Wolfpack Defeats Trinity In Opener

Howard Jones Presents a Fast and Well Coached Grid Team

FIRST HALF A STAND-OFF

State Makes a Comeback and Scores Two Touchdowns in Latter Part of Game

Played to a standstill by the Trinity Blue Devils in the first half last Saturday afternoon the Wolfpack came back strong in the last half to defeat Trinity 14 to 0.

For the first game of the season the two teams showed up well. Due to the rains for the last week the field was very soft and muddy. For such a muddy field and so much rain the game was remarkably free from fumbles.

The showing of Trinity during the first half was the feature of the game. Trinity had some stuff and showed it. For two quarters the Blue Devils showed all sorts of form on both of offense and defense. It is our opinion that with this year's experience under their belts the Trinity team will become a serious contender for the State championship, just as Wake Forest did last year.

All the scoring came in the last half of the battle when State scored two touchdowns and came close to scoring another. The Wolfpack lost a touchdown when Walter Shufford fumbled the wet ball after it was within a foot of the tally line, to have Trinity recover the ball and punt out of danger.

State scored first at the beginning of the fourth period. As the third quarter ended State had marched the ball from her own 45-yard line to Trinity's 5-yard mark. A 25-yard run around right-end by Al Johnson and a pass from Johnson to W. Shufford had carried the ball through two first downs to the 5-yard line. The quarter ended and on the next play Johnson gained two yards around right end. Then Red Lassiter broke through right tackle for the first touchdown. Red then sent the ball through the bars for the extra point.

The Wolfpack then started another drive which promised a touchdown, but which ended in a fumble with the ball about a foot from the tally line. A right-end run by Johnson gave State the ball on Trinity's 10-yard line and Johnson went through for four more.

Improvement in Condition of Mr. John A. Lawrence

John A. Lawrence is reported by Rex Hospital authorities as showing marked signs of improvement. He is taking solid food and recognizes his friends readily. His body is in a good condition, having recovered from the bruises and cuts. His head is still in a damaged condition. The doctors have not lifted the "No Company" sign yet. Dr. Campbell, our school physician, is the doctor in charge, a fact that gives ample assurance that Johnnie is getting the best attention possible.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the entire student body of N. C. State for the kindness you have shown to me through the lovely floral gifts which I have received. My room now looks like a beautiful hothouse and the walls no longer look bare and drab. It makes a fellow feel good to know that he has friends, and I want to thank each and everyone of you for your thoughtfulness in helping to make the tedious hours pass pleasantly. (Signed) R. E. STATE MEN ATTEND A BANQUET AT CAROLINA

Occasion Marked Opening of Campaign for Funds for University Y. M. C. A.

Tuesday night the University Y. M. C. A. at Chapel Hill began its annual campaign for funds. With about two hundred men present the drive opened with a banquet at which was evidenced the pep and life that marks all the actions of Carolina men. It was the privilege of several State College men to attend this banquet and to "see how it was done," so to speak. These men were L. A. Brothers, Ed Griffith, H. M. Bremer, and J. M. Potter.

Starting at 7:15 the meeting ran until 9:30, when the teams were given instructions and sent out to cover the entire town in their drive to secure funds for the support of the University "Y" during the year 24-25.

The banquet was served in the Chapel Hill Baptist Church by thirty Carolina co-eds. The toastmaster explained that it was the object of those in charge to have the meeting arranged so as to add to the pep as it went on coming to a climax as the toastmaster gave last instructions to the outgoing teams.

John R. Purser, Jr., acting as toastmaster, introduced those on the program, which was featured by vocal solos by Mrs. H. D. Learned and Mr. Theodore Fitch, and talks by the Hon. Joseph Daniels, President H. W. Chase of the University, and Rev. A. S. Lawrence of Chapel Hill.

OLD DOMINION CLUB MEETS

Picture of All Virginia Boys to be Snapped at 1:00 P.M. Saturday

The Old Dominion Club met on Tuesday night, September 30th, for the purpose of counting noses and electing new officers. All old men were back; candidates for admission number about fifteen, of this number five have attended other colleges. All told, there are about twenty-seven men in school now who hail from Virginia.

The following officers were elected: S. C. Hodges, president, South Boston; H. M. Adams, vice president; F. S. McCoy, secretary and treasurer, Portsmouth. The initiation of new men will take place Wednesday night. All new men see Frank McCoy for particulars.

The picture of the organization for The Apromex will be snapped at 1 o'clock Saturday. All Virginia men in school please be frocked up and present.

The club adjourned after completing the initiation of J. E. King, who received that part of the initiation he was unable to meet last fall.

Leazar Literary Society

The Leazar Literary Society will have its first initiation Friday evening, October 3, at 6:30 o'clock, in "Y". The society wishes that all who can possibly report then to be present, so that we can do some real work at an early date.

Upper classmen and Freshmen will be admitted at this time, and we want you to recognize the value of literary society work at the beginning of this college year.

Notice to Students

Any student whose parents are planning to attend the State-Carolina game Fair Week may buy reserved tickets for them at the Athletic Office, so that they may sit together in the students' section. This should be done as soon as possible, in order that the size of the reserved section necessary to seat students and faculty may be estimated. For the same reason, students who are not expecting to be able to attend the game will confer a favor on the Athletic Office by reporting that fact as soon as possible.

WANT STATE COLLEGE STATION IN ACTION

Raleigh Lions Favor Reopening of Broadcasting Station; Name Committee

The Raleigh Lions Club has gone on record as favoring the reopening of the radio broadcasting station at the State College of Agriculture and Engineering and appointed a committee composed of Lions Spence, Capps and Witherspoon to confer with College authorities with a view to taking steps to achieve this result.

The matter was presented by Lion Spence, who voiced the opinion that the broadcasting station would be a valuable advertising medium for the city as well as the College, and also a source of instruction and entertainment. It is understood that the station was made inoperative because of lack of funds to meet expenses.

STATE COLLEGE AT THE LOUISBURG FAIR

It is the custom in the fall for the different departments in the Agriculture College to send senior students to the nearby country fairs to judge its different exhibits.

This year there have already several men gone to different fairs from the College. W. H. (Bill) Shearin, senior in Poultry, with Mr. J. B. Cotner, instructor in Farm Crops, went to the Franklin County Fair, which is held in Louisburg.

Last week T. T. Brown, also in the Poultry department, went to Ashboro to judge poultry in the Randolph County Fair. These men have had quite a bit of experience judging, because last year they were all training for the judging trip to Madison Square Garden in New York.

All the seniors taking Poultry Science have one or more judging trips of this kind. It is very educational to those students because it gives them training in poultry judging; also it gets them acquainted with fairs and how they are conducted.

Sophomores, Attention!

Someone in last week's Technician said that great things in regard to doing away with hazing is expected of the Class of '27. Fellows, the writer really said something when he said that. The Class of 1911 will ever be remembered for what it didn't do in its sophomore year. There is a new dormitory across the railroad to which the name "Seventh" has been attached temporarily. Don't you think "1927" would be a fine name for it. Let's work for that by making the Class of '27 the best sophomore class that has ever been on this campus. We can do it. For already we've heard a number of fellows say that we are the best Soph Class that they have ever seen. We can go a great distance towards this goal by preventing any hair-cutting this year. Sophomores, let's think about this!

ELECTRICAL SOCIETY INITIATES NEW MEN

Electrocution of First Half of New Men Carried Out in a Very Successful Manner

With the largest crowd in their history, the Student Branch American Institute of Electrical Engineers at State College initiated the first group of Juniors into the mysteries of Electrical Engineering.

Only one man failed to weather the storm in good condition, and this one man became all right after the doctor worked over him a few minutes. Dr. Campbell said that all the men who went in had extra good hearts, as they beat at such a rapid pace.

The following men are the ones that received the initiation last Wednesday: P. N. Blum, Jr., P. P. Kennedy, A. W. Kemp, F. P. Dickens, E. V. Hancock, J. P. Tice, H. B. Armistead, R. M. Curren, A. R. Gresham, J. C. Modlin, E. H. Zedaker, E. H. Cramer, R. L. Bynum, C. G. Rice, A. S. Davis, B. F. Potter, W. C. Creary, B. K. Matthes, P. D. Larkin, W. L. Vest, W. F. Sanders, D. D. Barber, R. F. Coffey, D. T. Reynolds, E. W. Chadwick, Herman Baum, R. A. Isley, F. L. Forleton, J. B. Upshaw, and R. F. Norwood.

Glee Club and Orchestra Launched at State College

On Monday night Captain Price issued a call for all fellows who could sing, for all those who thought they could sing, and for all who could carry a tune, even if only in a basket. Only thirty-nine men out of this entire student-body reported. Surely there are more fellows in our college whose voices are good enough to sing in a glee club.

In the thirty-nine there were twelve first tenors, ten second tenors, nine first basses, and eight second basses. It is Captain Price's idea to get a quartette out of the Glee Club. Build up a very large Glee Club and with the Glee Club as a starting point, try to get at least three hundred fellows who can harmonize and place these men in such a position that the remainder of the student-body may get around them at our athletic games, in order that our singing may show up as well as possible at the contests.

On Tuesday night the orchestra came out. The orchestra is composed of sixteen men already in the band. There is great need of men playing violins in the orchestra; therefore if there are any boys in school who can play a violin at all, Captain Price wants to see you.

News comes from Millsap College in Mississippi that they have the best grid team in years. They have fifteen letter men back for the team this year.

NO SCOUTING TRINITY'S PRACTICE WORK

When the attention of John F. Miller, head of the department of Physical Education, was called to the story which appeared in a local newspaper containing a reference to scouting the Trinity team while they were practicing preparatory to meeting State, he scoffed at the idea.

"Such a thing has not been done in decent athletic circles for years," he said. "In the West such habits were dropped in 1907."

"It is a misconception caused by the fact that both Head Coach Shaw and Coach Tebell played against Iowa when that team was being coached by Howard Jones, now coach at Trinity. Coach Shaw played on Notre Dame, and "Gus" Tebell on Wisconsin, both colleges being on the schedule of Iowa. It is equally true, as the game Saturday demonstrated,

RED—THE PREVAILING COLOR AT N. C. STATE

Red Caps, Red Mud, and the "Frosh" Dominate the Campus at N. C. State

When the average high school graduate journeys to his favorite higher institution of learning, he is usually supposed to be as green as the mountain laurels in mid-summer; but it has turned out radically different in the case of the "Frosh." at State College this year. Instead of being green from the exterior through to the ninth degree of the interior, the "Frosh," are red from the tops of their craniums to the tips of their toes—and it's not due to blushing either.

The redness is due both to nature and—seemingly to the first year man—the hard hand of the Sophomores that rule the campus of the colleges of to-day with a hand of paddles and clippers and not with a juicy apple to extend to the newcomer. The Student Government has deemed it wise, and the writer agrees with it, to make all Freshmen don the detestable, little, red cap with a big, glaring, white "F" at the front of it. As a result of this ruling the Students Supply Store has already disposed of 430 caps to the Freshmen of this College. Whether all the first year men are wearing this label is for the Sophomores to ascertain; but here are still something close to one hundred caps that have not been purchased waiting for customers at the Students Supply Store.

In addition to the regulatory conditions put into effect by the Sophomores, Mother Nature has taken a hand at spreading redness on the campus, for both the Freshmen and all the others; not excluding our highest officials. One may cast his eye near and far and see the juicy, red mud strewn from one end of the campus to the other and all through the dormitories and nearly every place where pedestrians are prone to wander.

But, such is life! Toil under the little, red cap on your heads, Freshmen, and next year you shall have the esteemed pleasure of watching other green lads do the same thing. Also, we can all look forward for fair weather and a campus with a "White Way" and good walks to tread upon and not soil our trousers that drag the ground and place our shoe toes in obscurity. For, "Every Dog Has His Day."

Editorials

Days may come and days may go, but rain goes on forever.

The popular song hit could easily be turned around and sung, "Oh, it ain't goin' to be dry no mo', no mo'."

Although the Wolfpack overpowered the Blue Devils last Saturday, still, according to the News and Observer version, we have only a fair chance for fourth place in the run for State championship.

One would judge from the number of feeds being held on the campus now that the fellows nearly starved this summer and are just trying to catch up now. It can't be that they are not getting enough to eat in the dining hall.

The student body is to be commended on the fine spirit shown in Saturday's game. That is the spirit that won the State championship in baseball last spring and that is the spirit that is going to keep the Wolfpack from holding fourth place this year in football.

It has been a long time since Raleigh has seen so many young men as it did last Saturday night. Four of North Carolina's largest colleges were well represented. The Red and White and the Black and Gold seemed very jubilant, but the two shades of Blue and White were as blue as their colors.

State College serenaders owe the Peace girls an apology for not coming around last Saturday night during their celebration of the victory over Trinity. It was not that Peace was forgotten, because she is always remembered, but the leaders of the parade were under the impression that the majority of the Peace girls were not there, that they had gone on a trip somewhere, a weiner roast or up town in a body. "Peace," we beg your pardon, and we want you to know it was not on purpose. We will be sure to see you next time.

As yet we have not had any of the faculty to contribute anything in the way of criticism or otherwise to the TECHNICIAN. Nothing is perfect; therefore we know the TECHNICIAN is far from perfect, and there is no one in a better position to criticize, suggest, and help us on the paper as the faculty. Of course we do not want to be dictated to, but we will appreciate any suggestions that anyone will make. Feel free to express yourself. Consider yourself a member of our college (which, of course you are) and get interested enough in our publication to help it on towards perfection.

We wish to make an apology to Emerson Black, whose picture appeared in last week's edition of THE TECHNICIAN. Under the picture there was a write-up of Black and by mistake part of the article was omitted when the paper went to press. The part omitted referred jokingly to the fact that Black was playing against Captain Beatty at the time his collar bone was injured and that Beatty hurt him purposely, so that Black might not take the captain's place on the team. It is for this reason that the phrase "laying all jokes aside" come into what should have been a very serious article. Again we offer our apologies to Black, and we indeed regret the mistake happened.

There are two men down at Rex Hospital and one in the infirmary. If you are ever passing either place go in and cheer these fellows up, you men who know them, or even if you don't know them, go in anyway. It will be that much better for them. One of the men said, "Company is the best medicine I can get." Give him a good dose of it.

Saturday was indeed a very bad day, but even that wasn't an excuse for any man, regardless of class, to stay in his dormitory room and view the game from his window. A man who did such a thing has no right to say we won, because he didn't do a thing to help win. It is the men who go out and fight with the team that have the right to say with pride, "We won."

There are not enough men out for cross-country. This year the athletic authorities say that the cross-country men are to receive the mougogram. Fellows, for the past two years we have won the State championship in cross-country and there is no need of letting any other school take it away from us. Come out for the team; it will be fine training for you. You need exercise anyway. Help your school that much. Any man who has any speed and endurance at all, come out for the team.

Write-ups are coming in now to the TECHNICIAN office about county clubs. We are wondering how much good the clubs do in relation to the amount of good they could do. "It pays to advertise." State College needs advertising and there is no better way than through the county clubs. How many county clubs have ever sent any news about the college back to the county newspaper? How many of the county clubs have write-ups in the home town paper every year, of every member of the club and what he has accomplished while here in college? What percent of the people do you imagine, back in your county know that there is a State College? Again we repeat, "State College needs advertising," and there is no better way than through the county clubs. Let the folks back in your county know you are here, do something here, then let them know about it. They will be proud in Davidson County to know they have a man who is business manager of the TECHNICIAN; Cleveland County should know that from her borders comes our president of Student Government. How many people in Mecklenburg County know that their county sent more of her sons to State College last year than any other county (unless it was Wake). We should let the folks back home know we're here and let them know what we are doing here and let them know what we have here.

There is lots of work a county club can do, then on the other hand they can get by with just putting their picture in The Agromock, and nothing else. Don't be satisfied with that this year, but elect a group of men who will put State College in the eyes of the people back home.

The Wolfpack Defeats Trinity in Opener

Walter Shufford plunged through, but lost the ball on a fumble, which the whole Trinity team pounced upon.

With the Blue Devils on their own 2-yard line Caldwell punted poorly, the punt going outside on Trinity's 20-yard line. Walter Shufford got a yard around right-end. A pass, Johnson to Wallis, netted five yards more. Another pass, Johnson to W. Shufford, gave first down. C. Shufford relieved his brother and got one yard. Lassiter dug through for two. State gained another yard. On the next play both sides were off sides. Then Johnson drove through for the final score. Lassiter kicked goal.

Trinity made its most aggressive movement in the first few minutes of the game and had then their best chance of scoring. Caldwell kicked off to W. Shufford, who received the ball on State's 20-yard line. Two plays by Johnson gained only four yards and on the third down he kicked 40 yards, the ball going into play in Trinity's possession on her 35-yard line. The Blue Devils gained five yards and a first down through a penalty on State for being offside. Caldwell got six off tackle. A play through center failed to gain. Rietzel dashed around right-end for 20 yards and first down. Rietzel and Caldwell gained four yards in three downs and Rietzel carried the ball over for another first down on fourth try. Finley got two yards along right-end and Caldwell four off tackle.

Then Caldwell and Wallis stopped the Blue Devil's march when Caldwell fumbled and Wallis recovered the fumble on the 18-yard line.

Lassiter made a scoring gesture for State in the final period when he attempted a place kick from the Trinity 23-yard mark. The kick fell short and the ball fell into Trinity's possession.

Both teams presented a fine attack, especially for the first game of the season. Johnson of State was the star of the game, with W. Shufford of State and Rietzel and Caldwell of Trinity running him a close race for honors. In the line Wallis and Eller starred for State, while Gregg was a power of defense for Trinity.

F. Logan, in his first college game, displayed the stuff of which real stars are made. Captain Beatty was out of the game with a bruised shoulder.

State was noticeably lacking in teamwork during the first half, but during the last half the boys got together and gave a real exhibition of team work.

If they keep up that kind of teamwork and with such interference as they ran in the last half they will give any team in the South a good run for their money.

Despite the rainy weather there was a goodly number of spectators. The State students showed the same spirit that characterized their yelling all during the last spring when we won the State championship in baseball. This spirit cannot be beaten. After the game the students stayed on the bleachers until the team had gotten off the field. The band also braved the elements and was there playing merrily throughout the game. Such spirit as was shown Saturday shows the team that the school as a whole is behind them.

The line-up and summary follows:

32 States Permit Qualified Voters to Cast Ballots by Mail

More than 2,000,000 voters will be reminded through the activities of college Republican Clubs that 32 states have laws which permit qualified voters to cast their ballots by mail if they are out of their home states on election day, and that eight additional states have laws which permit qualified voters to cast their ballots by mail if they are within their own states, but out of their home precincts.

The work being done by the College Clubs is a part of the movement undertaken by the Republican National Committee to get the stay-at-home vote to the polls, and the college activities are being directed by the College Bureau at national headquarters in New York.

In addition to urging all students to vote at the coming election, the members of the 250 College Republican Clubs already organized and the 400 additional clubs now being formed will appeal to alumni members and to relatives and close friends to go to the polls, or vote by mail if absent from home on election day. The college club drive to get out a big vote will continue up to November 4th.

The Toll of the Storm

The mud about my sodden knees
Has settled down to stay,
While songs proclaiming joy I
wheeze;
The sun has shone today!

Two weeks and days abroad I strove,
And ferried fiercely forth,
Sometimes my feet, though South
they drove,
Would slide completely North

Three times a day I bravely went
To nibble ancient bread,
While long continued drenchings sent
A mildew to my head.

Each hour to class I'd slip and slide
To beat the whistle's toot,
And in my hurry fall astride
Some fallen Freshmen's boot.

At divers times along the way
Some other guy I'd meet,
My shoes would rise to say "Good day!"
I'd quickly take a seat.

But now the bards along the street
Sing "Tain't goin' rain no mo!"
While Hallsosis gnaws my feet,
And Gangrene nips my toe.

"The New Architecture"

A DISTINCTLY new tendency is apparent in architectural thought and design today. Architects are designing in masses—the great silhouette, the profile of the building has become of far greater importance than its detail.

There is a new vigor and ruggedness even in buildings which are conventionally classic in their detail. Masses mount upward, supporting the tower, accentuating its height. The new architecture is tending toward great structures rather than multiplicity of detail.

Certainly modern invention—modern engineering skill and organization, will prove more than equal to the demands of the architecture of the future.

DAVIDSON COUNTY CLUB
HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING

Davidson County men proved themselves alert and on their feet by a genuine meeting of all her men today, by electing Ralph Roper president, Joe Ripple vice president, Vaughn Leonard secretary, Paul Welch treasurer, and Alva Williams corresponding secretary of the Davidson County Club.

We are indeed glad to welcome so many new students to State College from our home county. These are: Henry Williams, Beecher Kinney, Paul Rush, Kenneth Badgett, from Churchland High School, and P. A. Raper from Arcadia High School. Our roll now includes Joe Ripple, Paul Welch, Vaughn Leonard, Glenn Lee and Joe Conrad, from Lexington; Ralph Raper, Russell Gimmerman and P. A. Raper, from Arcadia; Wade Young, Curtis Leonard, Henry Williams, Beecher Kinney, Paul Rush, Kenneth Badgett and Alva Williams, from Churchland.

We extend to all Davidson County boys a hearty welcome to continue their education with us, in this our Alma Mater. It is our aim to picture State College to our high school graduates as a college of unusual opportunities, where the youth of our county can best prepare themselves for a life of service to the State of North Carolina.

We invite all Davidson County boys to visit us whenever they are in Raleigh or vicinity. We hope that in the coming years many Davidson County boys will join our ranks, and our home county will continue to march in the front rank of the army of progress in the "Old North State."

First Baptist and Tabernacle
Social Enjoyed by All Present

Down at the First Baptist Church a large number of State College boys journeyed last Friday night to enjoy a get to gether with the Meredith girls. After a very pleasing program rendered by members of the Sunday School each boy picked out a girl and did his best to make a hit with her or at least to help her enjoy the social.

Around at the Tabernacle not so many boys made their way but still the ones who were around there did not care as they had the girls all to themselves. An orchestra added to the general entertainment and of course none of the boys kicked when the refreshments were encored three times.

All those that attended either social enjoyed themselves very much and wish to thank both churches for a very pleasant evening.

To Enforce the Law
As to Phonographs

Machines Must Not Be Played in the Dormitories After the Hour
7:00 P. M.

By a law passed by the Student Council last year, the playing of phonographs or other musical instruments in the dormitories after 7 P. M. except on Saturday and Sunday nights is positively prohibited.

President Hoey of the Student Council stated that he intends to enforce this law this year and that offenders will be prosecuted.

It is an impossible task for a student to study while another student who is less considerate is grinding out a motley assortment of jazz on a talking-machine in the adjoining room; and when the next day comes the studious student is likely to know more about the tune of "Red Hot Mama" than the theory of an engineering principle or a specified chapter in farm crops. It should behoove a student who possesses a phonograph to be considerate enough of his fellow students who are ambitious enough to desire to study, so that it would not be necessary for the student Council to call this to their attention.

President Hoey stated that any student who is disturbed by a violator of this law should ask the offending party or parties to give their jass boxes a rest and if the request was not met with that the Student Council would be very glad to handle the case.

Shooting (Crap) of Watt Ivey
(Apologies to R. W. S.)

A bunch of the boys were whooping it up, down in the Co-op Store, While the old victrola turned out jazz, o'er and o'er and o'er.
And back of the bar, down on their knees, knelt Watt and some others who,
When Watt begged the bones to show an eight, prayed for a five plus two.

But Watt pulled his eight and the others groaned as he gathered their nickels three,
Which he tucked away in his baggy jeans as he grinned in fendish glee.
Then Duls sold a dope and a sandwich and Raper some candy and gum
And down on their knees again they dropped, and the cubes once more did hum.

But again Watt won and again they groaned, both Duls and Raper, too,
For their coin was gone, and with classes on, the customers were few,
So the day went on and the rattling bones gathered the kale for Watt,
And Raper and Duls, with many groans, lost all the coin that they got.

Then giving a yell that ripped the air, as a thought came into his head,
Poor dopy Duls grabbed up Watt's bones and found them loaded with lead;
"And now, you sorry bum," he said, "we're going to go through you; You must give back that wad of jack or I'll tell you what we'll do:

"We'll break your bones and 'mid your groans we'll gather our nickels back;
No man that shoots with loaded dice can make me hold the sack."
"I haven't got your filthy dough," said Watt with a surly grin,
"And if you think that isn't so, just find it if you kin."

And so they searched both here and there and back again to here,
But never a solitary sign did they see of their nickels dear.
Looking at Watt, "Let's choke the sot," one of the losers said;
"It seems as though we've lost our dough, but we'll have his life instead."

Grabbing poor Watt by the heels they slung him round and round
Until their wearied ears were joyed by that old sweet dear sound
Of nickels tinkling one by one upon the Co-op floor,
And so they gathered up their dough and have never gambled more.

Holds Feed and Smoker

The Tompkins Textile Society held a feed and smoker in the Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday night.

The society was fortunate to have Mr. Gilbert, superintendent of Caraleigh Mills of Raleigh and a graduate of the Class of '07. Mr. Gilbert gave an interesting discussion of the trade conditions of the world along with textile lines and reasons for decrease in markets for certain fabrics and curtailment of operations by mills for past few months.

Mr. Haddock, of the Ervin Cotton Mills of Durham, was scheduled to speak, but on account of some business engagements he was unable to attend.

Professor Nelson gave an interesting talk on the Made-in-Carolinas Exposition in Charlotte, which he attended last week.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Mackenzie, Mrs. Will Nelson, Miss Charlotte Nelson, Miss Mary Nelson and Miss Thelma Gudger, the society was served with an elaborate salad course and other refreshments, which were appreciated very much by the society as a whole.

A few snappy yells led by Mr. Ed Ruffy for the ladies and faculty and the passing of cigarettes furnished by Dr. F. A. Prentis concluded the evening.

Freshmen have a right to believe that rain and mud rule supreme over the campus most of the time. The weather certainly owes us an apology. For the most part rainy weather has prevailed since registration, but such spells are entirely unusual to the campus climate, especially during the fall. Raleigh is in the same climatic belt that encompasses the Sand Hills, famous for their equable climate. Clear weather, as a rule, can be safely prophesied for the remainder of the fall. This campus is very fortunate in having an upper layer of clay which dries readily after a rain. So Freshmen who have given up hope of ever seeing the sun again, you need not fear, but you may pull off your boots, polish your shoes, and resign all thoughts of becoming amphibious creatures.

Beacons of the sky

Between Cleveland and Rock Springs, Wyo., along the night route of the air mail service, tall beacons have been placed every twenty-five miles.

Revolving on great steel towers, General Electric searchlights, totaling 1,992,000,000 candle-power, blaze a path of light for the airplane pilot.

What the lighthouse is to the ocean navigator, these beacons are to the conquerors of the air.

This achievement has been made possible by engineers of the Illuminating Engineering Laboratories of the General Electric Company, working with officials of the Post Office Department. A startling achievement now will be a commonplace of life in the new America which you will inherit.

Cross-Country Team Starts Its Lope to State Championship

Monograms to Be Awarded Men Who Represent State; More Men Are Needed—Freshmen Eligible

The first call for Cross Country was sounded September 20th by Coach Saville. In response several Varsity and Freshman candidates reported to the basement of the "Y," drew equipment, and took a light workout. Experienced men out from last year's squad are: James Wright, Seward Shrader, Captain Davis Robinson, Lafayette Vick, Franklin Sherman III, John Fort, Ben Hendrix and Neal Smith. Several of the new men out show signs of speed and endurance, and most likely competition will be very keen.

Captain Scott and Lattimore, of last year's State championship team, are greatly missed and their places will be hard to fill. Manager Jimison is spending some little time in search of a man to fill Tom Lattimore's shoes.

As yet only two meets are scheduled. One with Trinity here in November; the other is the State meet at Wake Forest early in December. There will probably be a two-mile race in the Fair Grounds, also, during Fair Week. This race will be open to all State College men and several substantial prizes will be awarded.

Training table will start within a week from the time we go to press. A special trainer will be retained to keep the cross-country team in shape. The State championship spirit, which has reigned so dominantly for the two previous years with the State College team, is still in evidence and as strong as ever. This bids fair for another championship team.

Coach Saville states that the men who are out are in excellent shape and prospects look pretty bright. However, he says he needs a lot more men out than he now has; there being only twenty men out now, and there should be at least a hundred in a school the size of State College. What about it, boys? Old State needs you. Rally around the championship banner, men, and let's keep it here at State, where it has been so sublimely reposing for two years. Freshmen, you are eligible for cross-country. Let's see '28 do her stuff.

U. OF K.

Possibly the largest and finest Stadium of the South is nearing completion at the University of Kentucky. The capacity of the new Stadium is to be 20,000 and will cost $125,000. The Stadium stands on Stoll Field and is to be known as "the lair of the Wildcats."

According to the exchanges received in the office, all colleges are filled to overflowing this year. We are indeed glad to see more men going to college, and State College seems to have her share of men this year.

Penn State Game

While Carolina is meeting her second Waterloo of the season at the hands of the Yale eleven, the Wolfpack will be making the Nittany Lions do some loud roaring.

One year ago the Wolfpack boarded the train for Penn State amid a cheering crowd of one thousand students, who showed a spirit never before seen at State. The Wolfpack lost the game, but at the same time surprised the football world and increased its own fame by holding the powerful Penn State eleven to sixteen points.

The Wolfpack leaves here in the best of condition. Encouraged by her victory of last Saturday and strengthened by new material and the superior coaching of Shaw and Tebell, the varsity leaves well prepared for the fray. Says Capt. Beatty: "We will do better than we did last year."

On the other hand, things do not look bright for Penn State. True, she beat Lebanon Valley 43-0 last Saturday. But what is Lebanon Valley? Coach Tebell, who witnessed the game, said that Lebanon Valley had a green team, most of the players being Freshmen. Penn State has lost five of her letter men. In the number is included Wilson, her famous backfield and last year's star. She is also crippled by the loss of Bedeck, guard and captain of the '23 squad. Nevertheless, Coach Tebell says they have an all-round, smooth working team.

When questioned concerning our chances to win, Coach Tebell said: "I have not seen our team in a game yet, so it is hard to say what will be the result. But Penn State is going to have a hard fight. We are going to give them some battle."

So, if the Wolfpack brings back the bigger end of the score we may well expect a bright future. And even if we lose, the Wolfpack's howl for State championship will not be muffled.

"GOING TO N.C.C.W." Friday, Oct. 10th

The local delegation to the State Baptist Students' Conference in Greensboro will be headed by H. G. Moore, president of Baptist Student Activities of Pullen Memorial Church. Plans are being made to charter busses for the trip and thus make the rates cheaper and party more enjoyable.

Anyone desiring to make the trip as a delegate or as a visitor should see one of the above mentioned men, application for passage should be made before Saturday Oct. 4th at 8:00 p. m.

Carolina Goes Down Before Wake Forest In Interesting Game

Davidson Flashes Strength in Defeating Presbyterian College; Lenoir Wins While Elon Loses

Wake Forest nosed out Carolina Saturday, September 27th, 7-6, in a hard fought and closely contested game on Gore Field, Wake Forest. Greason, Wake Forest halfback, was the individual star of the game, with his seventy-yard run in the first quarter for Wake Forest's lone touchdown. Carolina's touchdown followed almost immediately. However, Sparrow failed to match Rackley's kick for extra point, and Wake Forest thereby took the game.

Davidson flashed strength when they sent Presbyterian College back to South Carolina on the small end of a 15-to-3 score. The game was played in Asheville, N. C. This is the first college football game Asheville has been host to.

Lenoir-Rhyne defeated Marshall at Hickory, 13 to 0. Of interest to State College is the fact that Dick Gurley, famous State College athlete and Shelby High coach, is serving his first year as head coach, this year, at Lenoir. Clemson thrashed Elon to the tune of 60 to 0.

This fact, the fact that the game was the season's opener explains the many slips and fumbles which marred the game.

Both teams had strong lines, which accounts for the small number of first downs made. Until late in the final quarter it was a continual saw-saw. Then something snapped. White, left half for Chapel Hill, recovered a punt on his own ten-yard line. He returned it thirty yards. Then he carried it around end for thirty-three yards. Two line bucks and another end run placed it on Raleigh's eight-yard line. Raleigh's line bucked hard and held for downs within six inches of their goal. With two minutes to play, Chapel Hill's line broke through and downed the punter for a safety and a game.

EDENTON ST. CHURCH SOCIAL

There was a grand social given in the Edenton Street Sunday School building Friday night at eight o'clock. This get-together for the girls and boys of the colleges and the "Y" was given by the Junior Epworth League and Sunday school.

The building was very beautifully decorated with the colors of all the colleges attending in the city. The singing by Mr. Johnson was enjoyed by all and then the serving of punch, ice cream and cake was one of the main things on the program.

All the boys and girls attending thoroughly enjoyed the evening. Boys if you want to get in on such parties and meet all the girls, attend the Sunday Schools and Leagues.

Pan-Hellenic Council and German Club elected officers at a recent meeting. Dude Johnson was elected president of the Pan-Hellenic, Buck Byrum vice-president and Ed Lewis secretary.

Prof. Wilson has been in Charlotte several days of the past week attending a convention.

Henry Bynum was over in Durham last Thursday night.

The dean advised that each Freshman learn who the dean of his school is so that if need be, at any time, he would know who to go and see. Also he explained what his work among the students was and how the chapel exercises were to be conducted.

Bob Hines and Joe Sanders visited fraternity brothers and friends on the campus Saturday.

The dances given at the Auditorium last week-end were enjoyed very much by all the men on the campus attending.

The following men from Carolina visited on the campus Sunday: Mr. I. Black, Mr. B. B. Humphries, Mr. T. C. Smith, Mr. W. Lassiter, and Mr. F. M. Jordan.

Dean Cloyd called a special meeting of the Freshmen last week so that he might explain to them the meaning of the rules in the new college rule book. Each Freshman received one of these books.

The point system was taken up and discussed at length, each man having his attention called to the number of points required in his school for graduation.

"Room inspection will take place several times a week and every one should have his room in such a condition all the time that he would not be ashamed to take his parents in."

FACULTY RECEPTION AT "Y"

On Monday night of this week Dr. and Mrs. Brooks gave the faculty and officers of the school a reception in the "Y" auditorium.

Upon entering the "Y" the guest were ushered into the auditorium and there they were confronted by Dr. Brooks and wife and the deans and their wives, also Dr. Kilgore. Then a general discussion of the weather and other important subjects was carried on.

A delicious salad course was served accompanied by Maxwell House coffee poured by Mrs. Tal Stafford. "Daddy" Price was unable to eat the salad, but was right there when the coffee came around. After this a course of cream and cake was served.

Mrs. Fred Wheeler rendered a vocal solo accompanied by Mrs. Roy Capps at the piano. This was enjoyed by all present.

The attendance was checked on account of rain but these present thoughtfully enjoyed the reception.

THE BAPTIST STUDENT CONFERENCE AT N.C.C.W.

Mrs. C. A. Williams (Director Baptist Student Activities) The Baptist students of North Carolina College for Women and the Baptists of Greensboro are to be hostesses to the State Baptist Student Conference, October 10, 11 and 12.

Basis and Plan

For the past two years four states have sent messengers to the conferences. Year before last the conference was held at the First Baptist Church of Greensboro and last year at the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Raleigh. This year messengers will come from the schools and colleges of North Carolina only and meet with Forest Ave. Baptist Church which is adjoining the campus of N. C. C. W. The people of Greensboro will entertain the delegates on the "Harvard Plan," giving them cordial reception to their homes for the night and breakfast. The messengers are to be selected on the basis of their interest in the religious activities of the campus and churches.

Place Selected of Interest

Forest Avenue Baptist Church is of interest because it was organized in the McIver Building of N. C. C. W., and that the first money given for its erection was given by two students of the college. Two years ago a "Hut" was built during the Christmas vacation to care for the overflow of college students, and now the whole plant is inadequate for the needs. A new plant is to be erected some time in the future, the new building fund again started by a group of N. C. C. W. students. Forest Avenue Church was the first church in the State to organize a department of student activities under the supervision of a full-time director. Pullen Memorial, of Raleigh, was the second, and Chapel Hill will soon have its organization perfected for such a department of work.

Courtesy of N. C. C. W.

Forest Avenue Church is inadequate to meet the needs of the conference, so Dr. J. J. Fonst has very graciously permitted us to use the new dining hall for the "get-together" supper, and also granted to us the use of the college auditorium. We appreciate this courtesy very much.

Program

The first session of the conference will be held at 7:30 P. M., Friday the 10th, immediately after the "get-together" supper. The outstanding leaders of the State and several prominent speakers from out of the State have been secured for the main speeches. Students from different schools will act as chairmen of the sessions. Two fifteen-minute talks and six five-minute talks will be made by students on different phases of student-church work. Quartets from Wake Forest, State College and Mars Hill are expected to furnish special music. We hope that messengers will decide as early as possible about coming, so that the least delay will be made in the entertainment plans.

To induce your fellows to form habits of thrift—to obligate them to put by a little of the income—to safeguard them against future loss of earning power—is a form of effort that brings keen satisfaction as well as profit.

That is only one of the reasons why the insurance business today is attracting some of the very best brains of America.

Mr. Arthur Leonardt, the photographer for The Agromeck. The first year he was here he did not make individual pictures—only groups; but the three years since he has taken practically all the work.

The fact that Mr. Leonardt has been here for four years speaks highly for him and the company he represents. Everyone is always glad to see him, for he has a very pleasing disposition and is very patient with those whose pictures he takes.

Already this year Mr. Leonardt has been to Davidson and Greensboro College for Women, and State is his third college. From here he will probably go to Meredith, where he will get lots of Beauty to reproduce. Afterwards he goes to South Carolina to Coker and Clemson colleges. Between now and Christmas he has about fifteen colleges and universities to visit.

DRIVERS (With the Usual Apologies)

(The following was clipped from Country Gentleman, for the benefit of those who enjoy Kipling's poetry. The usual apologies are made to Kipling, likewise to the Country Gentleman, for the article.)

I've ridden with plenty of drivers.
In Flivver, Rolls-High and in Lutz;
And some I have known were plain
dumb-bells,

And others were certainly nuts.
And some drove with speed that was reckless,
And some with dull slowness and
phlegm;

There were no two alike as they sped
down the pike—
And I learned about drivers from them!

Hiram J. Higgs was my first one.
He drove a Liz that was old.
I reckon I cranked up that flivver
In ten thousand places, all told.
(He said he had chronic arthritis
Which crippled his crank-turning limb).

I got wise to his game and I made the same claim—
So I learned about drivers from him!

Then there was Billy Caruthers.
He was an affable chap;
Took me on cross-country cruises.
Driving all over the map.

But—as his wallet was slim—
I paid for gas and lodgings high class—
And I learned about drivers from
him!

Next was Lucinda De Courcy
(I had a crush on her—once!);
She was exceedingly cautious.
Never tried nerve-wracking stunts.
Crawled at the head of processions.
Deaf to all horns, as it were.
Yes, Lucinda was strong for "just ambling along"—
And I learned about drivers from her!

Reginald Burch was another—
Reggie just burned up the trail.
Tried to outdistance the speed cops
(I had to furnish the bail).
Passing on curves was his trouble.
I warned him often, with vim.
Till he fractured his neck and smashed me in the wreck—
And I learned about drivers from
him!

Now, I'm not any wiz as a driver.
My car is not costly nor swell.
But I don't crawl along like a turtle.
And I don't go careering pell-mell;
I've learned not to jeer at policemen,
And thus, in a modest degree,
I think I can show there's a few things I know—
So, learn about drivers from me!

Where the Public May Get Tickets For Fair Week Game

Reserved seat tickets for the State-Carolina football game, which will be played at Riddick Field Thursday, October 16, as the big outside feature of State Fair week, will be placed on sale, locally, at Coke's Cigar Store on Thursday, October 2. Out-of-town applications for tickets, accompanied by money orders for the number of seats desired, will be filled by J. F. Miller, Athletic Director of State College, in the order in which they are received.

In writing for reservations, patrons are requested (1) to specify the side of the field preferred, and (2) to enclose 12 cents additional to pay return postage and for registering, otherwise the State College Athletic Association will not be responsible for the safe delivery of the tickets.

Five thousand reserved seats, almost evenly divided between the State and Carolina sides of the field, will go on sale Thursday. The price is $2.50—no war tax. In addition to reserved seats, there will be seating accommodations for 7,500 other spectators, providing the 2,500 knock-down bleachers which have been ordered for basketball are received in time. These seats, however, are located at each end of the field. General admission tickets are $2, tax free. All seats along the sides of the field are reserved.

The Carolina student-body, some 2,000 strong, will be seated in the center of the east stands, beginning at midfield and extending each way. To take care of the University students, this block of seats has been reserved and tickets forwarded to Chapel Hill. There are 2,100 other splendid reserved seats on the Carolina side of the field.

Holders of complimentary tickets, including those issued to the press and football activity books, should be sure to exchange same for reserved seats, either at Coke's Cigar Store or at the athletic office at the college, as these tickets will not be honored at the gate on the day of the game.

"That Fellow's on the Square"

It matters not whate'er be your lot,
Or whate'er your task may be,
One duty there remains for you,
One duty stands for me.
Be you a doctor, skilled and wise,
Or do you work for wage,
A laborer upon the street,
An artist on the stage;
One glory still awaits for you,
An honor that is fair,
To have men say as you pass by:
"That fellow's on the square."

Ah! here's a phrase that stands for much,

'Tis good old English, too;
It means that men have confidence
In everything that you do.
It means that what you have you've earned;
And that you've done your best,
And when you go to sleep at night
Untroubled you may rest.
It means that conscience is your guide,
And honor is your care;
There is no greater phrase than this:
"That fellow's on the square."

And when I die I would not wish
A lengthy epitaph;
I do not want a headstone large
Carved with fulsome chaff;
Pick out no single deed of mine,
If such a deed there be,
To 'frain upon my monument
For those who come to see.
Just this one phrase of all I choose
To show my life was fair;
'Here sleepeth now a fellow who
Was always on the square."

General Electric Company Uses Many N. C. State College Men

News was received at The Technician office that six State College graduates in the Class of '24 are now working with the General Electric Company.

The General Electric Company is a very large concern, and State College should feel proud of the fact that the company should want State College men to work in her factories.

The following '24 men are now with the General Electric Company: D. E. Allen, E. E., H. T. McBride and W. A. Spicer, both Mechanical students. These three are Student Engineers and located at the Lynn (Mass.) works of the company. Allen's first assignment was to the transformer section of the testing department, and McBride's and Spicer's to the turbine section. L. U. Bailey and W. N. Hipp, both electrical engineers, are engaged in the student's training course of the same company in Schenectady, N. Y. L. N. Brown, E. E., is in the radio department.

STAR IS EXPERT DANCER; PROVES IT BEFORE LENS

Barbara La Marr Was Salt Lake City
Cabaret Performer Before Appearing on the Screen

Barbara La Marr, who is co-starring with Conway Tearle in Maurice Tourneur's First National production of "The White Moth," which will show Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at the Superba Theater, demonstrated during the making of this picture the versatility of our motion picture stars. Sometimes they even surprise their directors.

The story is a thrilling one of the French theatre. One of the most important scenes is a view of the interior of a theater taken from the balcony. A tremendous setting was constructed for this scene. The action on the stage was the dance of the Spider and the Moth executed by Miss La Marr and Charles de Roche. The camera was placed in the balcony and, being several hundred feet from the stage, Mr. Tourneur arranged to have a double dance for Miss La Marr, intending to use her only in the close-ups.

There were several rehearsals, all of which Miss La Marr attended. Finally, when everything was ready, Miss La Marr asked her director if he would mind wasting a few moments in allowing her to try the dance. She tried it and did it much better than the double, who was promptly dismissed.

It was then recalled that Miss La Marr first attracted public attention as a dancer in a Salt Lake City cabaret, and later in Los Angeles. She is proficient in every type of dance.

Building Constantly Toward Perfection

BECAUSE efficient machinery is now and always will be indispensable to profitable farming, this subject is of prime importance to every man who would master the fundamentals of Agriculture.

No machine is perfect, but the tendency must always be toward greater perfection because no machine can long survive except as it demonstrates superior efficiency, economy and dependability.

The series of Case advertisements which will appear in this magazine during this school year will tell the interesting story of the Case Engineering Code—how, through a system which provides sure, steady, orderly progress toward perfection, Case machines are kept as near as possible to the top notch of efficiency and economy.

It's an unusual story; one that will, we hope, prove both interesting and helpful to you in your future work.

Sampson County Club Organized

There is now a Sampson County Club at State. This is the first year that we know of, that there has been enough boys from this county to organize a regular club, but it is sincerely hoped that there will be many more representatives of this land of "Big Blue Huckleberries" at State in the years to come.

Following is a list of members: J. Faircloth, N. A. Reynolds, S. L. Peterson, R. F. Highsmith, G. M. Britt, H. J. Carr, E. T. Howard, Pres. of the club; W. F. Tew, E. W. Zimmerman, N. H. Larkins, Jr., Sec. and Treas.

SOCIAL GIVEN AT PULLEN CHURCH

Meredith Girls and State College Boys Have Gala Time at Pullen Memorial Church

With the opening of the college year in our capital city the college boys and girls start their mingling together with old friends and the newcomers acquire friendships that were hitherto unknown. Such was the cause of the good time that was had by all the attendants at the Pullen Memorial social last Friday night. There were many Meredith girls and State boys who attended and also many town folks.

The entertainment was furnished by a well diversified program gotten up by Mr. R. M. Warren of the Pullen Memorial Church. The opening was started off with the whole group participating in a get-acquainted contest that made each attendant abandon his bon-ton, dignity and meet as many friends as possible. Then the group sang several songs which were written especially for the occasion. The surprise then rolled around when Jonny Moffit was married to Miss Foy Linberry in all the dignity that a sacred church ceremony can be performed.

The refreshments that were served consisted of refreshing ice cream and wafers that were very appetizing to all the young folks. There were many minor things that helped to make the time spent at the social fly like a bird dashing through the heavens and bring around the ten o'clock hour that all who were present disliked to see come.

Currie Institute to Open

Friday night, October 3, marks the opening of the Currie Institute at N. C. State. Mr. Currie, one of the leading authorities in the country on Bible study, will himself conduct the institute which will continue through Sunday. The object of the institute is to create an interest in Bible study and to fit those who attend for leading discussion groups and classes.

Pullen Memorial Church will be the scene of the institute, which will meet Friday night, three times on Saturday, and once or twice on Sunday.

While State College will receive the most good from the institute, other institutions will be well represented. As the paper goes to press the following schools have made answer to inquiry as to whether they will be represented, and by how many: Carolina, six; Trinity, five girls; the Y. M. C. A., president and cabinet; Wake Forest, twelve; N. C. C. W., six. Meredith and Peace will be represented and G. C. W., Elon and Guilford are still to be heard from.

As N. C. State has long stood forth in the front in Bible study, it is very fitting that Raleigh should be picked as the place to hold these meetings.

STOCK JUDGING TEAM BACK FROM MEMPHIS

On September 21 the Animal Husbandry Department of State College entered a team to compete with other Southern Colleges in the dairy cattle judging contest at the Tri-State Fair of Memphis, Tenn.

Although the team didn't take first place, as they hoped to do in order to hold State College's record, they made a creditable showing. This misfortune did not detract from the educational side of the contest for State College's team. They had the pleasure of seeing some of the best livestock of the Southland, and were in conference with some of the leading livestock men and judges that the South produces.

The contest was held in a large arena and the rules of the contest were enforced to the letter, so that each team had a square deal.

Other than the livestock exhibit the team had the opportunity of seeing some of the South's leading farm crops exhibit, farm machinery, automobile show, and the boys' and girls' club exhibit. There were all kinds of amusements, so that everyone had a chance to enjoy his stay at the Tri-State Fair. But if we were asked what gave the most inspiration to one of the members of the team we would answer, "The fair sex who came from various sections of the States."

The team was favorably impressed with the city of Memphis, and they are very grateful to the A. H. Department for making it possible for them to make the trip. It is at this time that we want to urge the students interested in livestock to take stock-judging and begin to train for the team next year. There will surely be a team to represent State College. Don't you want to be one of the members?

The following made the trip: Coach F. M. Haig, Students D. S. Matheson, H. G. Moore, G. F. Seymour, and N. M. Smith.

THE ARTERIES OF A MODERN FACTORY

In tunnels, behind walls, beneath floors in every American factory, complex systems of piping inter-connect the various departments. Delivering water, steam, compressed air, oil and gas to every point where they are needed, these pipe-lines enable each department of the institution to specialize in its particular function.

They make possible the centralizing of the production of power, heat and gas at efficient large-capacity plants. They allow the isolation of fire hazards and obnoxious processes.

Should one of them fail, however, production might be stopped, even stopped. That is why it is so important to get uniform quality in every part of a piping installation; why the Crane name, the assurance of dependable quality on products that cover all piping needs, means so much to architects, engineers and owners.

AG. CLUB HOLDS AN INTERESTING MEETING

After the agricultural club was called to order by the president and the minutes read, G. F. Seymour caught and held the undivided attention of the club for some time while he unfolded to us the interesting and important scenes and incidents of the trip of the stock Judging Team to Memphis, Tenn. He gave us a very educational and beautiful picture of Memphis and the surrounding points of interest; giving, in a brief way, a poetic interpretation of the slowly flowing Mississippi through the outskirts of Memphis on its path to the sea, with the hazy blue background of Rocky mountains beyond and to the westward.

He gave us many educational points of interest seen there at the Tri-state Fair, one of the largest in the south, emphasizing most the vastness of the collection of exhibits, amusements, etc., assembled together here by the three States, Mississippi, Arkansas, and Tennessee.

This should be an inspiration to the new members coming into our club as well as to the old members. May it emphasize more to us the value of this annual livestock judging contest, and instill into us the spirit to make Students Agricultural Fair come up in a comparative degree with the largest fairs in our Southland.

N. M. Smith next gave us some information concerning our approaching Students Fair, emphasizing the importance of beginning now by collecting our exhibits, especially the farm exhibits as a whole, and making them as thorough and complete as possible by gathering together only products from our own farms and not from the State Fair here and other places where these exhibits have previously been judged.

He next suggested that we work out some plans by which we could get the largest possible attendance at the agricultural club after which the club agreed to do what it could in various ways to get more members.

After this the club proceeded to elect men to fill the vacancies made on the staff of the N. C. State Agriculturist, and also a vacancy of an office in the agricultural club. C. A. Leonard was elected assistant treasurer of Agricultural Club, A. B. Hunter as editor-in-chief, and G. F. Seymour as associate editor of the N. C. State Agriculturist.

PARADE SATURDAY NIGHT

Following the custom of years of parading after the winning of an athletic contest, the students of State College paraded Saturday evening, celebrating the winning of a football game from Trinity.

Under the direction of the sophomores, every freshman who had a love for his college assembled in front of Pullen Hall Saturday evening, together with a number of upperclassmen, to carry out the custom of parading and serenading the girls' schools and colleges after the winning of an athletic contest.

The parade was nearly a mile long, going down Hillsboro Street, going first to St. Mary's School where a number of lusty yells were given. Unfortunately, all the girls at St. Mary's were having some kind of entertainment and could not come out to enjoy the spirit of the boys. The non-appearance of the girls did not cool the friendly spirit towards them in the least, and it was with much reluctance that the parade was resumed after the yells and songs were given. Every one who was in the parade hopes that the next time that there is occasion to celebrate that the St. Mary's girls will be free to exchange yells with us.

The next stop was Meredith where the old-time fervor had control of the crowd. Several songs and yells were exchanged, including yells for all the classes of the two colleges.

It was with great disappointment that word was received that every one at Peace was gone. The rumor was afterward proven to be false. We wish to apologize to Peace for being thus easily turned aside from the beaten path that leads to the place of songs and yells that cannot be beaten in Raleigh. We hope that this will not be held against us, and promise that we will not quit before we get there again.

All the freshmen participated in a snake dance down Fayetteville Street, giving the usual songs and yells.

The Grand gave a free show Thursday night in honor of the winning of the football game, which was largely attended. The Grand also promised a free show every time that we win a football game.

SAM WALLIS ACCOSTED BY OFFICER OF THE LAW

Technician Editor Accused of Driving Car Without License Plate

Our beloved editor-in-chief, Samuel Rossiter Wallis, left-end on the Wolfpack and vice-president of the Y. M. C. A., plus many and divers other things, of near Asheville, N. C., was accosted by one of Raleigh's blue-coated guardsmen of law and order Friday, September 26, at the intersection of Fayetteville and Martin streets as he was peacefully making his way through the usual traffic jam in the Rides-e-z limousine, very appropriately called "The Covered Wagon," belonging to the firm of Matheson Bros. & Wallis, of 102 South Dormitory. He was very ungraciously and impolitely ordered to pull up to the curb, which he begrudgingly did, leisurely, as is his style.

The cop very gruffly demanded a reason for the conspicuous absence of the usual license plate from the rear of the "mosquitable" car. Mr. Wallis, who is very witty and a fast thinker, decidedly put the copper in his place when he replied in his own very dignified and mature manner, "Please, sir, if you'll let me off this time I'll never, never let this occur again." The very tears were starting down the back of his neck (for he's a kindhearted soul—Sam, of course), when he uttered those words, but he, realizing that he must be firm and put this churl into his place once and for all, kept a stiff lower lip and staunchly stood still, thereby winning the admiration of several dozen Meredith girls who happened to be passing. One of them was heard by the reporter to remark, "What's the famous smiling, silent, Stacom chivalrous Sam you hear so much about?" while another replied, "Isn't he too cute for anything? look how prettily his ears blush." Whereupon the gallant officer of the law severely admonished him with these words, "Take your blamed contraption back out to your campus and keep it there," etc., etc., etc.! All of which Mr. Wallis did, and as he turned the corner he looked back and very haughtily turned up his nose at the bluecoat to the infurulation of the policeman and amusement of the usual crowd.

Sailing West to India

SINCE the days of Christopher Columbus men have felt the call to "sail due west to find India." In an organization like Westinghouse, such pioneering spirits find happy haven as research engineers. Their every thought is a question—every energy bent to discover new and more effective answers to baffling problems.

Immediately Westinghouse began to build alternating current machines of high voltages, for example, the problem of insulation became acute. For thirty-five years high voltages and insulation have formed an endless chain of problems. As voltages have been increased, improved insulation has been demanded. As insulation has been bettered, voltages have been still further increased.

One striking contribution of Westinghouse research engineers has been the perfection of an entirely new insulation material—Micarta. Possessing many of the qualities of metal, paper, fiber, mica, gum, rubber, Micarta differs in radical respect from all of these.

It serves industry indirectly as improved insulation material, and also directly because of superiorities when used for gears, propeller blades, and the like.

Only the imagination can set a limit on the field for the research engineer—or for an organization that centers around him.
