

Law violation surfaces in library case

by Nell Perry
Staff Writer

A violation of a state law requiring state agencies to make daily deposits may have been behind the loss of D.H. Hill Library funds reported in January.

Dr. I.T. Littleton, director of D.H. Hill Library, stated that he "didn't realize that we were required to make daily deposits." He added that the practice had been going on for years.

James A. Weathers, Jr., Internal Auditor of the University, refused to comment on why the library did not know to make daily deposits.

JOHN R. WEAVER, of the North Carolina Auditor Department, said that he has been informed that daily deposits are now being made on campus. He added that it will be recommended that such action continue in the annual audit report which he is compiling.

J.D. Wright, vice chancellor for business affairs, said, "I am in the process of issuing a reiteration of our policy of daily deposits." However, he mentioned that as of yet the policy statement had not been distributed to campus departments.

It was originally reported that

$3,000 in cash was missing from the library. Littleton stated that $1,500 in checks was also missing, which brings the total loss to approximately $4,500.

LITTLETON STATED that all of the missing funds were from the photocopy department of the library.

At one time it was thought that as much as $7,000 might be lost, but Littleton explained that the extra $2,500 was "receipts that had not been received from the Business Office."

GENERAL PROCEDURE had been for library personnel to make deposits at the business office and the receipts would be sent to the library by mail.

Weathers said he does not think that in this case deposits have been miscredited by the Business Office.

Writers of missing checks have been informed by the Business Office that their checks are missing and that they should put a hold on the check.

ANNA HALL, an employee of the library, said she had written one of the lost checks. "I was told to put a hold on the check . . . I think we'll have to pay it again." She had written a check to Photocopy for $4.00.

Freida Stamper, head of the Photocopy Department said that records are kept of all checks received.

ACCORDING TO BILL Williams, director of Campus Security, there has been a delay in the investigation. "The SBI investigator has had schedule conflicts."

Williams added that no new developments have arisen and it is difficult to estimate how long it will take to conclude the case.

According to Wright, the library's loss was covered by insurance. "We will make a claim for the loss from the insurance company."

From janitors' viewpoint

At work before dawn

by Dale Johnson
Staff Writer

Coy Richardson pulled the handle of the mop slowly back and forth.

He was tired already from cleaning Dabney Hall, but damn, Bragaw was a pain. Does it just seem that way or is Bragaw really getting bigger?

HOURS EARLIER, before the sun had first sent its rays shattering against the horizon, Richardson had already begun his daily duties as a custodian at State. Five days a week, every week, for almost seven years he has kept janitor's hours—5 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. No wonder this dorm was getting bigger.

Still, it's better now than it was. He could remember when they also expected him to clean dorm rooms for what they paid.

WORK FOR Richardson and some 235 other custodial employees of the Building Services Department begins every day in the classroom buildings. These buildings are cleaned from 5 a.m. to 9 a.m. so as to minimize the number of people in the way. From 9:30 to 1:30, the janitors and maids clean corridors, suite halls, and restrooms in residence halls.

However, even these hours represent a decrease in the scope of the job over past years, according to George Lynch, buildings and maintenance superintendent of the Physical Plant.

"SIX YEARS AGO, we had only two female employees in our department. They worked in the only women's dorm, Watauga Hall. However, in the spring of 1969, due to an inability to attract enough male employees, we began to hire more females. We have no regrets over the move. It's been a very profitable one. At that time we still provided house-keeping services in dorm rooms.

"However, with more women on our staff (now more than 80), we had some complaints from male students about maids entering rooms at inconvenient times. This probably had as much to do with our decision to stop cleaning rooms as anything," Lynch said.

A FELLOW MEMBER of the crew, Rufus George, had been cleaning the next suite but stopped to listen to Richardson.

"Why? Some of the students were missing things and the janitors got blamed. A lot of times it turned out it was their friends who took what was missing," he said with a grin.

Lynch, leaning back in his padded swivel chair, said that with the reduction in janitorial responsibility came a corresponding 30 percent decrease in employment.

"No one was fired, we just didn't replace anybody who left. Our turn-

Elections

105 candidates battle for 55 SG positions

With the conclusion of Wednesday night's All Candidates meeting, student body election campaigns are off and running.

WILLIAM CURRIN, candidate for Student Body President, was the only major political candidate who failed to show for the meeting. His absence disqualified him and will remove his name from the ballot. Several candidates for senator also had their names removed due to lack of attendance.

WITH ONLY 105 students running for 55 political offices, this year's election falls behind last spring's record of 120. Other action at the meeting determined each candidate's position on the ballot and an explanation of advertising and financial matters of the campaigns.

The following is a list of candidates and the offices they are seeking:

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT (VOTE FOR 1): Terry (T.C.) Carroll, Jami Cauble, Mary Susan Parnell, Jim Pomeranz.

Ice cream bar, "tavern" set for Student Center

by Scott Schiller
Staff Writer

A $15,000 renovation will turn a basement room of the University Student Center into a "nightclub-tavern." The "nightclub-tavern" concept will replace the originally proposed 1940's Coke lounge.

Plans now call for an expanded ice cream bar to be built in the Student Center's main snack bar. The Student Center Board of Directors approved the change in the project.

B.A. FARRELL, a Design School graduate, created the concept and design of the "nightclub-tavern."

By the use of non-colors, Farrell has designed a room which creates a timeless, spaceless and drifting effect. Because there will be no windows and no outside view, Farrell feels that "the people who occupy the room will create the atmosphere."

THE ROOM WILL be comprised of two levels. The upper level will consist of the entrance and outlining areas. The carpeted upper level will also include a horseshoe-shaped wrap-around bar. The lower level will include several small tables and three white foam-cushioned sectional sofas which wrap around tables.

The room will seat approximately 100 people, including 20 at the bar.

Along the wall, 25 bronze-colored plexiglass mirrors will be suspended from the ceiling. The mirrors will move gradually back and forth. "This movement," according to Farrell, "will give the room an animated effect."

PICTURES AND POSTERS in bronze and silver will hang from the walls in front of the mirrors.

Though not definite, it was suggested by Farrell that a retractable screen would enable movies to be shown.

Associate Dean of Student Development Henry Bowers said of the "nightclub-tavern" concept, "A new, refreshing and different addition to the University Student Center will open next semester."

BOWERS SAID, "There will be live entertainment, but the intensity of it would depend on the overall response to the idea."

"No cover charge or admission would be required unless the quality of the entertainment deems it necessary," said Bowers.

Student Center Food Service will provide the catering. Bowers added, "Although no alcoholic beverage sales are in the foreseeable future, students would be able to bring their own beer and wine to drink."

'Nightclub' atmosphere best thing yet

The "nightclub-tavern" concept which will find form in the University Student Center will fill a void that the campus has lacked for a long while. The completion after many delays of the Student Center was heralded because it would give students a larger, more comfortable place to spend their spare hours and relax from the rigors of study. So far, however, it has not turned out that way.

There is a lot of wasted space, and entertainment areas for the students are minimal and not well-planned. Exceptions to this are the game room and the newly completed "Nub." Otherwise, entertainment is limited to TV viewing or eating. There are few areas where students can actually interact with one another in a pleasant atmosphere. For an age group a large number of which like to spend spare hours in such places as bars or taverns where there is an intimate club atmosphere, the Student Center has not had much to offer up to this point.

In fact, so far, the innovation has been so lacking that there has not been a great deal of difference between the new Student Center and the old Student Union. The potential of the new building has as yet been almost unrealized. With the appearance of the new entertainment area, this potential will in part be realized. The bids for the "nightclub-tavern" have already been let so it will not suffer the fate so many other University projects have in that they are proposed but nothing else is ever heard of them.

The planned "cabaret" type atmosphere of the new club will do much to enhance the entertainment to be found at the Student Center. Students will have a place where they can go that is not too fancy and not too dull. A place where they can rub elbows with other students will undoubtedly attract many State students who otherwise would choose not to spend time at the Student Center.

Of course, the "nightclub-tavern" will not be allowed to sell beer because of existing state law which prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages on state property. Hopefully, however, someday the University will either be able to bring about repeal of this law or legally circumvent it. The law is antiquated anyway just as the marijuana laws are, and it probably will not last for too long if the state legislators will open their eyes to the fact.

At any rate, until the law is changed about alcoholic beverages, the "nightclub-tavern" concept is shaping up to be the best thing that has as yet been initiated in the Student Center. It should fulfill a real need for students on the State campus.

EDITORIALS

A paper that is entirely the product of the student body becomes at once the official organ through which the thoughts, the activity, and in fact the very life of the campus, is registered. It is the mouthpiece through which the students themselves talk. College life without its journal is blank. Technician, vol. 1, no. 1, February 1, 1920.

Wasted time

Maybe it might not be a bad idea to just go ahead and abolish the N.C. General Assembly. All session the legislators have defied reason with their totally impotent attempts at lawmaking. They have concerned themselves with fewer matters of import so far than probably any other General Assembly in history. Now they are wasting their time on another issue that will have little effect one way or another on the well being of the state's citizens.

The problem presently under consideration is who should be able to control the State Elections Board, the governor's party, or the party with the most registered voters in the state. Naturally, the Democrats in the legislature would like to see the latter since that would insure them of control of the Board probably indefinitely. In opposition to this, Governor Holshouser and the Republican party in the state would like to see control of the Board fall under jurisdiction of the party in office since that would mean that control would be wrested from the Democrats.

The real issue at stake, however, is what difference does it make to anybody but the politicians? In actuality, it seems that the legislators are admitting that foul play goes on in the Elections Board. Why else would the control of it make any difference? There has to be some reason for wanting to pack the Board with party members. It would seem here that the Democrats are most guilty of this. They have controlled the Board for years, but all of a sudden they are reluctant to give up its control. There has to be some political asset connected with being able to appoint Elections Board members.

Right is probably on the side of the Republicans in this case. Maybe a little housecleaning in the Elections Board is a good thing. The Democrats should be willing to give up their prerogative to control the Board if, indeed, there is no wrongdoing going on. If they continue to be unwilling, it could possibly be assumed that something is being covered up.

If the Democrats have nothing to hide, they should be willing to relinquish control to the Republicans. It is likely that a turnover within the Board would have little or no effect on the state's citizens.

Since the legislators have nothing better to do, they have descended to bickering over petty politics. This is definitely not in the best interests of North Carolinians. The legislators are just wasting their own time, but more important, they are wasting the tax-payer's money. Maybe the General Assembly should be abolished.

Protect men from lunatics

Will you sleep safe tonight?

by John Walston
Editor

During this time of promises by political candidates to fulfill our wildest dreams, it's obvious that they are all missing the real gut issues of the campaign.

They should be working to insure that our most vital student rights are protected and that everyone gets a fair shake.

It is time for the men on this campus to demand that they receive the same treatment as women. Women are obviously given preferential treatment by University officials.

Let me state the case.

Women dorm students are provided protection during the darkest and gloomiest hours of the night. This service is provided to protect them from the lunatics, hoodlums, and other perverted maniacs roaming the campus in the wee hours of morn.

It is obvious that the University can no longer continue such biased protection. The males on this campus deserve the same protection.

University Housing should provide guards for each entrance to all male dormitories. These guards would carry out the same duties that the all-night receptionists at the female dorms do, no matter how ridiculous it may seem. Safety comes first.

Guards would check each guy's I.D. and charge them a fine if they don't have it or they could even refuse to let anyone in that didn't have an I.D., preventing any intruder from making it through the sacred dorm doors.

This policy is absolutely necessary if State is going to provide the same services to all students. Male students should be assured that they can go to sleep each night without fear of someone attacking them, raping them, or stabbing them with a knife.

Such security would insure safety and parents all over the state of North Carolina could rest calmly that their little boys were protected.

This would naturally boost enrollment with parents busing their kids to the University. This would provide the University with increased funds to pay for the extra guards and most likely would leave a surplus for other programs.

In this day of change and the Equal Rights Amendment, this procedure is not only necessary but vital to the Equal Rights Movement, which naturally all liberal universities support. Equal Rights is for everyone.

If the University will not listen to these demands, then it is time for male students to take action.

To show the University that they mean business, males should padlock their rooms and chain the outside doors at 12 midnight. This movement should progress into a hunger strike, with all participants refraining from leaving their dorm for classes and food. This should bring the necessary action from the University. If not, a good portion of the student body will die of malnutrition. Men of the campus—UNITE!

I would like to know how security accounts for the increasing number of unfair tickets they are giving to people in the Sullivan Lot. I have been noticing that security officers are giving tickets starting at 6:30 a.m. I would like to know why because I thought we had until 7:00 a.m. to move our cars.—B.C.

The Security Office stated that non-registered vehicles are allowed only on North Campus and the Coliseum Lot. North Campus is available from 7:00 p.m. to 8:00 a.m. Non-registered vehicles are allowed in student lots only on weekends from 5:00 p.m. Friday until 7:00 a.m. Monday morning.

I rented a locker in the D.H. Hill Library last fall. At the beginning of this semester I went back to use my locker and couldn't get into it. I was told that I had not renewed the locker at the appointed time and therefore my $5.00 deposit had been forfeited. I was never notified that the locker was to be renewed. I have returned my key but I still can't get my money back.—W.L.

Can a woman become pregnant if she has intercourse only during her period and at no other time? My girlfriend is using this as her only method of birth control. Her boyfriend insists she cannot get pregnant and I say that it is possible. If he sees it in print, maybe he will believe me.

I guess its time for my biennial missive on the subject. In case you've wondered, pregnancy occurs when intercourse takes place close enough to ovulation so that a sperm and an egg are in the same place about the same time. In the usual 28 day ovulatory cycle, menstruation (popularly called the period) is a very safe time to have intercourse. But, cycles vary in length, even for the same woman. Thus, when a woman's menstrual cycle is very short, i.e. under 21 days, she could be finishing her period at the same time she is ovulating.

Your very trusting girlfriend and her slightly clever boyfriend seem too willing to engage in a potentially dangerous situation and also limit their sexual contacts to a very few number of days in a month. Instead of their current approach they might consider using real, genuine, birth control. Physicians, some campus health centers and off campus clinics often provide excellent services in this area. If your friends do not want to avail themselves of professional services, there are still two other alternatives. They can take themselves to a nearby drug store and buy condoms and contraceptive foam or they can engage in mutual petting to climax which is free of hazards and requires no special equipment. An

When renting a locker students are given a statement to read and sign that includes the renewal policy. The Library placed renewal reminders in the Green Sheet and the Blue Bulletin, plus notices in the lockers themselves. Talk to a student member on the Library Committee about getting this policy changed. We think that part of the money should be returned if the key is returned.

I have smelly feet and its wrecking my sex life. At first I thought the problem was my boots. I have tried all sorts of commercial foot and shoe sprays and have even used such things as lysol and baking soda. I bathe daily, but the smell continues. What can I do? I have checked my toes and toe nails and there doesn't seem to be any fungus or infection.

Foot odor is caused by bacterial action on perspiration. Anything which enhances perspiration and keeps the feet moist tends to increase foot odor. Some people, however, do have particularly odoriferous feet. This can occur in spite of normal cleanliness and other measures, as you have indicated. These people should be especially cautious not to wear vinyl boots and shoes and would probably be better off with shoes that have leather soles as well.

The following simple suggestions usually help reduce the problem, even if they do not eliminate it completely. Feet should be carefully washed and, most importantly, be thoroughly dried before you put them in your shoes. The excessive use of powders is not recommended since they tend to cake up and trap odors. What might be helpful is the application of an underarm spray deodorant to your feet. This should decrease the amount of sweating that takes place and one reader told me it has worked wonders for him. If you do try this, make sure that you do not develop irritations from the antiperspirant.

Why did the contractor do nothing about the South Campus landscaping projects last week when the weather was so good? Everytime it rains, the area turns to mud, and I wish something was done about it.—B.D.

We were told that the contractor was working on another project outside of Raleigh, and that he will be back to campus soon. The proposed time of completion is the middle of April.

Why aren't the clocks across campus set the same way (synchronized)? It is hard to get to class when the clocks in some buildings are five minutes fast or slow.—F.L.

We are told that the clocks were the major point of debate on this campus back about 1918. Groups of students solved the problem then by roller skating from class to class. The clocks are still a major problem and the Physical Plant has found no solution. We note that roller skates would have a rough time on brick walks.

Statements of major office candidates

Student Body President

"TC" Carroll

I guess a lot of people on campus don't know any of the people running for any of the Student Government offices. In fact, a lot of students wonder what Student Government does besides get elected each spring. In this brief article I'd like to share a few of my ideas with you about areas in which a lot of students, including myself, would like to see Student Government concentrate.

Four particular areas I'm very concerned about, areas which are also of much concern to all students, are the large fee and tuition increases, the lingering parking problem, the growing problem of campus security (or lack of it), and the newly developed Legal Defense Corporation.

I feel well qualified for the office of Student Body President, and I will take the job very seriously. I feel the person in this office is responsible for representing the students to the administration, faculty, and the special interests on campus.

A brief description of my qualifications includes 2 1/2 years in dorm activities, Student Government, and Student Union activities from 1966-1969. I was then in the service and returned to State in January, 1972. Since returning, I've worked as Reading Clerk for the Senate, Student Government Senator, and chairman for NCSU's delegation to the North Carolina Student Legislature.

In an effort to get ideas from other students and find people interested in Student Government, I'm visiting the dorms, calling the off-campus students, and talking to different student organizations during the campaign week. I am setting up booths with brochures on my philosophies and ideas and am using questionnaires to catalogue your ideas in an effort to make Student Government much more representative and effective.

I would appreciate your help, your support and your vote.

Terry ("TC") Carroll

Jami Cauble

I feel that to have effective Student Government, we must have effective student leaders who know how to get things done on this campus. I think that my active involvement in Student Government for the past three years qualifies me for the office of Student Body President.

Since coming to State, I have been involved with many worthwhile Student Government organizations. I worked actively on the first student-run faculty evaluation at this school in the spring of 1971 as a member of the PSAM Council. I have also done work for several University Committees, and was a student senator. As President of the Senate this past year, it has been my pleasure to coordinate the activities of one of the most active Student Senates in many years. While serving in this capacity, I have accomplished many of the goals that I set for myself at the beginning of last fall. For example, I am at least partially responsible for the first campus-wide, student-run faculty evaluation that was conducted this spring. I formed the Bicycle Commission, and have worked successfully to get more bicycle racks on campus, as new racks are being ordered and should arrive later this spring. My request for action prompted the Raleigh City Council to have South Pullen Park reopened for student parking earlier than had been planned. I am also doing the Technician write-ups for Voice, the Student Government Hotline service that was initiated this semester.

Should I be elected Student Body President, I have several goals that I hope to accomplish next year. Firstly, I am opposed to, and will fight against any new increase in tuition and/or fees. I will strive to find a workable solution to the parking problem that will benefit students living both on and off campus. I will work for an improvement in the general living conditions in the dorms, including installation of kitchen facilities in the men's dorms. I will see that appointment procedures for University Committees are improved, and that these committees have stronger central coordination. I will work for more improvements in bicycle conditions, and would like to see greater interaction between our school and the other schools with Raleigh.

I sincerely hope that this campaign will be a clean and fair one, based on the issues. I have the utmost respect for the other candidates seeking this office; each has some fine ideas, and if I should win, I will certainly welcome their support and ideas, as well as that of all students.

Although I have been associated with different Student Government administrations, I have not been in agreement with many decisions that the past Student Body Presidents have made. However, I feel as though my experiences with Student Government will enable me to continue those projects which were good, and yet avoid the mistakes that have been made in the past.

The year ahead can be a prosperous one for us at State, and there is much we can accomplish if we work together. I ask you for your confidence and your vote.

Jami Cauble

Jim Pomeranz

I am a capable candidate for the office of Student Body President. I have been a member of the Alexander Residence Hall House Council three years, serving as treasurer for the last two. I am presently Vice-President of the University Student Center. This office primarily entails keeping expense records for the Union Activities Board and preparing activities reports for the Union Board of Directors.

I have definite goals to accomplish as Student Body President. These will aid all students at State. They are:

1. I am a strong advocate of giving all students a fair shake in every possible way. This does not mean all students should be treated as if there were not differences among them. There are individuals and groups with special problems on the State campus. All minority groups will have the chance to be represented on committees to give them a hand in policy making. Minority groups are an important part of the State campus. The incorporation of their ideas and principles are necessary for their betterment during my term.

2. I want to see the growth of all minor sports, so I and many others, will take equal pride in them as we do for basketball and football. More emphasis should be placed on minor, or non-income, sports and club sports than they now receive. I have written intramural stories for the Technician in an attempt to promote this small but very important aspect of campus life.

3. If elected I will work hard to establish a convenience food store on campus. A grocery store offering products to students at lower rates is highly possible and would benefit all students.

4. Parking is definitely a problem at State. Students should not be the ones parking miles away from their destination. They are the ones filling and vacating spaces throughout the day making them available for more students. The proposed parking deck will not solve the entire parking problem. A transit system incorporating the faculty and staff would be an effective measure dealing with this problem. They are the ones that should park on the perimeter of campus.

5. The co-op book exchange is just getting off the ground but progressing rapidly. Soon it will need more area and a system to allow students to know what books are available. I will work to locate the exchange so it will benefit the students and the exchange. A list of books in the exchange will be published for the students to help in the speedy selection of books.

My office as Student Body President will be open to all students to relate to their problems and help find solutions. I have aided the Union Activities Board chairmen throughout the year with problems relating to their programs and my duties as Vice-President. I have been willing and am willing to talk with and take action on behalf of any individual student or group of students on any problem.

The power of the Student Body President can be as strong or weak as the holder of the office. When elected I will be a strong President on behalf of the entire student body.

If you agree with these ideas endorse them on March 28 by voting for Jim Pomeranz for Student Body President.

Jim Pomeranz

Student Senate President

Kathy Black

The office of Student Senate President requires the ability to preside over the Senate in an organized manner, a dedication to representing not his own opinions but those of the Senate, and the responsibility to spend the time and effort required to do his job well.

My personal interests lie in two problem areas: The first of these is the problem of communication and organization with student government. There are a lot of people on this campus with great new ideas and possible improvements on old ideas. It is the responsibility of student government to aid these people in their research on their ideas and to make sure the idea is presented to the proper organization for consideration. Senate committees and student government officers should make themselves available for this service. The issues which come before the Senate should not be the ideas of the individual senators; rather, the student should use his senator as a medium for presenting his ideas and complaints.

Academics is my second area of interest. The main problems lie in the inefficiency of the advising system, the grievance system, and faculty and course evaluation. It is both the right and the responsibility of every student to demand more student involvement and drastic improvements in the systems as they now stand. Much time and effort has been spent studying these systems but improvements are slow in coming. We need students to simply express an opinion and get involved.

Kathy Black

Don Abernathy

My name is Donald Abernathy. As a freshman I was elected to the Student Senate. I served one year as committee chairman. I was a member of the Syme House Council and the Education Council two years, and an alternate to the Agri-Life Sciences Council. I have been on the wrestling team for three years. I am President of the Student Body, which is also an ex-officio member of Board of Trustees, Publication Authority, Student Senate, Student Center Board of Directors and other committees. I was a member of the FFA for four years. The FFA has given me a background in parliamentary procedure, three years in the Senate gives the background to preside in an efficient and orderly manner. I will strive to work with the council presidents so councils can become more involved in the decision making process.

As Senate President I will introduce legislation for any individual. I will place senators on committees where they can be most effective.

People have asked me why I would not run and changed my mind. I said, "I would not run for Student Body President." I am not running for Student Body President but for Senate President.

The main duties of the Senate President are on Wednesday night; this would leave me free on weekends for my business.

I am running as a sincere candidate interested in helping students gain voice in the decision making process. In the next few years the students can have a voice as a voting member of the Board of Governors instead of the non-member advisory voice which requires the students to go through a chain of command to give ideas. I will work with the new Student Body President so that together some of these goals can be reached for the good of the students. I am not supporting any candidate for the office of Student Body President nor trying to "swap" offices with any candidate. This is a free election; 13,800 people were free to run for any office. I can work with any of the candidates running for Student Body President.

I will give my assistance wherever it is requested to help the new president of the Student Body accomplish the goals of his or her administration.

I have been a supporter of the Wolfpack. If elected President of the Senate I want to strive for a school pride not only at athletic events, but even more so in the university as a whole that will carry over into the high schools of North Carolina encouraging them to attend N.C.S.U.

I want to thank students who have served on committees, the senate, and the Faculty Evaluation, the Bicycle Commission, the Judicial Board of Student Government. I want to thank Doris, Libby, and Pam for their work in the office. These people have made evaluation, Students Voice, and projects of Student Government possible. Credit for any degree of success in Student Government must be shared with these people.

If elected my services as an auctioneer will be available to any group. I ask you as an individual for your vote. I am a candidate representing the student interest and not my own individual ideas.

Don Abernathy

Jim Webb

One can best define the Student Senate as State's answer to Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In. For the past two years in which I've been a Senator, the Senate has been a complete disaster and bordered on lunacy.

There are a host of factors contributing to the Senate's failure. I maintain that the majority of its failure can be directly attributed to the ineffective leadership which it has enjoyed over the past years. One might then ask why I would seek to become President of such a bad joke.

The Student Senate cannot tolerate any further mismanagement. It is my opinion that the Senate has the potential to become an effective organization within the realm of student government. But for it to become effective, its power must be realized. Within the structure of student government, student power has become so fractionalized that it is virtually nonexistent. It is my judgement that the Student Senate is the best mechanism to regain this lost power. We must consolidate our efforts into a solid student organization. Only under positive leadership can the Senate become the nucleus of student government.

If elected, I will dedicate myself to conducting the meetings in a serious manner. I seek to add something new to the Senate meetings and that is parliamentary procedure. (This has been grossly neglected in the past.) Aside from the mechanics of the office, I will concentrate my efforts toward a total reorganization of the Student Senate.

The Student Senate has allowed itself to become lost within the bureaucracy of student government. The Senate must assert its authority as the center of student government. This can best be accomplished by a total examination and overhaul of the Senate structure. Its reorganization is long overdue.

A revolution is needed to build the Student Senate into an effective organization. In this revolution, I am a revolutionist. I have the experience, the initiative, and the desire to bring meaningful changes to the Student Senate. I seek your vote and support.

Jim Webb

Tyndall Epps

I, Tyndall Epps, am seeking the office of Student Senate President because I feel that I can make the Senate more efficient in its overall operation. Also I feel that I can establish effective communication channels to the student body. I have the experience, the initiative, and the desire to bring meaningful changes to the Student Senate. I seek your vote and support.

I feel that it is most important that the Senate President respond to student demands and see that all these demands are considered by the Senate. However, I also feel very strongly that the Senate President should be well versed in parliamentary procedure and be able to keep order at all times during meetings. My qualifications in parliamentary procedure come from presiding over two community clubs in which I was involved, my involvement with the Senate this year, and from my study of parliamentary procedures in order to become completely familiar with its fine points.

I also feel that I am capable of keeping the discussion and debate orderly and productive. It is in this capacity that the Senate fell far short this past year. This failure led to inefficiency in operation and caused negative attitudes toward the Senate.

In summary, the goals or objectives that I will strive to achieve if elected are:

1) To see to it that all discussion and debate is orderly and has purpose and meaning.

2) To establish more efficient communication channels to students in order to achieve more student involvement and input to Student Government.

3) To improve the liaison between the Student Senate and the administration and faculty.

4) To appoint committee chairmen in the Senate who have experience with the respective committee and who are responsible and sincere, regardless of whether or not they oppose or support my views.

5) To see that the Senate establishes early a fair, realistic, and workable Ticket Distribution Policy.

I am sincere in all of these points; and would appreciate the consideration of every student. Thank you.

Tyndall Epps

Student Center President

Brenda Harrison

What experience have I, Brenda Harrison, had in working with the University Student Center and its programs? Not only have I served as Chairman of Social Action Board this year but have also served in several other capacities on the Union Activities Board. These include serving on the Theater Advisory Board which plans programming for the Student Center Theater and serving as Secretary-Treasurer of All-Campus '73.

I have developed what I perceive to be a very good working relationship with the present officers of the University Student Center, with members of the Activities Board, and with the Programs Office staff. Having worked closely with all of these people as individuals and as a group, I have been able to see mistakes that have been made this year, evaluate them, and make plans for changes in next year's social programming so that our programs can be more along the lines of something for everybody.

A major problem this year has been in learning just which types of programs go over and which ones do not. This has been especially true in the areas of theater, concerts, and lectures. We have had some good concerts, lectures, and theater but not much of it really bowled students over and had them standing in lines to get a seat. Next year I would like to see more major theater productions, major concerts, and bigger names in lectures.

Since students' fees have been increased and the social programming budget will be increased by $20,000 next year, I feel that a portion of the money should be used to underwrite some of our entertainment so that students can enjoy quality and name entertainment at prices that won't hit their pocketbooks so hard. Also, it is my opinion that if the Union Activities Board would provide more freebies in say, the area of concerts and novelty entertainment, then students will not mind paying to enjoy quality, name groups.

Another major change I would like to see in next year's programming has to do with publicity and better planning. Poor planning and last minute publicity have both contributed to the failure of many events sponsored by the Union Activities Board. I elected, I hope to co-ordinate more activities between the boards and have them work together for more effective programming. Too, I would like to see the Vice President of the Center take charge of co-ordinating the publicity of all the boards.

Finally, in the area of student involvement, I would hope to make students more aware of the fact that the University Student Center and its organization are theirs and of just how the programming is supported by their student fees. Furthermore, I hope to encourage all students, Black, White and International students and all of their organizations to speak up, get involved, and get better use of the facilities and hopefully we can all see more and better social and cultural programming.

Based on my experience in the University Student Center this year, I consider myself qualified to be the next president of the University Student Center.

Brenda Harrison

Martin Ericson

Next school year over seven-tenths of a million dollars in student fees will be allocated to the University Student Center. I, Martin Ericson, can make sure that not only will the Student Center fees not be increased as they were this year (to the tune of $20.00 per student), but that you will also get the most return for your money. Remember, this money will probably be spent one way or another. It is up to you to elect a President who will, with his direct and advisory controls, see that this money goes into areas that can best benefit the students.

I have valid credentials in student programming, being a member of a Social Program Board since the first semester of my freshman year. My efforts led to my appointment as Films Board Chairman this fall. The films shown during the spring semester were selected by the committee as a whole, but I agree completely with the philosophy of providing first-rate film entertainment at reasonable prices for the student. This also can be a reality for other programs.

I have recently represented the Student Center at the National Entertainment Conference. Through my involvement at the conference I am now more aware of the difficulties in booking top-notch rock entertainment and other concert groups. Problems in other areas, such as theatre, films, and lectures were discussed and the knowledge gained from these discussions should be invaluable to me next year.

Beyond the Center program, there are several other areas that warrant study. A good hot food service should be open for the student for as many hours as are economically feasible. Also, since students aren't known for their regular hours, at least a machine food service should be kept open 24 hours a day. Both of these proposals are reasonable and I will try to carry

These are the position papers that were received prior to a stated deadline. The absence of a candidate's position paper does not mean that they are no longer running. It simply means they missed the deadline for publication. All candidates are listed in the order that they will appear on the ballot. This is to prevent any preferential treatment of any candidate.

them out. The Student Center can also be made more comfortable for the student.

The world (or even the small part of it that is the Student Center) will not come to an end if my opponent, Brenda Harrison, is elected. She would be a capable administrator. However, I feel I can present a program popular to more students while at the same time holding a tight rein on rising prices that could lead to another fee increase in the near future.

So, for financial responsibility and more popular programming at the Center vote for me

Martin Ericson

Student Body Treasurer

Alan Goldberg

In running for reelection I hope to complete programs which I have pushed through and initiated this year. These programs involve expansion of the Co-op store to one that could supply the students, by-laws established and incorporation of the Legal Defense Corporation, and establishment of an Executive Investigation Committee to maintain a vigilant eye on University policies.

I am concerned about Student Government and I would like to give my time and effort to see the existing programs completed which I have started.

Having been a senator 2 years and Student Body Treasurer this year, I think I have knowledge and experience in all aspects of Student Government. The best way to express my campaign platform is to outline the goals I hope to reach.

There are mainly three that stand out:

1) LEGAL DEFENSE CORPORATION
Throughout the year I have recognized the Legal Defense Corporation as an institution vital for the extension of student's rights. In an effort to introduce this newly formed corporation to the students, I will push several attainable powers made available by this corporation. The projects made possible by these powers will enable the corporation to:

A. Initiate legal actions which will secure rights and benefits for the student body and fund students desiring to effect this action on their own.

B. Publish booklets on laws involving student's everyday life.

C. Encourage and carry on experimental and other projects to study the problems of student confrontation with the law.

D. Provide an availability and compilation of information and administrative procedures.

2) PHYSICAL PLANT WASTEFULNESS
Since 1962, Physical Plant has skyrocketed to a 253% increase in expenditures. An investigation is being carried out by members of the executive investigative committee as to disbursement of Physical Plant's four million dollar budget.

Work load studies predicted by Physical Plant indicates a need for 106 additional employees at a budget increase of $580,688. A closer look at Physical Plant shows it has also established in-service training such as Defensive Driving Courses and Adult Basic Education Courses. These facts point out that this University has become a harbor for the state's unemployment problem. If so, must students suffer by paying the exorbitant prices charged by an overstuffed Physical Plant?

A complete investigation needs to be organized to investigate these and several other discrepancies and unorthodox procedures utilized by Physical Plant now!

3) CAPITALIZATION ON UNIVERSITY INIQUITIES

Why does the University spend $10,000 on needless parking surveys? (This survey indicated the number of parking spaces on campus and several possible transit system paths) Why shouldn't vending machine profit in dorms be recycled through the dorms instead of being recycled through the supply store? An end must be put to these unjust policies and needless lavish expenditures. Students' opinions should become policy rather than remain opinions.

If I am given a chance to continue, I will be able to complete my already started programs. I ask you to consider my past performance and future willingness. I would appreciate your vote for Student Body Treasurer.

Alan Goldberg

David Guth

The office of Student Body Treasurer should concern each student. The Treasurer is your representative in all financial matters and should act on your behalf. This has not been done. A change is needed.

The largest part of each student's expenses are the fees paid to the University. The present fees have not been justified to the students. Do you know the fees you are paying? How much? Why? To whom? For what? These questions are vital to your welfare and need answers. As your Treasurer I will investigate all aspects of the fee situation and report the results publicly.

Students have recently gained a means to represent themselves legally—the Student Legal Defense Corporation. Despite its present state of inaction, the potential for next year is tremendous. This legal representation will have great impact on the university community and must be utilized in the students' best interests. As your Treasurer and a member of this Corporation, I shall fully support and work to advance students' rights.

I am actively involved in student government. I am Treasurer of the Liberal Arts Council, of which I have been a member for two years. Also, having been a Senator for two years, I am acquainted with the diverse problems confronting our student body. These experiences have qualified me for the position of your Student Body Treasurer. As one of the delegates to the NCSL, I am sponsor of an environmental protection bill. This semester I have assisted the student-run faculty evaluation committee and have participated in numerous school activities.

The Student Body Treasurer is an important student representative. He must be qualified, hard-working, questioning, and publicly committed to students. I am. And I ask you to vote DAVID GUTH, number two on the ballot, for Student Body Treasurer. It will make a difference.

THE CRITICS AGREE STORY THEATRE IS GREAT!

The Stage: 'Story Theater' Opens at Ambassador

It's a Play for People
Who Distrust Plays

PAUL SILL'S STORY THEATRE, an entertainment with music, adapted and directed by Paul Sills, music performed by The True Brethren, set designs by Michael Devine, lighting and projections by Stephanie Kline, costumes by Stephanie Kline, production stage costumes by H. R. Poinsett, production stage costumes by Don Winton, produced by the manager, presented with the cooperation of the City Center of Music and Drama, Norman Singer, executive director; the Shubert Organization and Theater Development Fund, as originally presented at the Mark Taper Forum, by the Center Theater Group of Los Angeles, at Gordon Davidson, artistic director, at the Ambassador Theater, 215 West 49th Street.

By CLIVE BARNES

Let me beat no longer about the bush. I had a great evening last night at Paul Sill's "Story Theater" at the Ambassador Theater. I adored the show, which brings back to magic and innocence to Broadway, raises characters of an strange eminence of an art form, and demonstrates the essential theatricality of children's games.

This is not ordinary Broadway fare. And it is so pure for that. But it is so pure and simple, so direct in its and simple, that it could well literary, that it could regular come as a shock to regular Broadway theater patrons. In fact, this is perhaps best characterized as a Broadway show for people who have previously given up Broadway shows.

Mr. Sill believes—as I imagine he believes—that the theater is an art primarily of imitation. He assumes that the actor is more important than the author, and that words are only a necessary bridge of expression between the actor's image of reality and the audience's impression of art. In "Story Theater" he takes some fairy tales from the Brothers Grimm and transforms them into the evening hilarious.

There are eight actors, backed up by a rock-folk combo, the True Brethren, dressed in simple multipurpose costumes by Stephanie Kline, given a minimal setting by Michael Devine and ting by H. R. Poinsett. And the evening dexter.

The stories, of course, are often familiar, and most of them have that off-beat moral twist, beloved of the best fairy stories, and that very special questioning quality which is the special prize of childhood.

Mr. Sill started, I understand, with the improvisational techniques of Chicago's Second City troupes, but he has come a long way since then. These fables are no more improvised than are the more of Grotowski's Polish Theater Laboratory. The actors have worked out the story, the lines, the action, and it has all been marvelously pulled together by Mr.

Sill's staging and miraculously re-endowed with spontaneity.

The eight actors are evenly matched and marvelous. They aim at producing images, somewhat like cartoon characters, rather than polished actors, and their acting very characterizations. And the technique is not at all complex. The characters are in effect their own narrators. They speak of themselves at first in the third person. Often it will sound as if they were reading out stage directions. Always they will mime actions to fit the words. At times, where appropriate, they will quite naturally drop into the first person.

The aural effect is that of having a story read to you, and yet with the key sentences characterized. But the visual effect is of some wildly imaginative mime, silent movie, or even a ballet. The movie is rehearsed to a evening is rehearsed to a sharp knife-edge of perfection, and part of its special joy is the dizzy deftness of the performers.

There are—and honesty compels me to admit it—faults. Amid all this surface discipline of the performance there is an occasional self-indulgence to be found in the internal characterizations.

Brothers Grimm Give It a Springboard

Once in the while the actors, lost in the magic of being able to go so far in their contact of the audience, go too far, and their acting very occasionally loses the clear-drawn line of caricature essential to the style.

What Broadway is going to make of "Story Theater" is very unpredictable. It is very unpredictable. It is possible the first modern staging—really modern that is—to be seen on Broadway since Peter Brook's "Marat/Sade," and it must surprise a lot of people. And those who cannot tell the golden difference between childlike and childish may find themselves in for a tedious evening. For this is for the pure in mind.

The actors were so happily and evenly matched that to mention them separately would merely be to diminish their achievement. Let me therefore list in alphabetical order: Peter Bonerz, Hamid Hamilton Camp, Melinda Dillon, Mary Frann, Valerie Harper, Richard Libertini, Paul Sand and Richard Schaal. Go and just enjoy this one. It has no message—other than the one that the theater lives and renews itself. Great, unequivocally great.

Campus carnival

Features a lunar landscape setting as its theme

by Connie Lael
Staff Writer

Campus Carnival which will be held in conjunction with All-Campus Weekend, promises to be bigger and better this year than ever before.

LOCATED BETWEEN the upper intramural field and Western Boulevard, the '73 version of the carnival will feature a lunar landscape as its theme. "We want to have the regular carry atmosphere," said Bill Gardner, co-chairman of the Carnival Committee, "but without the professionalism involved."

Four rides will be the carnival's main attractions. A tilt-a-whirl, a ferris wheel, a swinging gym and a new ride called the frolic have been booked. All rides will be sponsored and run by APO.

In addition, there will be the usual game booths. An egg toss and a dunking booth are already under construction. Prizes will range from food and drink to stuffed animals and inflatable softdrink cans.

AT PRESENT, the carnival committee is looking for any dorm, fraternity or other organization willing to sponsor a game booth. Each sponsor receives the first $50 and a 50% cut of the gross intake. The only limitation on booths is good taste.

Craft displays in leather-goods, wood-working and pottery will be put together by several on-campus groups.

As in the past, there will be numerous concession stands catering to many tastes. This year, pizza and submarine sandwiches will be offered for sale by the veterans.

Other organizations will provide hot dogs, cotton candy, icees and candied apples. Popcorn, a usual carry favorite, is one item deleted from menu.

ALL PROCEEDS from the carnival go to campus chest, and in turn to a traditional list of charities. The list, used for 20 years now, is made up of two campus charities, two national ones, one international and one community charity.

Last year over $1,400 was donated to these organizations from contributions and carnival income.

CONTRIBUTIONS for the '73 Campus Chest are still being solicited. Those interested either in game booths or donations should contact Bill Gardner or Jack Laney for more information.

Auditions for hootenanny scheduled for next week

by Larry Pupkiewicz
Staff Writer

Although there is much controversy over All-Campus '73, there are some aspects of the event that must continue in spite of the confusion.

AMONG THESE IS the audition for the Hootenanny that starts off the entire weekend festivities.

These auditions are set for March 28 and 29 at 7 p.m. in the Rathskellar of the University Student Center. All interested musicians are asked to sign up at the Information Desk of the Student Center where they can get more information if needed.

DAN HARVEY, coordinator for the event, said that any local group or individual performer is welcomed to try out.

"We're looking for folks groups, country, bluegrass and popular bands," Harvey said. "The only kind of group we discourage are those that play hard rock since there will be plenty of that type of music during the weekend."

THE JUDGES for the audition have not yet been named, but they will be members of Mu Beta Psi, the honorary music fraternity sponsoring the Hootenanny.

"Prizes of $75, $50, and $25 will be awarded to the best three groups, but we would like about seven or eight groups to perform that Saturday afternoon of All-Campus," Harvey added.

Concert aids earthquake victims

The Raleigh unit of the Ananda Marga Universal Relief Team and the University YMCA will sponsor a benefit concert for earthquake victims in Nicaragua in the Student Center Ballroom tonight at 8:00.

DAVE MAUNEY, musician-in-residence, will be the featured guest. Several local groups will also perform.

The concert is the second of a series being held to fund relief programs now functioning in Nicaragua. Admission will be $1.50.

Chaplains commemorate season of Lent

by Sandra Millers
Staff Writer

A series of Lenten services commemorating the passion history of the Lord Jesus Christ is being conducted on campus by University chaplains.

MEL WILLIAMS, assistant pastor of Pullen Memorial Baptist Church, and Bill Wells, Episcopal chaplain, are in charge of the services.

Explaining the meaning of Lent in the Christian faith, Wells said, "Lent is the forty day period before Easter. It is the time seen traditionally by the church over the last two millennia as a time of preparation for Easter."

Traditionally, fasting and a limitation of activities were expected of Christians during Lent. Today, however, Lent is considered more as a time of anticipation, looking toward the coming resurrection of Christ at Easter.

Through serious contemplation of the reasons for the hardships and death experienced by Jesus Christ, serious self-examination leading to personal confrontation with the God of the resurrection is position for Easter."

"LENT IS TO TAKE YOU out of the constant stream of energy for a while to think about yourself, about where you're going, and about where the Christian faith fits into that," said Wells.

In observance of the Lenten season, short litany services are being held every morning, Monday through Friday at 8:30 in Danforth Chapel.

Communion services are also being conducted by Chaplain Wells each Wednesday afternoon at five in the Baptist Student Center.

On Sunday mornings at ten o'clock, interdenominational contemporary worship services are being held in Danforth Chapel. Wells cited the theme of these Sunday services as "health, wholeness, and love emerging from the midst of suffering."

WELLS EXPLAINED that the Lenten season is culminated by its final week, known as Holy Week.

Beginning with the celebration of Palm Sunday, the day of Jesus's triumphant entrance into Jerusalem as "King of the Jews," the tone of the week changes on Maundy Thursday, the day when the Lord's Supper or Holy Communion was first instituted in the Upper Room.

"It became apparent to the disciples then that they really didn't know what He (Jesus) was all about," said Wells. Wells also explained that late Thursday night came the arrest of Jesus, followed early Friday morning by a hasty trial which resulted in His crucifixion and death.

ON EASTER SUNDAY three days later, the sadness of Holy Week erupted into joy for the followers of Jesus as He once again appeared among them alive. "This event is celebrated and known by the Christian church as the Resurrection," remarked Wells.

Noting the parallel between the chronology of Holy Week and the theme of the Sunday services at Danforth Chapel, Wells explained. "We are juxtaposing Holy Week with horrors known to us in the twentieth century, using source material such as Archibald MacLeish's play, "J.B." which is a modern day narrative of the book of Job. Also, we'll be using documentation on death in the Nazi concentration camps."

BAPTIST MINISTER Mel Williams is conducting another type of service at the Student Center on Wednesday mornings at 7:30. Students are invited to come, buy their breakfast at the Snack Bar and carry their trays upstairs to the Walnut Room for a brief time of fellowship and worship.

"It's a great way to start the day!" remarked freshman Cathy Meglaughlin, who has attended several of the Lenten prayer breakfasts.

The two chaplains are being assisted with the services by O.B. Wooldridge, Co-ordinator of Religious Affairs here at the University.

Fairy tales put to rock music

The University Student Center Theatre will rock to the music of Bob Dylan, George Harrison and Country Joe McDonald on Wednesday and Thursday, March 28 and 29 when "Story Theatre" comes to the campus.

SPILLING WARMTH AND gaiety across the footlights in a format similar to Godspell which was a smash hit here last December, eight talented young actors garbed in colorful ragbag costumes and four musicians enact ten of the Grimm's Fairy Tales.

The tales are dramatized, to a rock score, with liberal doses of mime, a spot of ballet, much mugging and a general air of magic and innocence. An evening of "Story Theatre" leaves the audience feeling warm and wonderful.

THE PLAY, WHICH ran a full season on Broadway with rave reviews, will appear here fully staged, costumed and lighted, exactly as it was seen in the Ambassador Theatre on Broadway.

It is directed by the original director and creator, Paul Sills. Sills was the genius of Chicago's Second City Troupe which included such notables as Mike Nichols, Elaine May and Barbara Harris.

PERFORMANCE TIMES are at 8 p.m. on March 28 and at 2 and 8 p.m. on March 29. Prices are $2.00 matinee and $3.00 evening for students, and $3.00 matinee and $4.00 evening for the general public.

Tickets and reservations are available at the University Student Center Box Office.

Enacting ten of Grimm's Fairy Tales, these young actors will appear in the performance of "Story Theatre" next Thursday.

Smoral waiting for next season

by Jeff Watkins
Assistant Sports Editor

Steve Smoral was a victim of circumstances. Last season, as a sophomore, he started for the Wolfpack. This season, in his junior year, he spent most of his time with the Wolflets, watching from the sidelines during the varsity contest. Anyone with feelings would naturally be disappointed, and maybe angered by this turn of events. Some people might even chuck the whole thing and quit. But not Smoral.

Steve Smoral saw limited action on the varsity this season, playing mostly for the jayvees. (photo by Cain)

"IT BOTHERED ME at first, but after a while I got used to it," he said, taking a breather from his economics problem. "I just felt like I could have had some more playing time on the varsity than I did. I had just a little bit at the beginning of the season. I just felt like I had something to contribute."

Along with senior guard Joe Cafferky, Coach Norm Sloan used Monte Towe, Mark Moeller, and Craig Kuzsmal, all sophomores.

"I guess if you got a combination, you stick with it,"

Smoral noted, referring to the 27-0 record for the Pack.

"I NEEDED TO improve, I knew that," he continued. "And jayvee ball helped me. I know I can do different things now that I couldn't do before. I couldn't handle the ball that well last year, and that was evident. I feel I can handle the ball better now, and that came out of jayvee ball."

"I enjoyed playing jayvee ball, 'cause I got to play a lot, but you miss the varsity competition. It was super this year."

"But that's the way it had to be. They (coaches) had the guys selected. At the beginning of practice they saw who could do the job. They felt that Moeller or Kuzsmal could've done a little bit better job than I did."

"I QUESTIONED that a little bit. I thought this year I had a little thing going this year called experience," Smoral chuckled. "But they play great. All the sophomores do."

It takes a little mental psyching to adjust to the uncomfortable role of benchwarmer after logging considerable playing time.

"Sometimes I try to console myself by saying, 'Well, shoot, you're on the number two team in the nation. You've gotta be pretty good to play.'"

Smoral feels that he needs to work on quickness and defense in the future to regain a regular position on the varsity squad.

"I'm going to summer school," Smoral continued. "I'll probably go to some basketball camps and work at it on my own. Mainly it's just going to be defense and ball handling. Playing time is what I need."

Wolfpack falls to Cornell, hosts meet tomorrow

by Bill Moss
Staff Writer

State defeated Appalachian State but finished second to Cornell University in a three way meet which opened the outdoor track season Tuesday. In spite of the loss, Jim Wilkins, David Bracey and Bob Wilson all turned in excellent performances to lead the Wolfpack.

Wilkins lowered his own school record in the 880 by a half second with a 1:51.3 and Bracey broke the school record in the 120 high hurdles with a 14.4 time. Coach Jim Wescott described the two as "our most outstanding performances." Wilson established a new school record in the six mile, winning that event in 30:12.5.

COACH WESCOTT also had praise for Sid Allen, who bettered his personal best in the two mile by 15 seconds. "This was a good start for him in this race. He'll be running the steeplechase later."

Wilkins, who was a double winner, battled with Cornell's Anastasio for the final lap of the 880 and won by a tenth of a second. Wescott said, "I was very glad to see him run a good competitive race." Wilkins also won the mile in 4:10.7.

Haywood Ray and Dorsey Smallwood were both out with injuries and Wescott stated that they were "two kids that would have made quite a difference." David Thompson, who triple jumps, was also missing from the meet but he is expected to compete tomorrow against Lafayette, Virginia and Wake Forest here.

TOMORROW'S MEET should be a good one as Ray and Smallwood are expected to run. Wescott said that "this should be a relatively close meet between State and Virginia. Virginia's outstanding competitor will be Kent Merritt, the indoor 60 yard dash champion. They have a well rounded team."

With Smallwood and Ray running against Merritt, "the 100 should be a good race." Wake Forest will bring Jerome White, a high jumper who has gone 6'10". The meet gets underway at 1:30 with the field events. Running events start at 2:15.

Next Saturday State hosts the Atlantic Coast Relays with 22 of the best schools in the East entered. Wescott said, "It should be a real good meet."

Organizations searching for new homes

by Kathie Easter
Staff Writer

"Nothing will ever take the place of the Ghetto," said Don Bell, president of the Society for Afro-American Culture.

In approximately one year, several organizations, including the Ghetto located in the 62 year old King Religious Center, will have to relocate. If the General Assembly approves the money for a new wing of the Design School, the building will be torn down to provide space for it.

"We are helping these organizations find some other space on campus since it looks as if they will have to relocate in about a year," said Banks Tally, Dean of Student Affairs.

"I understand that we have at least until the summer of '74 to find other space. It is imperative that black students find somewhere else to go before the building is torn down," said Bell.

According to Bell, many black students are disturbed by the prospect of losing the Ghetto, a meeting place for black organizations on campus.

Other organizations which will be displaced include the YMCA, the APO service fraternity, and Alpha Phi Alpha, a social fraternity which provides social services for the black communities.

APA president Evans Taylor said APA does not anticipate any difficulties in relocating and may move into a fraternity house.

Former APO president Al Burkhardt said, "We tried to move about two years ago and found that there was no space to move to. Space is at a premium on this campus. The new union has really been very poorly planned as far as space is concerned. At the moment, we're meeting in our old room at King and storing stuff in the old Technician dark room. When we do have to move, I have no idea where it will be."

No space will be allocated to these organizations in the new building; however, the administration is helping a committee made up of representatives from each organization to find some other space on campus.

"Of course, we don't know if the money will be appropriated, but we want to help these organizations that have done so much for the campus in case it is and they do have to move. This has been anticipated for quite some time," said Tally.

Using 'blitz', janitors sweep dorms clean

over rate is pretty high," he said.

"I guess if you talked to them, the first thing they'd all say was that they wanted more money. But I guess anybody would say that."

"A JANITOR AT State now starts at $4,188, a salary the state sets. There are six pay scales. After each of the first two years, the employee will be raised to the next scale. After that, raises are made on the basis of merit. The top pay scale for one of our employees is now $5,220 a year."

Lynch paused, contemplating the figures on his lap.

"It's a bad situation. You might have a real crackerjack employee and you still couldn't pay him more than $5,220. Still, salaries for our people have been increased about five percent a year for the last six years."

RICHARDSON DUNKED his mop in the murky rinse water, removed it and wrung the excess moisture from it as he has done many times before.

"Well," he said, "if I had to change one thing about my job, it would be to have buckets on each floor. We don't like going up and down steps with buckets."

George, a veteran of five years at State, paused at what Richardson had said.

"ANOTHER THING we don't like is the way we don't have our own rooms (to clean) anymore. We rotate the rooms we clean now. But it seems like we got them better when we had certain rooms to clean everyday," George said.

A ring of smoke encircled Lynch's head as he took a deep pull on his cigarette.

"We use the 'blitz' method in our housekeeping," the superintendent said. "We feel this is the best way, the most efficient way of using our employees."

"Besides the housekeeping crews in the dorms, we have several specialist crews who work at the same task all the time. There are specialist crews who continuously strip wax floors and clean carpets, others who do nothing but clean windows, and still others who distribute campus mail," he said.

"Thirty years ago, a janitor had to do it all: fire the boiler, mow the yard, clean buildings. Now we find that if we can have a man doing only one thing, he'll get good at it and become an expert."

"We're talking about a $1.5 million per year business now for maintenance work at State. And overall, I'd say our operation is one of the most efficient I know of."

RICHARDSON CAUGHT up with his friend walking out of the lobby.

"Hey, Wilbert. You finished?"

"Yeah, Coy. You need a ride?"

"No, man. Check you later."

Coy Richardson was through another day.
