Deacon Quintet Defeat Techmen

State's Tardy Rally Cuts Down the Baptists' Lead to Five Points

Last Saturday night, in the Frank Thompson Gym, basketball fans watched one of the fastest and hardest fought games that has been seen in many a year between the old rivals, State and Wake Forest.

The Baptists opened the game with such speed and form that the old reliable State defense was thrown completely off its guard. A field goal each by Daniel and Emmerson and a foul shot in close succession gave Wake Forest a five-point lead before State got a good try at the basket. Following the next toss, however, State took the offensive, which ended in a neat ringer from under the basket by Brown. But the Deacons were not to be downed. Daniel shot two perfect goals from almost the same spot. Ober, Pegano, and Gresham also did their share with a ringer apiece. But before the half was over State made two more baskets and a foul shot, so that the score at the end of the first half was 21 to 9.

Between halves it was whispered among State fans that the Techs would stage a comeback. And they did. Dickens showed the visitors his form of dribbling which they could follow only with their eyes. And Gresham and Dickens started a passing game which the Deacons were unable to follow at all. State's defense tightened, and the Wake Forest forwards found themselves well guarded at every turn. The Techs kept the ball the greater part of the second half, and even when it came into the Deacons' hands they were forced to play a slow passing game in State's territory. But Wake Forest's play for time did the work. The Techs scored 15 points in the second half, while the Deacons scored only eight—but their lead was too great to overcome. When the whistle blew the score was 29 to 24 in favor of Wake Forest.

Had State made better work with her foul shots her chances of winning would have been greatly increased. The Techs made but two free shots out of 13 chances. The Deacons did a little better, making four shots out of 18 chances.

SOCIAL AT N. C. C. W. HAS BEEN CHANGED

The Baptist Student Social, to be given by the girls at N. C. C. W. to boys of Wake Forest, U. N. C. and State College, has been changed to Saturday, February 21st.

A "chair-car" bus has been chartered and will remain at the service of the group while in Greensboro.

P. M. Hendricks, Room 139 (1911), is business manager for the trip and will furnish further information upon request. Free accommodations for Saturday night have been arranged for twenty men. Those making application first will be assigned.

The Red Terrors Have Gone Upstate A-Huntin' Scalps

Elon and Guilford Next Victims; Wake Forest Again Next Tuesday

The State College basketball team has gone trekking forth into the neighborhood of Greensboro to do a little shopping. The first stop will be made at Elon, where the greater part of Friday evening will be spent and perhaps the whole night.

The purpose of this pause at this time is to settle a little altercation with the Elonites. Cap'n Red had a little dispute with a guy up there and he's taking a few of his friends—friends who love him so well they model their clothing after the manner of his hair—up there with him to settle it.

While they're about it they're going on over to Guilford Saturday night and entertain all loving friends and friendly enemies by a little exhibition of a cracker-jack basketball team in action. Then home for the week-end and revenge about Tuesday from Garrity's Old Gold and Blacks.

DR. PARRY TALKS ON "CONFLICT OF IDEALS"

A very interesting program was rendered at the Sunday afternoon religious meeting that was held in the Y. M. C. A. at 1:30 p. m., January 25.

Dr. Parry, the pastor of the Christian Church, made a very good talk on the subject "Conflict of Ideals." He mentioned the fact that religion is losing its grip upon the people of some communities. He made the point that we have cast aside the God of our fathers and grandfathers, and that our conception of God is larger and greater than the conception of God that was held by our grandparents. He stated that the conflict of ideals is due to indifference concerning moral obligations and a willingness to think of morals as belonging to the past. He believes that the perfect ideal is a spiritual ideal, and he says that he wants to live in a community in which the evolution is toward perfection in spirituality. Dr. Parry's talk was appreciated and enjoyed by every one who was present at the meeting.

The program was made much more enjoyable by music that was furnished by a quartet from the Blind Institute. It was inspiring to see how these young ladies, handicapped in life as they are, can make our lives happier.

Just recently has the Y. M. C. A. started holding meetings of this kind. Although only a few of such meetings have been held, the Y. M. C. A. is convinced that they are worth-while and that they are enjoyed and appreciated by many of the students.

Cause for Grief

A Hebrew attended the funeral of a multi-millionaire and throughout the sad rites cried as if his heart would break.

"What are you crying so far, Abie?" asked a friend. "He wasn't a relative of yours."

"Dot's why I'm crying," sobbed Abie in a fresh outburst of grief.

State College Meets V.M.I. and V.P.I. In Triangular Debate

Will Debate the University of North Carolina in an Open Forum

Within the past week several plans for intercollegiate public speaking activity on the part of State College debaters and orators have been consummated.

A triangular debate has been definitely arranged with Virginia Military Institute and Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The three contests will take place on the evening of Monday, March 23. The proposition to be debated is: "Resolved, That the Federal Government should discontinue the policy of leasing to private individuals and corporations the natural resources of the country over which it has control." The State College affirmative team will meet the negative team of V. P. I. in Raleigh, and the local negative team will journey to Lexington, Va., for a battle of wits with the V. M. I. affirmative.

Try-outs for the teams which are to participate in this triangular contest will be held about February 20. All men who plan to enter the competition for places on these teams should sign up immediately with Professor Cunningham, the coach.

Arrangements have been made with the University of North Carolina for an open forum, Oxford Union plan debate to be held in Raleigh some time during the late spring. The question to be debated is: "Resolved, That Congress should enact the Cummins-Valle Birth Control Bill." Plans for try-outs will be announced later.

Finally, formal entry into the State Peace Oratorical Contest has been made. A local contest will be held, either on March 6 or on February 26, for the purpose of selecting an orator to represent the college in the state contest. The following men have already signified their intention of entering the competition, and are at work on their speeches: E. W. Bridges, J. E. Webber, J. M. Potter, H. M. Ray, H. W. Taylor, E. E. Trevathan. Any others who desire to enter should confer with Prof. Cunningham.

Propositions Chosen For Freshman and Sophomore Debates

Leazar Literary Society Will Defend the Affirmative in All Debates

At a meeting of the Debate Council held on Tuesday, propositions were chosen for the Sophomore and Freshman inter-society debates. The questions to be used by the Seniors and Juniors had already been selected, so that the complete list is now as follows:

Seniors: "Resolved, That the Japanese exclusion clause of the present immigration law should be repealed."

Juniors: "Resolved, That the Federal Government should discontinue the policy of leasing to private individuals and corporations the natural resources of the country over which it has control."

Sophomores: "Resolved, That Congress should enact the Cummins-Valle Birth Control Bill."

Freshmen: "Resolved, That the State of North Carolina should abolish capital punishment."

It so happens that Leazar Literary Society will be called upon to defend the affirmative in each of the four contests. Only the Senior teams have thus far been chosen. They are as follows: Pullen—H. M. Bremer and L. O. Whitford; Leazar—M. L. Snipes and H. G. Moore. The debate between these teams will take place Friday evening, February 6, in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A.

POULTRY TEAM WINS THIRD PLACE IN MADSON SQUARE GARDEN CONTEST

POULTRY JUDGING TEAM

N. C. State Makes Good Showing by Winning One Cup and Tying for Three Others.

Placing third among the leading colleges and universities of the United States, the N. C. State poultry team proved that the training in Poultry Husbandry at N. C. State is equal to that given in other northern and eastern institutions.

The contest was very close and greater competition was shown than heretofore. The awarding of cups and medals was as follows: First sweepstakes loving cup went to Connecticut with 1972½ points, second sweepstakes cup went to New York with 1911½ points. The cup offered for standard judging was won by Connecticut; the cup offered for utility judging was won by Pennsylvania.

The gold medal awarded for utility judging was won by Mr. H. O. Stuart, Pennsylvania. North Carolina tied for three cups; in one case the flip of a coin was necessary to decide the tie. The committee in charge of the contest agreed, before the contest, that in case of a tie the team or individual receiving the largest number of perfect scores should win.

The team, composed of J. F. Bullock, J. S. Moore, C. F. Parrish, and W. W. Keever, alternate, was accompanied by Coach W. F. Armstrong and Dr. B. F. Kaupp. J. B. Slack also made the trip. The trip was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The contest began Friday morning at 8 a. m. Each man was given a number, and then the members of the various teams were given an examination, which lasted an hour and one-half. Judging began at 10 a. m. and lasted until 2:30 p. m. There were four classes of birds to be judged for production, and four classes for exhibition. The contest was held in Madison Square Garden, which is an immense auditorium. In the Garden were several thousands of the finest birds of the country, brought there to be exhibited.

Friday evening, at 6:00 p. m., the members of the various teams and their coaches enjoyed a bountiful dinner at the Brozwell Hotel. At this time the members of the different teams were afforded an opportunity to get acquainted with one another. The results of the contest were also announced at the dinner, and the suspense of the evening was broken for the different teams and their members.

Saturday morning the N. C. State team visited several packing houses. Here the team studied the handling, grading, packing, and storing of eggs. In the breaking department the eggs were broken and the yolk separated from the white and put in cans and then stored in the cold storage rooms. The team also visited the Merchants Refrigerating Company, which has five and one-quarter million cubic feet of floor space, the largest cold storage plant under one roof. Here the team studied the methods and care in handling and packing of cold storage products.

Saturday evening and Sunday morning were spent in sight-seeing. The most interesting places visited being the National Museum, Zoological Gardens, Wannamaker's and Macy's department stores, and the docks.

Glee Club Is Making Impressive Progress

Daddy Price's Boys Slowly But Surely Becoming Smooth- Working Machine

The State College Glee Club is slowly developing into shape under the attentive guidance of Captain "Daddy" Price. The selections have been made for the tours of the spring, negotiations for which are under way.

Confronted with the difficulties incident to a very green bunch, Captain Price has labored unceasingly, and at last is about to develop a smoothly working musical machine. The whole club meets for regular practice twice a week, and special meetings are held for individuals at least once a week. The entire group is divided into separate quartettes for the individual meetings.

The program to be given, as tentatively chosen, will include plantation songs, popular songs, and classical selections. In addition, there will be some solo and duet work, as well as some selections by "The Foolish Four," as the original quartette has come to be called.

The Orchestra will accompany the Glee Club on its tours, and will have a part in the program.

THE PHI KAPPA PHI HONOR SOCIETY ELECTS MEMBERS

At the quarterly meeting of the State College Chapter of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, the following students were elected to membership: T. B. Lee, Agriculture; O. M. House, Textile; R. L. Melton, Electrical Engineering; K. M. Urquhart, Chemistry; L. C. Dillard, Civil.

There were also forty-three alumni elected to membership, including the following members of the faculty: Prof. J. W. Harrelson, Mathematics; Prof. C. L. Mann, Civil; Prof. W. F. Pate, Agronomist; Prof. L. L. Vaughan, Mechanical.

A banquet will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday, January 29, at 6:30 o'clock, at which time these elected members will be initiated into the Society.

Mrs. Henry Garrity Dies

The sympathy of the entire college community is extended to Coach Henry M. Garrity, of Wake Forest College, in his recent bereavement.

Mrs. Garrity, wife of Coach Garrity, died at her home in Wake Forest, January 28, following a short illness.

Editorials

It takes a little sunshine with the rain just to make the world go around.

Wonder if the McIver boys would resent anyone calling to them, "Two of a kind?"

At last the ditches are being filled up. There is hope yet of the campus getting back to normal again.

Are the engineering students filling out the questionnaires sent out last week? It is very much desired that you will fill out these questionnaires as well as possible and return to the men sending them out.

Beginning with this week's TECHNICIAN we are devoting one column to Meredith College. We want to express our appreciation to the young lady who is acting as our reporter over at that institution.

The Chemical and Business Administration men selected a fine man to take Hedgepeth's place on the Council. The Council will miss Hedgepeth, but they are getting a splendid man in L. S. Pridgen.

We congratulate the State College poultry judging team on their wonderful showing at Madison Square Garden last week. They won one cup, tied for two others, and came out third in total score. Not so bad?

THE TECHNICIAN would appreciate it if all clubs, societies and organizations of all kinds would get after their reporter and make him produce. If you haven't one, then elect one, and let the campus know what you are doing.

We claim that Carolina is not the only team that can train a ball to move about rapidly. When the ball gets a little of Coach Tebell on it and gets into the hands of Gresham and Dickens it is educated then, and about as fast as they get to be.

The Student Council is very anxious to get some information as to the standing of the student-body on the various questions that were in THE TECHNICIAN last week. There has been very little said so far concerning these questions. If you are interested in the way your government is run, then say so—tell how you feel. The Council wants to do that thing which is right and pleases the largest percentage of the students. Let us hear from you. Speak, or forever hold your peace.

LEGGING

"To leg," according to Webster, is "to bow or make obeisance." "To leg," according to the average State College man, is to treat a professor with any degree of respect or courtesy.

If a man passes his professor on the campus and speaks very politely to him, invariably he will be accused of legging. If you agree on class very emphatically with your professor, you are legging. If you refuse to cut a class when the professor is late before the required five minutes are up, you are legging. Try handing in a theme a little before it is due and see if you are not a legger in the eyes of your fellow classmen. The man who stays after class for a few minutes to ask about an assignment, or perhaps some other necessary business, is, beyond a doubt, a terrible man to leg. Make about six I's in one term and see if the reason you were able to do it was because you legged your way through.

Oftentimes the term has been applied to the way in which some men try to get into Fraternities. But this use of the term is rather a slam on it, because there has been another term given to this act which is more illustrative than just legging would be.

Is there any harm in legging? There would be no legging if there were no jealousy in the thoughts of some of our feeble minds. It has been said that only the gifted can repeatedly leg and get away with it. Wonder if the professors know when a man is trying to boost his term average by a pleasant good-day or some other sign of courtesy.

Have you been down to the General Assembly yet? You want to go down and give them the once over so you will know how to act when you come down to be a member of it in the near future. Go down and see how our laws are made.

The spirit shown at the last two games has been very much better than it was at the Duke game. Remember, fellows, it is making it harder for the team when we kick and hiss the referee. If you have to say something, say it in the form of encouragement to the team, and not to the referee.

From our "sister colleges" in Raleigh we have been hearing pitiful tales about horrid examinations during the past week. We hope they all passed them, though, and that they will soon get over their nervousness and be allowed to see their "brothers" and "cousins" again. (Note—Aren't you glad our examinations are a thing of the past?)

Important Notice

Do not take any candy or fruit from the honor boxes without FIRST having placed the correct amount in the box, or else put in an I.O.U. with your name, room number, dormitory, and amount. Let this be a warning, and do not forget it.

The Student Council.

Team, we are proud of you, even if you were at the small end of the score with Wake Forest. You truly swept them off their feet the last half and on the third of February you pick up where you left off the last half of the other game. Fight 'em, team; we all believe in you.

We are indeed unfortunate to lose L. L. Hedgepeth from our student-body. Although Hedgepeth will still be around on the campus for a while, at least, still it is not like being one of us. His work is not quite complete on the annual. Besides having the Agromeck this year Hedgepeth is a leader in his class on the Council and in various other campus activities. We are losing a fine man and we hate to see you go.

Although the end of Bible Study classes is near it is hoped that the students will not let down in this kind of work. Immediately following the close of the Bible Study there are to be courses given in the "Y" which will be of interest to every man on the campus and it is hoped that every man here will see his way clear to take one of these courses, which will be held under the leadership of some competent man. Watch for announcements and when the time comes, come around and investigate matters.

LEAZAR SOCIETY HAS INTERESTING DEBATE

The Leazar Literary Society held its regular weekly meeting Friday evening, January 23d. The feature of the program was a debate, the subject being: "Resolved, That the number of specialized courses should be decreased at State College." The affirmative was presented by H. G. Wharton and D. C. Rankin, and the negative was presented by C. B. Brown and J. W. Harrell. The negative contenders won the unanimous decision of the judges, proving that the number of specialized courses should not be decreased at State College. The judges were R. R. Fountain, H. M. Ray, and W. P. Shuford.

The next number on the program was a funny story by W. P. Shuford. He told us of some very interesting

"Expression in Architecture"

In the bank building the architect has sought always to express the ideal of dignity; the engineer has expressed the ideal of stability. Architect and engineer together have made of the American business building a co-ordination of design, construction and equipment that is a world criterion. Each year finds the American business building anticipating even more remarkable developments in the near future. Certainly modern invention—modern engineering skill and organization, will prove more than equal to the demands of the architecture of the future.

Secrecy Defeats Its Purpose

To the Editor of the Technician:
Dear Sir:—Since reading your editorial in last week's paper, the following thoughts have arisen in my mind and have been also expressed by other men in my hearing. Your question as to whether or not meetings and trials of the Student Council should be made public has been invariably answered in the affirmative. The Council is the representative body of the student-body and as such should always give to its public the privilege of hearing it in action.
As to testimony given at trials, the answer has been the same. This has formerly been kept secret for a number of reasons. One of these is that the feelings of the defendant may be spared. Now, from what I can gather after participating in numerous discussions during my stay at this place, it is the general opinion of the student-body that such a reason is no reason at all. It seems to me that straightforward evidence is a far better way of letting the student-body know the real facts of the case than the way which the present system makes necessary. What I allude to is the fever of gossip and untruth which follows any drastic action now taken by the Council. This is true because each man on the Council is sworn to secrecy, and therefore will not tell all that goes on at the meeting. The result is that much that is not true is said concerning the defendant, the Council, and the case in general.
These conditions would, I think, be to a large extent overcome were the meetings of the Council made public. And as for the feelings of those concerned, I should say that such should be taken into consideration before the offense is committed by the guilty parties.
Yours very truly,
HENRY M. BREMER, JR.

Budding Poet in Freshman Class

The readers of the last week's TECHNICIAN were no doubt charmed by two literary masterpieces contributed by a member of the Class of '28. In these two poems the author has vividly described the beginning and the end of day. But for the omission of the noon scene these two compositions would have equalled, if not surpassed, Milton's "L'Allegro."
Mr. Shaw has exhibited a remarkable insight into the secret beauties of Nature, and has translated the reader to ethereal heights of ecstasy by his tender and vivid descriptions. His wonderful choice of words, such as: "darkish fold," "rustle slow," "brightish glare," "reddish glow," "darkish gloom," "rustling roar," and "sleeping snore" contributes greatly to the excellency of his poems.
Such lines as—
"The mocking bird cleans his rested throat," and—
"It was a milk boy driving his cows with a hound" are typical of the author's style.
This poetry is certainly unique, not being free verse on account of its rhyme, not belonging to other classes of poetry on account of its utter lack of meter. It will certainly be a precedent for future bards, who aspire to the highest literary attainment, the perfect representation of Nature.
BEN SWIFT.

Former Clemson Student Likes N. C. State College

One reason why Clemson College, the State college of South Carolina, is not an equal to the one in her sister State of North Carolina is because of the military government which reigns and prevails at Clemson. At the South Carolina college one gets almost the same line of work in practically every respect that is given at State College. So what other reason is it which can hold a school like this back besides this strict military training?
There is not one boy out of a possible hundred who desires to be a soldier, and those who do, do not go to a school of this type, and for this very reason South Carolina loses a good many of her best students who, I am sure, would like to attend their own State school.
After seeing all of this and facing all the trouble, there is no reason why South Carolina shouldn't awaken to the fact that a school run on a strict military plan doesn't pay. The authorities of Clemson should visit their sister State to the north of them and see how a real school is run. Because, after attending both, I am convinced that N. C. State is far ahead of Clemson.

D. W. BRADLEY.

Help Engineering Education by Filling in Questionnaire

Who of you want to see N. C. State College fall below the average in the Engineering Department? Instead of taking this pessimistic view, why not get to work and put her up in competition with the other institutions of high reputation? We have started the ball rolling now. Let each of us work together and make the ball pick up something on its surface of inestimable value as it rolls onward and upward.
In order to raise the standards in the Engineering Department we have been given questionnaires to fill out. We, the students, can greatly help ourselves and at the same time benefit the Engineering course if we but cooperate with the faculty in filling out the questionnaires. We must make a self-examination and find out just where we are most deficient. If each student will fill out these questionnaires to the best of his ability, and give suggestions as to how he thinks the Engineering Course can be improved, it is my belief that there can be secured from these various suggestions a scheme whereby the Engineering Department can raise its standard to compete with the standards of the other high standard institutions.

Use the Gymnasium

Due to insufficient heat in the new Gymnasium, class-work in Physical Education was postponed last week. The Gym is now being supplied with steam from the new power house, and class-work in Physical Education has again gotten under way.
We are proud of our new Gymnasium, as it affords us a place in which we can learn under able leadership the correct methods of building up a strong body.
To be a well-educated man one must be trained physically, mentally, and spiritually. We have our classrooms in which we receive our mental training; a Y. M. C. A. in which we train ourselves spiritually; now we have a "Gym" in which we can develop our bodies physically. This is the one phase of education in which State College heretofore has been lagging behind. We have a new "Gym" now; let's use it in educating our bodies physically.
FRANK L. HARGROVE.

Honor in Merchandising

There has been quite a bit of talk about the honor system on the campus in regard to candy boxes that are placed in the dormitories. This system should function very nicely, but from some of the reports that we have it works very poorly. Is this due to neglect or thoughtlessness on the part of the boys themselves. True, there may be someone who does not have respect for himself or others, and we do not wish to associate with this kind, but on the other hand we think that it may get some well-meaning person in trouble. If it is to be conducted strictly on an honor basis, then have it so. If it is to be used as a trap to rid ourselves of the undesirables, all well and good. But in so far as its functioning in this respect, is concerned it is an absolute failure, while on the other hand, if a man is to be placed on his honor he should be on his honor in the full sense of the word. Whether he pays at this time or at this time next week is all the same, in so far as honor is concerned.

Cases of delayed payment are too often mistaken for intentional theft, as probably has too often been the case already. It is a known fact that this practice of convenient payment has been in effect among the more ardent supporters of the honor system, and in dealing with such cases it is well to bear these facts in mind.
On the other hand candy boxes constitute a business whose success or failure is directly dependent on the efficiency of the individual's attitude with respect to the honor system. Viewed in the respect of the honor system the business is a good one, well established, backed and policed by the Student Council. This fact is evident, and commercialization of the honor system should not be tolerated.
The proprietor of this concern, although unknown to the writer, has evidenced this fact. Though a self-help student, he must not lose sight of the fact that the indelible principles of business should not be disregarded, and that the Student Council cannot stoop to satisfy individual whims or rescue faltering business.
As a remedy it might be deemed advisable to harness this misdirected energy of the candy police toward proper execution to the present improper functioning of the academic honor system, deriving thereby order and honor, lawfully and in the bounds of reason.
S. C. HODGES.

DIRECTOR MILLER SPEAKS TO RECREATION INSTITUTE

Friday night at the new Thompson School, Mr. Miller spoke to the Recreational Institute, being conducted there, on "The General Values of Physical Education." The talk was very instructive and of great interest to the audience before whom it was delivered.
This audience consisted of people of Raleigh and the surrounding country, who are interested in recreational work and delegations from the colleges of the city. The Institute began Monday, the nineteenth, and continued, with meetings each evening from 7:30 to 9:30, until Saturday, the twenty-fourth.

Director J. F. Miller, of the State College Physical Education Department, is to make a talk on "The Relation of Athletics on High School and College Student Bodies" before the Physical Education Department of the State Teachers Association, which meets in Raleigh this week-end.

Who's Party?

"You can't see Mr. White," said the sharp-faced woman to the political canvasser.
"But I want to find out what party he belongs to," said the canvasser.
"I can tell you that," said the woman; "take a good look at me; I'm the party he belongs to."

The Technician Will Go To High Schools

Under New Arrangement College Will Defray One-Half of Expense

For some time it has been the custom of various county clubs at State College to send The Technician to the high schools of their respective counties. Since this plan called for some extra expenditure of effort and money, the number of clubs taking action in this matter has been relatively few.
The Craven County Club has recently solved this problem. With the aid and co-operation of Dr. Brooks, a plan has been worked out which will not only put The Technician in every high school in Craven County, but which will enable each and every county club here to send it to the schools of the various counties at a small cost.
The plan is, simply, that the College will defray one-half of the expenses and the club the other half. The Committee on Publications made a special rate for clubs, so that the expense to the clubs is very little.
Here lies an opportunity for the county club to render a real service to our Alma Mater and to the home county as well. Let's put The Technician in every high school in North Carolina.

State Grapplers Fight Carolina To Standstill

Carolina Victorious in the Meet by a Score of Fourteen to Nine

MARGIN OF VICTORY WAS TWO AND HALF SECONDS

Tar Heels Best in Light Weights, Techmen Best in Heavy Weights

By holding the experienced Carolina matmen to the close score of 14 to 9, the State College Grapplers established for themselves a reputation as fighters last Friday night in the State College gym. The University lads apparently had a walk-away when they won the first four matches straight, the first one being a fall. But the Techmen came back strong by winning the last three matches on points.

Hoffner, of Carolina, secured the only fall of the evening over Crawford, of State, and thereby became high-score man of the meet. The other matches were all won on points, two of these deserving especial mention. Vick, of Carolina, won from Thomas, of State, on points, his time on the offensive being 5 1/2 seconds, while that of Thomas was 49 seconds.

Had Thomas stayed on the offensive three seconds longer the meet would have gone to State by the score of 12 to 11. Lambe, of State, in the heavy-weight class, won from Lockhart, of Carolina, on points in perhaps the most spirited match of the evening. The big boys could neither put the other to the mat, although Lambe was on the offensive practically all the time. Zest and excitement were added to this particular match by the seeming precariousness of Lockhart's tights.

The summary follows:
 117 pounds—Hoffner, Carolina, threw Crawford, State.
 130 pounds—Motsinger, Carolina, won from Sherman, State.
 139 pounds—Vick, of Carolina, defeated Thomas, of State, on points.
 149 pounds—Captain Walters, of Carolina, won from Captain Hicks, of State.
 149 pounds—Harrill, of State, won from Blankenship, of Carolina.
 162 pounds—Nicholson, of State, won from Warren, of Carolina.
 170 pounds—Lambe, of State, won from Lockhart, of Carolina.

THE GYM IS READY FOR ALL

Those who have been looking forward to the beginning of regular gymnasium work need not worry further in fear of this necessary training not coming into their regular routine of work, because Coach "Buck" Shaw, Mr. Parker, "Sammy" Homewood, and "Chick" Doak are there with the "goods" and ready to go in giving that very essential and necessary department of training, physical education, its part of their time from other athletic activities. Yes, there is plenty of hot water, and there is no reason why the classes should not be regularly held from now on.

The first active meetings of the classes began Monday morning at eight o'clock, with almost a full attendance of the students registered for physical education for that hour. They had been held off for the last few weeks because of the lack of hot water, but that is now plentiful in the "gym" and that "shower," which should necessarily follow the hour of physical exertion and instruction, is now possible.

The first hour in this training, which is new on this campus, was spent by the directors in instructing the students in playing volley ball, and was met very near half-way by the students, who exerted themselves in learning the principles and arts of the game. This beginning hour excited a very deep interest among the students, and doubtless this course will win a place among the students which will make it very popular with them.

FRESHMEN LOSE FOURTH GAME

Young Deacons Defeat Wolflets in Decisive Manner by the Score of 29 to 14

With three of the first-string State Freshmen on the injured list, the Wake Forest Freshmen had easy pickings in the preliminary conflict last Saturday night, and defeated the State Freshmen 29 to 14.

At the beginning of the game the young Deacons took the lead and were never headed by the Wolflets.

Wake Forest presented a good offensive team, and, as the saying goes, a good offense is the best defense. They kept the State Freshmen on the defense, and with the first-string guards and center on the sick list, the tale is told.

Moore of Wake Forest played well and made some very pretty shots. Williams and Spence did the best playing for State.

How Physical Education Turned a Crook Into a Bank Cashier

This man was one of the worst crooks in the Chicago underworld, and was the most feared by his associates and by his enemies. He was finally caught and sent to one of the large penal institutions of the North.

While there he caused a great amount of trouble. After his term expired he was caught again and sentenced to another prison.

The warden at this prison was an observant man, and kind-hearted. He had noticed that the prisoner was hard to manage, so he called him into his office and looked him over. The warden saw that the prisoner was undeveloped physically, so he had the prison physician to examine him. The physician found that the man had bad teeth and was suffering from a bad case of nervous indigestion. The physician gave the prisoner a prescription and had his teeth fixed.

After this examination the warden put the prisoner at hard labor, not as punishment, but to see if building the man up physically would create a change mentally.

The warden noted that as the prisoner's body began to fill out and take on muscle his behavior began to improve. The prisoner was made a trusty, and afterwards released from prison.

This very same man is cashier in a large Northern bank, with a salary of $7,500 a year.

"Why do you call your car 'Paul Revere'?"
 "Because of the midnight rides."

SPORT COMMENT

We are endeavoring in this column to give the gist of Campus opinion about sports. Because of man's inherent narrow-mindedness and conceit it is most probably our own personal opinion that we're actually giving. We hope not.
 THE SPORT EDITOR.

THE WAKE FOREST GAME reminded us of two little boys fighting. First one hits the other and says, "I hit you last." Whereupon the second one retaliates. Wake Forest hit first and hard in the first half and it was State's turn in the second.

TO THE NON-PARTISANS last Saturday night's melee was a complete success. We almost envied them their opportunity of enjoying watching two first-class teams playing basketball.

WAKE FOREST IS GOING to have a good team next year, too, if we may judge by the team the Junior Deacons have this year.

THE GRAPPLERS ARE, if you'll please pardon an antiquated expression, the very old berries. And we're plumb proud of them.

WE WON'T PREDICT the outcome of the match with Davidson, not being acquainted with their strength at all, but we take the opportunity to warn them.

THE BASKETBALL TEAM HAS GONE upstate this week-end for a little practice, and then next Tuesday they're going over to Wake Forest to avenge last Saturday's game.

THE SPRINGFIELD GYMNASTS were real good. Their performance was enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to witness it.

COME TO THINK ABOUT IT, now that we have our gym and everything, we may as well put out a gym team and cop that old World Championship ourselves. After keeping it for fifteen years, Springfield shouldn't mind if we took it.

THE RECREATION INSTITUTE held in the new Thompson School was declared a great success by all who attended.

WE HATE TO LOSE Penn State and Maryland, but we're mighty glad to have Davidson and Guilford back on our baseball schedule.

THE GRAPPLERS MEET RALEIGH "Y" and the Freshmen meet Raleigh H. Sounds poetical, doesn't it? Well—chalk up two more victories, Mr. Recorder!

JUDGING FROM THE NUMBER of applications Mr. Miller is receiving daily for the position Buck Shaw is leaving, we surely shouldn't have any trouble getting a good'un.

Y.M.C.A. CABINET MEETS

Last Sunday night, at a supper given at the home of Mr. E. S. King in honor of the new president, Mr. Hall, the Y Cabinet met and decided questions concerning the work of the local association for the remainder of the school year.

During the meal the usual banter was carried on and the conversation resembled very much, in its ever-changing subjects, that which one hears in a well-organized bull-session. The quantity that some fellows can eat, all about girls, and even quips from the faculty were heard (for Dean Cloud was there, too), while the never-tiring Humphrey gurgled, yodeled and inhaled three plates of Mrs. King's elegant oyster stew.

After eating, the group went into business session in which questions concerning the policy of the association were carefully gone into and threshed out. Under the leadership of Hall, the necessary process of re-organization began. The Bible Study program for the rest of the year was decided on and outlined. The Friendship Council and its manner of functioning were thoroughly discussed. It was decided that the number of meetings held each week by the association should be cut down so that in the coming spring the call of the outdoors should not be interfered with too much.

It might be interesting to note that shortly after the cigarettes were passed around, Mr. Red Russel was noticed to tenderly lay his hand on his stomach and grit his teeth in genuine agony. The cause was not known until some one spied a half-smoked

Wrestlers Have Two Meets Soon

Davidson Here Next Thursday; Raleigh "Y" Tomorrow Night

State College Grapplers are to meet the matmen from Davidson next Thursday night in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. This is the second collegiate meet of the season for the red-clad lads, and the showing made against Carolina offers no inducements for laughter on the part of Wildcat wrestlers.

Two meets have been scheduled with Raleigh "Y," the first to be held tomorrow night. Carolina whipped the "Y" team without much trouble, and so should State. But interest is lent to the occasion by the fact that Capt. Walters, of Carolina, was the only Carolina man to be thrown in the Carolina-Raleigh "Y" meet. The match between Charlie Nixon and Capt. Hicks, by all hereditary rights, should be a good one. The other Raleigh "Y" meet has not been definitely scheduled yet, but will be in the near future, it is expected.

Baseball Schedule Has To Be Revised

Penn State and Maryland Games Canceled; Davidson and Guilford Replace Them

Director Miller has found it necessary to make some few changes in the schedule for the State champions this year.

Penn State was unable to make the trip down here for financial reasons, and so asked that the contract be canceled.

For the same reason Mr. Miller has asked Maryland to cancel the State game scheduled there.

To replace these games Director Miller stated that he has finally managed to connect with Davidson, two games having been scheduled: one April first at Davidson, which will open the season for State, and the second April 9th, here.

In addition to these, a game has been scheduled with Guilford, to be played at Guilford, April 2d. A third game with Duke University has been scheduled for May 20th, at Durham.

ing a large business lately, trying to keep the student body in good health. In a great measure it has succeeded. But there are some unfortunates who have found it necessary to change their places of residence from their rooms to the infirmary for a few days.

Inquiry at the infirmary brought the following figures to light: Wednesday afternoon there were 17 men in the wards, while the average per day for the past two weeks has been 15. While none of these cases are serious, still these fellows have a right to our sympathies, and a kind word or a visit from their friends would be appreciated.

The Inter-Company Basketball League

Teams Being Organized; Regulations, Schedule, and Practice Periods

In addition to the Fraternity and Society basketball leagues, there is now being organized an Inter-Company League. Each organized company of the R.O.T.C. will be represented by a team.

The enthusiasm shown by the different companies in connection with this move has surpassed that shown in connection with the Inter-Company Football League, so a successful schedule is to be looked forward to.

The schedules of practice periods and games have already been compiled by Mr. Parker. The schedule is so arranged that every team will play every other team once. The games will be played in eight-minute quarters, with ten minutes between halves. This will admit of several games to be played in one evening.

The championship will be determined on a percentage basis, and suitable rewards in the form of charms will be given to the winning team.

Regulations for Inter-Company Basketball League

1. This league is to consist of the organized companies of the R.O.T.C. of State College.
2. The schedule is so arranged that every team will play every other team once.
3. The championship will be determined on a percentage basis.
4. Suitable awards in the form of charms will be given the winning team. (Team to consist of not more than eight men.)
5. No one playing in either the Fraternity or Society league will be eligible to compete in this league.
6. No one who has won a varsity letter at State College in basketball will be eligible to compete in this league.
7. No one who is on the Varsity or Freshman basketball squad will be eligible to compete in this league. (Squad to consist of about fifteen men picked by each coach.)

Textile Industry in South Is Growing in Importance

In the last ten years the textile industry has progressed rapidly and is now recognized as the leading manufacturing industry of the State as well as of the South. Realizing the importance of this industry, and knowing that there would be a call for men trained in textile technique, many textile schools were established at colleges throughout the South, whereby men could get a fundamental and technical knowledge of textile problems.

A course of this kind was established at North Carolina State College and also at Clemson, the State College of South Carolina, and, due to the untiring efforts of the authorities, the course offered at State has become one of the best offered in the South. Courses are also offered at State College in Textile Manufacturing, Textile Engineering, and Textile Dyeing. These courses give the student a good understanding of the problems in the different branches of this industry and also enabling him to fill executive positions in the textile world.

With the prospects of a new textile building and a dye-house and also additional equipment for cotton manufacturing, State College bids fair to offer a course second to none in Textile Manufacturing.

A.S.C.E. ELECTS OFFICERS; TUCKER NEW PRESIDENT

The A. S. C. E. met Monday night, January 26, for the purpose of electing new officers who will serve for the remaining half of the year. The following officers were elected: Mr. I. J. Tucker, President; Mr. E. D. Wilder, Vice-President; Mr. W. H. Fox, Secretary and Treasurer, and Ex-President H. M. Bremer was unanimously elected to fill the office of Sergeant-at-Arms.

Mr. Bremer has proven himself to be worthy in every respect of the confidence the society had in his ability to hold the office of President of the A. S. C. E. during the first half of the school year. Mr. Bremer was a loyal and conscientious worker for the society and we feel that the A. S. C. E. is better off for having had him for its President.

The incoming President, Mr. I. J. Tucker, is a man suited in every respect for the position he now holds. He has a strong and winning personality and is the sort to make friends wherever he goes. Besides being probably the wittiest man on the campus, he is also a natural leader of men. He has proven his abilities in the office of President of the Architectural Club. He has been an active and hard-working member since joining in 1922. We feel that the society has the best man to fill this important office.

Mr. Fox, Secretary and Treasurer, is another hard-working member of the society. It is a known fact, to which many Juniors and Sophomores can testify, that he is an exceptionally hard worker on initiating nights. He is a good man to fill the place of Mr. Parrish, who made an ideal Secretary and Treasurer.

As Mr. Bremer said, these new officers will have much to do with making a success of the Engineering Exposition. With the support of the members, we are confident that the officers are perfectly capable of carrying out their part.

CLASS IN PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE HOLDS MEETINGS

The Parliamentary Practice Class met on Thursday, January 22, and on Thursday, January 29, in Leazar Literary Society Hall. Between thirty and forty men were present at each meeting.

On January 22 the group went through the procedure which the United States Senate followed on January 13 when the Muscle Shoals project was up for debate. Members of the class impersonated the Senators who took a prominent part in this discussion. R. J. Peeler was Senator Underwood; B. F. Kopp, Senator Norris; E. B. Brown, Senator Jones, and Professor Cunningham, Senator Cummins, the President of the Senate. Much was learned of parliamentary procedure in general, of Senate practice, and of the Muscle Shoals problem itself.

On January 29 the class went through the procedure of organizing a deliberative assembly, with motions, amendments, debate, points of order, questions of privilege, etc.

The next meeting of the group will be held on Thursday, February 12, at 6:30, in Leazar Society Hall. Come out, whether you have been present previously or not; you'll learn something worth knowing.

Major Heath of Union County Tells State College Man That Progress Must Be Maintained

"There's no sense in giving up when we've got the job half-finished. Better educational facilities will mean a better state, and there's no reason why North Carolina shouldn't be right up near the top. All we need is money; our credit is still good, and we might as well put it into those projects that'll do us the most good." Thus we have the typically point-blank opinion of Senator W. C. Heath, the laconic major from Union County. With his jaws set firmly around the customary black stogie, the Senator from down-state let it be thoroughly understood that he is, and always was, ready to back any progressive movement in North Carolina. In his terse discourse he mentioned State College only once, saying, as he bade us "Good-night," "Don't worry, son; your Alma Mater'll get her share."

"They say" that State College has an unusually good chance of winning the broad-jump championship this year; because the students have had so much preliminary practice jumping the numerous ditches that interwind the campus from end to end.

"CODE OF THE SEA"
GRIPPING SEA STORY OF REGENERATION

"Code of the Sea," a Paramount picture, featuring Rod La Rocque and Jacqueline Logan, is said to be the last word in sea stories. Written by Byron Morgan and produced by Victor Fleming, it is claimed that this picture will create nothing short of a sensation with its marvelous scenes and photographic effects.

The story is one of regeneration. It concerns a young lad, first mate on a lightship, a coward, regenerated through circumstance and his love for a girl, Jenny Hayden, played by Miss Logan, goes for a cruise on the yacht Neroid. It is caught on a reef in a storm and McDow (La Rocque) picks up its "S. O. S." The steamer, Northern, captained by Jenny's father, is trying to make shore and orders McDow to remain at his station so he can safely clear the reef with his three hundred passengers. McDow is frantic. Rules say remain at his station—but Jenny is in danger. What does he do? That's just it—what does he do? The picture shows it all graphically and entertainingly. Better see it!

George Fawcett, Maurice Flynn, Luke Cosgrave, Lillian Leighton and other big names appear in the supporting cast.

DO CAVE-MAN METHODS
WIN THE AVERAGE GIRL?

Elliot Dexter, who plays the leading role in "By Divine Right," the F.B.O.-Grand-Ascher production scheduled for showing at the Y. M. C. A. on February 3, was recently interviewed in his palatial and charming home in Hollywood.

Mr. Dexter is a very attractive man—tall and broad, with an intelligent, kindly face, and a delightful sense of humor. He is broad-minded and tolerant, and is kindly disposed towards every one.

"The role I portray in 'By Divine Right,'" he said, "is of course an idealized one. 'The Prince' seemed to me a superman, the type of man every girl dreams of as her ideal. Such men do not exist, except in the imaginations of young and impressionable girls.

"In 'By Divine Right,' this good man had an unusually fine and worthy influence on the girl Mildred, who was weak and vacillating. She met him at the psychological moment in her life, when she was undecided whether to take the easiest way, or fight her battle single-handed.

"The Prince's kindness and gentleness, understanding and sympathy won her, yet in nine cases out of ten, it is the cave-man methods that win out with the impressionable girl. She craves thrills, and her heart is usually given to the man who gives them to her."

Mr. Dexter is ably supported in "By Divine Right" by a brilliant and capable cast of players. Mildred Harris plays the girl while important roles are entrusted to the worthy hands of Anders Randolph, Grace Carlisle, Sidney Bracey, De Witt Jennings and baby Jeanne Carpenter.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB
VISITS NEW YORK CITY

At the meeting of the Agri. Club on Tuesday night every member who was present was carried on the wings of his imagination to the great city of New York, as the members of the Poultry Judging Team related their experiences on their recent trip to the great metropolis.

Mr. W. W. Keever gave us a very good idea as to the Madison Square Garden Poultry Show. He made a very interesting talk, describing some of the two thousand birds and other poultry equipment that was exhibited at the show. There were eight classes of birds to be judged and ten teams participating. The teams that won the three first places were: (1) Connecticut; (2) New York; (3) N. C. State. The N. C. State team won one cup and tied for two others.

Mr. J. B. Slack gave a very interesting as well as instructive talk about how eggs are handled and marketed in New York. Mr. Slack stated that eggs are not allowed to stay in cold storage over twelve months. Some of us who eat in the Mess Hall had been led to believe otherwise.

Mr. J. S. Moore's topic was, "Entertainment and Sidelights on the Trip." Mr. Moore reported that the team attended a show, but amidst so much unusual excitement he had forgotten the name of the show. One fact about it that Mr. Moore did not forget was that Mr. Keever insisted upon keeping on his overcoat during the show, as otherwise he would be in his shirt sleeves. The team attended another show on Saturday. According to Mr. Moore's report it was "hot stuff."

Mr. Bullock will probably be out for track this spring, as he was breaking all records trying to catch up with his party after having been detained in the subway to get his money changed into nickels.

A Note From Me To You

I think about you often,

And I'd write you every day,
But there is so little

That seems worth while to say—
It either rains or it doesn't rain—

It's either hot or cold . . . .

The news is all uninteresting,

Or else it has been told.

The only thing that matters

Is the fact that you are there,

And I am here without you,

And it's lonesome everywhere.

I think about the way you smile,
And I recall your touch . . . .

And distance lends enchantment,
And I miss you very much.

Alumni Notes

Observations & Communications of Zippy Mack

This weather we have been having for the last few days may be correctly designated by the name of Winter, if we are any judge of such matters. The nice part of it all, however, is the fact that a little cold weather freezes the mud so hard we have no difficulty in making our way over the campus. Aren't we optimistic?

C. R. ("Cally") Hall, an old '24 man, who is now a graduate student, was elected to the presidency of the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday, to succeed Mr. Brothers, who has resigned. Mr. Hall served as president of the Brooks Literature Club last quarter.

Mr. R. H. ("Great") Scott, a '24 track man and orator, was on the campus last week-end. He is now doing dairy testing work for the State, and, if one is to believe the evidence of a gain of fifty pounds in avoirdupois, the work is agreeing with him.

Mr. L. D. ("Pud") Styron, '24 Electrical, is with the Electric Service Company of Shelby.

Mr. H. E. Stout, '23, has recently been in the State on a leave of absence from the National Cash Register folks.

Mr. P. H. Jones, '24, has left Hendersonville to take up a position in Inverness, Florida. His brother, J. C., is in the refrigerator business in Waynesboro, Pennsylvania.

"Petting" in South Dormitory

Since Bill Syde Door left State College, taking with him the four dogs, a coon, hawk, and snake, to say nothing of the remainder of his peculiar pets, we have felt the loneliness of the pet-less campus, devoid of forms of lower animal life; but of late there has been brought on the campus a rare pet in the shape of an alligator, captured in the wilds of Ed Jones' back yard, way down in Florence, South Carolina.

Mr. Jones, of the zoological staff of the Smithsonian Institution, relates, in an interesting manner, the story of the capture of this subropical reptile: "Twas a cold day in July, as Ed puts it, as he and his lone companion were returning from an all-day hunt for a seedless banana. When the boat was swiftly drifting up the current, a sudden stop was felt as though the chain hanging over the side had caught a log. In an effort to free the boat, it was discovered that an alligator had swallowed the lock on the end of the chain and had lodged the entire outfit in its gizzard. When the danger of the precarious situation was realized, Mr. Jones plunged headlong into the tide, coming up astraddle the rough back of the inland seahorse with a finger in each eye of the enormous amphibious lizard. With the spurs on the heels of Ed's old army boots, the dragon was so ferociously tickled in the ribs that he coughed up the nautical equipment.

The animal, so blinded and dazzled, was driven relentlessly about the lake until it was tired and helpless. Driving alongside the boat, Jones alighted, dragging in the victim of the accidental escapade. Then he gave him a chew of sun cured, this causing the enormous jaws to close, save for an occasional spit. With the same strategy "Professor" Jones lands the 'gator in his zoological laboratory in South Dormitory, where it can be seen on visiting days, housed in a beautiful reinforced concrete cardboard box, where it is becoming acclimated to the ways of the Brooks-Taylor-Brown Institute of Elevated Opinion, and to the diet of Mr. Harris' emporium of Hard Tack.

There are no admission charges except to men over eighty years of age and ladies over ninety-six. Mr. Owen, our amiable and affable registrar, says that to see the specimen of the tropics is well worth the price of admission.

Difference of Opinion

Two old cronies had associated with a bootlegger at the county-seat and were flivvering home uncertainly.

"Shay, Bill, I wancha t'be careful," said the one seated on the right as they rounded a curve on two wheels. "Firsh thing y'know we'll be in the d'ish."

"Who, me?" answered Bill in astonishment. "Why, thosh you wush drivin'."

SPRINGFIELD GYMNASTS
GIVE EXCELLENT SHOW

Exhibiting spectacular feats of strength and skill mingled with rhythmic dances and a dash of humor, the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College gym team showed its wares to a small audience at the Auditorium Monday night.

The team is composed of young men from all sections of the country, and also has two foreign students in its personnel. It has lately been traveling in Mexico and the Southwest, now being on its return trip to Massachusetts.

Working entirely by music, the team delighted its audience. Each action was carried out in perfect time. Each exhibition was different from the last, keeping the audience forever guessing what would come next. The program included stunts of every kind on the horizontal bar, the mats and the parallel bars. Interspersed with these were several dances taken from the old European folk lore, and also drills with clubs and wands, executed in the perfect rhythm characteristic of the whole performance. Fun was produced by the clown of the team, while a slight diversion was offered when three of the troupe's musicians favored the audience with a musical number.

State College has on the campus two of the Alumni of Springfield who refect very creditably the work of that college. These men are Mr. Johnny Miller and Mr. Wally Parker, the men who head up our whole athletic system.

Competitors

Two little English girls were quarreling over the success of their fathers.

"My father can preach better than yours, because he is a bishop," said the first.

The second little girl could not answer her back, but she suddenly recovered and said: "Well, anyway, we've got a hen in our yard which lays an egg every day."

"That's nothing," said the bishop's daughter, "my father lays a cornerstone every week."—Van Raalte Vanguard.

Pullen Literary Society Has Interesting Meeting

Prof. Cunningham Was Present and Expressed Himself as Highly Pleased

The meeting of the Pullen Literary Society, held last Friday evening, was featured by unusual preparation on the part of the speakers. Often there is a tendency for speakers to neglect to make sufficient preparation, when they are put on the program. This was not the case, however, Friday night.

The debate was: "Resolved, That the United States should enter the World Court." "Pop" Taylor and Sidbury were on the affirmative, while J. C. Davis and W. L. Harve were on the negative side of the question. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative. Taylor was selected as best speaker, and Davis second.

Plummer made a talk on the auto race at Charlotte, and Paul Turner talked on the soldier bonus. Each talk was well organized and both were enjoyed.

One of the features of the meeting was the Critic's report. This is usually considered as a piece of routine work, but when the Critic, Mr. L. A. Whitford, finished his "remarks," the society gave such applause as a critic seldom gets. And well it might, for in five or six minutes he had given the society a double dose of inspiration and instruction, mixed with equal parts of satire and humor.

Professor Cunningham was well pleased with the meeting, and told the Society that this was the best society meeting he had ever attended at State College.

"What's the matter, pa?" asked Aunt Sue.

"This letter from home." Uncle Sol answered, "says father fell out of the apple tree and broke a limb."

Mr. Gotham Quigg (braggingly): "Yes, sir; I started life as a barefooted boy."

Mr. Holdum Tight: "Well, I wasn't born with sox on, either."

NEW PLANT PHYSIOLOGY LABORATORIES OPENED

On the ground floor of Patterson Hall, at the east end, the much-needed physiology laboratories, both elementary and advanced, have been opened for work, beginning with the winter term. As an integral part of the laboratories, a greenhouse has been erected on the south side of the building, which is used by both students and research workers in the Department of Botany.

Dr. L. J. Pessin, who holds the Ph.D. degree from Johns Hopkins University, is in charge of the newly created laboratories. In addition to giving the plant physiology courses, he will conduct fundamental researches, the results of which will have a bearing on North Carolina agricultural problems.

When the new laboratories are fully equipped, it is believed that they will constitute the best physical layout in the South for teaching plant physiology and prosecuting research in the great science which underlies all technical crop production work.

THREE TYPES OF BREEDERS FOUND

Jersey Breeding Expert Gives Impressions of Work to Students

"Nothing is more fascinating than animal breeding," said Charles Oliver, field agent for the American Jersey Cattle Club, who was in Raleigh to speak to classes of animal breeding and vocational education students at State College. "A livestock breeder has his troubles, however. He is frequently confronted with such problems as the selection of the proper animals to be mated in order to produce offspring of great type and production. Then there is always the matter of the proper feeding of these animals."

"There are three types of these breeders," said Mr. Oliver. "The first type consists of those breeders of considerable wealth who have developed great herds for the pleasure they get from it. These breeders will spare no expense in procuring an animal that may strike their fancy or that in their judgment may improve their herd. These breeders are of great importance to the industry because their objective is the developing of great show and great producing animals."

"The next type of animal breeders are farmers who own purebred livestock, who make a few records but, who are unable, because of their limited means, to develop herds and make a great showing."

"The other type are those farmers who own some purebred animals but who make no attempt either to test or to show them."

"All three of these types are helpful to the industry because each helps the other types. The wealthy breeders sell their surplus animals to the other two types who make good use of them."

Mr. Oliver sees in the young men taking agricultural courses and future teachers of vocational agriculture the instruments through which the boys of the South will receive the instruction necessary to build a system of balanced agriculture to take the place of the one-crop system that has in many cases proved detrimental to Southern agriculture. He urged these students and teachers to do as much research as possible in order that they might be prepared to cope with the actual problems which will confront them in their future life.

While here Mr. Olive and Professor Ruffner, head of the Animal Husbandry Department at State College, made a survey of the prospects for the future development of Jerseys in North Carolina. Experts from the Guernsey and Holstein clubs of America are expected to come to the State soon to address the students at the college and to look to the interest of their particular breeds in this State.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL MET LAST MONDAY NIGHT

The Pan-Hellenic Council held a meeting in the dining-room of the Y. M. C. A. Monday night. The following are some of the measures discussed:

Tau Rho Alpha bidden two new men—P. G. Parrish, of Nashville, N. C., and Bob Luther, of Asheville, N. C.

Lambda Chi Alpha bidden one new man—W. G. Horne, Jr., of Rocky Mount, N. C.

Sigma Delta bidden G. H. Everett, of Edenton, N. C.

Theta Kappa Nu bidden two men—J. E. Shaffner, of Burlington, and G. E. Hunsucker.

Alpha Gamma Rho bidden G. E. Hunsucker.

Quite a little discussion was brought up about the annual Pi Kappa Alpha Easter dances and their relation to the final dances. The representatives of the chapter made it clear that Pi Kappa Alpha would continue to give their Easter dances regardless of whether they were to take an active part in the final dances. They are, however, to be required to take an active part in the final dances and pay as much as any other fraternity toward the expenses, but the annual Easter dance will not be given as a State College dance, as admittance will be by invitation only, and not thrown open to the various fraternity members as a whole as has been done heretofore, but each chapter will be represented.

This will be somewhat of an upset to the dance-goers of the campus, as the "Pika" dance was looked forward to as one of the biggest and best social events of the college year.

Beekeepers' Convention At N. C. State College

Several Noted Specialists Made Interesting Addresses at the Meeting

The beekeepers' convention and winter short course was held at State College last week, beginning January 20, and lasted until January 22. A large number of beekeepers and students of the short course attended the meetings, which were directed and arranged by Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, director of teaching in the School of Agriculture, and by Professor J. E. Eckert, of the Department of Zoology. A splendid program was arranged and some of the best authorities on beekeeping were present to give addresses on their particular phase of bee culture. C. L. Sams, extension specialist in beekeeping, assisted in the course and gave one of the lectures. Among the noted speakers was C. P. Dadant, of Hamilton, Ill., who gave lectures on "Common Errors in Beekeeping," "Swarm Control," and on "Management of Our Apiaries." Mr. Dadant is well known in this country and in Europe as an author of books on beekeeping, and he is editor of the oldest bee journal printed in the English language. Mr. Dadant is also owner of an extensive apiary in Illinois.

Another speaker of national importance was E. L. Sechrest, of the Bee Culture Laboratory at Washington. Mr. Sechrest presented lectures on "Bee Behavior," "Factors Affecting Brood Rearing," and "Bee Diseases and Their Control." Mr. Sechrest has had wide field experience over the United States and Cuba. This is his first trip to North Carolina and beekeepers of the State were very pleased at what he presented to them.

Morley Pettit, of Georgetown, Ontario, Canada, packs up his 700 or more colonies of bees for the winter and spends his profits in traveling through the South with his family. Mr. Pettit made address on the "New Era of Sectional Hives" and "Successful Outdoor Wintering." Mr. Pettit is a successful and practical beekeeper, leaving college work to go into commercial beekeeping because of the profits he saw in it.

In addition to these outstanding speakers, a large number of practical growers of this State were on hand and gave lectures. Among these were Mr. Sams and Mr. Eckert, who gave lectures on the practical and anatomical side of bee culture.

On the second day of the short course the annual winter meeting of the State Beekeepers' Association was held, with a large attendance.

Mr. Eckert, who is a specialist in entomology and bee culture, states that North Carolina now ranks high among the other states in the beekeeping industry, with great strides made during the past few years. Mr. Eckert states that many hundred tons of honey are not gathered in North Carolina each year simply because there are no bees in the desirable locations. This is a great economic loss and can be remedied by more attention to the culture and handling of the busy little insects.

The little bee that we hear so often buzzing around fruit blossoms in the early spring is really a jewel in man's crown if they are put in the right kind of home. When about to kill one of these little insects, just think a little about what service they are giving to humanity. Honey is one of the most valuable of foods to man, and goes far in the making of medicines.

SENATOR MOSS WANTS BROADCASTING STATION AT N. C. STATE COLLEGE

Senator C. B. Moss, of Nash County, is heartily in support of a program of progress. He was heard in the midst of a heated argument with several of his colleagues, in which he was sketching the several benefits to be derived from a better educational system. He opined that "If North Carolina can build up her educational facilities steadily and at the same time keep herself financially sound, there's only one solution: 'Give until it hurts.'" Warming to his subject, he said that it would probably be very easy to raise the money asked for, as "our assets are still sufficient to cover our liabilities."

Senator Moss has a pet idea all his own just now and he couldn't resist the temptation to project it, for probably the hundredth time: "And I'll tell you something else, gentlemen. I haven't forgotten about that broadcasting station for North Carolina yet, and we're going to put it up right out here at State College, too!"

Johnnie Hill Has Registered

"Lefty" Hill, last year's star pitcher on the old State College nine, is registered up this term and will be in uniform again next spring.

Hill is making quite a sacrifice to be able to come out this spring. As we all know, he graduated last spring and immediately embarked upon the sea of matrimony and entered the business field. Johnnie now owns the College Inn, where he serves real, delicious home-cooked meals to a large number of college students and professors. Also he has student representatives that come around to the rooms on the campus every night with drinks, sandwiches and candies.

Fellows, we should all do what we can to help Johnnie out, as he is doing his bit for the college.

Doctor: "How many cigars do you smoke in a day?"

P. A.: "Oh, any given number."

MEREDITH NEWS

By LEONE WARRICK

A concert was given by the Norfolk Trio Tuesday evening, January 27, in the chapel. The audience, although small by reason of the bad weather, showed great appreciation of the technical ability and real musical feeling displayed by the Norfolks. The trio was composed of Helen Norfleet, pianist; Catherine Norfleet, violinist, and Leeper Norfleet, cellist. The program was made doubly interesting as well as instructive by the explanatory comments preceding each composition.

Although there were few children in the audience, the six compositions interpreting the characteristics of different nationalities were well applauded. The first number of this group seemed especially to delight the audience. The "Minuet" with its stately rhythm was in direct contrast to the "Hungarian Dance," and showed the difference between the gypsies and the French countries and ladies of the time of Louis XIV. "The Water Wheel" is one of the better type of ultra-modern compositions. Mr. Stringfield, composer of "The Log Cabin," is a native of Raleigh, and has won national fame as a musician and composer. "The Log Cabin" is a realistic interpretation of mountain life; the theme is a minor melody which is unmistakably of the mountains and has a tang of the ballad tune in it. As encores, an "Irish Reel" and "The Brook" were played.

On the whole, the concert was deeply appreciated by all who heard it, and the faculty and student body of Meredith owe a debt of gratitude to the Junior Department of the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs, under whose auspices the trio appeared.

It was deeply regretted that the State-Wake Forest Basketball game was scheduled for the middle of our examination week. Only a few upperclassmen from Meredith attended the game on that account. To those who did go it is a mystery that the better team did not win. Lady Luck seemed to have a grudge against State College. However, there is consolation for State in the thought that you can't keep a good team down.

At Meredith everyone is looking forward eagerly to Founders' Day, which comes February 3. Not only will there be a half-holiday with an address which should be of interest to all the friends of the College, but invitations are being sent out for the annual Founders' Day reception, which is to take place in the parlors in the evening. Social events here are few enough to make this, the event of the season, loom large by contrast.

FACTORY PLUMBING CAN CONTRIBUTE TO EFFICIENCY

Supplying dependable valves, fittings and steam specialties that exactly satisfy all piping requirements is only one of the ways Crane Co. serves American industry. Crane provides another important means of lowering manufacturing costs in its complete line of factory plumbing fixtures.

In many ways this sanitary equipment can be used to bring up efficiency. Toilet rooms and lavatories of ample capacity, placed close to the "population centers" of the departments they serve, save many wasted minutes. Enough drinking fountains, conveniences to machines and benches, increase production by shortening the time taken off by workmen in quenching their thirst. Because Crane plumbing materials stand up under ordinary, careless usage, they perpetuate these savings of time. Their upkeep cost is low, their life much longer than could be expected of fixtures made to sell on price alone.

When you plan plumbing installations, a Crane specialist at the nearest Crane Branch or Sales Office will be glad to help you select the correct type of fixture for each particular requirement. One hundred two Crane branches and offices bring this service within easy reach of every industrial plant in the United States and Canada.
