for State, too.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO RECEIVE OUR PAPER

Through Dr. Taylor, chairman of Publication Committee, arrangements have been made whereby "The Technician" is to be sent to every high school in the State. We believe this is a very good means of advertising our College, and we urge all county clubs to prepare a list of high schools in their counties, so that the Business Manager can add any omissions to his mailing list.

THE TECHNICIAN NEEDS YOUR HELP

Say, fellows, our College paper is depending on YOU for its success. What are you doing towards helping build "a bigger and better State College" through the medium of your College newspaper? We need your support, financially and otherwise; why not send the paper to the folks at home, and to your girl? You should, don't you think so? "If you don't think so, you're crazy."

THE S.V.M. CONVENTION

State College Must Be Represented By Her Ten Strongest Men

The ninth quadrennial Student Volunteer Convention, to be held in Indianapolis, Ind., December 28-January 1, will be the greatest student gathering ever held in this world, from the standpoint of the number and character of the students attending, the program, and personnel of the leaders.

Practically every college and university in the United States and Canada, both those for men and those for women, will be represented. There will be in all about ten thousand delegates.

The size of the delegation from each college is based on the enrollment. State is allowed ten student-delegates and one representative from the faculty. Dean Cloyd, who knows more about the Convention than anyone here, says that by all means State should send her full quota.

The railroads have given a special rate of one and one-half fare for the round trip. The Southern Railway will operate a special train via Asheville and Cincinnati to accommodate the delegates from North Carolina. Special cars will be started at Raleigh and at Columbia, S. C. They will meet in Asheville, and will be operated on a fast schedule as a special section of the Carolina Special.

Convention Topics

Mr. Kenneth S. Latourette, chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, writes about the topics to be presented as follows:

"The purpose of the Convention being what it is—to present convincing-ly to students the missionary enterprise in the light of present-day conditions—the topics follow rather naturally. It is planned to present just the outstanding problems which confront the world today, and the Christian solution to these as the one hopeful way out. The earlier sessions will, therefore, be devoted to war and international relations, to race antagonisms, to the problems presented by the modern industrial system, and to intellectual unrest, especially in student circles. The plan is to have these problems presented, as they are of world-wide occurrence and significance, and to draw illustrations from the Americas and Europe—so-called Christendom—as well as from what we commonly speak of as non-Christian lands. In handling the racial question, moreover, speakers will be from both white and non-white groups. As each problem is presented, the main outlines of the Christian solution suggested will also be presented. In that the effect should be both a compelling vision of the world as it is, and of the world as it may become if Christ's way is followed."

Convention Speakers

The strongest speakers that can be found in the world will be brought together to present the Convention topics. Among these are Sherwood Eddy, Robert E. Speer, John R. Mott, and a host of others, each of whom will be an expert in some line.

The problems and needs of each country will be presented by a native of that country. For example, there will be a representative from India to speak for India.

The Chance of a Lifetime

These conventions come only once during each student generation. "Big Dick" Bostian is the only man in College who attended the last convention held in Des Moines four years ago. Since only ten men can go out of our student body of over one thousand, it is imperative that the ten best men be selected, the men who will get the most out of the convention themselves and bring back most to those who do not get to go.

Any man who would like to attend should make application at the Y. M. C. A. office at once. The names of all delegates must be in the New York office by December 1st, in order to secure tickets of admission and entertainment. Any student in College with an open mind, and who is interested in the problems that confront this age, is eligible. Don't wait to apply. Do it now.

How to Finance the Trip

If there are some men who need financial aid in order to make the trip the Y. M. C. A. will undertake to secure it. Several hundred dollars were secured to send our nine delegates to Des Moines in 1919. If you are the right man to represent State, and you can't pay a penny on the expense of the trip, apply! The chances are the committee, of which P. T. Dixon is chairman, will select you and provide the means for you to go. This is too big a thing to miss, and not again in this generation of College students will the opportunity come.

NOTICE TO ALL SENIORS

It is important that all Senior snap-shots for the 1924 "Agromeck" be in as soon as possible, in order that this part of the work may be disposed of before the other work piles up. If you have a snap that you want to use, turn it in to C. R. Hall, F. S. Trantham, or some member of the staff this week; if you have not got one, get Ted Causey or Andrews to make you a good-looking one and turn it in as soon as you can get it. It is just as easy to get this done now as a month from now, and, by doing it now, you will be co-operating with the staff in trying to get out the best book we have had yet.

And the days that were once far ahead
Have appeared, and departing, have gone
To the realms where their forerunners sped,
And have left me the new ones alone.

"Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston Stewart announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Speed, to Mr. Tolbert Lacy Stallings, on Saturday, October the twenty-seventh, nine-hundred and twenty-three, Henderson, North Carolina.

"Will be at home after November the fifth, 1609 Princess Street, Wilmington, North Carolina."

For some unaccountable reason there seems to have been for the past few weeks among our recent graduates, a malady, which, for want of a better term, we shall call an epidemic of matrimony. We can scarcely realize that those with whom we called ourselves mere school boys only a few months ago, can have so early assumed the varied duties and responsibilities of the head of the household. But time flies, and we can never tell what the immediate future is going to bring.

Mr. James McSwain Green announces the marriage of his daughter, May Belle, to James Sloan Ware on Wednesday, October 24, at Shelby, N. C. At home after November 1, King's Mountain, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hallanham Callahan announce the marriage of their daughter, Alta, to Mr. Laurens Adams Hamilton, on October 23, at Liberty, S. C.

Although no official announcement has as yet been received, we have been informed that Mr. Samuel Adolph Allred, of the Class of '23, has recently married Miss Leota McArthur, of Staley, N. C. We can scarcely believe this, however, as they had been knowing each other for only a few decades. Mr. Allred is teaching in the Pleasant Garden High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Moore, of Raleigh, announce the birth of their daughter, Catherine Elizabeth, on October 2. Mr. Moore is a member of the Class of '23.

Johnnie "Flash" Jennette, whom all of us know by his sterling football work, is now with the Highway Commission, at Goldsboro. Mr. Jennette was formerly a member of the Class of '25, and plans to enter College again next fall.

Mr. Charles A. Knight, Class of '24, is with the G. B. Farrington Company, 59 Water Street, New York City.

Mr. W. H. Ritchie, Class of '23, has accepted a position as manager of the Dairy and Creamery Department of Fairview Farm, near Rock Hill, S. C.

Mr. J. L. "Duroc" Wall, of the Class of '23, is supervisor of A. R. Testing Employment of the N. C. Dairy Extension Department. His address is State College Station.

"Mr. and Mrs. Julius Postelle Bradshaw announce the marriage of their daughter, Addie Lee, to Mr. Calvin Winchester Pegram, on the fourteenth of October, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, Lenoir, North Carolina."

It was also learned that Mr. Walter Hines Page was not only the moving factor in the founding of our College, but that he also exerted a great influence toward causing Mr. Woodrow Wilson to run for the governorship of New Jersey, and later for the presidency of the United States. After Mr. Wilson became President, he appointed Mr. Page ambassador to Great Britain, where he (Page) so touched the hearts of the English that after his death they placed a tablet honoring him in Westminster Abbey, the significance of which will be understood when we remember that there are only three Americans honored there. They are Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, James Russell Lowell and Walter Hines Page.

THE ROOM SITUATION

Let us say now, as we have said before, that we are not criticising, merely comparing our College with the other colleges, to see where we rank.

This week we wish to call to your attention the rooms in the dormitories. Trinity gives two rooms to two students, a bedroom and a study, each fully as large as those in 1911, which are the largest on this campus. At the University it is as good as at Trinity.

The University of North Carolina, which ranks no higher than ours, gives three rooms to two students—two bedrooms and a study. The bedrooms, which are the smallest, are as large as any in the South. Each bedroom is equipped with one Simmons bed, one chiffrage, and one dresser. The study has a large library table and a desk. For this they pay the same that we do. Compare this with our ten or twelve by fifteen rooms with two beds, one table and two chairs.

Talking to one of the men working on the new dormitory not long ago, we told him that we desired to room in the new dormitory when it was completed. He told us that we had better see the building completed first, as the rooms were smaller than the ones in some of the dormitories now in use.

The students are beginning to notice these things, but nothing is being done at present. From what we hear, the students want larger and better equipped rooms, even if they must pay more for them. We make these rooms our homes for three-quarters of each year for four years, and would like for them to be as good as possible. A man does not like to live in a cell eleven by thirteen feet, in which there are two beds, one table, two chairs, two trunks, and possibly a home-made bookcase or two.

Let's see that we have no more dormitories like the one going up across the railroad, which we hear is No. 7. W., '26.

IN REPLY TO THE PROPOSED LAUNDRY PROPOSITION

To the Editor of The Technician:

We have noted with interest the development during the past few weeks of the flat rate for the laundry proposed by Mr. Cullins to the Student Council and, through it, to the student body. So far, most of the editorial comment has been in favor of it. This may be due to the feeling on the part of its supporters that, being a new thing, it needed to be pushed along; whereas, those not in favor of it, realizing that it cannot come into effect immediately, have not felt it worth while to offer opposition.

But we believe that no step of such importance should be taken by the student body until both sides have been heard. Hence this letter.

In the first place, we want to raise the question, Why does Mr. Cullins resort to this method of boosting his trade? Evidently, he feels that he is not getting the greater part of the laundry of the students. Again, why does he not get the business from the students he would like to get? We maintain, and those who do not patronize the College Laundry will bear us out, that it is because they have experienced dissatisfaction in the past, not only with the grade of work done, but also in the matter of adjustments for lost articles.

Now, if, when in competition with the outside, the College Laundry does not put out work of as high grade as laundries down town, what assurance can we have that it will raise the standard of work when it no longer has to compete for its trade? It is argued that the committee of students will be empowered to see to it that first-class work is done. But who wants to be obliged to do business with anybody who must be forced to do satisfactory work?

If Mr. Cullins will put out the same class of work as is done down town, it stands to reason that he will get all the business from the students he is entitled to. Until he has made that sort of a reputation around here for the laundry, let him have the business of only those who are willing to put it there. But, if there must be a flat rate, let those who want it organize a club, take the matter up with Mr. Cullins themselves, and leave the rest of us free to send our laundry where we want to. The flat rate is all right for those who want it, but it will be an imposition on those who do not want it. A great many of our students send their laundry home, others do not average 50 cents a week; yet this proposition would make them send their clothes to the College Laundry or donate $9 a term to its proposition.

Students are allowed to room outside, board outside, and we maintain they should be allowed to send their laundry outside, if they so desire.

If 650 of our 1,200 students want it and 550 do not want it, it may go across, but is it right to force on a man something he does not want and does not need?

Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company

Of Philadelphia—Established 1865

(FORMERLY, THE PROVIDENT LIFE AND TRUST COMPANY)

The Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia is pleased to announce a material increase in policyholders' dividends for the year 1924, which will result in a considerably lowered net cost for life insurance in the Provident.

This Company has long been noted for its very low net costs, and during the past twelve months has made two material increases in its dividends, thus reducing its former very low net costs.

This announcement will be of interest and good news to the many policyholders of the Company in Raleigh and vicinity, and of like interest to future policy holders.

Before deciding on an Insurance Policy, investigate our Maturing Old Age Pension Policy.

Before buying any policy, get the Provident's rate quotations; you'll find it the Lowest in Cost.

This Company paid in cash to living policyholders of maturing policies $4,080,791.90, during the year 1922.

The pleased, well-satisfied policyholders of this Company are its highest endorsement; more than half century of honest and successful conduct of its affairs has demonstrated its excellence.

The Company's remarkable financial stability; its care and integrity in management; its low net cost for insurance, make it the Ideal Company for the careful, thrifty buyer of insurance.

COLLEGE STUDENTS AND THE RED CROSS

There is probably no word harder worked in the colleges and universities today than "vision." And it is because of this quest of vision that students are thinking with a clarity, a degree of penetration, an inclusiveness, and an earnestness of purpose which did not characterize preceding generations. Underneath a certain surface lightness engendered by the healthful give-and-take of present-day campus life, there is developing a fibre which will stand the test of the epoch upon which the world is entering.

The Red Cross, national and international, recognizes the fact that in the American colleges and universities of today is to be found its leadership for tomorrow, in a work which perhaps, more than any other, is interpreting to the world at large the full scope and meaning of the ideal of the brotherhood of man. Consequently, it voices at this time an appeal to the students of America, not only for support in the oncoming American National Red Cross Roll Call, November 11-29, but for serious constructive study of the work and methods of the organization, looking toward the day when they will assume their rightful positions of community, State and national leadership.

The demands of the time are increasingly complex, and the future is heavily charged with forces which as yet defy analysis. It is not by chance that you have come to your high place in life. We believe that it is for a purpose, and that without the best each one can do in service to his fellow-men, all life must be poorer in the end.

Will you not, therefore, stand with the unconquerable will of a Sidney Lanier to the ideal of service? Through years of poverty which he could have changed by sacrifice of his ideals, and through a greater number of years of illness from tuberculosis which he had not the power to change, the beloved poet of the Southland struggled on, until with a temperature of 104, and while too weak to feed himself, he penciled his last and greatest poem, "Sunrise," afraid that he would die ere the completion of his task:

"Knowledge we ask not—knowledge
Thou hast lent;
But, Lord, the will—there lies our bitter need;
Give us to build above a deep intent,
The deed, the deed!"

J. Stitt Wilson Coming to State

Wilson at Blue Ridge last summer and rated him as one of the best among the many strong men they heard.

Mr. Wilson was one of the speakers at the National Assembly of Student Secretaries at Estes Park, Colorado, last July. Charles B. Wright, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of the University of Pennsylvania, in an article appearing in the October number of The Intercollegian, telling about the Assembly, gives his impression of Mr. Wilson as follows:

"And Wilson was there. J. Stitt. If you who read do not know him no picture I can paint will ever show him to you. And Wilson was not all there was to Wilson, either! Christ was with Wilson; and the big, ragged, bent and bowed Need of the Whole World was with him, too. And Christ and the World Need spoke through Wilson; spoke through him? No, they lived through him! And in Wilson Christ convinced us that He was big enough for the whole need of the whole world! If only we would unchain Him and let Him out to meet it. You who missed Wilson at Estes Park missed him at his best; when he had time to roam and ramble and wander and come back and start out again and play with words and build them into towering instruments to convey his ideas. Stitt, we love you! Back of Stitt, but never quite catching up with him, came other speakers of note; folk who have scored heavily in the game of life and who stopped to tell us something of the play."

Mr. Wilson will be at State College two days, November 14 and 15. He is different from any speaker who has been here. He is not the orator Fred B. Smith is; perhaps he is not the scholar W. D. Weatherford is; he has not traveled as extensively as Sherwood Eddy has, but out of his experience in life he brings a message that will not fail to grip the attention of any group of students who are interested in the social economy and political problems with which they will soon have to grapple.

N. C. STATE PALMETTO CLUB RE-ORGANIZED

A meeting of the South Carolina students was called Monday night for the purpose of re-organizing the Palmetto Club of N. C. State College.

About twelve members were present, and the following officers were elected: Henry Shelor, president; Ed Robison, vice-president, and E. F. Culbreth, secretary and treasurer. A motion to put the treasurer under bond was unanimously carried.

For several years this organization has existed on the campus, but last year attempts at a progressive club proved unsuccessful, and it was temporarily abandoned. Considerable difficulty was experienced to re-organize, but the "Sandlappers" now have a club that is a thing of reality, and under the leadership of Shelor they intend to instruct the other county and State clubs in the art of progressiveness.

A recent survey shows that there are about forty South Carolinians in the College, and an effort is being made to get them to take an active interest in the Palmetto Club. With all of these students as active members this would probably be the largest organization of its kind on the campus.

State Freshmen Lose Second Game in Mars Hill Clash

Captain Reese, center for Mars Hill, being especially noteworthy. Anderson, Mars Hill's end, was in most every play of the game. Kuykendall, Mars Hill's quarterback, did well in the handling of his team. For State, Lamb and Beal showed up the best, but the other members of the line looked almost equally as good. The line plunging of Horne, the end run of Nash, the defensive work of McAuley, and the generalship of Austin was up to what could be expected of most anyone. The Wolflets clearly deserved a victory, but the needed punch was lacking.

The line-up and summary follows:

 "You seem mighty proud ov thim mountains," the Irishman observed.
 "You bet I am," replied the man

 The Irishman thought this over for a few moments and then asked: "Did you ever happen to hear ov the Dead Sea—in one ov the old countries?"
 "Yes, indeed," replied the man from Denver. "I know all about the Dead Sea?"
 "Well, did you happen to know that me great-grandfather killed the thing?"

SENIOR R. O. T. C. COMPETITION FOR HEARST TROPHY

The Secretary of War has approved a national rifle competition between Senior reserve officers training corps units in colleges and universities. Mr. William Randolph Hearst will give a handsome trophy to the winning team, together with gold medals for each individual member of the team.

Each college maintaining a Senior unit of the R. O. T. C. may enter one or more teams in the match. Each team will consist of seven students. The issue, .22 calibre Winchester rifle, will be used. The team having the highest total score will be declared the winner. The winning team will be awarded a cup, which will become a perpetual trophy. Any institution winning the cup three times in succession may retain it permanently.

Besides this trophy, each member of the winning team will be awarded a gold medal, while the student making the highest total score will receive a gold marksmanship medal, regardless of whether he is on the winning team or not. Juniors and Seniors who are interested in this matter may obtain further information from Lieutenant Webb, or E. F. Culbreath, range officer.

The Club finds a valuable man in the person of Red Hamrick. He has already been elected Chief Dictator of the Club. M. L. Snipes and "Teddy" Causey were admitted because Mr. Gentry said the Club couldn't keep them out, nor could it keep good men down, when they had such a strong inclination to climb. Mr. Snipes requested that he be allowed to demonstrate the possibilities of the Club at the Agricultural Fair, but he was refused, because Mr. Gentry said he had more brains in one heel than the other, and was liable to become overbalanced. The Club will put on an interesting program in the near future.

WILLIAM KONRAD ROENTGEN
1845-1923

Born in Lennep, Prussia. Educated at Zurich. Awarded the Rumford Medal of the Royal Society in 1896 jointly with Philip Lenard for discovery of X-rays. Won the Nobel Prize in physics in 1901.

"I did not think— I investigated"

One day in 1895, Roentgen noticed that a cardboard coated with fluorescent material glowed while a nearby Pluecker tube was in action. "What did you think?" an English scientist asked him. "I did not think; I investigated," was the reply.

Roentgen covered the tube with black paper. Still the cardboard glowed. He took photographs through a pine door and discovered on them a white band corresponding to the lead beading on the door. His investigation led to the discovery of X-rays.

Roentgen's rays have proved an inestimable boon to humanity. In the hands of doctor and surgeon they are saving life and reducing suffering. In the hands of the scientist they are yielding new knowledge—even of the arrangement and structure of atoms. The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have contributed greatly to these ends by developing more powerful and efficacious X-ray tubes.

The General Electric Company manufactures everything electric—from fans to powerful locomotives, from tiny lamps to mighty power plants. Its products are used around the world.
