North Carolina State University's Student Newspaper Since 1920

Notch first ACC victory Cagers crush Cavaliers pursuit of funds

Tiny Pinder hauled down a game-high 13 rebounds in State's 87-67 win over Virginia

They may be a little rusty. And they may even have forgotten some of the notes. But to all the State fans present Saturday in Reynolds Coliseum the sweet notes of 'Old MacDonald' could not have sounded

As the forlorn faces of the Cavalier As the forforn faces of the Cavalier players gazed upward toward the clock, it was crying time again. Only this time, for the first time in five conference games, the Wolfpack loyals would not go home searching for explanations.

There was explanation enough on the floor—Hawkeye Whitney. 27 points, eight rebounds, four assists, and enough dazzlement to help 9,800 fans forget three Atlantic Coast Conference home games when 'Old MacDonald' was shelved for 'future references.

Conference home games when 'Old MacDonald' was shelved for future reference.

Now, we haven't changed anything. It's been a very difficult period for us. We've stayed with the same players, the same offense. We didn't use any pyschological gimmicks," noted a relieved Norm Sloan whose 19th ranked Wolfpack upped its record to 13-6. 1-5 in the ACC with its 87-67 verdict over the Cavs.

Whitney did his own psyche job on Cavalier Mike Owens, Owens, who knew in advance the explosive capabilities of the 6-5 jurior, toiled in desperation until he fouled out late in the game, along with four of his te.mmates.

Hawkeye's from my area, so I knew what he's capable of doing,' said Owens, "I feel good for him that he played well, I'm just sorry that it came against us."

State olaved the same type ball came against us."

State played the same type ball that it has been throughout the five game losing skid. Maybe even worse, on paper. Hitting only 40 percent for the game (34 percent in the second half) and committing 14 turnovers does not read out to be an impressive display. But most people don't read the stats, they read the seoreboard. Tiny Pinder moved into the pivot when Sloan went to the small lineup following Craig Watt's fifth foul with 13:14 left in the second half. Pinder led all players with 13 rebounds and was the second highest State scorer with 13 points even though he only shot three of 12 from the floor. "Tiny couldn't seem to get started," said Sloan, "We had to take him out and start him over. He was on the verge of having a fine game."

With the small lineup, State did not employ the zone even while they were up by margins of 10 to 12 points in the second half.

Art Jones, Kenny Matthews and Tony Warren shared the responsibilities of keeping hot-handed Lamp under control. And, while the hot-handed sophomore enjoyed a fine 38-point game, Sloan thought the Pack, did a good defensive job.

"I had a bunch of cliche's picked out for how we stopped Lamp but I can lorget that," said Sloan. "We defended the heck out of him but he's almost impossible for one man to stop."

Lamp, who equalled his career high Saturday with his 38 point effort, did not feel it was his best game.
"No, not by a long shot, Just game.

"No, not by a long shot. Just because you score a lot of points doesn't mean it's been a good game," he said. "Heck, give State credit. They were very aggressive defen-hesitance, and apathy.

|See "Pack", page 4|

"We don't have that kind of participation—not at the present," said Triad resident director O.J. Spooner.
"It would be a good thing, if we could get the propule."

people." ran Ditto, West Campus area rran Ditto, west Campus area coordinator, agreed.
"No, we aren't involved in that at all," she said. "The question of participation would be up to each floor's resident advisor, but I personally would like to see it."

YMCA continues

After a Wednesday conference with the National YMCA Southeastern Regional chairman, leaders of the campus YMCA have announced they will continue in their efforts to regain usage of funds now under the control of Student Development.

The funds, totalling over $21,000, have been a source of contention between Y members and Student Development Director Jeff Mann since last April, when the transfer was initiated by Mann.
Until then, $19,000 of the money was last. April, when the transier was initiated by Mann.

Until then, $19,000 of the money was in a campus YMCA fund and $2000 existed in chapel fund. When Mann transferred the money he combined the two funds into a Student Affairs Special Projects Fund, accessible only through the authority of himself and an administrative co-signer.
The campus Y members have contended that the move was unjustified and whittled funds accessible to them from approximately $19,000 to little more than $500.

Mann has said that the campus organization is not re as a chapter of the Nationa as a chapter of the National YMCA organization and is not entitled to the funds, amost of which were collected when State had a charter membership. Until 1975, the Y operated out of the King Religious Center, an on-campus facility which was demolished that year. Shortly afterward, the Y lost their salaried adviser, O. B. Woolridge, who retired from the University.

No facility

Since then, the Y has had no facility to operate from, nor has the salaried adviser position been reopened. Now occupying an office in the Cultural Center, the organization plays a lesser role of significance in campus affairs and operates on a far smaller scope than the original charter for which the funds were meant, according to Mann.

In their meeting with Earl Armstrong Wednesday the club's copresidents discussed their position and

All-nighter:reelin' the night away

If you have ever spent an "all-nighter" crouched over a desk with stacks of lulling texts, you should find Friday's NCSU All-nighter at the Student Center much more pleasant. Entertainment, instead of study, will dominate State's first entirely nocturnal party event—Student Center President Ron Luciani says that the idea for the all-nighter was supplied by other colleges and universities that have had recent success with similar affairs.

All students and their guests are invited to the Student Center, which will open for the bash at 5 p.m. and will remain open until 4 a.m. Saturday morning when the activities will come to an end. The admission is free and Luciani says that many prizes will begiven away throughout the night.

"It is new for us this year," said Luciani. "It ought to be a good way to kick off the new semester."

The project, which is sponsored by the Union Activities Board and the Inter-residence Council, will start off with a steak dinner when the doors open. The dinner will feature a porterhouse steak, baked potato, salad bar, and iced tea and will cost $3.75.

Tickets may be purchased at the Student Center business office on the building's third floor under a first come, first served basis. Art White, Director of University Food Services.

says that he is estimating preparations for about 400 students.

Beginning at 7 p.m. pool and backgammon tournaments in the Student Center basement will be featured with prizes going to the winners. Sign-ups for the tournaments will be held from 5 pm until 7 pm in the lobby of the center.

At 8 pm there will be a beer-chugging contest for those who did not get their fill of steak and potatoes. At 9 pm the event Luciani says "should be really interesting" will feature the slogan "A Night at the Races." Sponsored by the Activities Board, the races will be produced by a professional group. that will provide "fake" money, race odd charts, and color films of races described and called by official announcers. The results of the races will be sealed prior to the event to insure secreey.

Roll a joint

Roll a joint

A paper airplane throwing contest will be held at 9 pm. The contest will start from the fourth floor and will start from the fourth floor and will involve accuracy tests with targets planted on the second floor. Also beginning at 9 pm will be disco dancing in the ballroom; admission is free. Balloon and dart throwing competition will start at 9:30 in the North Gallery, and a magician will perform in the lobby at 10 pm.

A certain crowd pleaser at 11 pm will be the joint-rolling contest, including three classes of competition with 30

|See "Big", page 4|

East Campus leads way in reclammation efforts

hy Terry Martin Asst. News Editor

The efforts of East Campus residents to recycle paper and aluminum are currently the only such organized operation aimed at utilizing wastes generated by State's 16 dorms, according to area coordinators.

Those efforts netted over 4500 pounds of newspapers, computer print-outs, pizza boxes and beer cans last semester, said Inter Residence Council (IRC) representative Jeanne Goodyear.

Organizers expressed pleasure with the returns, pointing out that the program began in mid-semester and was for the most part coordinated through the efforts of a small number of concerned individuals.

Quad area coordinator Cleve Cox cited "a general concern for the ecological aspects of recycling" as the primary impetus behind the reclamation drive.

"The problem is that it takes a strong commitment by a number of people in collecting, sorting, weighing, trans-porting and keeping a record," he said.

Quad responds

The Quad consists of Bagwell, Berry and Becton resident halls and constitutes less than one-fifth of the 5400 campus residents.

Other area coordinators expressed interest in starting similar programs

Schorr funding possible Senate reviews election dates

Consideration of Spring election dates and four finance bills, discussion of clarification of the presidential veto power policy, and a resolution concerning tests during the final week of classes should head the Student Senate meeting Druestay according to Senate meeting Druestay according to Senate classes should head the Student Senate meeting Tuesday, according to Senate President Nick Stratas. The meeting will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. instead of the usual Wednesday at 7:30 because of the N. C. Association of Student Governation of Student Governations.

ments Conference which begins Wednesday. The Elections Board,

The Elections Board, headed by Mark Tredge, will submit its suggestions for elections dates to the Senate for approval. They call for books to open Feb. 19, and close Feb. 26, a meeting of all candidates Feb. 27, camall candidates Feb. 27, cam-paigning to begin March 11, general elections March 19 and 20, runoffs March 26 and 27, and a second runoff April 2 if needed. Stratas said getting students to vote will be strongly pushed by the Senate this year.

"Last Spring we had the second highest turnout in 12 years, which is good, but it was still a lot worse than it should have been. Hopefully we can get more people to take a couple of minutes of their time to vote this year—those that don't have no right to complain," he said.
Also to be considered at the meeting is an act to change the Student Body Constitution regarding the veto power of the Student Body President.

The act would require a two-thirds vote of the Senate to override a presidential veto. Currently, a simple majority is needed.
Stratas said that since the act would require a change in the Constitution to be enacted, a campus wide referendum must be held. Tuesday's vote in the Senate see it."

Tom McDermott, director of AlexanInternational Hall, said he'd like to see the involvement of Student Government in developing a campuswide effort.

"I worked at one at Northern Illinois University." he said. "The student [see "Groups", page 2]

Farmers out to fallow Washington producing it. Farmers now can only borrow at about 66 percent of parity, resulting in a loss of profit. by Jeffrey Jobe

Staff Writer

ATLANTA Ga—
Braving sandstorms, rain, snow, high winds and bitter cold, farmers from across the nation are en route to Washington, D.C. to make their feelings known to President Carter.
On Jan. 15 the caravans of tractors pulled out to begin their journey. Traveling every day except Sunday, they will follow six main routes, merging eventually into three main ones before reaching the nation's capital Feb. 5.
Once there, the 1979 National Tractorcade, sponsored by the American Agricultural Movement, will voice its opinions and complaints.
Several of the farmers spoke with the Technician after a Thursday night rally here. They were traveling along Route I from Abilene, Tex.

This tractoreade is supposed to dramatize the hardships farmers go through, 'said Carl Reed of Spade, Tex. "The national news media won't carry any information on us until we make it to Washington. So we carry our message city to city as we travel.

Help a farmer

"If you help the American farmer, you help everyone," Reed said. "Everything is tied to agriculture. If you eat three meals a day, you depend on agriculture."

Many farmers claimed that things are worse off for them than the media would like to be known.

"Inflation, energy, high interest rates, and high taxes have hurt us." Reed said.
"And that is just the beginning. All we are asking is for President Carter to implement a law that is already on the Books."

Don Prentice, also of Spade, said, "I still would not be able to pay off my debts even if I sold off everything I had, including land and equipment."

had, including land and equipment."
When the farmers roll into Washington, topping their list of complaints will be a request to fully implement the 1977 farm bill which guarantees 90 percent parity.
One of the provisions of the bill would enable farmers to borrow money on farm products in storage at 90 percent of the cost of profit.

One farmer said that last year after he had harvested his crop and sold it, he had lost $20,000 and had gained nothing.

"How can we stay in farming with losses evry year?" the farmers said. "We have to survive also."

Besides asking for full implementation of the 1977 Farm Bill, the farmers will also be seeking better tariff protection ans an in depth investigation of the Chicago Board of Trade. Asked by the Technician

Asked by the Technician |See "Farmers", page 2

The drought's over

A pause, a prayer, and —after a passel of misfortune — praise to pair of supporters as State showed the Cavs that last place is to correct the Chapel Hill mistake. Game time's 9 p.m. or the Pack's performance registers on the howling faces of this not least place in the ACC. The Pack goes to Clemson Tuesday

Weather forecast Farmers march to D.C.

Monday	Low	High 45-49°F	Weather Partly cloudy, breezy
Tuesday	21-25°F	47-51°F	Mostly sunny
Wednesday	25-29°F	50°F	Partly cloudy

Today will be partly cloudy, breezy and cool with highs in the upper 40's. Tonight, with clear skies and winds becoming light temperatures will fall to the low 20's. Tuesday should be mostly sunny with afternoon high temperatures around 50. Outlook for Wednesday, increasing cloudiness and a high around 50.

Forecaster: Dennis Doll of the NCSU Student Chapter of the American Meteorological Society.

[Continued from page 1]
for comment, N.C. Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Graham said, "This tractorcade will bring attention to how much it costs to produce farm products. The farmers do not feel that they are getting a fair price for their cròps, and this will focus on their problems."
Commenting on the impact the protest would have nationally, Graham said, "It can only be a plus for agriculture."
However, an agriculture official from State said the project would have little

Groups continue recycling efforts government actually got sites organized and transported the stuff and made money off of it. But it takes that kind of leadership." Student Senate President Nick Stratas said the proposal would be suggested to the Services Committee.

"I definitely think it's an idea," he said. Think of all the trash and paper that gets dumped around here. That would be a good activity for Student Government to get involved in I'm surprised I've seen no mention of it in the recent past." Charles Braswell, director of Physical Plant services, said he knew of no similar program in operation in his department.

The Quad Council currently heads up East Campus operations. After each hall collects its material it is stored in a common area in the basement of Becton

Proceeds returned

Each month, after the paper products, cardboard and aluminum are collected, weighed and sorted, the Council transports the collection to purchase stations in Raleigh and returns the proceeds to the halls for returns the proceeds to the man.

their own use.
Goodyear said Weyerhaeuser Company currently pays 75 cents per hundred pounds of newsprint, $1.20 for white ledger paper and $1.50 for cardboard. Prices for magazines and other lower-grade papers vary at lesser rates.
A spokesman for the company said the paper is treated and broken down for such uses as insulation, packaging, composite shingles and tissue. Some of the higher-grade form snay be recycled for stationary and other paper products, he said. Reynolds Aluminum buys back the aluminum for 17 cents a pound (approximately one case of 12 course of 12 course products, he said.

Reynolds Aluminum buys back the aluminum for 17 cents a pound (approximately one case of 12-ounce cans) according to Goodyear. In addition to beer and soft drink cans, the company also solicits the return of aluminum foil. T.V. dinner trays, pot pie containers and other commercial nackaging.

"There's really no reason everyone couldn't be doing this," Goodyear said. "It's a simple matter of giving some thought before chunking it in the trashcan. It's a service to yourself."

effect on the nation's reuning-toward farming.
"The tractorcade will have very little effect," said Dr. William Carpenter, head of Agriculture Information. "It's just a carry over from the movement last year.

"The movement last year" (1977) had some effect in pressuring rules under which we operated under this year," said Carpenter. "But the farmers had just had a critically bad year. "This year (1978) was very good," Carpenter said. "28 billion dollars worth was produced this year as compared to 22 billion dollars worth the year before." "The farmers got a sympathic ear because of economic conditions that year," Carpenter said. "This year Congress is under the gun to control inflation. If something was done, it would make food prices rise and make inflation worse."

Auction notices

Auction notices

Every year more and more farmers have quit farming and moved into the city to find more profitable jobs. One clue to this is the increased number of auctions occuring all over the country. Bringing out a stack of auction notices that he will present to officials in Washington, Reed pointed out two things. The auctions were held either because the husband died or the man was quitting farming because of debt.

"You have to have a profit in order to generate income so you can stay in business." Reed said.

Reed said.
Both Reed and Prentice agreed that the bill would help. "If I didn't think this tractorcade would succeed, I would not be here," Prentice

Having gained support in their communities, the far-mers now seek national support. One farmer com-mented that unless this tractorcade worked, he was tractorcade work Yet, if the farmers go broke, businessmen will also suffer. Wyly Branner of State-boro Georgia is not a farmer, he is traveling along with the farmers.

he is traveling along with the farmers.
"My business is in farm communications, like short-wave radio sets, not CB's," Branner said. "If you fore-close on them, (farmers) you foreclose on me."

One $25,000 tractor being driven by one man had been loaned to him by a company. In his hometown. Donations and loans of money and equipment are helping the tractoreade.
"We need help down on the farm, said Inman Miller of STUDENT GOVERNMENT needs you to contribute old tests to your quiz file. If you want your original, we'll copy it. Drop your quiz(zes) in campus mail or come by Room 4130 University Student Center, 737-2797.

SWE MEETING Tues., Jan. 30, at 6:00 in the Brown Room of the Student Union.

Statesboro, Georgia. "Things are not right.

"We are not getting the price we need," Miller said. "The consumers paying a high price and its going into the middle man's pocket." Many farmers pointed out that while consumer food prices have risen, the price the farmers get has fallen by almost 50 percent while their cost of production has cost of production doubled.

This tractorcade has got

"This tractoreade has got to work or people like you will starve," Miller said, "because the farmers cannot continue like this."

The farmers also pointed out that the incentives to farm are not present any more, "Why should anyone get into a money losing situation?" one asked.

"If we don't succeed, this will cull the young farmers," said Foy Smith of Statesboro, Georgia. "There are very few old farmers left. What will happen when they are gone? There are very few incentives for the young." One farmer who has two sons who would like to farm complained. "I can't help them get started because I am in debt myself."

The answer

Many of the farmers feel nat the answer is in Many of the farmers feel that the answer is in Washington, "If we don't go to Washington, we will go broke, or I should say—broker," Smith commented. Reed summed up the feelings of the farmers, many traveling the long miles in unheated tractors: "We are fighting for our freedom. We like to farm. If we didn't we would not be doing this."

FREE

833-2825 876-9420

JBA CLUB meeting Wed. Jan. t 5:00 Rm 232 gym. For info Gene 737-6252.

ANCE COMMITTEE meet the Union Activities Box ed. Jan. 31 at 12:00 noon som 31156. All interested p ns invited to attend.

CIRCLE K meeting today, Blu Room Student Center 4th Floor

CONTINENTAL

& AMERICAN

bread & butter

bread & butter

Open all afternoon. See the blackboard outside for daily specials and your favorite beverages.

Nightly Specials

MONDAY: chicken newberg over toasted english muffin with salad

TUESDAY: cannelloni with salad,

crier

TAPPI MEETING Wed., Jan. 31 at 7:30 in Biltmore 2104. Dr. Irving Goldstein will speak. All Pulp & Paper Students are invited.

ENGINEERS: Rust EIT Review Manuals, will be sold by Theta Tau, thirty min, prior to review sessions. Cost: $15.00. For details, call Mark 5762.

ACMMEETING at 7:00 p.m. Jan. 30 in RD 242. The speaker will be James Hewitt from Wachovia to talk about interviewing.

ST. VALENTINE SEMI-FOR-MAL Dance with Fat Ammons Band. Feb. 10, 8:00 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom. Tickets available from Metcalf House Council Representatives. Beer and other refreshments will be

T-SHIRT ORDERS for ACM, T-Shirts are now being taken. The shirts will say, Programmers Do It Recursively. You can order at the ACM meeting or by calling John at 828-8020 or Terry at 821-3652. All orders must be in by Jan. 31.

THIRTY AND THREE will meet Tues., 6:30 p.m. in Brown Room. All members are reminded to check on raffle info. If you cannot attend, call Susie.

attend, call Susie.

BEGINNING FRIDAY Jan. 26, 1979Carmichael Gymnasium will be open until 9: 00 p.m. on Fridays and until 7:00 p.m. on Sundays. The new weekly schedule will between weekly schedule will between 1:00 p.m.; Friday 8:00 a.m.—1:00 p.m.; Saturday 9:00 a.m.—5:00 p.m.; Sunday 1:00 p.m.—7:00 p.m.

TABLE TENNIS: Anyone interested in forming a table tennis club please meet Mon., Jan. 29, at 7:00 p.m. by the tables down-stairs in Carmichael Gym.

Xeller

821-5342

$3.45

$3.50

BLIND MAN needs help with his correspondence and filling out forms. Also help needed with mentally retarded adults. Contact Volunteer Services, 3112 Student Center, 737-3193.

SAAC WILL have its first Executive Board meeting of the spring semester on Tues, Jan. 30 at 6:15 p.m. in the Cultural Center. Please bring ideas for activities to be held in the Cultural Center from your organ-lastion.

NOW have more tutoring itions open for ir. high and a school students. Still need irs for elementary schools. dact Volunteer Services, 3112 dent Center, 737-3193.

THE STUDENT SENATE resident's office is currently taking applications to fill vacant Student Senate seats. Come by 4130 University Student Center or call 737-2797.

PENC Wed. Jan. 31, 234 Riddick 6:00. Business meeting

SPACE COLONIZATION: We have the technology and reasons to go; all we need is congressional approval. Come to 113 Tompkins, Tues. 7:30 p.m.

MODERATELY AND severely retarded children need help in swimming program, physical fitness program, playground and inside activities. Contact Volunteer Services, 3112 Student Center, 737-3193.

THE ASSOCIATION for Off-Campus Students will meet today at 6 at the Golden Corral on Glenwood Avenue. Cars will be leaving from the Student Center at 5:40 for anyone who needs a ride.

ALTERNATIVE TIMES for the discussion group on Nancy Friday's book My Mother/Myself are being accepted. Three sessions planned. If interested, call Dr. Turnbull—737-2563.

AIIE BLAST: Beer, soft drinks, and munchles. Thursday, Feb. 1, 4:00 7:30 in Student Center Packhouse. Members and Faculty $1.00; non-members $1.50, Pay, in IE Office.

LIBRARY LOCKER and carrel renewals: Key deposits for library bookstack lockers will be considered forfeit if the lockers are not renewed for the spring semester or officially cancelled by February 19, 1979.

ALL STUDENTS planning to do Student Teaching in Science Education during the Fall Semester 1979 must apply for admission to teacher education.

THE REEDY CREEK won rugby football club is havi preseason party Wednes Jan. 31 a 8:00 p.m. at Landmark Apartments' Lake Boone Tr., Raleigh.

INSURANCE DEADLINE— Wed. 31 January is deadline to enrolling in student group health and accident insurance program Applications available in Room 200, Clark Infirmary.

2 For the Price of 1 (Sunday thru Thursday only)

Buy one pizza get one coupon good anytime as indicated Mission Valley 407 E. Six Forks Rd. 833-1601 3318 N. Blvd.

Our customers know the difference

Instant Entertainment

AM/FM Stereo, Automatic Record Changer and Your Choice of Cassette or 8-Track

Player/Recorder

MATCHED MUSIC SYSTEMS

featuring-Dual VU Meters-Pause, Auto-Stop, Fast -Forward and Repeat-Cueing, Anti-Skate-Diamond Stylus- 2 mic input jacks-"sleep" shutoff switch-2 3-way 23" Bass Reflex Speakers with 8" Woofers, 2" Tweeters-Includes Dust Cover

414 Hillsborough St 828-2311

Mon-Fri 8:15-5:15 Sat 9-1 Master Charge-Visa

"Our 40th Year" OUTHEASTERI RADIO

COMPUTER SCIENCE GRADUATES, WE'D LIKE TO TALK WITH YOU ABOUT OUR FUTURES.

serving government and business. As the nation's leading developer of integrated financial and distribution systems, we offer you the opportunity to apply your business, systems or applications talents in a challenging environment.

American Management Systems, Inc. 1515 Wilson Boulevard Arlington, Virginia 22209

AMERICAN MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS, INC.

Washington, D.C. Chicago

New York City San Francisco

Detroit

We're a computer and management consulting firm

We'll be on campus to talk with you on Monday, February 12, 1979.

Or, send a copy of your resume to:

Mr. Carl Golob, Campus Recruiting Coordinator

Intertainment

Mike Cross returns to Stewart

Mike Cross returns to Stewart Theater Tuesday night at 8:00. Those who have seen him play before probably already have their tickets. The rest of you had ickets. The rest of you had better hurry because his concerts sell out fast. Cross's music is a curious blend of folk, country, blues, louegrass, ragtime, slideruitar, and fiddling tunes, sust to name a few. These ongs, which he usually virtes himself, reflect but is skill as a storyteller and Cross's most appealing quality, however, is his approach to his music. His humorous, relaxed, downhome style establishes a rare rapport with the audience. Cross creates a nice, easy atmosphere in which he talks and jokes as though he were just sitting on the back porch steps on a cool summer night. He manages to maintain this intimacy even in large concert halls.

He grew up in Lenoir, N.C. with dreams of becoming a professional golfer. Cross gave up this idea, however,

and attended UNC at Chapel Hill with the idea of pursuing a "sensible" career. He soon tound a new passion in life when a friend showed him some guitar chords.
Although he had never played a musical instrument before, Cross learned quickly, and within a year was working as part of a folk duo.
By 1972, he was trying it on his own as a solo act.

In July of 1976. Cross cut his first album, Child Prod-igy, and dropped out of law school to devote all his time to his music. The next year, his second album, Born in the Country, was released and was given a recommendation in Billboard Magazine.

Both albums are selling better than the average new-release even though they were recorded by a local label and therefore not as well advertised and distriwell advertised and distri-buted. A third album, The Bounty Hunter, should be released soon.

Cross has been touring the eastern half of the country for the last two years with his wife Laurie. He has appeared with such names as The Dirt Band, Lester Flatt, Doc Watson, Michael Murphey, and Earl Scruggs.

James Drew will appear with Mike Cross on Tuesday night. In contrast to Cross's folksy, self-taught style, Drew is a world-famous composer who has taught at Yale University for several years. He is appearing as a pianist in a jazz trio with Fred Hunter, string bassist and Peter Ingram, percussionist. The trio appeared this weekend with Clark
Terry at the Cafe Deja Vu
Jazz Festival.
Tickets for Tuesday night's concert are $4 and are available at the Student Center Box Office.

lay night at 8:00 p.m.

Two Chekov comedies to be presented

To Tim Slaughter, marriage can be the result of a proposal, but it can also be called a "boor." Slaughter will only have an opportunity for two quickies this time, however, as he spends "an evening with Chekov." Slaughter, a senior in

Slaughter, a senior in Speech Communications, will be participating in two farces, "The Boor" and "The Marriage Proposal," that are being presented by Thomp-son Theatre. "A farce is a comedy that depends upon an absurd situation," said Slaughter, who will direct. "The Boor" and will play the part of Stephen Stephonivitch in "The Marriage Proposal." The two productions were written by the Russian author Anton Chekov in 1888, and will each last for 20 minutes. "Both plays center-around the topic of marriage," commented Slaughter, "and they could prove to be a quickie service in marriage counselino."

The plays will be presented from January 31 through February 3, and will begin at 8:00 p.m. "This is everyone's chance for a special treat," says Slaughter, but even more appealing, you can get something for nothing, for the productions are free.

Tim Slaughter has put in many hours of hard work in pursuit of a career in theatre arts. "Tim looking for arts." many hours of hard work in pursuit of a career in theatre arts. "I'm looking for a professional job in the theatre and want to get my foot in the door. If not, I'll settle for amateur work," said Slaughter.

The topic of marriage is never a bore, and Slaughter, being a young director, may add new insight through his interpretation of "The Boor." Who knows, during the evening with Slaughter and Chekov, you may even have a marriage proposal come your

Taylor Sociology Club

January 31, 1979 at the Packhouse

Free Beverages, Munchies, Music

LEASED

FFB 2

5pm-4am

Volunteer Services will host representatives FROM:

Bloodworth Y Women's Center Frankie Lemmon Pre-school

January 31

11am-2:30pm

in the annex

for more info contact Volunteer Services 3112 Student Center 737-3193

> stop by and learn about Volunteer Opportunities

experience can open doors that degrees can't

Stewart Theatre

SALLY ANN HOWES

EARL WRIGHTSON & HUNT

11110 SOUND OF MUSIC

transportation will be provided for NCSU students to and from "The Sound of Music" starting at 6:30pm. Meet the shuttle-busses on the steps outside the Student Center

UAB & IRC

CONTESTS

MOVIES

"HOT WAX"

CAFE SPECIALS

ALL-NIGHTER

STUDENT CENTER

DISCO

CASINO

PRIZES

A NITE AT THE RACES

COME OUT WITH THE STARS AND PARTY TILL THE BREAK OF DAWN

Symposium Programs

LET'S DANCE! betsy rowland will conduct a workshop-Self-Awareness While Moving"- monday-thursday, ceb 5-8 from 12 noon to 1pm.

class size is limited to 15 sign up now in 3114 student center.

LET'S PLAY! play band play fair

nobody hunt-

everyone a winner with new gamescome play with as-wear your sneakers & old clothes

monday, ceb 5 at 1pm thursday, reb 8 at 11am

IN THE STUDENT CENTER BALLROOM

Big party coming

be real good offers." The facilities will remain open until 1 am.

The effort to set this whole thing up has been phenomenal, said Maugeen intered from Charlotte—no cash gambling will be involved, according to acciani. Hot Wax, an area ten-piece and, will perform from midnight until am in the ballroom, following the strong the set was the set will be set will be set will be set will a set will a min the ballroom, following the set will be set will 1 am.

The effort to set this whole thing up has been phenomenal, said Maugeen McGrath, IRC President. If not for the residence halls sponsoring each of the individual activities we might have been in trouble. They are running the set will 1 am.

ries will be shown throughout the in Stewart Theater. The films are night in Stewart Theater. The films are one of the few events that students will be requested to pay cash to enjoy. At T pm the Marx Bröthers' Duck Soup will run for 50 cents, at 8:30 James Bond in Her Majesty's Secret Service will be shown for 75 cents, at 11 pm Hou to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying will be 50 cents, and at 1 am Her Majesty's Secret Service will be shown one 75 cents.

Many eppertunities

"The all-nignter should be one of the best things around this campus in a long time," she said. "The nice thing about the project is that it gives an opportunity for all types of people to enjoy. There are so many things to do."

Luciani said that he is also pleased with the event's prospects and the anticipated participation.
"It is going to be great and it is going to be fun," he said, "But I want to urge people to use the Student Center with great care. We certainly don't want to damage the building."

Ron Luciani
Luciani says that prizes will be given in virtually all the events at the all-nighter, with some of the larger activities providing gifts for the top winners. Prizes will include dinner and store coupons, movie tickets, discount certificates at many Illisborough Street businesses, tickets for disco dancing lessons, and record albums.
"I know this thing will be successful.
I toudn't really miss." said Luciani, "I just hope that it is not too successful. I hope students will use care in what they do."

Passively does not quite deliver the true description of Lamp's play. Without Lee Raker the Wahoos lacked any offensive help for Lamp who tallied 22 of Virginia's 36 second half points. Owens hit 11 first half points for Virginia but was so detained in chasing Whitney while the Hawk dropped in 16 second half points, that the 6-6 Owens failed to score in the final 20 minutes. Owens did not even have a field goal attempt in the second half. While 1-5 still leaves State in the clenches of last place, Continued from page 1] sively and rebounded well. It was their day, not mine." The whistles did not blow in Lamp's favor Saturday. Four of the five fouls called on the ACC's leading scorer were offensive, leaning into the defensive player as he went up for the shot. "Ithink coach Sloan talked to officials a lot about me leaning in when I shoot," reasoned Lamp. "I was in roul trouble from the start and just had to play passively." Finance bills to be considered

Pack gets first ACC win will determine whether the act will be placed on the Spring elections ballot.

He said he favors an act to give the veto more punch, but added that a three-fifths marrie might be a better

"I think three-fifths is high enough," Stratas said. "If we make it two-thirds well risk giving the Student Body President too much power." He added that the veto policy was not clearly defined by the farmers of the original constitution.

The most prominent of the

the original constitution.

The most prominent of the four finance bills to be considered is to appropriate $3000 one to fund the visit of former CBS news correspondent Daniel Schorr to State. He will be one of the speakers in the symposium scheduled for Feb. 4-8.

Student Body Treasurer Robb Lee, who sponsored the bill, said it is for the pur-

Any sports club in-tending to request fund-ing from the Sports Club Appropriations Com-mittee should submit a budget and request to the Student Govern-ment office, 4th floor Student Center, by 5 p.m. Monday, Feb. 5, pose of supporting the symposium as much as Schorr himself. "He is to be one of the

"He is to be one of the leading speakers and has a lot of views which correspond with the topic (1984: Fact or Fiction?)." Lee said. "I believe it is important for the Senate to fund Schorr to show our support for the program. Personally I think this might be the most important cause this year for us, as far as spending is concerned."

LCD funding

members. Stratas, who sponsored the bill, said the LDC is the only corporate body available to the students at large.

"We've reactivated it this year and I think we should do our part toward financing it," Stratas said. "He said the Publications Authority, the Inter-residence Council, and the Intra-Fraternity Council also are supporting the LDC.

the victory clears the air concerning State's first vic-tory, and takes a consider-able amount of pressure off the players. Said Sloan, "It was the most difficult period I've been through in college basketball. We finally broke that string of conference basketball. We finally broke that string of conference games we could not win." Whitney added, "That is the first time anything like that's ever happened to me (the losing streak); but I never got down. I don't let anything in basketball get me down anymore."

Lee will introduce to the Senate a bill to fund $500 to the Sports Clubs Appropri-ations Committee, a newly-formed club which will allocate money to the sports clubs on campus. The Ath-letics Dept. and the Alumi Association also support the committee.

Association and support on-committee. Finally, the Senate will consider a bill to finance a visit to State by a troupe of Spanish actors. The bill was originally for $500 but was sliced to $250 by the Finance Committee.

Siced to $250 by the Finance Committee.

Introduced by Mark Barnhart, the bill would complement funds appropriated by the Council on Humanities and Social Sciences. Barnhart said thelped to show State's interest in the "sophistication that cultural enter-

The Wolfpack has to turn around and get right back "up" for Clemson. State travels to Death Valley Tuesday to take on the Tigers, fresh off their five point victory over North Carolina. Clemson, led by Larry Nance and Bobby Conrad have a 12-5 overall record, 2-4 in the conference.

But all that is on Tuesday and for right now coach Sloan and the boys may just be satisfied in savoring a 20 point win and those soothing strains of 'Old MacDonald.'

prises such as this troupe attract."

Lee, however, called the bill "questionable."
"I'm concerned about how many students it will affect."
he said. "I'm sure it's a fine show and the performers are good, but I really doubt that very many students would be interested."

Poster policy

Poster policy

Other business to be covered in the meeting include discussion of a bill to be introduced by Senate Pro-Tem Pat Mulkey, calling for a Senate request that no further building of facilities be planned without taking into consideration the need for parking space.

Also, the Environment Committee will propose a revised poster policy, which includes the requirements that any posters on campus be taped from the back, cannot exceed 30 feet per structure, and can be placed on bulletin boards, dorm exteriors, and other approved areas.

Scientist develops sweet fries

Dr. Maurice Hoover, a 1000 screen professor at State.

"North Carolina is the nation's largest producer of sweet potatoes," Hoover said. "I was interested in making a product to consume them.

"These sweet fries are made from the jumbo sweet potatoes," explained Honver. "These sweet potatoes are the

by Jeffrey Jobe

Staff Writer

In the near future, a person will be able to walk into a restaurant and order either french fries or sweet fries with a hamburger.

Sweet fries, french fries made from sweet potatoes, have been created by Dr. Maurice Hoover, a food science professor at State.

"North Carolina is the nation's largest producer of sweet potatoes," North Carolina is the nation's largest producer of sweet potatoes," The sweet fries are made from sell, that will be doing us good."

For the people interested in the nutritional side of the sweet fries, the sweet potato supplies slightly more vitamin C than the white potato. Yet in one pound, the sweet potato has 28,000 units of Vitamin A as compared to an almost complete absence of the vitamin in white potatoes.

"There shouldn't be too much difference in the price between them," Hoover said. "The sweet fries will be a little bit more expensive.

"With hamburgers, I like regular french fries," he added. "But with ham, sausage, or barbecue, I prefer the sweet fries."

Art White, assistant to the Chancellor for food services, expressed interest at the idea of possibly offering sweet fries as a grill lter. Sweet Headed by Ernest Parker, Sweet Headed by Ernest Parker, Sweet Fries, Inc. will begin processing as soon as the plant is built. At full production, five million pounds of sweet potatoes a year will be processed.

Campus Y continues fund quest

[Continued from page 1]

the campus Y's status with the national organization.

Co-president Lisa Dixon confirmed that the campus Y is not affiliated and discussed the implications of the meeting.

"Mr. Armstrong told us that we isically meet all the necessary quirements for acceptance, except for having a paid advisor," she said. "But that's one thing we don't have—can't have—because we don't have enough money."

Dixon said she and co-president Jim Mask discussed the club's efforts to achieve recognition with Armstrong Wednesday.

"He suggested that we reapply for a charter," she said. "He said he'd be sending us an application this week."

Mann could not be reached for his evaluation of the Y's status in the event that they do receive a charter.

"We won't know until April," Dixon said, explaining that the application must be sent before a review committee and passed by the Southeastern Conference before appearing before the National YMCA Board for approval.

In the meantime, Dixon said the leaders of the 50-member campus YMCA will be meeting with Mann to review their position and present their proposals, as an alternative to a Grievance Committee hearing.

The campus YMCA was represented at a national campus YMCA convention, held in lowath his past November, where former campus YMCA co-president Alice Martschenko discussed the club's attempts af reaffiliation with representatives from across-the-mation—As a result of that convention, Martschenko said she had drafted a letter to the chairman of the National YMCA chairman, asking him to review the campus Y's case.

A second finance bill to be considered is one to appropriate $700 to the Legal Defense Corporation, a non-profit organization of which all fee-paying students are members. Stratas, who sponsored the bill, said the LDC is the only corporate.

Hyland Plasma Center

One Maiden Lane Raleigh, N.C. 27607

We Are Celebrating! Join Us For FREE Refreshments

Wed. Jan 31 10am - 5:30pm

Thurs. Feb 1 8am - 3:30pm Fri. Feb 2 10am - 5:30pm

The Technician is the official student newspaper of North Carolina State University and is published every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday Throughout the academic year from August until May except during the scheduled holidays and examination periods. Offices are located in Suites 3720-312 in the University Student Center, Cates Avenue, Mailing address is P.O. Box 589f, Rateigh, March 2769, Subscriptions are 319 per year. Printed by Minton Press; 7296, Subscriptions are 319 per year. Printed by Minton Press; and Suites and S

THE PLACE OF QUALITY REPAIR College Paint and Body

1022 South Sounders 828-3100 Jimmy Goldston

Volunteer Services Will Host Representatives From:

Blood Worth Y Women's Center Frankie Lemmon Pre-School

> January 31 11am - 2:30pm in the Annex

For more information contact Volunteer Services 3112 Student Center 737-3193

Stop by and learn about Volunteer Opportunities

Experience can open doors that degrees can't.

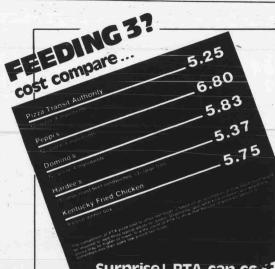

24 Lanes-Billiards-Cactus Bar (across Hillsborough Street)

Friday & Saturday SPECIAL

'til 6:00pm Fri. & Sat. ONLY

k a friend to come bouling the Ask a friend to come bowling-It's fun. Bring coupon & Bowl 3 Games for $2.00

Surprise! PTA can cosi less than other pizzas & fast foods alike

PTA, THE RIGHT PRICED, GOOD TASTING PIZZA, DELIVERED FREE

We want men and women with engineering or other technical degrees

.. for careers in steel operations, shipbuilding, engineering, sales, mining, and research.

Our Loop Course recruiters will be here on February 5, 6

Let's talk about it.

Bethlehem E

ports

Grapplers top Nittany Lions Heavyweight Paul Finn scored a fall 1:08 to lift State's wrestling team to come-from-behind 19-17 win over Penn State Sunday in Reynolds Coliseum.

the stage for Finn, m 9-1-1. Jim Zenz go State off to a fast start, taking a major

State head coach Bob Guzzo got the response he needed from the middle weights as the Pack mat overpowered Maryland 28-7 Friday afternoon in Reynolds Coliseum. The victory upped State's record to 2-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference, 10-1 overall record going into the Penn State match Sunday afternoon.

Lady Pack blasts foes

The American College Dictionary defines "produc-tive" as "having the power of producing; producing readily por abundantly". Now they should add as a synonym, Genia Beasley."

State's All-American center or forward, depending on the line-up, redefined the word in this weekend's Second Annual Wolfpack Doubleheaders with an amazing 55 points in two nights. That's 24 of 33 field goals for a whopping 73 percent and 7 of 10 free throws. But Genia's scoring ability is not new and the 55 points

But Genia's scoring ability is not new and the 55 points look small to the margins of victory the eighth-ranked Wolfpack posted over the 'Yankee' visitors; 104-62 over Queens of New York Friday night and 100-71 over Pennsylvania's St. Joseph's Saturday.

In the Queens game, Beastey drew the assignment to handle the Knight's coring leader Donna Simms, 20 ppg. Simms finished with a disappointing eight points, while St. Joseph's Debbie Descano, an 18 point scorer, managed only eight points, and quickly collected five fouls.

"My defense gets my offense going," pointed out the "Gentle Giant". When I am playing good on defense, tigets me up."

It also is an inspiration to gives me extra energy, it gets me up."

It also is an inspiration to the other members of the squad, who look to Genia for far more than points.
"Yes, I'm aware that the coaches and players look to me for leadership," she casually answered. "If I'm not hustling, the others won't. I have to set a good example.

TYPING for students done in my home. 15 years experience. Reasonable rates. Call 834-3747.

FOR SALE: Female purebred spitz puppies. 3 mos. old. Durham: 596-0078.

SKI SUGAR, new condo., sleeps 6, walk to slopes. Available Sun. Thurs. at discount. Call 821-2000 days, 872-7529 evenings.

PROF. TYPING (IBM). Reporterm papers, theses, dissertat & tech. typing. Audrey, 872-59

FOR SALE: Éngineéring graphics kit and Hammon's text—$50.

WOULD LIKE to do your typing in my home. Call after 5:30 weekdays; anytime weekends. 779-1297. (Jo Anne Steele)

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE! 41st

. GMAT

passes from either Trudi Lacey or Cristy Earnhardt, the 6-0 Gibsonville native scored 22 against the Knights and 24 against St. Joseph's.

Genia Beasley's all-arou
"But it is a challenge to try to do as well as I can. I don't think the others are trying to play like me, it is just that when someone does good it gives everyone else the incentive to do good."
"Good" was exactly what Beasley and her teammates did this past weekend.
Forward Ronnie Laughlin, who re-enferred the starting line-up against Queens, had 46 points for the two night affair. Scoring mostly on the fast break, with perfect assists and coming up with four steals.

And consistent is the word for Trudi Lacey, who had ten points each night, and continued to dominate the boards, with a total of 16 rebounds, and direct the Pack's improving transition game.

game.
Earnhardt, who also received starting nods both nights, did little to harm her lead in the assist column as she was credited with 14, giving her a total of 73 for the season.

Bench strength

Connie Rogers came off the bench to direct the Pack offense, and score 12 and nine points against Queens and St. Joe's, respectively. "I didn't know that much and St. Joe's, respectively.

"I didn't know that much about either team or what to expect," said Beasley of the Region I teams who were both 0.2 in the tournament after losing to South Carolina as well. "But we needed to play good to get ready for the ACC tournament (Feb. 8, 9, 10)."

South Carolina recorded convincing victories, 78-56 over St. Joe's and 103-55 over Queens, in the event which averaged about 1500 in attendance each night.

Katrina Anderson led the Gamecocks with 20 points Friday night and tied a Reynold's Coliseum scoring mark of 35 points, held jointly by former State all-American Susan Yow and Genia Beasley in Saturday's night game with Queens.

The Wolfpack, now 15-4, will host Virginia Wednesday night. With a 4-1 ACC record, this will be the final conference game before the tournament which will be in Reynolds Coliseum. Friday night twomen will travel to East Carolina.

Heading into the 158 pound division the Terrapins had closed within 10-6. Paul Thorpe turned off their momentum though turning the match around with a pin three of which have been pins.

Pinning is nothing new for the senior wrestler. In high school Thorpe won all but three of his matches by fall.

A former wrestler for ECU, Thorpe feels he is beginning to come around at State.

I feel like I'm starting to get into shape. I hope to be down to 142," he said.

Guzzo was obviously pleased to have his second conference win under his belt.

Middle weights spur Pack

to romp over Terrapins dual bout was close," said Guzzo.

"I can't say enough about these guys. Week in and week out they continue to do it," continued Guzzo. "We've had matches almost every other day for the past couple of weeks but they keep toughing it out."

Veterans produce

With veterans Jim Zenz, Mike Zito and Joe Lidowski, the "key" points came from the team. Walk-ons Mark Peters, wrestling at 167, and Doug Carver, wrestling at 177, both added important points to the Pack's total, while freshman Mark Noto, up his record to 60 with and 8-5 verdict at 142. They didn't loose when it was close," added Guzzo.

ciose," added Guzzo.

Replacing heavyweight
Paul Fini, who was fighting a case of bronchitis, was 190pounder Wayne Bloom.
Bloom, a freshman with only three matches under his belt, wrestled ACC champion Bob Turnstall to a 4-4 draw.

Knights and of against Joseph's. Guard Ginger Rouse seems to have regained some of the confidence she lost during her absence due to a back problem and added 12 and 18 points, while dishing out a total of seven Raleigh Women's Eat All The Pancakes You Can E to twelve weeks $150.00 Organization.

FREE PREGNANCY TEST trol & Problem Pregnancy Counceling Call for further information Pancakes

917 West Morgan Street Raleigh, N.C. 27605 800-221-2568 Jaime Combs Administrator 919-832-0535 kes Y PL. 40 Pancal Can E es You (at All The Pancakes You Can Eat

monday & tuesday 5pm - 9pm

House of Pancakes The International 1313 Hillsborough St.

WANTED: Engineering and Science Majors To Help Make History.

1955. A small dedicated team of scientists and engineers began to design and construct the first submarine-launched ballistic missile, the Polaris The team made history.

1965. The creation of the second-generation missile, the Poseidon. This follow-on design challenged the Nation's best engineering talent.

1978. The Trident Project. Continues past experience with state-of-the-art technology.

The Strategic Systems Project Office of the U.S. Navy has a limited number of career openings in three of the most important projects in recent history—Polaris, Poseidon and Trident. As part of this team, you will be directly involved in R&D, T&E, production, logistic support, field maintenance and training.

Contact your Placement Office for an interview with the Capital Area Personnel Services Office, Navy (CAPSO-N) recruiter on December 1 or write:

Strategic Systems Project Office Department of the Navy Washington, D.C. 20376 ATTN: Recruitment Committee

An Equal Opportunity Employer

classi fieds WANTED: Paople who need an outlet for their hand-crafted items, also scented soap, etc. Please send info and phone # to Crafts On Wheels, PO Box 10674, Raleigh, 27605.

LEASED PARKING. 1/2 block your building. Several locations. Guaranteed space. 834-5180.

DORM SIZE refrigerators for rent. $30.00 per semester. Deliv-ered. Call 467-2852.

PART-TIME OPENINGS. Average ½ nights and Saturdays. Earn $75-$150 week. Serious-mined people who like fun while they work. Call 832-2211. 2-5 only.

SPECIAL STUDENT RATES

FAST, EXPERT TYPING OF DISSERTATIONS, THESIS EPORTS AND MANUSCRIP WEEKDAY LUNCH, 11:30-1:30, Mon. Fri.. Baptist Student Center (across from Hill Library). Nourishing, tasty food at good prices. Occasional optional discussion groups about human concerns in center library. Sponsored by Baptist Campus Ministry at NCSU.

Soup & Salad Bar Every Monday & Tuesday Night 5-8pm

SUPER STUDENT SPECIAL

BRING THIS COUPON AND YOUR STUDENT I.D.

PLUS Beverage and All-You-CanEat

3100 Old Wake Forest Rd.

CLIP THIS COUPON and come to our Sizzler for an excellent value. Baked potato or french fries and Sizzler toast included, PLUS crisp dinner salad and choice of coffee, tea, or soft drink. More than one student may use this

GROUND BEEF SPECIAL

$2.69 SALAD BAR

601 W. Peace Street

Offer Expires Feb. 2, 1979

WEEKEND RESERVATIONS OF HANDBALL COURTS

Beginning the weekend of January 27, it will be necessary to reserve handball courts during free play hours on Saturdays and Sundays. Weekend reservations for handball courts at Carmichael Gymnasium wil

Reservations are to be made in person on the day one wishes to play. An individual may make a reservation throughout the day starting at 9:00 a.m. for Saturday and 1:00 p.m. for Sunday. Hours courts will be available are:

Hours courts will be available are:

Saturday - 9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Sunday - 1:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.

Reservations for court useage will be made at room 116 (supply room).

On the master sign up sheet the person making the reservation will enter players names at the proper playing time and court number desired. Student and faculty registration card and picture identification card must be presented to the cage attendant. Also, fill out a reservation card with court number, playing time, and names of players to use court.

You are reminded that reservations will be made for a one hour time limit with no one individual remaining on a court for longer than the one hour limit. No one individual may reserve a court for two consecutive hours.

for two consecutive hours.

The reservation card must be presented at the playing site in order to obtain the court. Those using handball court must vacate the court immediately once the reservation card is presented.

If a handball court has not been reserved useage will be on a first come first play basis.

Come first play basis.

Absolutely no phone reservations.

We are implementing weekend reservations on an experimental basis.

The purpose is to benefit the students and faculty.

Reservations for Konday through Friday will continue to operate through the Intramural Office.

Office, 210 Carmichael Gymmasium.

ECFMG

FLEX

VOE

919-489-8720 Suite 102 - Crost Bld 2634 Chapel Hill Bld Durham, N.C. 2770

Technician

mion

Laurels due

It has often been noted that it takes an incredibly long time for the administration to resolve matters brought before it by student groups. For example, it was almost 10 months before the administration worked the kinks out of the field trip policy and the newly-revised suspension/retention policy is yet to be formally adopted by the University. What this indicates that there is no tangible communication between the administration and the student representative bodies.

Most proposed changes are drafted in the Student Senate. It is in this branch that, a student-relevant issue is discussed and a solution recommended. From there, the bill is forwarded to the Faculty Senate, which discusses its feasibility from the professors' diewpoint. If any changes are made by the Faculty Senate, the bill is returned to the Student Senate with the changes noted and the students then have an opportunity to accept or contest the changes. Differences are, theoretically, resolved, and the final form in presented to the chancellor's office for final approval.

It is apparent then, that one of the biggest stumbling blocks between administrators and student representatives is the relatively long time factor which exists because of the incongruency of the two groups' meeting period. If representatives from both groups would work together in a small liaison group, much more could be accomplished. And that, reportedly, could be accomplished. And that, reportedly, is exactly what has been done.

The administration agreed to the formation of a subcommittee composed of student and faculty senators to discuss the problems surrounding the four-week drop period and, hopefully, devise an appropriate replacement for it. Last semester the Student Senate proposed a resolution which would lengthen the drop period to six weeks. Citing examples of differences between the dates of tests in certain courses and the last day to drop a class, the senate said the easiest way to resolve the issue would be to add two weeks to the period. The Faculty Senate did-not-address' the issue last semester-because of time difficulties, but fortunately has put this concern near the top of their priority list.

Commendations are in order for those who supported the committee's formation-for foresight and willingness to address the issue. If more such links could be formed, this university would be more able to resolve pertinent issues.

3:30 p.m. Monday: A typical afternoon in the Technician office: the writers were slouched behind their desks, working up the energy to give standard English a few good kicks before it expired completely.

Suddenly a shriek burst form the composing room next door. Intrepid Technician editor David Pendered leaped from his desk to investigate, angered at this interruption of a supremely filthy dream.

A horrible sight confronted him on entering the composing room: a hulking figure, more beast than man, stood wheezing beside the headline machine.

His face was a hideous mask of acne, knife-scars, welts and pus. A scrawny mustache insinuated its hairs between yellow, dented teeth and a sparse, saliva-flecked beard struggled to conceal a receding chin.

In one hand, this loathsome apparation carried a near-empty fifth of Jack Daniel's doubtless stolen. In the other he clutched a battered typewriter.

doubtless stolen. In the other ne courses we battered typewriter.

Huddled in the corner was the source of the scream: a quivering, wide-eyed typesettress. A sportswriter came in behind David and rushed to comfort the distraught girl.

"Who are you and what are you doing here?" David demanded. As the intruder turned to face his interrogator, recognition surged shockingly through his almost athletic hadu.

'My God . . ." David gasped, too astonished to complete the exclamation.

"That's right," burbled the stranger, "Larry Bliss. EX-humor—or shall I say exhumed—humor columnist for the Technician."

humor columnist for the Technician."
"But I thought you'd left town to become a hotshot writer for a bustling agency."
"I had," said Bliss, in a pitful remnant of the voice that had once awed at least a dozen theatregoers. "Wrote for some big accounts—Nardee's Fast Fare, Kal's Kozee-Kleen Karz, all the biggles. But I couldn't get smartass satire out of my system. One day I used an obscene adjective to describe the Big Deluxe. The next morning I was out on the streets. Quite a few of them, he belched.
Bliss dropped the typewriter and watched it hem, he belched.

Bliss dropped the typewriter and watched it islintegrate into a smorgasbord of keys, cogs nd ink. He then fell to his knees and wrapped is arms around the editor's leather Levis.
"Give me another chance, David," he obbed, "I'll do anything, Scrub floors, scrub he ad manager's desk, even scrub the ad nanager. Please."

David was deeply moved by this tragic pectacle, as well as a touch nauseated by sliss's aroma. "Well, we have all the writers we heed, so you'll have to start at the bottom.

Larry Bliss

Think you could do the want ads?"
"I can try," humbled Bliss as he took the stack of next issue's classifieds and sat down to the Compugraphic.
(In the meantime the sportswriter had finished consoling the girl and was now jotting down her phone number.)
"I'll be back in half an hour to see how you're doing," said David.
True to his word—a rare quality in Technician editors—David returned thirty minutes later.
"Here's the copy," said Bliss. "Excuse the Technician editors—David returned thirty minutes later.

"Here's the copy," said Bliss. "Excuse the types. My fingers have been unsteady ever since that bout with dysentery."

David read the first want ad out loud. "For Sale: 10-speed blke. Includes water bottle, racing stripes and Fuzz buster. Best offer or will trade for a good collection of stuffed flourescent armadillos. All right, I give up. You really want to do Blissful Ignorance again, don't you?"

"Yes. I want it back—the fame, the recognition, the chance to molest nubile proofreaders..." A lecherous grin crossed his cratered visage.

Pendered pondered. "Okay," he said at last. "Wash up and go to itt. Deadline is noon. Friday."

Blise hounded up and by used the started.

"Wash up and go to Friday."

Bliss bounded up and hugged the startled editor. "I'll never forget this, David."

Slightly sickened from the powerful stench of sweat, grime and sour mash that embraced him, David nodded in assent.

"Neith will I."

In case you missed it ...

In wars of the future, will the U.S. Army use rats to march across battlefields and sniff out mines before somebody steps on them? Perhaps, because rats can be trained to be extremely dependable in identifying explosives. In fact, NeuroCommunications Research Laboratories in Danbury, Conn., has rigged up devices so that a rat's brainwaves can set off nearby warning buzzers when the rat comes across anything that will blow up. —US Magazine

letters

Seek and ...

In the Monday (Jan. 22) edition of the Technician there was a letter titled "NCSU Husile." The letter was from two gentlemen who complained about non-existent seats in on 21, row Q. chairman of the Student Senate Athletics As chairman of the Student Senate Afficience Committee, it is my duty to oversee the student distribution of tickets. I took the letter to the box office manager, Bessie Steele. She told be that the people who printed the tickets had left out row C in section 21 and put in row Q which did not exist.

The box office checks the number of tickets in each section before they distribute them. In their case they checked out on the nose. They didn't learn about they row problem until shortly before the game. Students called their attention to it and they were given other seats. All they had to do was show their bad tickets to get the other seats. This is the first time something like this has happened. The remaining tickets for the other games have been checked and they checked out OK.

Some of our students think that the Athletic Department is trying to screw the students. This is not true, our students get more ACC Tournament tickets than other ACC Schools. We get more and better seats than UNC and others. UNC is planning to build a new gym and they want to charge the students an additional fee, at least this is what I have heard.

Our Athletics Department cares and they try to get lickets into our hands. Our students haven't picked up all their tickets for one game in the last two years. So find out why before you pick a side.

Patrick "The Bear" Mulkey Sr. RPA

P.S. As for those so-called fans who think Coach Sloan should go after losses to UNC andDuke, they are in the same class as those referees are!

Who defines?

To the Editor

Just a note to let the people at NCSU, who are so naive about gays, know that there is another side to being gay. I'm a junior transferred from New York. Unlike the other is another suce to eeing gay. In a junior transferred from New York. Unlike the other guy, I don't wear an earring, nor do I frequent those ill gay bars downtown. They're a very poor excuse for gay bars. Where else will you find a transvestite dancing with the Marlboro man besides Raleigh?

Most of my tricks are older, more established types, I meet at regular everyday places. In the past year & a half that I've been in Raleigh, I've been to bed with several well known married men. They were into very kinky sex, considering who and what they were supposed to be.

No one suspects me at all and most of my friends are straight. I know a few gays in the area with their heads together, but I've found the majority to be nelly queens. The females in my life realize I'm gay and expect nothing from me when we go out. Just a good time out.

I know there will probably be rebuttals I know there will probably be rebuttals, citing that I am indeed still in my closet, but in Raleigh this is just about as far as I can step out, with being a spectacle & subject to criticizing. But I don't mind this closet. Who, except the locals plan to stay in Raleigh after they graduate anyway?

Cold shower

To the Editor:

Could you please send me the address of Physical Plant's so called heat controlling "minicomputer?" Does it indeed exist? Does it have sadistic tendencies? This new steam system must be saving money in the steam department because the radiator in my plush. Bragaw Hall room has been warm for about four minutes out of the day today. That was about 11:30 a.m.—the warmest time of the day. Several conclusions have been initiated for the steam phenomena occuring this year:

1. Officials must have forgotten to check the steam system's antifreeze content, allowing periodic freeze-ups.

2. The air-conditioning thermostats used to control the steam should be replaced with heating-system thermostats. This will cause the steam pumps to start when the rooms are

3. The "steam" that officials say we have should be reheated this year. Steam does keep very well from year to year without reviving it with a few kcals.

These diagnostic comments hopefully will reach the proper people to whom these ide must have not already occured. Residence must have not already occured. Residence hall students are tired of complaining so we're just utilizing another university service—free kilowatt hours. I hope the steam plant saves a lot of money and that steam is more expensive than electricity. The savings will help offset the inevitable increases in

P.S. Isn't it too bad that I don't have but two big electric heaters? If I had a third, I could put one not only in my room and the suite bailtroom (that shower used to be cold in the morning), but also in the suite hallway.

Dubious logic

I wish to comment on the article about smoking which appeared in Monday's Technician and, more specifically, on the statements hade by Ag & Life Dean J. E. Legates and Director of Tobacco Research T. J. Manin. Seldom does one encounter examples of such blatant and feeble attempts to rationalize, or such magnificently dubious looic to rationalize, or such magnificently dubious logic.

Dean Legates seems to be rationalizing that smoking is less of a health hazard because "it is only one of many possibly damaging practices the public indulges in." I'm sorry, Mr. Legates, but two wrongs do not make a right.

In the article, Mr. Mann compares the risks involved in smoking to the risks involved when driving a carior walking on a wet and slippery sidewalk. While I agree with him completely on his views regarding freedom of personal choice and his contentions as to the relative risks involved in adaly life. I must point out that here is absolutelyino "risk involved in smoking a cigarette. The word "risk" connotes an element of uncertainty or chance of injury.

Smoking is as uncertain in the possibility of playsical harm as is playing Russian Roulette with all the chambers loaded.

The risk associated with driving a car arises

The risk associated with driving a car arises from the myriad number of unforeseeable events which might occur. I contrast, when one lights a cigarette, the documented facts leave no room for doubt concerning the inescapable physical injury about to be incurred during the next few second. Unfortunately, I am limited to 250 words. I'll

Name withheld

Can you say that?

Well, now State officially has a home for homos. I really hope the membership in the other social clubs does not fall drastically due to the newly chartered Gay and Lesbian "Christian" Alliance. Seriously, it is interesting where this "Christian" group puts its priorities, as stated in their fourfold constitution. Promoting understanding of the relationship of personal sexuality and religious faith" ranks next to last:

personal sexuality and religious faith" ranks next to last. If this farce of a church, referred to as supporting this organization, was started by two male lovers, at the Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, then it is pretty evident that the lovers were not studying what was being faught there. It is also evident that Mr. Willie White and Todd Ellis have not done ther homework as "Christians." I was going to give you (Mr. Ellis) some scripture to look up; however, I decided it might be better to put it in print, judging from the way you try to interpret the Bible.

the Bible.
From the Good News translation, New
From the Good News translation, New Testament, pages 202-203, Romans 1:24-28, 32: "And so God has given those people over to do the filthly things their hearts desire, and they do shameful things with each other. They exchange the truth about God for a lie; they worship and serve what God has created instead of the Creator himself who is to be explicted frozen and processing of greyerd Amen.

"Because they do this, God has given them over to shameful passions. Even the women pervert the natural use of their sex by unnat cts. In the same way men give up natural sex elations with women and burn with passion relations with women and burn with passion for each other. Men do shameful things with each other, and as a result they bring upon each other, and as a result they oning upon themselves the punishment they deserve for their wrong doing. They know that God's law says that people who live in this way deserve death. Yet not only do they continue to do these very things, but they even approve of others who do them.

Will you, Mr. Ellis, on Judgment Day look

Christ in the eye and say that you tried to live in way He would?!? No, it is true that homosexuality may not be a disease, but there is no doubt that you and this organization are a disease to the true Christians of the world.

No excuse

To the Editor

At the risk of sounding self-righteous, I would like to comment on some of the I conduct at the recent Duke/N.C.S.U. basketball game.

There can be no excuse or rationalize for throwing debris on the playing surfarendangers the players, it is poor sportsmanship, and it is uncouth.

I know this is not a low-class university, but try teiling that to the television audience, the Duke fans, and the officials' familles. Security should be beefed-up so that at least a few of these decadent slobs can be thrown out. Also, the athletic department should make it abundantly clear that this sort of behavior is not to be tolerated in any usus, shape, or form not to be tolerated in any way, shape, or form. I hope something is done before a player or official gets hurt so that this University will not develop a bad reputation.

S. A. Whi

Technician

or ... David Pende

News EditorJohn Flesher
Sports Editor Denny Jacobs
Entertainment Editor Karen Edmiston
Features Editor Sylvia Adcock
Serious Page Editor Helen Tart
Photo Editor Larry Merrell
Graphics Editor Gene Dees
Business Manager Ken Silverman
Asst. News EditorTerry Mertin
Asst. Sports Editor Bryan Black

			3 2 1 KG / 1
Manager	XXXXXXXXXX	Sam Pi	erce
Manager	Eddie F	Raby, Vernon Ve Judd W	glia, /hite
Design Norr	man Belch	, Marc Blumens Angela N	tein, Nohr
Circulation		Mike Da	vies
Assistant		Doug S	Shull

Production

Leigh Gosnell

p Suzi Galler, Beth Gettys, namann, Kim Long, Billie Wells
Cara Flesher, Dianne Gullion, Debbe Hill, Vicki Horner, Lori McElrav

ce Engineer Martin Ericson rs Wanda Bombardier. Julie Haigler, Alan Powell