The Season's Greetings

from

President Brooks and the Deans of the Four Schools

THE Christmas season calls for Peace, Good Will, and Joy. It comes just when the old year is closing its story and what is written is written. At State College, the small part of the world which we are expected to make go right, each man has written a part of the story and it reads well. But the chapter is ending and the season calls for peace that even a better spirit may dwell among us, for good will that shall bind us closer together and to the real good of the world, for joy that shall give zest to life, happiness to family and friends, and a new hope. Such is the meaning of the Divine message—"On earth, peace, good will toward men."

E. H. Brooks

I CAN wish no greater Christmas happiness to any man than that, along with the external conditions which make the season one of joy and gladness, he may have the inner consciousness:

That he has filled the passing year with honest, earnest effort toward physical, mental, and spiritual growth, and that his effort has been at least fairly successful.

That his faith in Christ the Son of God and Man, whose name makes the day a sacred one, has not dimmed, but grows stronger and clearer with each passing day.

That, in his relations with his fellow-man he has done somewhat more than his duty.

That he still has the courage, enthusiasm, and faith to "carry on" during the coming year and throughout all the future years that may be allotted him.

This is my Christmas greeting and wish for every student and all others connected with State College; for all their relatives and friends; in fact, for all people everywhere.

W. C. RIDDICK, Dean
The School of Engineering.

Yuletide Joys

Hear the Carols! How they're ringing
Over all the countryside!
Hear the swinging voices singing
Out the joys of Christmastide!
Gone is all the useless worry
Which our hearts too long have held;
Gone the hurry and the flurry,
Since their doom the Carols knelled.

Catch the spirit! End the sorrow
You have had throughout the year.
Cease to borrow from tomorrow
Causes for a sigh or tear.
Cheer the heart that once was aching,
Smile at all you see, and then
You'll be breaking into taking
"Peace on earth, good will to men."

—Alvin M. Fountain

GREETINGS—expressions of joy and kindness as the dictionary has it—from the School of Science and Business to the men of State College.

More than happiness, joy to you in the greatest joy there is, conquest over difficulties and conquest over self.

Each of us has many selves from the low and unworthy at one extreme to the high and noble at the other. Self-conquest is not alone the suppression of the unworthy—it is also the expression of the noble. May you be wise to choose and educate that self from among many that will look from your mirror and say every time, "I see a man."

Expressions of kindness, too—not of that dubious sort that would shield now to undoing later. With an eye single to your welfare, the teachers of Science and Business, upstanding man to man wish you very well.

B. F. BROWN, Dean
The School of Science and Business.

THE Christmas season is a happy period in the lives of college men. It means the reuniting of friends and loved ones about the family hearth. The sending of gifts and remembrances to those nearest and dearest, a wonderfully joyous occasion when all gloom and care is forgotten, and more than all else, it celebrates the birth of Him who came into the world that the world through Him might be saved.

And so I would like to extend through The Technician my best wishes for a happy holiday season and likewise to extend greetings for the New Year. I trust that every student at State College will enjoy this Christmas more than all others. I hope, too, that he will be refreshed and invigorated by his visit home, and will determine to return to college in January to carry forward his work with new zeal.

Our workers in the School of Agriculture are particularly interested in the welfare of every student taking the course offered in this School. It is to them, of course, that our thoughts are in the main directed.

Yes, Christmas is a happy period in the lives of college men, but how far more happy is the father or mother who awaits at home the sound of your voice raised in home-coming greetings!

B. W. KILGORE, Dean
The School of Agriculture.

CHRISTMAS is a period when life runs at high tide. Whether it be the child with his Santa Claus or the purposeful adult willing to measure his conduct and ambition by Christmas idealism, it is a time of leveling up as well as toning up life.

The break of the college year that comes at Christmas time is of peculiar significance to the freshmen who have completed their first term's work in college. During the Christmas holiday they will have opportunity to appraise themselves and their situation with a higher degree of judgment than they could have three months ago.

The seniors are nearing the end of their college careers. Only two more terms remain for them to accomplish all they want a college education to mean to them. Now is the time for them to size up their college accomplishments, life's desires and ambitions, and plan to fill in the chinks and put on the margins during the next two terms.

The Graduate School stands as an invitation to all students in whatever college class to come up higher, let State College equip you better, and take you further toward your life goal. It, therefore, not only wishes you all a Merry Christmas, but invites you to let us help you to make the promise of all new years greater.

CARL C. TAYLOR, Dean
The Graduate School.

CHRISTMAS

Along with the expectations of passing all our work, seeing home and all the folks, and probably seeing "someone else," and the joy of seeing old Sana, it seems as though we should give just a little thought to why we are celebrating the 25th of December.

There are very few people living in Christian homes who do not know that Christmas is the celebration of our Lord's birthday. But how many of us, when Christmas is mentioned, really think of Christmas as Christ's birthday? It never enters our mind that this is the reason we are giving presents and being happy and trying to make others happy, but it should enter our head and it would do us good to think a little about it.

The real purpose of celebrating and keeping the 25th of December was to keep in mind at least once in the year the beautiful story of the birth of Christ. If in our hurry and bustle of the holiday season we forget all about this story, then the real purpose has not been fulfilled and such a Christmas is not a success.

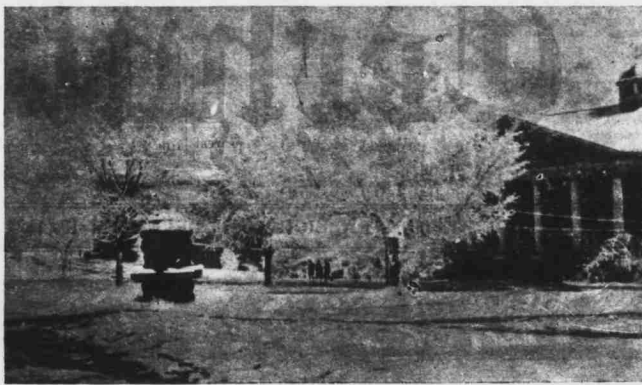

Remember, we have some basketball games the latter part of the week. All loyal State College men will be looking out for the results in the papers.

Don't mind the exams. It's not every school that can have three sets of examinations every year, and besides, think what a better chance you have of making a pile of I's.

New Year's is coming with Christmas. You know New Year's is the time to make resolutions. This week should be enough to make several of us make some resolutions along the studying line for next term.

We sincerely hope THE TECHNICIAN has been enjoyed by its readers during the past term. Forget and forgive the mistakes we have made in the past and we will promise to do our best with the paper in the future.

The Grand and Almo Theatres have given free passes to the members of the best drilled freshmen squad. This is not the first time these show houses have cooperated with us and given us free shows. We should appreciate this kindness and remember to show these theatres respect, especially after winning an athletic contest.

To Our Friends and Readers
The Technician Wishes
A
Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year

Students' Problem

Every student should decide his life's work at an early age. Success in life depends entirely upon the choice of a vocation. If one chooses the work for which he has a talent, he will prosper, even though the choice is made at middle age. If he is wise he will solve the problem early in life.

It is characteristic of the American people to go along in a haphazard way, waiting for fate to put them on the job that they can do best. Some wander into the right path, but a large per cent wait for something which never happens. Then they will wonder why life is a failure.

The best time to arrive at some definite conclusion as to the kind of work to follow is while one is in high school, or even earlier, provided one is gifted with the ability to foresee the future.

It is true if the choice of work is made early in life that one may decide to change his work after spending years of study and preparation in a particular field. His time is not lost. The experience he gets by making a detailed study of a particular line of work, will probably be very valuable in other kinds of work.

Someone has said, "It is better to love and lose than never to have loved." The same rule will apply to choosing a life's work at an early age.

—D. R. Palmer.

Loyalty

Perhaps the greatest of the virtues is loyalty. It binds all the rest together. This one alone keeps our personality from falling apart and is an essential for our wholeness. We may possess many other virtues, such as love, courage, and gentleness, even to the extreme degree, but that would not make us loyal to that same degree.

Unselfishness is the true characteristic of loyalty; for a loyal person instead of always looking "within" himself—which is a form of conceit—looks "out" into the soul of somebody else.

We often find that our friend makes mistakes and commits non-pardonable errors, but if we come to recognize his steadfast and ever-increasing loyalty to us, we pardon him for all those errors. But on the other hand if his disloyalty is revealed to us, then however excellently qualified he may be, he becomes a despicable object in our sight. As far as we are concerned he is a villain.

Anything is not beautiful or good unless it looks beautiful or good to us. Our attitude is like the attitude of a young man who knowing that the girl of his dream did not care for him, said—

"What care I how fair she be
If she be unfair to me?"

This virtue of loyalty is not hard to learn. Its requisites are simple. If you want to be loyal, then, say only those things about a person which you would not hesitate to say in his presence. And do not say such things as you would be afraid to say while that person is with you. Because "such things" have a way of getting about that we do not understand and sooner or later comes home to roost.

If we keep this simple rule in mind we would not find it hard to get a reputation for being loyal. To be truly loyal to our friend we must love and have a genuine attachment of our affection to him because such unthreatened and unbreakable attachment alone is true loyalty; and since we all crave for love more than any other thing it relishes most of all the taste of loyalty.

"Loyalty is the quintessence of love." Love is the only thing which is unshakable, and it is that thing alone in which we trust. Therefore, we may say it with little or no suspense that a person who is not capable of loyalty is not worthy of love.

—L. V. Gogate.

Forster's Book Receives Praise

The Agricultural Economics Laboratory Manual, which was prepared by G. W. Foster, Ph.D., head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at State College, Raleigh, N. C., has been approved by the United States Department of Agricultural Economics and adopted by the following colleges: University of Wisconsin, State College of New Jersey, Mississippi A. and M. College, South Carolina State College, and Michigan Agricultural College.

Comments on the manual has been received from a large number of colleges in the United States and elsewhere. Only a few of the comments will be quoted:

Dr. H. C. Taylor, Chief of Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, writes the following: "I am glad indeed to have a copy of your Agricultural Economics Laboratory Manual. I shall include it in the bibliography of the new edition of my book. I should think that quite a number of colleges might find this very useful. A laboratory course is needed in connection with the course in agricultural economics and I hope it will become general."

Dr. Ely, Director of Economic Research, University of Wisconsin, for many years a leader in the field of Economics, makes the following comment: "I have looked over your laboratory manual with a great deal of interest. It certainly presents material in a farm which will compel the student to work things out for himself."

At the request of Dr. Ely, Dr. Forster has signed a contract with A. W. Shaw Publishing Company, of Chicago, to write a text book on farm organization and management.

Prof. Clark Elected Chairman Of the English Department

At the last meeting of the members of the Department of English, Professor J. D. Clark was elected chairman of the department and will begin his duties on January 1, 1925. It was also voted that no member could serve after having served once, until every other member had either served or refused.

Professor Clark came here from V. P. I., where he was Assistant Professor of English. He was born in 1893 in Tennessee and received his early education there. In 1914 he received his B.A. degree from Columbia University and three years later his M.A. degree from Harvard. He was a special student at Oxford, England, in 1919.

Of Music

Suppose someone asks, What is a college band? There would be a considerable bit of difficulty in replying to this without giving a description of all of the instruments that a band might carry. In all probability it would be better to assume that it is generally known what a band is, and modify the question to the extent that it pertained more to the functions and activities thereof.

To reduce the question from a generalization to a local application, we might refer to the military band at State College. It is a musical organization, consisting of amateur musicians and created or made possible by State authority, functioning through the trustees of the College and through the faculty, sanctioned and supported by the War Department in the General Orders issued through the commandant of the reserve officers' unit. In conjunction with the War Department, the State of North Carolina makes possible the organization and aids in whatever activities that might be undertaken.

No member or members of the band receive any financial remuneration for participating with the band on any occasion. It is the purpose of the school, aside from the military aspect, to afford Raleigh and the State at large with the opportunity to enjoy the benefits of a musical organization, unequalled in size and ability, in the South. There is no common treasury, and the concerts that are arranged are under the auspices of organizations other than the State's. When out-of-town trips are made the expenses are borne by the group of individuals who take occasion to invite the band. Its strength as a military unit is sixty pieces and its concert strength is thirty-five.

Organizations throughout the State who wish to make use of the band on special occasions do so, knowing that they are making the best of a resource that is the State's in word and in deed.

Many a true word has been uttered through false teeth.

SNIPES ELECTED AS PRESIDENT LEAZAR LITERARY SOCIETY

Leazar Literary Society held its last meeting of the fall term Friday evening, December 12th. The first part of the program was informal, being featured by a brief talk from the president on our successes and failures as a society during the term. The social committee then took charge of the program and served refreshments, followed by smokes, which added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

As the hour was passing away rapidly, the time soon came for the serious part of the program, which was the election of officers for next term. The following were elected: M. L. Snipes, president; H. M. Ray, vice-president; J. G. Weaver, secretary; J. P. Shaw, treasurer; G. F. Seymour, critic; J. B. Britt, censor; R. Strider, chaplain; T. T. Brown, reporter; C. E. Vick, sergeant at arms.

The retiring president then delivered his farewell address, urging us to co-operate to the fullest extent and continue to put forth our strongest efforts even more than we have in the past. His new president took the chair and made a short speech, pledging his efforts for a most successful term to come. He appointed the program committee as follows: J. G.

M. L. SNIPES

Weaver, chairman; R. R. Fountain and B. K. Jones.

At this meeting the queries for the Junior and Senior Inter-society Debates were announced. For the seniors the query is: "Resolved, That the Japanese exclusion clause of the present national immigration law should be repealed." For the juniors the query is: "Resolved, That Congress should be empowered to nullify by a two-thirds vote any decision of the United States Supreme Court, declaring a Federal statute unconstitutional." The Leazar Society is to uphold the affirmative in both cases. The senior debate will take place the last Friday night in January and the junior debate the last Friday night in February.

This brought the last meeting of the term to a close. We feel like that under the direction of the new president we will be more successful next term than we were this term. Both the retiring president and the newly elected president were members of the inter-collegiate debating teams last year, and we feel that next term will be one of the best in the history of the society.

Some one asked "Little Davie" Gray where they got the fleas over at the Agricultural building. He replied, "They got them from the 'Tea Hounds' over in Seventh."

Alumni Notes

Observations & Communications of Zippy Mack

Max Gardner may be elected president of the State Fair, says Saturday's News and Observer, and all State College men take notice. Such a proposition is doubly interesting to them, as Max already belongs to us, and there are very good reasons to believe that the fair itself is soon to become our property. The work that Max has done in his own community is his strongest campaign talk, and for that reason his election seems almost a certainty. Anyway, it will certainly be a stunning combination, State College, State Fair, and Max Gardner.

Mr. C. H. Warren, of the Class of '23, who is now Superintendent of the I. O. O. F. Orphans' Home, at Goldsboro, was in town the other day and took time to say a few words. Charlie seems to be getting along very nicely with the Odd Fellows and their children.

THE TECHNICIAN staff is in receipt of the following announcement: "Mr. David M. Prince announces the marriage of his daughter, Julia Katharine, to Mr. Bushrod Washington Nash, on Saturday, October the twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, La Grange, North Carolina. At home after December tenth, Goldsboro, North Carolina."

Mr. Nash was captain of the Freshman football team last year and was a candidate for the Wolfpack this fall. His marriage had been kept a secret, and comes as a surprise to his many friends on the campus.

THIS IS NO FISH STORY— BUT A CHICKEN STORY

England has nothing on the United States when it comes to chicken stories.

In the laboratories at North Carolina State College is a very rare specimen in the form of a hen that has changed to a male bird. We have only one other case of this kind on record—this was reported from England about a year ago. This hen in the laboratory at this school has all the qualities that a male bird has as the development of male plumage, crows like a male and is attracted by the opposite sex like any male bird. This wonderful specimen was shipped to the laboratory from South Carolina, to be made a study of by Dr. B. F. Kaupp. This hen in the spring of 1924 layed and hatched her own eggs and by some physiological change turned to a male.

This is a very rare specimen as it is the second one on record. We sometimes wonder what is going to happen next.

Soph Co. E Downs Soph Co. A in Championship

Passes to Grand and Almo for Month of January go to the Victors

On Saturday afternoon Sophomore Company "E" defeated Sophomore Company "A" by the score of fifteen to nothing, thereby becoming the inter-company football champions for the 1924 season, and winning passes to the Grand and Almo theatres for the month of January.

"E" Company's scoring came as the result of two touchdowns and a field goal. "E" Company got their first chance to score when "A" Company fumbled the kickoff. After holding "E" Company for downs Griffin punted weakly from behind his goal line and "E" Company was able to put the ball in play on "A" Company's fifteen-yard line. From here they rushed the ball over the goal line with Hurley and Uter carrying the ball most of the time. Hurley carried the ball for the touchdown on an off-tackle run. Later, in the second quarter, Company "A" held on their own twenty-yard line so that Woodleaf was forced to drop back and kick a placement goal. The half ended with the ball on "A" Company's twelve-yard line in the possession of "E" Company.

In the last half, after carrying the ball from the kickoff to "A" Company's two-yard line, "E" Company fumbled and Griffin recovered for "A" Company on his own seven-yard line. At this point "A" Company attempted the passing game. After carrying the ball to the twenty-yard line Woodleaf intercepted one of the passes and raced to "A" Company's five-yard line before he was downed. After two line plays Hurley carried it over on an off-tackle run. As the game ended "A" Company had carried the bay by means of passes to "E" Company's twenty-yard line.

The running of Hurley and Woodleaf in "E" Company's backfield and the defensive work of Williams in "A" Company's line was of a high order.

The line-up and summary is as follows:

Soph. "E" Co. (15)	Position	Soph. "A" Co. (0)
Dunn	R. E.	Snipes
Folley	R. T.	Harrell
Pruder	R. G.	Williams
Springer	C.	Williamson

Hill	L. E.	Weeden
Woodleaf	Q. B.	Hendricks
Hurley	R. H.	Tucker
Smith	L. H.	Matheson
Uter	F. B.	Griffin

Score by quarters:

Matheson Boys Champions In Tennis Singles Tournament

In the annual fall tennis tournament to determine the champion singles player of the campus, Don and Bonny Matheson have won every match they have played. So, if anyone wishes to know who is champion, say Matheson.

As yet these two brothers, from Cherraw, S. C., have not played off their match and it is uncertain which is really the better player. This much is certain: The Matheson family, as State College knows it, surely can play tennis.

"A man is never older than he feels," declared the ancient beau bravely. "Now, I feel as fresh as a two-year-old."

SPORT COMMENT

We are endeavoring in this column to give the gist of Campus opinion about sports. Because of man's inherent narrowmindedness and conceit it is most probably our own personal opinion that we're actually giving. We hope not.
THE SPORT EDITOR.

COACH TEBELL'S MEN look good to us. After watching practice and reviewing practically all his material, in the Freshman game, we begin to view the season as through rose-tinted spectacles.

—N.C.S.—

COACH SAMMY'S FRESHMEN look good, too. They lack the experience which comes of working together, but it's a real pleasure to watch their individual work.

—N.C.S.—

THIS INTRAMURAL PROGRAM begins to take actual physical form now, and in a year or two should be an integral part of State's athletic program, leading up to better inter-collegiate teams.

—N.C.S.—

MR. PARKER IS VERY ENTHUSIASTIC about the wonderful cooperation which has been accorded him by all concerned in his first move toward intramural athletics. We are very glad indeed to see this coordination among the departments which make up our school.

—N.C.S.—

CLEVE BEATTY, YOU'RE THE STUFF. Much coaching ability has been shown out there on Riddick Field during the past two weeks, and we're glad to see it.

—N.C.S.—

THE MEN WHO MADE the all-American team, chosen by votes from the several selections entered by the coaches, are to be congratulated on their ability as football players.

—N.C.S.—

SOPHOMORE Co. E, we extend to you the congratulations of the entire student-body. We hope you'll enjoy the shows, too.

—N.C.S.—

HOW DO YOU LIKE the baseball schedule? Twenty games with several new opponents and most of our old friendly enemies back, looks pretty good to us.

—N.C.S.—

WELL, BOYS, THE TEAM'S GOING OFF on a little trip about Friday. They are merely practice games, but the opposing teams are both pretty good. The games should be good, but we're expecting to win.

—N.C.S.—

DON AND BONNY MATHESON are both in order for congratulations. These two brothers from our sister State to the South alone remain in the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament (singles). One thing certain, the championship of the campus is going to stay in the Matheson family.

P. C. Beatty Calls On The Technician Staff

Veteran of a Score of Gridiron Battles Interviewed by Journalists

Saturday morning THE TECHNICIAN office entertained no less a personage than the great Cleve Beatty, veteran of a score of gridiron battles and as many on the hardwood court, not to mention wrestling and checkers, both of which have received some of the great athlete's time since he has been at State.

While in the office Mr. Beatty engaged in a very heated discussion with the editor as to whether or not they should grace a certain meeting by their presence, each refusing to go unless the other also went, showing that even among those who are great on the campus misery loves company.

Mr. Beatty brought along with him our celebrated friend and manager-elect, "Flopp" Morris. These two gentlemen had been spending the morning visiting their many friends on the campus and receiving felicitations from them. It seems that these two worthy gentlemen are preparing for a good time Christmas and that their preparations are being carried on on no small scale.

Mr. Beatty gave a short resume of his class work done this fall and judging from his own words he has done very well. As for Mr. Morris, he was his own usual sweet self, glowing with scepticism and the everlasting energy of the born iconoclast. On the whole, the visit of these two men to the office of the campus scribes was one of wholehearted enjoyment for every one present.

Mythical All-Company Eleven

After the game was played last Saturday for the championship between Soph. E and Soph. A, the coaches of the various teams made their choice of a mythical All-Company Eleven. Several of the men who played in these Inter-Company contests showed up mighty well, and they were singled out very easily as men who should be on this Mythical Eleven. In the case of others there seemed to be quite a bit of varied opinion, but according to vote by the coaches this is the line-up:

First Team	Second Team
Hill	Barrier
Cook, Doc.	L. E.
Williams	L. T.
Dickson	L. G.
Yost	C.
Bristow	R. G.
Ward	R. T.

Varsity Cagers Defeat The Frosh By 34 To 16

Homewood's Men Lose in Season's First Tangle in New Gymnasium

Last Friday the Varsity basketball team defeated the Freshmen quintet 34 to 16. The game marked the opening of the season for both teams and was the first game to be played in the new Gymnasium.

Many of the students were out to see the game and they seemed to be well pleased with the showing made by each team. The varsity team promises to be exceptionally fast this year. They were slowed up during the game, however, due to the frequent substitutions.

Some of the men who showed up well for the varsity were Gresham and Dickens, with four field goals each, Correll with three, Duls two, and Green one.

The Freshmen team has a large supply of fine material, but they were lacking in team work because of the short time they have been practicing. However, they look good for the Freshmen champions of North Carolina. Spence, an all-State product of Raleigh High School, and McDowell, of Rockingham High School led the attack of the Freshmen, with two field goals each, Williams and Lytch followed with one each.

The new uniforms for the varsity were on hand. There are two sets of uniforms. Some of them are red with N. C. State on the front and numbers on the back, the rest of them are white with red N. C. State and numbers. The object of having two sets of jerseys is to make sure our team will not have to wear the same color jerseys as their opponents.

The line-up:

Varsity	Freshmen
Duls	Williams
Daily	R. F.
Correll	L. F.
Waters	C.
Luther	R. G.
	L. G.

Substitutions—Varsity: Gresham, Dickens, Johnson, Watkins, Green, Wray, Sutton, Davis, Long, Webster, Wallis, Brown, and Huggins. Freshmen: Bremer, Bush, Bynum, and Keller.

Freshman: "Yes, I have eyes just like my father."
Co-ed: "Uh huh—popeyed."

State's Schedule For 1925 Baseball Season

In Virginia and V.P.I. Two New and Strong Teams Will Be Met

On April 1 State will open its baseball season, which will include twenty games, and continue till May 23, 1925.

- Following is the schedule:
- April 1—Open.
 - April 4—Trinity at Trinity.
 - April 6-7-8—Open.
 - April 11—Penn State at State.

As the schedule stands State will meet two new teams which are well above the average, Virginia and V. P. I. If State can win the majority of the four games played with them it will add much to her prestige.

On the other hand it looks as if some of the old "stand-by" will have to be dropped. The Navy has asked for a game here, but her request had to be rejected on account of conflicting dates. So far, Coach Miller has been unable to schedule games with either Guilford or Davidson for the same reason. It also appears that we will not have a chance to "wreck Georgia Tech" again. However, there are still three games open, so it is possible that two of these teams may be worked into our schedule.

The pitchers will begin getting into the "swing" by the 15th of January or the first of February. Practice will be confined to the Gym. during bad weather. By the first of March the whole team will be getting in form and by the end of the season we believe they shall have made a record which will surpass that of the 1924 team.

Yale O. Millington

Yale O. Millington, for the past five years chief of the Periodical Department in the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., has been added to the staff of librarians at State College, it was announced here recently. His position will be assistant librarian, and his duties will consist of cataloguing books, records, and periodicals.

Mr. Millington is unusually well qualified, both by training and experience, to fill the new position made by increasing the library staff. He is a graduate of Colgate and George Washington University. For two years after graduation he taught English and History in the Dallas (Tex.) High School.

After leaving Texas, Mr. Millington went to Washington to accept the position in the Library of Congress, and continued in this work for thirteen years. During the last five years he was chief of the periodical division.

Since viewing the work here Mr. Millington has expressed himself as being favorably impressed with the work of the present library and very enthusiastic over the new D. H. Hill Library Building, which will be completed late in the winter.

Mr. Millington was married to Miss Maude L. Jackson, a graduate of George Washington University, in 1920. Mrs. Millington and their young son will join Mr. Millington here about the first of the year.

Dean E. L. Cloyd

Edward Lamar Cloyd was born at Lenoir, North Carolina. He received his elementary and high school training in the Lenoir public schools. In the fall of 1910 he entered State College—known then as the A. & M. College. At the end of his junior year he was forced to stay out of school for a year because of bad health. He came back in 1914 and finished with the Class of '15, receiving the degree of B.E. in Mechanical Engineering. For two years following graduation he taught Mathematics and Physics in the Lenoir High School. In January, 1918, he came to N. C. State as instructor in Mechanical Engineering. He held this position for four years. In the fall of 1921 he was elected Dean of Students and occupies this position now. While engaged in teaching Engineering here he spent several summers in industrial plants to get a practical viewpoint. He attended the Conference for Engineering Instructors which was held during the summer of 1920 at Philadelphia, by the Westinghouse Electric Company.

While a student here in College Professor Cloyd ranked high in scholarship and literary society work. He was a member of Leazar Literary Society and an active worker. He represented this institution in its first inter-collegiate oratorical contest. He was also a member of the inter-collegiate debating team in 1915 and one of the commencement orators. He was chosen president of the Y. M. C. A. during his senior year.

As Dean of Students Professor Cloyd has made a distinct contribution to State College. He began his new work just at the time when Student Government started to function. There were necessarily many matters which came before him that required tact and skillful handling. In his relations with the students he has always shown a willingness to cooperate with them in settling any difficulties that may arise.

Dean Cloyd was one of the founders, and a charter member of the Pine Burr Society, our scholarship organization. He is also a member of the Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society.

ADVANCED PUBLIC SPEAKING COURSE

As the catalogue published last summer contains a very inadequate description of the courses in Public Speaking which are to be offered during the second and third terms, Professor Cunningham has deemed it advisable to give a more complete explanation of the work which he will offer.

During the second term the course denominated "Advanced Public Speaking" will consist of a study of the principles of argumentation and of formal logic as applied in debate and public discussion. It will consider the wording of propositions, the meaning of terms, the tests of authorities, the means of evidence, and the various kinds of reasoning. Practical application of these principles will be made in a series of extemporaneous, argumentative speeches and in classroom debates and discussions. Some attention will be given in class to the questions which are chosen for the spring series of debates with other colleges.

During the third term the course will be a study and an application of the principles underlying persuasive discourse: the psychological forces that move men to believe and to act; methods of conciliation, of securing and holding attention, and of winning response. The close relationship between public speaking and salesmanship within the fields indicated above will be pointed out and developed.

These courses are elective for sophomores, juniors, and seniors in all schools. While it is desirable that a student shall have taken the course in beginning Public Speaking, men may take these two courses who have had, instead, some practical experience in speaking.

Professor: "Why did you put quotations at the first and last of that exam. paper?"

Student: "I was quoting the man in front of me."

State Will Open Hardwood Contest With Greensboro 'Y'

Coach Tebell is Fast Working Basketball Team Into Good Form

Basketball fans will see State's team in action for the first time on Friday night, December 19, at Greensboro. The team will leave here Friday and will play two games in close order. The first will be with the Greensboro "Y" on Friday night, and the second with the Charlotte "Y" on Saturday night.

The opener is expected to be interesting and hard-fought, and it is hoped that the game will be well attended by State supporters, which ought to include a good number of students as well as alumni.

The Greensboro "Y" is just beginning its season also, but it is reported that they have a snappy and smooth-working team. But State will have a chance to "show her stuff" and she is expected to do it.

Coach Tebell reports that the team has shown marked improvement during the last week. At forward Gresham and Dickens are showing the best combination for the present, but they are being hard-pressed by Duls, Luther, Daily, and Sam Brown. Henry Brown is going strongest for center, but Correll and McGowan are not far behind. Johnson and Waters are shining for the guards, but if they should slip, Watkins, Green, and Huggins will be ready to slide in.

During the whole practice season Gresham and Harry Brown have shown the most marked improvement under the new system. However, the whole team is beginning to work pretty well. At present the defense is not as good as it should be but it is thought that this fault can be largely overcome by the time for the opening contest.

All indications point to a pretty good tea mths this year. If you don't believe it ask Greensboro next Friday night.

Two-Year Ags Organize

At a meeting of the second year men of the Two-Year Course in Agriculture the following officers were elected: C. J. Lippard, president; T. A. Jeanette, vice president, and T. B. Williams, secretary-treasurer.

This is the first time this group has been organized, but they plan to make themselves heard from in the future. Committees were appointed to investigate and offer suggestions as to a class flower, a motto, and a ring.

WHITE'S STUDIO IS AGAIN REPRESENTED ON CAMPUS

Mr. Arthur Leonardt, representative of the White's Studio, was again with us last week. For several years Mr. Leonardt has been taking the pictures for the Agromeck. We are always glad to see him here because he always brings a cheery smile with him, and for some unknown reason or other the boys always seem to take pride in the way they dress.

Earlier in the fall Mr. Leonardt was here, but he failed to get all the pictures taken at that time. This is why he is with us again. It will be impossible for him to get all the pictures this time, so he is expecting to be with us again the first week in January.

This fall he visited eleven different colleges in the South. Other North Carolina Colleges visited were Flora McDonald, Lenoir-Rhyann, and Lenoir-Rhyann College. He comes to us from Erskine, in South Carolina. When asked where he was going from here he emphatically said, "HOME." Someone standing nearby said, "Someone else has a girl, too."

Mr. Leonardt said: "I like the type of boys at this school. They always seem so willing to cooperate with me and I always enjoy my stay at State College."

International Relationships Club Holds Second Meeting

At the second meeting of the International Relationship Club Thursday night it was decided to hold two meetings a month and to have some noted speaker to deliver a lecture at one meeting each month. At the other meeting the Club will take up and discuss any subject that might be of interest to the club. The time was set at 7:30 on Thursday night. The first meeting after the holidays will be called by the president.

It was also voted that the club hold a social during the winter term and to hold several joint meetings with the International Relationship Club at Meredith. A committee was appointed by the president to confer with the Meredith Club and decide on the time and place of these meetings. The club decided to have a picture in the 1925 Agromeck and this will be taken up at the first meeting next term.

The club has twenty-one members and although they have only held two meetings, much interest has been shown and they hope to make it a great success. It hopes to enlarge its membership next term and that will mean a better opportunity for the members to discuss the problems of International relations and to learn more about other countries and people.

The boy who sells sandwiches received two orders the other night over in "War-tauga"—one to get out, and the other to stay out.

Col. Parsons Inspects The R. O. T. C. Unit

Comments Favorably on Seemingly Wonderful Spirit at State College

Col. W. E. Parsons, from the War Department at Washington, inspected the equipment and methods of instruction of the Military Department last Wednesday. Colonel Parsons is the man who put the Military Department at the Missouri State University on such a high plane. When his time was up at the University the people at the school, the people throughout the State, and even the Governor, tried every possible means to keep him at the University; but since the law was that a man could stay at one place only a certain length of time he had to leave them. And now he is with the War Department in Washington.

After the equipment and the methods of instruction had been inspected, Colonel Parsons, with the members of the Military Department here, attended the contest for the best drilled squad of freshmen and afterwards the football game between the Junior Company and Co. E Sophomores.

Colonel Parsons has inspected schools all over the United States, and he knows the conditions existing at the various schools. Upon leaving, without being asked, he complimented very highly the seemingly wonderful spirit of N. C. State. When a man like Colonel Parsons says something like this he really means it; therefore we might let ourselves feel good over this, but by all means we must keep the good work up and give everyone the same opinion.

BEST DRILLED SQUAD WINS FREE PASSES TO THE GRAND AND ALMO

Last Wednesday the contest for the best-drilled squad of freshmen was won by Squad No. 28, instructed by H. S. Miller. The contest was held at the end of recruit drill. Now after Christmas all freshmen will be assigned to regular companies.

There was much interest and enthusiasm shown on the part of the freshmen and the student instructors. Any contest such as this was always creates competition, and where there is competition there is bound to be some good work as a result. Anyone seeing the contest last Wednesday will admit that there was some fine work done.

The members of the winning squad were as follows: W. D. Litch, R. C. Benfield, S. S. Heath, R. F. Brimley, L. R. Johnson, J. B. Day, E. L. Cooke and J. S. Harris. The reward for the work of the men will be a month's pass to the Grand and Almo theatres. These passes were given free by the theatres. These men well deserve their reward, and it is hoped they enjoy all the shows.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL ADOPTS BIDDING RULES

Early this year the Pan-Hellenic Council recommended and the Faculty Council passed several new rules regarding the pledging and the initiating of new men into fraternities.

For some years it has been the rule of the Pan-Hellenic Council to bid men to fraternities the first Monday in the second term. This caused the fraternity men to rush the freshmen during examinations and take up too much of their time; besides burdening their minds with fraternity matters when it should be on their work.

This year the Pan-Hellenic Council thought this old plan unwise and that a new bid day should be set. Early in the term it was recommended to the Faculty Council that several changes be made in several of the rules that concerned the fraternities. The Faculty Council, after due consideration and a few changes, passed the new rules submitted by the Pan-Hellenic Council. The most important of which are the following:

That bid day shall be the first Monday in December.

That bids may be initiated at the end of the second term, provided their grades average 70 per cent and that they do not have more than two conditions, not more than one coming in the second term.

That special students be admitted to fraternities under the same rule governing the other students.

That all men should be bid through the Pan-Hellenic Council.

There were several other slight changes made in the old rules which are not of considerable importance.

The Pan-Hellenic Council is much pleased with these new rules. It enables the fraternity men and the freshmen to give much more time to their studies and it eliminates the rushing during examinations.

J. S. HARRIS WINS PRIZE AS BEST DRILLED FRESHMAN

Harris, J. S., won the prize offered for the best drilled freshman in a competitive drill Friday afternoon.

Below is the body of a letter received by Colonel Gregory from Dr. Brooks in regard to the awarding of this prize:

"I take pleasure in announcing that the executive committee today authorized the award of a prize equal in amount to the tuition to that freshman, who, by application and diligence proved himself worthy of this recognition. This amount is, of course, $45.00."

Friday afternoon at the drill hour, by elimination, each company selected its best drilled man to compete in the finals for the prize; Harris, J. S., winning the award in competitive drill with M. D. Watkins, from Lieutenant Lee's company, and W. C. Warner, from Lieutenant Webb's company. Watkins was second and Warner third. Captain Wyo's company carried off the honor's, both in the contest for the best drilled squad and for the best drilled individual.

This scholarship is awarded provisionally with the understanding that the student so named will maintain the standard set by the contest. This prize, which amounts to forty-five dollars, is worth working for and will do much in the future to create interest in the drill.

Dr. A. C. Brooks Addresses Meredith and State Students

Dr. Brooks delivered an interesting address to the students of the Literature Clubs of Meredith and State College Thursday evening, December 11, at Meredith College. The address was enjoyed by those present, but the attendance was not up to standard, for the Saint Mary's Club was not there and many of the State students attended the concert given at State College the same evening.

Those who were not present at the joint meeting of the clubs missed a treat, and the only way for them to redeem themselves is to hear the interesting speakers that will address the clubs between now and next spring. Everyone that is interested in any phase of literature should attend the meetings of the clubs, for all phases will be touched upon by the different speakers before the school year has ended. The clubs intend to secure speakers on the subjects of drama, modern poetry, short stories, and other topics included in literary work.

THE SEASON'S GREETINGS

My Girl

It's not the bloom upon her cheeks,
Nor yet the sparkle in her eyes;
It's not the tone in which she speaks,
Nor yet the softness in her sighs;
That makes me love—
My Girl.

It's not the curves of her sweet face,
Nor yet the bearing of her head;
It's not her quiet and gentle grace,
Nor yet her lips so sweet and red;
That makes me love—
My Girl.

It's not the dimples in her chin,
Nor yet her smiles so dear and kind;
It's not the smoothness of her skin,
Nor yet her hair so soft and fine;
That makes me love—
My Girl.

It's the thoughts she thinks,
And the songs she sings;
It's the happiness she makes,
And the joys she brings;
It's the fears she halts,
And the courage she fires;
It's the mind she exalts,
And the soul she inspires;
That makes me love—
My Girl.

When Sahara's sands are muddy,
When cats and dogs wear B.V.D.'s—

Turning Backward

Backward, turn backward, oh Time,
in your flight;
Give us a maiden with skirts not so tight,
Give us a girl quite shapely to view,
With raven black hair and eyes of soft blue;
Dress her in skirts that the sun won't shine through.

Give us a maiden, no matter what age,
Who won't use the street for a vaudeville stage.
Then give us dances of days long gone by,
With plenty of clothes and steps not so high.

Then we may feast our tired optics once more
On a genuine woman as sweet as of yore.
Yes, Time, turn backward and grant this request,
For the world's richest blessing is not one-half dressed.

Kampus Kracks wishes you a Merry Christmas. May your stockings be filled with holes!

He: "There's something going around that will interest you."
She: "Well, be careful; there are some pins in my waist."—Ex.

Brothers: "Bremer! Bremer! Wake up!"

Bremer: "I can't."
Brothers: "Why can't you?"
Bremer: "I ain't asleep."

Meredith '26: "Why don't you bob your hair, Eloise?"
Meredith '28: "I would, but I simply can't decide on the style. I don't know which would look better—a whisk broom or a feather duster."

Phil Hendricks: "Walter, that's the toughest pie crust I ever ate in my life."

Walter: "My good man, you have eaten the paper plate upon which it was served you."

Humphrey: "Ouch! I just bumped my crazy bone."

Griffith: "Well, comb your hair right and the bump won't show."

Why did I drop that ball
Why, oh why, oh why?
Why did I let it fall?
I could almost die.
'Twas muddy, so muddy,
And slippery from goo.
But no one thinks of that—
They blame it all on you.
The crowd thinks that I'm a joke,
And no doubt they're right.

"MEN"

Once upon a time I thought I understood men and could marry one of them with my eyes shut—but alas!

I have discovered that if you flatter a man it frightens him to death.

And if you don't flatter him he is bored to death.

If you permit him to make love to you he gets tired in the end.

And if you don't he gets tired in the beginning.

If you believe all he tells you he thinks you are a fool, and if you don't he thinks you are a cynic.

If you argue with him in everything you soon cease to charm him.

If you wear gay colors, rouge, and startling hats he hesitates to take you out.

And if you wear a little brown togue and plain tailor makes he takes you out and gazes all the evening at some other woman in gay colors, rouge, and startling hats.

If you are jealous of him he cannot endure you, and if you are not he cannot understand you.

If you join in his gaities and approve of his smoking he vows you are leading him to the devil.

And if you disapprove and urge him to give them up he vows you are driving him to the devil.

If you are affectionate he soon wearsies of your kisses, and if you are cold he soon seeks consolation in some other woman's kisses.

If you are a sweet old fashioned clinging vine, he doubts that you have a brain.

If you are modern, advanced, and independent, he doubts that you have a heart, or scruples.

If you are cute and babyish he longs for a mental mate, and if you are brilliant and intelligent he longs for a helpmate.

And all the time, though he is falling in love with you for just what you are, he is spending the days trying to remodel you, to make you over into what you are not, never were, and never can be, but—"A man's a man for all that."

Intramural Athletics Get Away With a Bang

Inter-Company Football Proves Great Success; Unusual Inter- est Shown by Contestants

Inter-Company football marked the beginning of an extended program of intramural athletics being planned and carried out by Mr. W. F. Parker, of the Physical Education Department. If one may judge by the interest shown in the particular phase of the program it seems that the whole intramural program is assured great success.

Unusual interest was shown by the men who entered the contests. A total of something like 120 men were in uniform during the series, and instances in which all men in uniform did not play are few and far between. All of them played good, clean, football and they played to win—for the simple love of the game. The conspicuous absence of unnecessary roughness and unsportsmanlike conduct was indeed gratifying to all who are interested in State College.

Each game was witnessed by a goodly crowd of interested spectators; those who wanted to see one or the other team win, and those who love good, clean, hard-fought, amateur football. Each game was played with representatives of the Department of Physical Education officiating, in order to insure uniform fairness and to eliminate any possibility of complaint.

The Military Department is to be complimented on the splendid spirit of cooperation which it showed in helping the Physical Education Department start its big program. Much credit is due, also, to the Varsity men who coached the company teams. They are directly responsible for any and all good accomplished by the program. Aside from this the experience in coaching which they, as individuals, received, is alone a big enough thing to make the whole program worth while and should mean quite a bit to them.

In the meantime, the Varsity coaches were not asleep, and as a result of the series just played there will be several men on the Wolfpack squad next fall, when practice begins, who, probably, would never have thought of going out otherwise. Several men showed stuff which might even merit them a place in the 1925 Wolfpack's regular line-up.

The schedule as played and results follow:

Fresh. Co. 3 vs. Soph. Co. 3—Tie, 0-0; second game, Soph. 7, Fresh. 0.

Fresh. Co. 1 vs. Soph. Co. A—Fresh. 13, Soph. 6; Freshmen forfeited to Sophs. for playing man not drilling.

Fresh. Co. 2 vs. Soph. Co. E—Tie, 0-0; second game, Soph. 3, Fresh. 0.

Junior Co. vs. Soph. Co. A—Soph. 6, Jun. 0.

Final championship game: Soph. Co. E 15, Soph. Co. A 0.

It is of interest to note the close scores and the tie games. If comparative scores mean anything, Cleve Beatty is the best coach and Walter Shuford next best. But then Bull Thomas beat Walter's team and had to forfeit. All in all the series was good and pleased all concerned, forming a pleasant diversion for the otherwise monotonous period between football and basketball season.

Co-ed (alighting from car, powdering nose, and making other adjustments): "Well, I certainly enjoyed the ride."

Ed (politely): "Oh, the pleasure was all mine."

Co-ed: "Don't kid yourself, I'm not that accommodating."—Ex.

PERSONAL and SOCIAL NEWS

(All social and personal news turned in THE TECHNICIAN office will be appreciated by the editor.)

Dr. G. W. Forster, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics, will attend the American Farm Economic Association meeting in Chicago, December 29-31, at which he has been requested by Dr. Nourse, president of this association, to be chairman of the round table discussion on State Agricultural Programs. He will read a paper entitled "The Fundamental Basis of State Agricultural Programs." Formal papers will also be presented by Dean Lipscomb of Mississippi and Professor F. F. Elliott of the University of Illinois, and various members will take part in the discussion.

Dr. Carl C. Taylor, Dean B. F. Brown, Professor W. A. Anderson, and Professor R. C. Journey will spend December 29-31 in Chicago, attending the sessions of the American Sociological Society. Dr. Taylor will discuss before the society the subject, "The Psychology of the Farmer."

Mr. H. A. Stone, Research Fellow in Economics in Sociology, has returned from Chicago, where he went to be a judge in the Boys' and Girls' Club Work at the National Livestock Association.

Professor W. A. Anderson made an address at Knightdale on the evening of December 9.

Dr. G. W. Forster will appear on the program of the Southern Association of Agricultural Workers, to be held in Atlanta February 3d and 4th. His subject will be "The Organization of a Department of Agricultural Economics."

GASTON COUNTY CLUB ELECTS 1925 OFFICERS

The students from Gaston County met at the College Y. M. C. A. last Saturday afternoon for the purpose of electing officers. The following members were elected to office: President, R. L. Melton; vice president, E. H. Dobbin; secretary and treasurer, J. P. Kiser.

The roll this year shows an increasing number over last year. We had fourteen on roll last year. This year we have twenty-two on roll. We, as old members, are proud of the increasing number, and hope that in nineteen twenty-five and six there will still be a larger number from Gaston than ever before.

A Toy—a Tool

THE first twenty days in December witnessed a big event in one man's life. They saw a toy grow into a tool—one of the most useful in all history.

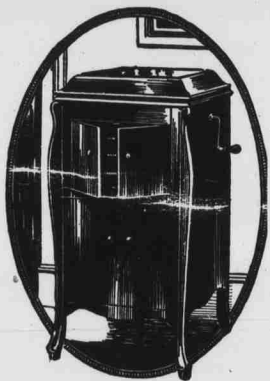

On December 1st, 1885 there was brought to George Westinghouse, at Pittsburgh, an uncommercial "secondary generator"—a scientific toy. Westinghouse and associates lived with it day and night, and by December 20, 1885, in a flash of genius, had completed the essential conceptions of the modern transformer. Thus in twenty days they paved the way for alternating current, and the electrical era of the twentieth century.

Here was a brilliant engineering feat—a feat that through the years has been a particular inspiration to a specialized group of "design engineers" within the Westinghouse organization. These men are electrical and mechanical engineers who are attracted not merely by an engineering problem—but by the technical difficulties of "licking" that problem to narrow and exact practical limits.

These men work continuously with both sides of an equation. On one side are the needs of a customer. For the other side must be developed apparatus which exactly meets those needs. The apparatus may range from a complete system of electrification for a railroad to a new type of curling iron.

Engineering extends a welcoming hand to men qualified for designing. Many of the most constructive services of Westinghouse have been made possible by their leadership.

Get Our Terms on Victrolas

We have a plan by which hundreds who felt they "couldn't afford" the best Talking Machine made,—a Victrola, are now enjoying its unequalled variety of entertainment. This plan makes it so easy to own your Victrola, it almost seems you can't afford not to have one. Come in and choose the Victrola you want.

We will deliver it the same day.
