All-Campus

Divisiveness, indecision mark committee meetings

by Kathie Easter
Staff Writer

The placement of the stage during All-Campus weekend has become a point of issue with members of the All-Campus Committee that may well threaten the success of the annual spring venture.

The committee's Wednesday decision to place the stage at the end of the upper intramural field has prompted the threatened resignation of the Design Committee which is responsible for the project's environment and atmosphere.

NICK URSINI, Student Center President, said that the main problem with a side stage would be the loading and unloading of stage equipment. An avenue for the trucks would have to be kept open. "We have a grand piano and a Hammond B-3 organ to get on and off the stage quickly. This would have been very difficult," said Ursini.

Brenda Harrison, secretary/treasurer for All Campus, said, "There would also have been problems with security. It would have been impossible to block off an area as we've done in the past so the groups won't be seen before they're on stage. It generally would have been hard to work with."

WHEN BOOKING AGENT Wayne Forte, former union president, was informed of the plan for putting the stage at the side and the difficulties involved, he expressed doubt as to whether groups would play under such conditions.

According to Lee Mueller, Tim Cathey and the other members of the Design Committee plan to resign. "These facts are contrary to the carefully thought out analysis made by design students who are qualified to handle these kinds of problems," said Mueller.

PUTTING THE STAGE on the side cuts in half the depth of the field that can be used for sitting. This creates a visual arc about 300 feet in depth within which no one has a bad seat. "If we get more people than we expect, they will be sitting outside of the arc and will not have good seats. However, under this system, more people would have good seats than last year," said Ursini.

The sand traps and greens are protected behind the stage at the end position, whereas they would be part of the viewing field if the stage is on the side. "If these greens were damaged by people, it would cost thousands to repair it and they would probably never let us have the field again," said Ursini.

"I BELIEVE AS a student and union president that people go to this (All Campus) to drink beer, hear the groups, and have a good time. They don't go to see how fancy the design group can interpret the environment. Last year over $5,000 worth of half-completed structures was torn down in about a half an hour," said Ursini.

Ursini opposes the side position because of the problems presented by security and the difficulties in loading and unloading the stage. On the other hand, the design committee feels that their efforts have been rendered useless.

Rare Earth, J. Geils headline AC 73

The All Campus Committee announced Tuesday that Rare Earth will headline entertainment on Saturday night, April 14.

"THE MAIN attraction Friday night will be J. Geils and his light show. Geils will provide his own opening act and, as yet, we don't know what that will be," said Jim Trice, chairman of the All Campus Committee.

"The musical fraternity, Mu Beta Psi, will start things with a hootenany," said Trice. "This will be at either one or two depending on how long it takes to set up the sound system."

"JOHN HERALD will follow with country blues. Herald is the former lead singer and guitarist for The Greenbriar Boys. His latest record has received $60,000 backing from Paramount Studios," said Trice.

Trice said that the next performer, Freddy Hubbard, received a Grammy this year in the jazz category for his album, First Light.

DUE TO PAUL Butterfield's cancellation, the All Campus Committee is still looking for a group to fill the opening between Hubbard and Rare Earth.

The Campus Carnival will be located between the upper intermural field and Western Boulevard. In addition to the usual game booths and concessions, there will be a ferris wheel, a tilt-a-whirl, and two rides not yet selected.

TICKETS FOR AC will go on sale at a free outdoor concert to be held April 7. Thirty to forty kegs of beer will be available and 2,000 t-shirts will sell for $1 each. Tickets will sell for $5.

For those who suffered the long lines in front of the Johns last year, the sanitation committee is making forty available this year. Hot shit!

Proposes absentee ballots

Senate defeats poop file bill

by Dale Johnson
Staff Writer

Student Senate legislation calling for the compilation of "poop files" for some 15 common freshman and sophomore courses was defeated Wednesday night.

UNDER THE PROVISIONS of the bill, a Senate-appointed task force would have gathered old tests and homework assigned for the last two semesters in such courses as CH 101 and 103, BS 100, and others using standardized tests. The old tests would then have been duplicated and enclosed with answers in manila envelopes and sold in the Co-op Book Store.

However, a flood of questions concerning both the usefulness and the ethics of such a service spelled doom for the bill.

Student Body Treasurer Alan Goldberg said some members of his Finance Committee "felt the people who are good students probably wouldn't use them (the poop packets). Only students who are struggling to stay in school would use them."

OTHER SENATE MEMBERS stated that such a service would tend to eliminate the desirable "weeding out" effects of the courses on marginal students.

Despite comments from the floor to the contrary, the bill's author, Senator Jami Cauble, maintained that his bill "was not designed to set up a cheating service. Many professors like to use old tests as study aids. They're good for practice in working problems." Nevertheless, the bill was defeated by a voice vote of the Senate.

AN ABSENTEE BALLOT procedure for future campus elections was also established at the meeting. Senator T.C. Carroll said many students will be off campus during days of elections or referendums due to student teaching jobs, job interviews, or other conflicts.

"All full time students are entitled to vote in campus elections," Carroll said. "Therefore, efforts should be made to make available that vote to all students who are not able to be on campus on voting days."

THE SENATE MEASURE permits

a student to inform the Student Government Office of his expected absence at least 48 hours prior to the All Candidates Meeting which is held the day election books close. Within 24 hours after the candidates' meeting, all applicants will receive their ballots by mail.

The absentee voter would then fill out his ballot and return it along with his current registration card to the Student Government offices. The registration card will be returned within 48 hours after the polls close.

The deadline for submitting absentee ballot applications for the spring elections is March 19 at 7 p.m.

A REVISED VERSION of the Student Body Statutes concerning Judicial Process also was accepted by the Senate. The Senate version differs from the previous version mainly in its composition of the Judicial Board and modifies some of the procedures used in the Student Judicial System. Complete transcripts of the newly revised statutes are available in the SG offices.

Nancy Jokovich of the Senate Academics Committee reported that response to the faculty-course evaluation has been disappointing so far. Fewer than 4000 students have returned the forms, including less than half of all dorm students.

"I DON'T KNOW whether the floor assistants haven't all been passing out the forms and collecting them or if students just don't care enough to fill them out," she said.

Jokovich noted that evaluation forms are still available at the SG offices for those students who didn't receive one. Today is the last day forms will be accepted.

elections and to the bill's unclear provisions pertaining to runoff elections.

THE VETOED BILL would have allowed registered students planning to be off campus on voting day to fill out an application for a ballot, receive the ballot by mail, and even return the completed ballot by mail. However, the bill failed to specify procedures concerning the event of a runoff.

Student Center Vice President Jim Pomeranz said he believed the bill "is too vague to be workable. Taking the provisions of the bill literally, a student would have to file an application for a runoff at the same time he filed for the regular election to be eligible to vote by absentee ballot in a runoff, should it occur."

Another factor in Abernathy's action appeared to be the inability of Student Government to get the absentee ballots printed in time for spring elections. The bill provides that the absentee ballots would be mailed within 24 hours after the All Candidates Meeting which is to be held Wednesday.

Abernathy's veto is expected to come about later today. He was not immediately available for comment.

Honeybee wins; ERA, amnesty bills fail

Does the N.C. state legislature really have the best interests of the public it supposedly represents in mind? Sometimes it is hard to tell. Of course, like all questions, the answer to this one is debatable, but seeing the recent actions of the N.C. General Assembly can only lead the thoughtful observer to conclude that indeed there is something amiss in the state legislature.

There can be no doubt that the lawmakers have spent a great deal of their time legislating this session, but the results of that legislation are somewhat inconclusive in regard to the needs of the people of N.C. These legislative decisions have, however, given a hint at the true nature of the lawmaking body. It can be conclusively decided, by examining just what the legislature has accomplished so far this session, that this group of lawmakers has a somewhat weak and faulty sense of priorities.

In recent weeks, three important bills have come up for vote. The first was the question of whether or not to endorse the Equal Rights Amendment, thereby securing full equality of the sexes. The second vote was on the question of whether or not the legislature should endorse or oppose the idea of amnesty for draft resisters and deserters. The third vote concerned whether or not the state insect of N.C. should be the honeybee.

It is by now well-known which of these bills failed to secure passage and which did not. The ERA was defeated—the vote was close, but not unexpected. The idea of amnesty was opposed by a vote that was not as close as that on the ERA. The bill to make the honeybee the state insect passed resoundingly with little or no opposition. Certainly, this says something about our lawmakers' sense of priorities, and it is not good.

By supporting the ERA and amnesty, the General Assembly could have probably influenced other state legislative bodies to approve the two ideas. In this way, N.C. could have had an effect on righting two of the most grievous wrongs perpetrated by this country. Instead, the legislators saw fit to join the reactionary ranks.

With the action which made the honeybee the state insect, the state legislature undoubtedly made a laughingstock of themselves among the state's conscientious and concerned citizens. Through the generosity of the legislature, the state of N.C. now has an insect.

These actions by the legislature perhaps reveal something to the people of N.C. that they should know. Apparently, a great number of these men are unconcerned with the real needs of their state and its citizens. They are either extremely short-sighted or past caring. In past weeks, they have defeated two vitally important bills and passed another bill that has no outward merit at all. This does not speak well for these men or for the state as a whole in the eyes of the rest of the country.

The N.C. state legislature has degenerated into a comedy that borders on being a tragedy. The fall has been quick thanks to the attitudes of a majority of the legislators. Unfortunately there seems to be little hope for a change until the citizens purge the statehouse in the next election—a painfully long time to wait.

EDITORIALS

A paper that is entirely the product of the student body becomes at once the official organ through which the thoughts, the activity, and in fact the very life of the campus, is registered. It is the mouthpiece through which the students themselves talk. College life without its journal is blank. Technician, vol. 1, no. 1, February 1, 1920.

Candidates not taking stands

The first signs of spring are becoming noticeable on the State campus. Spring fever has hit in the form of the upcoming student body elections. So far those that are expected to be candidates have been somewhat ambiguous as to their intentions of whether to run or not.

While there are only a few who have concretely announced their candidacy for student body president, there are many who are evidently readying themselves for the upcoming campaign in which they have as yet no official part—or so they say.

With this year's Student Body President, Don Abernathy, apparently out of the running for a second term in office, many persons have begun to aspire to the position. Undoubtedly, if Abernathy were to run again few of the candidates announced and unannounced would oppose him. No matter how one feels about either the successes or the failings of the Abernathy administration, it cannot be denied that Abernathy has forged a potent political force on the State campus. His down home, "hi y'all" approach has won him a great many friends and supporters. Although some see this as a mask to cover up his inability to cope with day to day problems of the University, Abernathy still manages to hold onto a large number of student supporters.

Although the ambiguity that the candidates for Student Body President are using may serve them well for the time being, hopefully once the campaign commences, they will turn totally to the issues pertinent to the campus with clear platforms or positions. Ambiguity may be a virtue before an election, but after the election campaign begins, it has no place in the platform of the serious candidate who really wants to serve the students at State. It might serve the individual candidate in that it offers him an easy out, but it is certainly not in the best interests of the student body who need to know exactly what it is that the candidate intends to do if he is voted into the position, and how he can guarantee that what he promises will be carried out.

Too often, however, this tendency toward ambiguity remains even after the candidate achieves office. Sometimes it seems that ambiguity goes hand in hand with politics at all levels. This is regrettable.

Ambiguity is always a good way to pick up a few votes from those who are not careful in assessing the candidates, and the candidates know this. Once the campaign begins in earnest, students must be careful to demand that the candidates make themselves clear on all pertinent issues. Only in this way can this year's student body elections be made meaningful for both the students and the candidates.

Telephone salesmen

by Dick West
The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON UPI—The Virginia Citizens Consumer Council of nearby Alexandria has hit upon a plan to make Virginia citizen consumers less vulnerable to junk telephone calls.

It wants the phone company to compile a list of subscribers who object to telephone solicitations.

Presumably, if your name were on the list you would no longer receive calls inviting you to invest in cemetery lots, lifetime dancing lessons and half-acre lots in new resort communities.

But somehow I have a feeling the promoters of such enterprises aren't going to give up that easily.

Many citizen consumers may not be aware of the tremendous amount of research and preparation that goes into a telephone sales campaign.

Telephonic solicitors don't just pick up the directory, open it at random and start dialing. No indeed. Before they ring your number, they give you a background investigation that is the equivalent of an FBI field check.

Through discreet inquiries and secret surveillance, telephone solicitors obtain pertinent data about your personal habits. Often, electronic eavesdropping equipment is used.

The tricks of the trade

Primarily, the solicitors are interested in learning at what hour you customarily have dinner and what dishes you may be serving on a given night.

Studies have shown the best moment to make the call is when the citizen consumer being solicited has just picked up his fork preparatory to having his first bite of broiled flounder, or some other dish that cools quickly. Split-second timing is vital.

Since the solicitor is dialing blind, so to speak, an associate manning the bugging equipment synchronizes the operation over a walkie-talkie radio.

"Get set," he barks. "Mrs. Burnbridge has just taken the flounder out of the oven."

This signal insures that Mr. Burnbridge will be called to the phone at the exact instant his fork is in mid-flight.

As a back-up system, solicitors employ intelligence agents to report when citizen consumers who are at home alone start taking showers.

Having gone to so much trouble and expense to make his campaign effective, a solicitor isn't likely to pass over your name merely because it appears on the phone company's proscribed list.

He'll make the call anyway and claim he accidentally dialed the wrong number.

When will construction for the parking deck begin, and when is the proposed completion date?

Construction is slated to start by June 1, 1973, and the completion date is set for December 1, 1973. The University started its planning for a parking deck in 1964. The idea was discussed in various committees for several years, and received serious planning about 1968. The Parking and Traffic Committee has finally given its consent and construction will begin in June. With fair weather and good luck, the deck might be completed by December 1973.

By how much will the tuition and non-academic fees be increased next year?

Beginning in September in-state tuition will be increased by $7.50 per semester, and non-academic fees will be increased $15.75. Therefore in-state tuition and fees will be increased from $213.50 to 236.75 per semester. Tuition for out-of-state students will remain the same but their non-academic fees will also increase $15.75.

Will Harris Cafeteria be open this summer and next fall?

Harris Cafeteria will be closed this summer. It is possible that Harris Cafeteria will not operate its normal hot food service next fall.

How will the results of the faculty-course evaluation be distributed?

The results will be available to all students free of charge. The results will be printed in either a booklet or a special issue of the Technician. This information will be distributed the first week of April if students return their forms quickly.

What dorms will be used for summer school students?

Bowen and Metcalf for men, and Carroll for Women. Many students have requested that at least one dorm be co-ed during the summer, but the Housing Office has not seen the need. Also, these dorms have the smallest rooms and are probably the hottest.

What is being built across Hillsborough Street from Tompkins Hall?

A six-story Lemon Tree Inn is being built that will contain about 150 rooms and several restaurants. It was originally planned to have bright lemon yellow exterior walls, but the plans have been modified.

Center makes way for belly dancers!

LATE FLASH: DON ABERNATHY IS RUNNING FOR STUDENT SENATE PRESIDENT.

Surprise! Student Body President Don Abernathy may be running for political office after all. There is speculation around the Student Center that Don may run for Student Senate President. All politicians never just fade away particularly if they hear the call of the "people." Abernathy has said that a lot of people have asked him to reconsider and run for President again. But as he says "that wouldn't look too good after the statements I have made about not running again."

If Abernathy should run, there is a possibility that the current holders of the Student Body Presidency and the Student Senate Presidency may just switch offices. The current Student Senate President is running for the top Student Body slot.

For an extra spice in your weekend entertainment, Sunday night in the Student Center a belly dancer will do her stuff. Tickets for an Arab dinner plus entertainment are available for $2 at the Box Office. Belly lovers unite!

Monday the Walnut Room starts a $9.99 special for lunch. Yesterday the facility featured a "soul-searching" delicacy: bar-b-que'd turkey wings. To the surprise of the Technician tasters the wings were not bad.

The AC 73 organizers decided to take out rain insurance on the two day event. For $28,000 in insurance, the premium was only $18,000. All the AC Committee could say was: Rain, rain go away, come again some other day.

Preparations for All Campus 73 continue to progress. Rare Earth will be the headline act on Saturday night and J. Geils will top off Friday night's activities. Other groups booked include Freddie Hubbard jazz group and John Herald and a surprise group. Tickets for this year's event will cost $5.

The week before AC 73 there will be a freebie concert in front of the Student Center. Some 30-40 kegs of free beer will be distributed plus the rock group Arrogance will perform. This mini-weekend is designed to generate enthusiasm for AC 73.

This week's Back the Pack Award goes to the weatherman for the Spring-like weather, but why wasn't there nice weather last week during Spring Break?

In China it is the Year of the Ox, but on North Carolina college campuses, it must be the Year of the Coed. At State there is a coed editor of the Technician and there is the possibility that there could be a coed President of the Student Body or a coed President of the Student Center. To take matters further there may be a coed chairman of the entertainment board next fall. At Chapel Hill the Daily Tar Heel has a coed editor and Wake Forest has a coed student body president for the first time.

Maybe these coeds feel they are beasts of burden since it is the Year of the Ox and all of these jobs involve tremendous amounts of time and energy.

Take it to court!

To the Editor:

On December 19, 1972, I received a ticket for illegally parking in the lot in front of Harris Cafeteria. Before leaving campus on December 20 for Christmas vacation, I placed one dollar in the envelope provided and placed it in the Student Center campus mailbox. I thought that that was the end of it.

When I returned to campus on January 7, 1973, I found in my mailbox a final notice to pay the ticket. Realizing that a mistake had been made, I called Security. The officer whom I talked to told me that I had nothing to worry about because I would not have called them had I not paid the ticket. He said I would not hear about the ticket again.

Time passed. On Tuesday after Spring Break, I was called by Residence Life and was told that there was a warrant issued against me for not paying the ticket. I was quite annoyed at this because now a one dollar ticket was going to cost sixteen dollars.

After talking with Assistant Chief Penny, Bill Williams, head of Security, and Don Solomon, Assistant Dean of Student Development, I

Secret Stuff: -30- has learned that the new head of the History Department is Bernardo Wishey from Berkeley. His field is American history and he is an editor of one of the survey texts in the field. His appointment is dependent upon action by the Board of Trustees.

On Wednesday, I went downtown to the county court house, talked to the Solicitor who realized that a mistake had been made and he decided not to prosecute.

The reason that I have written this letter is to explain to other students what to do if they ever get into a similar situation. For example, pay your ticket either by a check so you have a record of payment or in person at the Traffic Records Office and make sure you get a receipt. If you find that a warrant has been issued against you and you have paid the ticket, talk to the above mentioned people who will be glad to help you.

With more and more E decal parking being turned over to S and N decals, and with the issuing of more decals than parking spaces, I feel that more students will be faced with this problem.

Fraternity helps Blacks keep identities

by Nancy J. Scarbrough
Assistant Features Editor

Brotherhood, uniqueness, and creativity are the major concerns of a new Black social brotherhood group at State, Nu Gamma Alpha.

"WE WANT TO rejuvenate the social atmosphere on campus of Blacks and to bring the Blacks on this and other campuses in Raleigh together," said Sam Rhodes, vice president of Nu Gamma Alpha, explaining the group's purpose.

By sponsoring social activities as dances, picnics, and softball games the brothers of Nu Gamma Alpha hope to achieve this unity of the Black students on campus. Rhodes stressed that the group's interests are only social, not political or social-action oriented.

Rhodes, a senior computer science major, feels that the Black population is too spread out at State. There is a strong need, he feels, for Blacks to remain together, as in fraternities or brotherhood groups, so they will not lose their identity. "When Blacks first come to State they do not have a chance to meet the core of Black kids on campus and because they spread out they may lose their identity, an identity they may never regain."

SPONSORING A PARTY in the Ghetto from 10 p.m. until Saturday night, Nu Gamma Alpha will also participate in the activities of Pan African Weekend, April 13 and 14.

Rhodes emphasized that "all of our functions are open to everyone. We want to contribute not only to our organization but to State as a whole."

Eight members presently make up the Black chapter for State, founded at Howard University in 1962: Cornell Whitley, president; Sam Rhodes; Norm Campbell, Reginald Widemon; James Thompson; Rodney Williams; Paul Fant; and Rich Shields.

Ballet

FOTC presents classic 'Sleeping Beauty'

by Larry Pupkiewicz
Staff Writer

After a three month lapse the Friends of the College is back into business.

The National Ballet of Washington gets things moving again with performances this Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings.

THE COMPANY will be presenting the full length production of the "Sleeping Beauty," at 7:00 p.m. and students with a guest are admitted free upon presentation of ID and current registration card at the door.

The National Ballet is only 10 years old and already has a total of 50 works in their repertory. Contemporary works include "Harliquinade" and "Bartok Concerto," but main emphasis is given to the classical ballets: "Les Sylphides," "Coppelis," and "The Nutcracker." "Cinderella" and "Sleeping Beauty" are both recent additions to the collection.

IT WAS "Cinderella" that the company presented last season in Reynolds Coliseum. And with another year's experience augmenting the fine work shown through "Cinderella,"

"Sleeping Beauty" should come across with at least an equal amount of magnificence.

The now famous music for "Sleeping Beauty" was written by Peter Tchaikowsky, and the choreography to the emotional score was done by Marius Petipa. It was first produced in St. Petersburg (Leningrad) during 1890.

THE STORY DEPICTED by the ballet is the same childhood fairy tale by Charles Perrault (1628-1703), a French writer and author of these youthful fantasies.

It is held in the fictional realm of King Florestan where the celebration of Princess Aurora's christening is under way. The wicked Carabosse interrupts the festivities to pronounce a curse on the child—in young maidenhood she will prick her finger and die.

THE LILAC FAIRY brightens the scene by saying that the young Princess Aurora will not die but will sleep until awakened by the kiss of a prince. This all comes true when Prince Charming makes his entrance one hundred figurative years later.

With the help of the enchanted Lilac Fairy, he overpowers the still extant and wicked Carabosse. Then he claims Aurora with a kiss.

BALLET IS REALLY quite a spectacular medium for esthetic materials. It harmoniously combines all of the elements found in the fine arts. The music comes forth from the traditional composers of vast symphonic renown.

The styles of dance are refined and perfected to the peak capacity of human control and endurance. Artistry is found in the extensive scenery and props and in the elaborate dress costumes worn by the dancers. And a fine literary balance is achieved through the portrayal of the standard themes found in many master works.

All combined it is the ultimate bombardment of pleasure through the eyes, ears, mind, and emotions.

Coffeehouse provides live entertainment

by Connie Lael
Staff Writer

Two State students will provide live entertainment tonight for the Coffeehouse in the Rathskeller of the University Student Center.

DANNY TICKLE on the guitar and Margaret Rush on the flute will play selections from many well-known artists. In addition, the duo will present original material in jazz, country, rock and classical styles.

The Rathskeller itself has recently been redecorated.

"We're trying something a little different with the atmosphere," said Debbie Ogden, Coffeehouse Committee chairman. The walls have been covered with parts of billboards and cushions have been scattered around the stage.

"We think the changes make the atmosphere much warmer," said Debbie.

THE COFFEEHOUSE will begin at 8:30 p.m. No admission will be charged.

Phillips sparks sweep

Old Dominion falls to anxious Pack

by Ken Lloyd
Sports Editor

After eight futile tries so far this season, State's baseball Wolfpack finally beat the weatherman Wednesday afternoon and in the process also disposed of Old Dominion on both ends of a twin bill that opened the season for both teams.

In the first game, it took ten innings for State to get untracked when freshman shortstop Kent Juday knocked in the only run in the game that was a true pitchers' duel. However, the hitters came alive in the nightcap as Ron Evans and Pat Korsnick each belted home runs to lead State to a 6-2 victory.

State's Bob Anderson and Old Dominion's Cy Brinkley locked horns on the mound in the first end of the double-header Wednesday.

ANDERSON, A SENIOR from Peoria, Ill., had a perfect game for four and two-thirds innings before being pulled for a pinch hitter after eight innings.

Rich Phillips was the winning pitcher for State as he came in in the tenth inning to end the Monarchs' only rally of the game.

In State's half of the inning, rightfielder Don Zagorski led off with a double off Brinkley, who went, all the way, and moved to third on a sacrifice to set up Juday's game winning hit.

ers after the first outing as he came back in the following contest to put the Monarchs down once again and win his second game of the day. In three and one-third pressure innings of work for the day, Phillips did not allow a runner to reach base.

Korsnick and Evans were the hitting stars in the finale as the former knocked a three-run homer, while the latter went three-for-three with a two-run shot over the fence.

The Wolfpack traveled to Pembroke State yesterday, but game results were not available at publication time.

State's next test will come tomorrow when Lehigh visits Doak Field for a single game beginning at 1:30 p.m.

LOSE 20 POUNDS
IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way! It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) — cash is O.K. — to Information Sources Co., P.O. Box 231, Dept. ST, Carpinteria, Calif. 93013. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

Netters open season today with high hopes for success

by Ray Deltz
Staff Writer

"We've been improving every year since I've been here," said State tennis coach Joe Isenhour in reference to his 1973 squad. "This should be the best team that we've had since I've been here."

The Pack netters open their season today when they travel to Buies Creek to participate in the Campbell Invitational, which concludes tomorrow. State's first home match will be Monday at 2 p.m. against strong Wake Forest. The match was originally scheduled last Wednesday but was postponed because the varsity courts were not ready.

POSSESSING AN experienced team and a fair amount of depth, Isenhour has high hopes on improving upon last season's 12-11 squad, which finished 0-6 in the ACC.

Sophomore Randy Merritt, who won two conference matches at the number two singles spot, is expected to be a strong performer. But due to a recent injury, he will not be available for several weeks.

Among the other veterans returning will be three-time letterman Herb McKim, junior Thorny Strang, the Pack's best all-around player, and junior Cy King, who had his best year of tennis last spring. Senior David Johnson is the most improved player that Isenhour has ever worked with.

DEE BLANKENHORN, a Raleigh native, returns to the tennis team after serving Uncle Sam, while Jeff Jensen, a transfer from Miami of Ohio, has looked good in pre-season practice.

"McKim will be number one singles, Strang will be number two and Blankenhorn will probably be number three," said Isenhour. "In doubles, McKim and Strang will be number one while Blankenhorn and King will be number two."

Sophomore Tom Wernes and junior Rick Crompton are also strong candidates for starting spots in the singles and doubles.

—Jeff Watkins

Senior Herb McKim, a three-year letterman, is the Wolfpack's top returning tennis player and will open the year at the number one singles spot.

Black Assassins take Independent crown

Carmichael Gym was hot Wednesday night, but the action on the court was hotter as the Black Assassins downed the Black Pack 40-32 to win the Independent League basketball championship.

Willie Burden was the big gun for the Assassins, pouring in 17 points to lead all scorers. Cornell Whitley tallied nine points for the victors.

Edgar Blackmon led the Black Pack with 11 points.

BOTH TEAMS had trouble getting on the scoreboard in the early going, as the Assassins had trouble with the Pack's tight man-to-man defense while the Pack could not score against the Assassins' 2-3 zone. The Half ended with the Assassins ahead 13-12.

The lead switched hands in the early minutes of the second half. Burden, who scored eight of the Assassins' first 10 points in the final period, put in a bucket to make the score 23-18, and the Pack could not catch up.

The score remained close, however, as twice the Pack came within one point only to see the Assassins pull away again.

The Assassins led 33-28 with :50 on the clock when Whitley came up with a key steal and field goal to ice the game. The victors reached their widest margin of the game, 40-30, in the waning seconds of the game.

"THE BOYS HAVE a good attitude," beamed the coach.

"This year we have boys who are good athletes to go along with their tennis ability. In the past, we've lacked this."

The tennis team will lose one strong performer in Coleman Long. "Long did a good job for us for three years," said the coach.

"We've been last in the conference since I've been here," said Isenhour. "I'd like to get out of the cellar. We have to beat Maryland, Duke or Virginia to do it."

"THE CONFERENCE title

should be hardly fought between Wake Forest and Carolina," added Isenhour.

In evaluating the rest of the conference, the coach said, "Clemson and Virginia will be a little weaker than last year, but Duke has their best team since I've been here."

Projects keep altering face of University

by Sandra Millers
Staff Writer

Plans for university building over the next two years fall into three categories, according to State's Facilities Planning Director, Edwin F. Harris, Jr.

"THE FIRST category is made up of projects now under construction," Harris said. He noted that the Gardner Arboretum, located behind the Burlington Engineering Laboratories, is nearing completion and will be the first current project to be finished.

Also scheduled for completion this spring is residence hall landscaping in the Lee-Sullivan-Bragaw area and in central campus between Tucker and Owen.

ALSO UNDER construction are new facilities for the campus print shop, which will be relocated west of Doak Field.

"They've been slowed by the weather," Harris said, "but they're getting started again now."

A final site of current building activity is Kilgore Hall, which is undergoing extensive renovations. Plans call for completion of the new print shop and the renovations in Kilgore by fall of this year.

THE SECOND category of campus building activity includes projects in the planning stage. Although work is not yet underway on these projects, Harris explained, "We have the authority and the funds."

Construction will begin this summer on the extension education center, which will be located behind the WUNC-TV studios and will cost an estimated $6,005,000.

WORK ON sorority houses for Sigma Kappa and Alpha Delta Pi will also begin this summer. The houses should be ready for occupancy by fall of 1974.

Building activity scheduled to start this spring includes an extension to Ricks Hall, an additional boiler for university heating and the parking deck to be built in the East Coliseum Lot. "The parking deck will have room for 760 cars," Harris said, "and should be finished by next fall."

THE AUTHORIZED maximum budget for the deck is $1,840,000, however, Harris remarked, "That doesn't mean we'll spend this much."

Additional planned construction includes renovations which will be carried out in the Becton, Bagwell, and Berry quad during this summer. The proposed renovations will include landscaping as well as improvements to electrical systems and bathroom facilities. "This is coincidental with the fact that girls will be moving into the area next fall," Harris said.

SUMMER renovations are also scheduled for Clark Infirmary. They will be made primarily in the ground floor examining and waiting room areas.

Projects in the third category of planning are dependent on approval of the building budget being submitted to the current session of the North Carolina General Assembly. "Five million dollars is being requested for Priority One building needs," Harris said.

A MAJOR expenditure from this requested funding is the proposed one and a quarter million dollar addition to the School of Design. This addition would be located on the site presently occupied by the King Religious Building.

Other top priority requests, if approved, will provide funds for grounds improvements, an extension of Yarborough Drive, utilities renovations, and a new pedestrian underpass which would connect the University Plaza area with the new Student Center area.

IN ADDITION, $880,000 is being requested for renovations in Williams Hall and $366,000 for improvements in Reynolds Coliseum.

"Telescoping bleachers will replace the existing main floor bleachers, and they'll put in composition flooring instead of wood flooring," said Harris.

TWO BUDGET items are included in Priority Two requests being presented to the legislature. More prominent of the two is the proposed general academic building.

Housing the liberal arts facilities, the building will provide 260,000 square feet of space and cost an estimated $9,295,000. The location of the general academic building will be the present site of the 1911 Building.

A CENTRAL AIR conditioning plant for the university is the second proposed project included in Priority Two requests. The total amount of money needed to fund the Priority Two budget is 15 million dollars.

HOUSING NEEDS will require the building of additional married student apartments and a residence hall for 500 single students. Other requests are for land acquisition and additional parking structures.

Referring to budget requests now awaiting approval by the legislature, Harris said, "We hope we get all of it." He estimated that it will be at least 18 months before construction of any project in this third category can begin.
