Gamecocks Upset Dope Defeat Wolfpack 10-0

Aerial Attack Features Game; Johnson, C. Shuford, White Lassiter and Sprague Star

Reversing all predictions, the South Carolina eleven defeated N. C. State 10-0 last Saturday on the University field, Columbia, S. C.

The Gamecocks took the offensive early in the clash and at no time during the game was their goal severely threatened.

Neither grid team seemed to be able to puncture the other's line so quite naturally both teams made frequent use of forward passes.

South Carolina exhibited clever work in her passing, kicking and tackling, while State's punts were unusually sorry.

Boyd, the Gamecocks' center, was easily picked as the star of the game, but Johnson also made his work shine for the Wolfpack.

The South Carolina rooters showed a fine spirit throughout the game by cheering the visitors as well as their own team.

Game by Quarters

Brill of South Carolina opened the game with a good kick-off and C. Shuford carried the ball to the 18-yard line. After two line plunges and a 5-yard penalty, the Wolfpack made a first down, but only to find themselves against a solid Gamecock line. Johnston attempted to kick on the fourth down but missed the ball. From the 20-yard line the South Carolina eleven worked well towards State's goal but C. Shuford intercepted a pass on the 10-yard line and made a spectacular run of 59 yards down the field. Boyd's speedy tackle was the only thing which prevented a touchdown. Again the Wolfpack found itself unable to break the Gamecocks' line and was forced to kick. South Carolina then started its aerial attack but completed only two passes out of seven. Lassiter intercepted a pass on the 18-yard line but Johnston was forced to kick on the fourth down. The quarter ended with South Carolina's ball on the 15-yard line and with the score 0-0.

Brice, the Gamecocks' right half-back, opened the second quarter with a try at a field goal but missed by a few inches. State took the ball on the 20-yard line and made a first down but soon lost it again. The Gamecocks started off again with passes but they were interrupted by Jennette, who intercepted a pass and sailed down the field for 32 yards. South Carolina intercepted a pass on the next play and after two passes, a 15-yard penalty and a line plunge, found herself on the 6-yard line. Sherman then easily shot the pigskin over the goal with a place kick.

South Carolina kicked off on the goal and the Wolfpack took the ball on the 20-yard line. A series of line bucks and short passes failed, so Johnson kicked to the 20-yard line. The Gamecocks made two first downs in a row and the half ended with the ball on the 20-yard line and with the score 3-0. Lassiter missed the ball on the kick-off beginning the third quarter and the Gamecocks took the ball on the 45-yard line but found State's line unbreakable. Johnston of South Carolina kicked to the 20-yard line but the ball was fumbled and the Gamecocks recovered it. However Lassiter intercepted a pass and flew down the field for 59 yards. It was probably the prettiest run of the day. The ball then played up and down the field, both teams trying line plunges and passes without much success. At this point a very unusual thing happened. Johnston of North Carolina punted to Johnston of South Carolina and the punter flew down the field in time to tackle the receiver. However the Gamecocks made a first down on line plunges which was quickly followed

Dr. Brooks Discusses Government at Chapel

"Self-Government Greatest Lesson a Student Ever Learned"; Dr. Taylor Also Speaks

"Learning self-government is the greatest lesson a student ever learned." This was the opening statement of Dr. Brooks' talk at the assembly held in Pullen Hall Friday morning. The President of State College, in a very short address, outlined the fundamentals of government, laying special stress on self-government and self-reliance. Dr. Brooks laid down the three following questions, with the remark that every student should put them before himself. They are: Are you learning self-reliance? Are you learning to co-operate in the group?

What is the form of government that attributes to the co-operation of the group?

Dr. Brooks referred frequently to Defoe's book, Robinson Crusoe, as well illustrating the principle of self-reliance.

Dr. Taylor spoke a few words concerning the athletic policy of the college and explained the new system of physical training that is now in effect at the college. He received a great ovation when he asked the entire student-body to attend the mass meeting Wednesday night before the Carolina game.

The musical part of the program was rendered by the college orchestra and the glee club, both under the direction of Mr. Price. The devotional service was conducted by Rev. Henry G. Lane, pastor of the Good Shepherd Church. Rev. Lane made a very interesting talk denying the supposed conflict between science and religion. He expressed his desire to finish the talk at a later date as lack of time prevented at this time.

More Prizes Given To Fair Week Races

All State College Men Are Eligible to Compete for the Various Prizes

Much interest is being shown in the Fair Week race to be held Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at the State Fair Grounds. Twenty-five men have already entered and more are expected to enter before the final sound.

All of State's best distance runners will be off at the pistol flash and the competition is expected to be keen. Many new men have shown unusual ability and are expected to give the old timers a struggle for the honors.

Under the direction of Coach Saville the quad has been rapidly rounding into shape and will be in good condition by Friday.

Through the courtesy of the following merchants these prizes are being offered:

J. B. Cullins—$5 pressing tickets.
C. R. Boone—$5 merchandise.
Athletic Supply Co.—$5 baseball glove.
College Court Cafe—$3 meal ticket.
Students Supply Store—$5 fountain pen.
J. M. Newson—$2.50 shirt.
Hellers—$5 merchandise.
West Raleigh Pressing Club—$1 French dry clean.
Whiting-Horton—$5 merchandise.
Lewis Sporting Goods—$4 Gym. suit and shoes.
West Raleigh Shoe Shop—$3 merchandise.
Branch's Pressing Club—$1.70 pressing tickets.

The prizes will be given as follows: First, $10.00; second, $8.00; third, $7.50; fourth, $6.00; fifth, $5.00; sixth, $4.00; seventh, $3.00; eighth, $1.70.

State-Carolina Clash Is North Carolina's Biggest Grid Contest

MRS. EDITH VANDERBILT

Mrs. Edith Vanderbilt, of Biltmore, who is serving her fourth term as president of the North Carolina State Agricultural Society and head of the State Fair. Under her administration the Fair has shed many of its tawdry trappings and clothed itself instead in real worth while exhibits that show North Carolina and the outstanding interests of the State, agriculturally and industrially.

Electrical Society Takes in Several Men

Second Electrocuting of Year a Success, Though Held Amid Turmoil and Confusion

Amid a turmoil of confusion and noise, caused by the initiation being held by both the Civil Engineering Society and the Chemical Society, four more men were initiated into the Student Branch American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Quaking in their shoes, the candidates came to the realm where electricity in all its phases was shown to them. The capacity and reactance of their body and mind was measured in volts per second, and it was found that all of them had an apparently low State's resources. During the Fair weeks that she has spent in the city Mrs. Vanderbilt has been up early and out to the grounds where she has made daily rounds, visiting all the exhibits, meeting the exhibitors and especially the farmers, talking over crops and industries with them and inciting them to better efforts next time.

To the social life of the city during Fair Week Mrs. Vanderbilt has brought a keener interest, her democracy, courtesy, and genuine interest in people recommending her to the liking of all who have met her.

Electrical Society Takes in Several Men

The electrical society expects to make its presence felt on the campus this year and some very interesting and worth-while lectures are planned for the coming meetings.

THANKS TO THE NEWS AND OBSERVER.

The Technician wishes to express its thanks to the News and Observer for the cut this week of the Carolina players. It was through their cooperation that we were able to get the pictures in the paper this week.

Freshman Dudley in the Vogue: "I would like to get one of those wide belts that buckles on the side."

State Institutions of Learning Clash in Friendly But Intense Warfare

Smarting under a 10-0 defeat administered by the fighting Gamecocks of South Carolina, the Wolfpack will go into the fray Thursday with the determination to do or die. On the other hand Carolina, not having made as good a showing against Trinity as the Wolfpack did and having already lost to Wake Forest this year, will be fighting with their backs to the wall. With this determination of both teams to win it will only be after a titanic struggle that either side shall win.

No other contest in the State commands greater interest or draws a larger following than that between the University of North Carolina and N. C. State. Played on the "big day" of State Fair Week, Thursday, October 16, to be exact, the size of the crowd is limited only by the capacity of Riddick Field. Thousands of alumni and friends of the two State institutions will gain their way into the lair of the Wolfpack Thursday to cheer their favorites in victory or defeat.

In the five contests played, since 1919 when athletic relations were resumed between the two institutions, Carolina holds the edge of one game. Three times has the Blue and White been triumphant and twice has the Red and White been victorious. In the first game played in 1919 Carolina won by a 13 to 12 score. The next two years State won 13 to 3 and 7 to 0. The last two years have seen Carolina win 14 to 9 and 14 to 0.

In these past games the pre-game dope has meant absolutely nothing. Each year the dope has been badly upset. So from the past performances of the two teams this year nothing whatever can be gained or foretold of

Find New Foundation Necessary For Shops

Tunnels for New Steam Heating Plant Endanger Shop Building

In constructing the concrete tunnels that are to enclose the steam lines from the new power plant, it was found that the building that houses the woodshops was endangered.

The new tunnels pass between the woodshops and the coal pits of the old power plant. The space here being very narrow, the excavation would necessarily go very close to the walls of the building. An investigation showed that the woodshop walls did not extend more than a foot below the surface of the ground on this side. It was very probable that the tremendous weight of the wall would cause the ditches which are fifteen feet in depth to cave in. This made it necessary to undermine the east wall at ten different places and build in brick foundations to support the weight of the building.

It may be found necessary to do a similar work to Page Hall as the tunnel passes very near to this building also.

Fair Week is here again, so is Carolina.

State College, we have a football game this week.

The Pullen Literary Society is to be commended on their selection of a man to take L. L. Hedgepeth's office as president.

It is gratifying to see so many county clubs organizing. There were several clubs organized this year that had never existed before, due to the fact never before had any one been from that county at all or else there were not enough. Most of the clubs have chosen a definite program for the year, and it is to be hoped that every one carries out this program to the letter. 'Tis a good movement. Keep it up.

The man who deliberately goes home and does not stay for the football game on Thursday has no right to consider himself a part of this school. Every year during Fair Week there are a few fellows so good for nothing that they go home or elsewhere and do not get to see the State-Carolina game. There are not enough color adjectives to describe the yellowishness of such a man.

At last there is an article appearing in the Students' Forum entitled "What the Fellows Think." We agree heartily with the writer of this article and believe something should be done about such cases as the writer has reference to. The Court of Customs is a branch of Student Government and Student Government is no stronger than its weakest organization; therefore it is up to us to strengthen our Court of Customs in whatever capacity it seems weak.

A casual passer-by would have thought our campus for the past few nights was a place where men were tortured to death. The annual initiations of the various clubs and societies have been going on and as a result cries from the various buildings have been rather frequent. The Electrical Society initiation is considered the worst of them all, and one would believe it by the cries issuing forth from Winston Hall. One night in Winston Hall the Chemical Society held its initiation on the third floor, the C. C. Society on the second floor, and the Electrical Society on the first floor. The noise coming from the third and second floors just about equaled that of the first.

Week before last at a meeting of the Agricultural Club A. B. Hunter was elected Editor-in-Chief of the Agriculturist, the monthly publication of the agricultural students. Hunter was elected to take the place of T. B. Lee, who had to resign due to weakness in health. Hunter we feel sure has great ability along editorial lines as he is one of the highest students in the agriculture class and has had a great deal of experience in writing for both the Agriculturist and Technician. We are indeed glad to see the place filled by Hunter, and wait anxiously for the first edition of the Agriculturist.

Carolina is going to be our visitor this Thursday. We want to treat them as Mr. Miller said treat Trinity, "Treat them as visitors while they are on our campus, put ourselves out in order to do something for them, but when we get down there on the field we want to then remember they are our foe, and we want to beat them by staying behind the Wolfpack and giving it our loyal support all through the game and after the game is over, win or lose, remain in the bleachers until the last man is off of the field."

The Fair Week edition of the Technician last year carried the following editorial:

"NAMES FOR OUR DORMITORIES
"The Pine Burr Society has undertaken to secure suitable names for our dormitories, so the Technician gratefully concedes this to them. The Pine Burr Society is strictly a North Carolina State College organization, and we feel sure that our dormitories will be satisfactorily named. We offer our assistance in every way."
Our dormitories are still known as First, Fourth, Fifth, etc. Last year, and even in 1922, a series of articles appeared in the Students' Forum and the editorial columns about this same question.

If there is any need for naming our dormitories it is time we are doing it, but whose place is it to name them? Will the Pine Burr Society do it?

A PARODY

By H. H. Jobe, '28.

I
Hear the Sophomores yell—
Loud yells!
Loud yells!
Louder yells!
What a tale of terror their yells foretell!

II
In the air of the night!
How they delight!
To put the Freshmen to fright—
Too horrified to speak!
The Freshmen only shriek!
To the clamoring mob of the Sophomores!

III
The Sophomores endeavor!
To be very clever!
While Freshmen may stand up forever!
By the mad expostulation of paddling to their desire—
Oh! what a tale of terror foretells!
By the yells!
Loud yells!
Of the Sophomores!

IV
One Thursday night!
The Freshmen were put to flight
When returning from the show at The Grand!
Each Freshman was made to stand
With a shirt tail in his hand!
At the command!
Some Sophomore would demand!
The college song and yells if you can!
The song and yells came forth in a roar—
My! how they did outpour!

V
On the night they were organized
Some Freshmen were dissatisfied
And painted a 28 on the Mess Hall floor.
Each Sophomore saw it on entering the door,
And said the 28 had to come off the floor!

VI
The Freshmen are not to blame!
They scrubbed it off just the same.
The Sophomores have a resolute endeavor
Not to cut any hair, and name 7th dormitory 27.
We hope it will be named like 1911.

"I want to be procrastinated at the next corner," said Brothers to the bus driver.

"You want to do what?" demanded the driver.

"Don't lose your temper, sir; I had to look in the dictionary myself before I found out. Procrastinate means put off."

He: "You a housewife! I'll bet you don't know what a needle is for?"
She: "I do, too. It's for a victrola."

Merideth '28: "What cute little caps the freshmen wear! But how do they ever keep them on their heads?"
Merideth '27: "Vacuum pressure, my dear."

Freshman: "I've got a wooden splinter under my finger nail."
Sophomore: "What have you been doing scratching your head?"

Prof. Heck (rapping on desk): "Order, boys; order!"
Archie Wilson (just awakening): "Egg sandwich and a cup of coffee."

One: "She screamed for help when I kissed her."
Next: "Did you run?"
One: "No, I gave her another helping."

She: "John, do you still love me?"
He (hesitating).
She: "John, lie to me and keep me."

Eight: "You have no hair on your head."
Grandpa: "Grass does not grow on a busy street."
Eight: "Oh, I see. It can't get up through the concrete."—Ex.

"My sister was almost drowned last night!"
"How so?"
"The pillow slipped, the bed spread, and she fell through the mattress into the spring."

Alice: "I hear Jack has broken off his engagement with Mary. How did she take it?"
Virginia: "Oh, it completely unmanned her."

Traveling Salesman: "Is the buyer in?"
Clerk: "No, he is out for dinner."
T. S.: "Will he be back after dinner?"
Clerk: "None, that's what he went after."—Ex.

"Last evening, sir, I distinctly saw my daughter sitting in your lap. What explanation have you to make?"
"You see, sir, I got here early, before the others."

Senior: "What is the most nervous thing in the world next to a girl?"
Freshman: "Why—er, me next to a girl."

Heard on Hillsboro Street car: "Conductor, why are we riding so smoothly?"
"We're off the track."

Mrs.: "It ain't good manners to scratch your back on the door post that way."

Mr.: "I ain't scratching my back. I'm just stropping my shoulder blades."

"Mother, is it true that an apple a day keeps the doctor away?"
"Yes, Jimmy. Why?"

"Cause if it is, I kept about ten doctors away this morning—but I'm afraid one'll have to come pretty soon."

"You are excused early today," said the professor. "Please walk lightly through the halls so that you won't awaken the other classes.—Ex.

"Designing in Masses"

THE new architecture transcends detail and expresses the component solids of the great buildings of today and tomorrow. Gigantic profiles are reared against the sky—true expression of structural facts has now come into its own in architectural design, linking architect and engineer ever more closely together.

Certainly modern invention—modern engineering skill and organization, will prove more than equal to the demands of the architecture of the future.

Cabarrus County Club Is Doing Good Work

Ten New Men Have Been Taken Into the Club This Year Up to the Present

The old members of the Cabarrus County Club gave the new members a lasting impression of the club on Thursday night, October 9. On that night ten new fellows were initiated into the club. After the initiation was over each man was required to pledge that he would do his best to help the club accomplish its aim, which is to advertise State College at home and to promote friendship among the members of the club.

Although last year was the first year in quite a while that there has been a club here, the work has already had its effect. There are more first-year men here from Cabarrus County this year than there have been in a long time. The club is trying to advertise State College at home—and it is. Soon the club is going to send a write-up of the members and a picture to the leading newspaper of the county. Already "The Technician" is being sent to the larger high schools of the county.

The officers of the club this year are: President, R. H. Webb; vice-president, D. O. Price; secretary, C. M. Caddell, and reporter, W. C. Walker. The other old members of the club who returned this year are: W. E. Shinn, W. P. Walthal, R. M. Morris, B. A. Sides, M. W. Long, J. W. Walker, and W. D. Russell. The new members are: Ernest Hales, Buck Alexander, Tom Coltrane, O. P. Chaney, A. N. Parker, A. R. Hoover, Jr., J. C. Moose, — Moose, Carl Benfield, and Clarence Ridenhour. The club considers itself fortunate in having Mr. W. E. Shinn back this year. Mr. Shinn, who last year was valedictorian of the Senior class and also president of the club, is at present an instructor in the Textile Department of the college.

The old members of the club are very glad to welcome these members. The whole club extends a hearty invitation to all the high school fellows of Cabarrus County to come up and visit us, and when they graduate to come to the best school in the State to continue their studies.

C. E. SOCIETY HOLDS ITS FALL INITIATION

The North Carolina State College student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers held its fall initiation Thursday night, October 9, 1924. It was one of the most successful and impressive initiations held by the society in recent years. Twenty ambitious young engineers were taken into the fold, all of which were of the junior and sophomore classes. At the conclusion of the dirty work, smokes were passed around, and each new member was given an opportunity to say a few words to the society. Mr. I. J. Tucker, who presided in the absence of the president, delivered an address of welcome to the new men. Prof. Harry Tucker, head of the Highway Department, favored the society with a short but instructive talk. The next regular meeting will be on Tuesday, October 24, and all members, both new and old, are urged to be present.

CERAMICS DEPARTMENT MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

Since early in the term work on the new Department of Ceramics is being steadily carried on and by the end of this term it is expected that things will be in readiness for class work to begin in this department. A committee on ceramics, composed of Professor A. F. Greaves-Walker, Professor Vaughn and Dr. Randolph, has been appointed and is now at work preparing a short course in ceramics, which it is hoped will be offered in the curriculum next term.

KEEP DIGGING

Don't you be disheartened, sonny,
If the maiden you adore
Has the wish to marry money,
And will smile on you no more;
There are others, plump or slender,
The supply will never fail;
Everywhere the female gender
Carries on beside the male.

Don't you be discouraged, brother,
If they've yanked your job away;
Somewhere you may find another,
There are new ones every day.
Think, if you are vexed and weary,
Or have had no help from Fate,
Of those boys who bought the Erie
And took on the Nickel Plate.

Don't be cheerless if your liver
Brings dark spots before your eyes;
Buy yourself an ancient flivver,
And get helpful exercise;
Don't indulge in foolish grumbling
If a fall has bruised your bean;
Think of all the Prince's tumbling,
Show your grit and come through clean.

Don't be fearful or downhearted,
Everything ahead is bright;
Hitch your belt up and get started
With the boys whose steps are light;
S. E. Kiser.

POULTRY SCIENCE CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The first meeting of the Poultry Science Club for the year was held on October the 9th at 7 p. m., and from the showing made a very successful year is ahead of the club. Quite a few of the old members are back in the club besides a good number of new men.

A regular program was carried out. The chief topic discussed was the work of the American Association of Poultry Investigators and Instructors which met at N. C. State during the summer.

Dr. B. F. Kaupp gave a very interesting talk on how the National Poultry Council benefits the producer. H. C. Kennett gave a short but interesting talk on the papers of the association and some lessons that they taught. T. T. Brown discussed the Clinic and Disease Exhibit of the American Association of Instructors and Investigators which met at State College and the lesson it taught. C. F. Parrish discussed the social features of the meeting.

After the program was finished the Yellow Curs met and 22 new Curs were taken into the Kennel. After the initiation the seniors and juniors discussed the program that is to be carried out in the agricultural fair which is to be held on October the 31st.

Carolina and Wake Forest Beat Trinity and W. & L. Generals

Lenoir Whips Guilford; Davidson Stays in Running by Winning Again

In a close game Saturday Carolina defeated Trinity by the score of 6-0. Apparently Carolina has two good kickers. The question is, What became of Trinity's trick shift. Considering all the facts, however, that the score was close and that Carolina made 11 first downs to Trinity's 1, we still believe Trinity is going to be heard from again before the championship race is over.

Wake Forest surprised and showed much more strength than was generally conceded her when she walked over Washington and Lee to the tune of 10-8. Congratulations, Wake Forest. This game especially interested State because Wake Forest and Washington and Lee are the last two teams on the State schedule. All that is certain now is that on November 22 and 27 Riddick Field and Raleigh are scheduled to witness two hard battles. We think we know who's going to win.

Dick Gurley beat Guilford Saturday. If comparative scores mean anything—Guilford scored on Trinity while Lenoir beat them 25-0.

Davidson came clean Saturday and kept her undefeated record when she beat Wofford in a close game, 7-0.

Raleigh High School Defeats Wilson Team

Home Team Breaks Jinx and Makes Its First Win by Score 8-7

The Purple Hurricanes averted what seemed sure defeat Friday afternoon when they swept through the Wilsonian's line and scored a much needed touchdown. In the first quarter a Wilson back was tackled behind his own goal line for a safety which netted Raleigh two points. Raleigh's winning streak came in the last quarter when Wilson's attempt to punt out to safety was blocked, and Hawkins fell upon the ball for a touchdown.

Wilson staged a sensational comeback in the second quarter by making two long runs one for 30 yards and another for 20, which carried the ball to within one yard of Raleigh's goal where it rested when the whistle ended the half.

The visitors' touchdown came in the third quarter when an off-tackle drive went over from the 25-yard line in one play.

The final score was 8 to 7 in favor of the Hurricanes. "Gus" Tebell refereed and Sammy Homewood umpired. Graham was headlinesman.

TREE TOAD TONGUE TWISTER

A tree toad loved a she toad
That lived up in a tree;
She was a 3-toed tree toad,
But a 2-toed toad was he.
The 2-toed tree toad tried to win
The she toad's friendly nod;
For the 2-toed tree toad loved the ground

That the 3-toed tree toad trod.
But vainly the 2-toed tree toad tried
He could not please her whim;
In her tree toad power
With her V-toed power
The she toad V-toed him.

AND THEY YELL "WAU GAU RAC."

Washington World Champs First Time

Walter Johnson After Losing Two Starts Comes Back and Wins Deciding Game

In the most exciting and hard-fought world series in years, Washington came all the way uphill to win the first championship pennant in the 12th inning of the seventh game of the series. Handicapped by losing the first game, Washington took the second and continued to give and take till the last game.

Walter Johnson, idol of Washington and points North, East, South and West, had the hard luck of losing the opener and another and the good luck of winning the last and deciding game, which clinched the pennant for his team. The series for the most part was a long battle between pitchers, and it looked as though the team having the most pitchers would win. There were eight pitchers used in the final game, four by the Giants and four by the Senators. Walter Johnson pitched the last four innings of the last game, fanned six men and brought home the bacon.

Unusual interest was added to the series by the international interest, for the past several years it being New York's whole show.

Tennis Tournament Gets Under Way

Desired That More Men Come Out; Monograms to be Awarded

The fall tennis tournament was started last week and will continue through the better part of this week. The purpose of this tournament is to spot the best players and to stimulate interest in the sport. There is also a prize or reward for the one winning the tournament. The one winning gets his name on the Williams trophy cup offered for the one winning it four times in succession.

Most of the matches in the first and second round have been played off up to this date (October 13).

The following men have won their matches:

Matherson, D. F., from Seyffert, 6-2, 6-2.

Stout from Graham, 6-3, 6-0.

Harren from Powell, 6-1, 6-3.

Lee from Finger, 6-1, 6-1.

Holloway from Shelor, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

Chang from Lutz, 6-2, 6-2.

Tate and Whitener have not played yet.

Taylor from English, 6-1, 1-6, 6-1.

Matherson, J. F., meets Taylor in second round.

All of the above matches are in the second round except that between Taylor and English. Everybody else received a bye in the first round.

Manager Harren states that the men out look pretty good but that there should be at least a hundred more men out. Operations are under way to obtain monograms for tennis this year and prospects are bright. It's time for State to take the tennis championship this year. Let's go, men!

All-Americans Take Revenge on Freshmen

Entire Scrub Team Played Great Game and Clearly Asserted Their Superiority

As the sun slowly disappeared over the horizon, Homewood's Wolflets slunk from Riddick Field smarting under their first defeat of the season, administered by the fangs of our second-string wolves.

Nash drew first blood in the first quarter as he grabbed a Wolflet pass and raced fifty yards within striking distance of the goal. Quarterback Thomas rose to the occasion and tore through tackle for a touchdown. This ended the scoring for the first half.

During the second half the Wolflets carried the ball by a succession of end runs and forward passes to within a few feet of their opponent's goal several times but were only able to carry the pigskin over for one lone tally. The scrubs scored two touchdowns in the meanwhile. The entire scrub team played a great game and clearly asserted their superiority over the more youthful but plucky Wolflets.

The scrubs give timekeeper Duls credit for the Wolflet touchdown as he let the last quarter run several minutes overtime.

Back to the Perambulator

When Mary was born they gave her a perambulator
Then she grew up a bit and they gave her a velocipede;
When she got a little older they gave her a pony and cart.
When she was in grammar school they gave her a bicycle.
While she was in college the folks gave her a Stutz.
At her wedding they donated an aeroplane.
Now she's started in again with a perambulator.

ODE TO A BROKEN MIRROR

I
How camest thou there,
Daughter of Vanity Fair,
Upon that dust begrimed floor
Like a broken wave upon the sandy shore.

Why did'st thou leave thy lofty heights
Where from thy place upon the shelf
Thou did'st picture many strange sights

Of my old lady and myself?
By what trick of cruel fate
Did'st thou lose thy power so great?

II
O, reflector of all good and bad,
How can'st thou deserve a death so sad?

Never more into thy depths shall I stare,
As I carefully part my hair;
No more at thee shall I gaze
Early each morning as I wash my face;

Nor again to look at myself
As thou standest on the shelf.
No, never more in thee, dear one,
Can I admire father's handsomest son.

III
What wondrous god the power did'st give thee
To see myself as others see me.

'Tis sad that thou did'st bear disgrace
As I popped blackheads from my face,
And shave, and dust my shiny nose—
Adorning myself with Sunday clothes,
Primping myself both front and back
As I venture forth to hold the sack
With some young lady whose whole ambition

Was to keep from dying of malnutrition.

IV
Curses on that cruel hand
That brushed thee from thy earthly stand
Out upon that unknown sea
Of death—immortality.

What queer sights thou wilt picture now,
Many strange beings and stranger things.
No one knows, nor just when or how,
On that higher plane, among wanderings.

Would that thou could'st reflect in thine own way
The future that before us humans does lay.
Br., '25.

TOO EASILY DISCOURAGED

Many a woman says she is through with men before she has tried even half of them.

I had a little tea party
This afternoon at three.
'Twas very small—
Three guests in all—
Just I, myself and me.
Myself ate all the sandwiches
While I drank up the tea.
'Twas also I who ate the pie
And passed the cake to me.

JOINT MEETING OF THE FRIENDSHIP COUNCILS

The two Friendship Councils met together on Sunday afternoon due to the fact that Mr. Homewood, the discussion leader for the Freshman Council, was not able to be present. Mr. Homewood is an excellent leader and we hope that he can be back with the freshmen again next Sunday. We were glad to have the freshmen to meet with us and it is our plans to have them with us occasionally along during the year.

Some very important business came up before the Council and we were

The next business to be disposed of was the election of two new officers. The Council decided that the secretary and treasurer each needed an assistant. Mr. F. S. McCoy was elected as assistant secretary and T. B. Winstead was elected as assistant treasurer.

State - Carolina Clash Is North Carolina's Biggest Grid Contest

the result of the game Thursday. Needless to say it will be a great struggle whoever wins.

From advance reports the Carolina squad is in good shape. So far this year only Bonner has been on the injured list but he is expected to be all right for the game Thursday. This year Carolina has lost a great deal of strength in the line but has gained strength in the backfield. However, no matter what material a Fetzer coached team has lost it is always a dangerous team.

On the other hand, State has last year's team practically intact. However, they have the disadvantage of having to learn an absolutely new system from the one that they formerly used. The squad received quite a number of sprains and bruises in the Penn State game. Several members of the team were out of the South Carolina game because of these bruises but it is hoped that they will be in shape for the Fair Week game.

Wolfpack vs. Tar Heel! Each team rising to do its very best. The rest of the schedule will be forgotten. All the strategy and cunning that each team possesses will be used by the quarterbacks in a desperate effort to win. There will be action and thrills a plenty on Riddick Field when the referee's whistle sends the two teams together at 2:30 o'clock.

The following is the probable lineup of the two teams:

New Fraternity For N. C. State College

Local Chapter One of Founders of Theta Kappa Nu National Fraternity

The North Carolina Alpha Chapter one of the founding chapters of Theta Kappa Nu, was formally installed at the Str Walter Hotel on the evening of October 11. The installation was in charge of Prof. W. S. Anderson, Grand Archon of the National, and Henry Seaman, delegate to the first Grand Chapter. Several alumni members of the chapters were present. The installation was followed by an elaborate banquet.

The Theta Kappa Nu Fraternity was founded in Springfield, Missouri, June 9, 1924. Its present chapters are distributed from Kansas to Pennsylvania, from Iowa to Florida. It is not often that a National is organized covering such a vast area.

State College has the honor of having the Alpha Chapter in North Carolina. This chapter being one of the founding chapters will aid and support the National officers in advancing the fraternity and her ideals throughout the college world.

Much credit is due to Prof. W. S. Anderson, of State College, who is one of the founders of this new brotherhood, and it was largely through his efforts that the organization was brought about. He began working on this fraternity a number of years ago by founding two locals in Florida. His idea was to some day unite these and other locals into a National. This has been brought about and the two locals are now the Florida Alpha and Beta chapters of Theta Kappa Nu.

The first Grand Chapter, which brought about the consolidation of this large group of locals into Theta Kappa Nu was held in Springfield, Missouri, June 9, 1924. Thirty delegates were present at the session which formally ratified the constitution. Mr. Henry Seaman, delegate of the North Carolina Alpha to the first Grand Chapter, reports that no other National ever was founded under such auspicious circumstances and with so many seasoned fraternity men associated with the organization at the outset.

Many of the locals represented there were from ten to eighteen years old, giving the fraternity a very strong alumni membership with many prominent men on its rolls.

Nine of the chapters own their own houses, ranging in value from $15,000 to $30,000 each. The remaining chapters, providing it is within the college rules, are leasing houses on or near their respective campuses.

The fraternity maintains a central office at Springfield, Missouri. A magazine is published, having eight issues each year. The grand officers of the National are: Grand archon, W. S. Anderson, of Raleigh, N. C.; grand scribe, O. R. McAtee, of Springfield, Mo.; grand treasurer, D. F. Lybarger, of Cleveland, Ohio, and grand oracle, Rev. J. H. Krenmyre, of Agency, Iowa.

The Chapter of N. C. State was formally presented with charters by Prof. W. S. Anderson, grand archon of the fraternity, and Mr. Henry Seaman of the North Carolina Alpha, these members being the representatives of the Grand Chapter. The officers of the State College Chapter were then installed by Grand Archon Anderson, assisted by Mr. M. A. Wheldon, of Rocky Mount, and Prof. R. J. Campbell, of Winston-Salem, who are alumni of the Florida Alpha Chapter.

After the installation ceremonies, a banquet followed at which were present Professors W. S. Anderson and R. J. Campbell and Messrs. M. A. Wheldon, R. L. Melton, W. C. Mull, H. B. Keen, F. L. Hargrove, E. F. Monroe, F. S. Snipes, Henry Seaman, F. P. Dickens, G. W. Dobbins, L. L. Hedgepeth, R. M. Fonville and G. V. Keller, Jr.

As the Republican National Committee Sees Situation

If sentiment among college students is a reliable barometer, the election will result in decisive Republican victory, according to John Hamlin, Director of the College Bureau of the Republican National Committee, after reading reports from college Republican clubs in all sections of the country.

Some of the most encouraging reports come from so-called LaFollette territory. In Minnesota, the situation looks better than it did two weeks ago. Coolidge is stronger in rural communities and college students say their fathers are deserting the Farmer-Labor people in large numbers.

Every college in the states of Minnesota and North Dakota has an organization working for the election of the Republican ticket. Montana, Washington, Oregon, and California college club reports verify the growth of Coolidge-Dawes sentiment in these states. Activities of college Republican clubs include cooperation with state and county Republican committees.

More than 300 college Republican clubs are now functioning, and even in the "solid south" student organizations are active in behalf of Coolidge and Dawes.

First German Club Dance

The first German Club dance was held last Friday night at the Woman's Club from nine until one. There was a large number of girls present though the boys outnumbered them greatly. Every one seemed to enjoy the dance very much and the orchestra, which was a local one, was very good. The first intermission was held at eleven o'clock and sandwiches and tea were served. After the second intermission was held the orchestra played several college songs, ending up with our own song, "State College Keeps Fighting Along," which sounded splendid and made the State College boys feel proud of old N. C. State. The dance ended at one o'clock with every one having had a fine time.

Court of Customs Holds First Trial

The Court of Customs, which is a branch of our Student Government and whose duty it is to see that the freshman rules are enforced, held its first trial of the season in the "Y" auditorium October 8, 1924. The Right Honorable Bill Shearin called the court to order. The first two prisoners called failed to appear. But the third, one Firpo Wilson by name, came eagerly forward. Stumping his toe as he mounted the stage, he almost prostrated himself at the feet of Judge Shearin. A controversy immediately arose among the spectators as to whether this action was accidental or an attempt to leg the judge, the defendant plead guilty to a charge of not wearing the freshman cap. He claimed exemption on the ground that he was a special student. However, his registration card and a witness from the Registrar's office showed that he was registered as a regular Freshman in Business Administration. The defendant, as a last resort, claimed that he had had more papers but tore them up. Therefore he was conclusively proved to be just a plain, ordinary freshman.

Venable Baggett, the fourth prisoner, nonchalantly took the stand and plead guilty to a charge of failure to wear the freshman cap. He explained that he had been to Carolina one year but had failed to pass off enough work to register as a sophomore. He stated that he naturally wanted to get out of wearing the freshman cap and had wracked his brain to find some scheme by which he could attain this end. He resolved to register as a special student, but after consulting Dr. Brooks, the Registrar, and various deans, was refused permission to do so. He then bought a freshman cap and wore it. Prosecuting Attorney Hedgepeth, in a heart-rending oration, said that the wearing of the freshman cap was not a disgrace, but on the contrary an honor and a privilege which freshmen only could enjoy. He further explained that three years ago Student Government had ordered the caps to be worn to distinguish freshmen from upperclassmen and to reduce hazing. He cited several cases where students had worn the cap even though they were not required to. Mr. Hedgepeth accused the defendant of trampling upon the traditions of the college and using every means in his power to evade our rules.

"He has haunted himself in the face of the student-body and should draw the full penalty. He should run the gauntlet and pick up one rock for every day he has failed to wear the cap."

It was clearly shown that the fifth prisoner, F. Saunders, had registered as a special student with no intention of evading the rules.

The court retired until a decision was reached. The decision rendered by Judge Shearin stated that due to a misunderstanding as to special students, the court issued Mr. Wilson and Mr. Baggett a suspended sentence which said that they would have to run the gauntlet if they were ever caught without the cap again.

It was learned at this time that F. S. Hardee, the second prisoner, had arrived, and he was immediately brought before the court. He plead exemption on the ground of being registered as a special student. He stated that he had worn the cap until it was announced that special students were exempted. He had consulted various students who had told him he could take it off. After questioning him, the Prosecuting Attorney learned that Mr. Hardee had attended the freshman class meeting and voted therein, obtained a Freshman Bible, and had read it. The defendant explained that the majority of his work is freshman and that he would rather be with freshmen than sophomores, anyhow. A large portion of the audience immediately gave vent to scoffs and catcalls. However, the defendant was officially registered as a special student and the court dismissed the case. The Prosecuting Attorney stated that the court hesitated to drop the incident because it was clearly a case of evasion of the freshman rules.

SPRAGUE, Quarterback
State

It was learned that the first prisoner, J. W. Gurganus, had left school, and Judge Shearin dismissed the court after asking that the student-body and especially the sophomore class co-operate with the court by turning up all persons caught violating the rules. "W., '26."

WHAT THE FELLOWS THINK

Yes, we have just begun what we hope will be the greatest year in the history of State College. The administration has spared no effort or cost to meet every demand for our welfare in every respect, except in regard to our own conduct. This trust has been placed in the hands of the students themselves. Are we betraying this trust? Is the Student Government guarding and protecting it?

We upperclassmen were indeed glad to hear the meeting of the Court of Customs announced and made public, for we have reason to believe that in the past justice through this court has been questioned by some. After careful attention to the trial of the first two defendants Wednesday, and no sentence, we have still more reason to question the action of this court.

The majority of the students are wondering what mysterious forces were working at this meeting. They are wondering if the court really intends to enforce the laws laid down by the Student Government. It was generally understood after the trial that it was not a case of guilty or not guilty but only a case of the court deciding on the sentence. These two defendants pleaded guilty and all evidence went to prove it. A plain case of willful and premeditated violation of a written rule. Then it was only a question of passing a sentence in accord with the offense or a flat refusal to acknowledge the rules in force.

The decision handed down by the court either indicated that the majority of the members of the Court of Customs refuse to enforce the laws laid down by the Student Council or, on account of some mysterious something, which isn't so mysterious to some, they want to take the authority to deal out special privilege and protection to certain individuals. Is this the true function of the Court of Customs? If it is, the government should be changed, and if it is not, the court should be changed. Are there no "Walshes" to stick a head in the Teapot?

Social at First Presbyterian

The Presbyterian boys had a very enjoyable evening at a social, given at the First Presbyterian Church on Friday evening, October 10, by the Christian Endeavor Society.

The music and games were enjoyed by every one. After about two hours of such pleasure, punch and sandwiches were served.

About 10:30 the party broke up, ending an enjoyable evening.

HONORABLE DISCHARGE

"What was the reason for your being discharged from your last place?"

"Good behavior, sir," replied the applicant.

"What? You would never be discharged for good behavior?"

"Yes, sir, they took two months off my sentence."

"Working Your Way"
Made Feasible

Writing life insurance has enabled many a man to pay his way through college. It is a dignified calling and a true social service.

To induce your fellows to form habits of thrift—to obligate them to put by a little of the income—to safeguard them against future loss of earning power—is a form of effort that brings keen satisfaction as well as profit.

That is only one of the reasons why the insurance business today is attracting some of the very best brains of America.

Write for the full particulars of a plan whereby you can assist yourself through college and at the same time prepare for a profitable and satisfactory business career.

WAKE FOREST 'SHALL NOT PAINT'

Wake Forest Attempts to Paint
Numerals and W. & L. Score at Meredith

Wake Forest did paint, however, but their paint would not stick. Saturday night about eleven-thirty some one told a certain Soph that Wake Forest had painted Saturday's score (W. F. C. 10—W. & L. 8) in front of Meredith. This Soph immediately rounded up five others and told them the exciting news. Then all six of these fellows began to denounce Wake Forest with some of the most emphatic Sunday school words imaginable (for it was now past midnight and was Sunday).

Finally, after all six had "cussed out" it was decided to get some paint and go to Meredith as quick as possible. But where was any paint? Some one said there might be a little in the basement of Watauga. So all rushed up to Watauga to see if any paint could be found. After many stubbing of toes and much scratching around in the dark, some red and white paint was found. These six patriotic Sophomores then immediately struck out for Meredith in a "skeeter."

Just as they rounded the northeast corner at the Capitol they spied a Ford parked at the Meredith corner where the big '27 is. Of course at this the hearts of all tried to take the place of their tongues. But, swallowing their hearts, two of the Sophs jumped off the "skeeter" and rushed toward the Ford. At this a couple of fellows jumped out of the shadows into the Ford and really "sold out." It was found that these fellows had just finished painting a W. F. C. '27 on the sidewalk. While two painted out the numerals on the corner with a red and white square, the rest walked up the street to find where the score had been painted. They had gone only a few steps before they found W. F. C. 10—W. & L. 8 painted in red on the sidewalk and almost completely covered over with leaves. This score was painted out just as soon as the numerals were covered over. All this painting, which took about thirty or forty-five minutes, was accompanied by music furnished by a Meredith goat, which was tied to a tree near-by.

After the painting was finished, it was decided that some one would have to stay and watch for the rest of the night. Four volunteered. So, while one remained at Meredith, the others came back to the college, got some blankets, and then went back down to spend the night. No further attempts were made to paint, however.

by a short pass and a 22-yard run for a touchdown. Jazz kicked goal and the third quarter ended with the score 10-0.

The final period opened with the ball on South Carolina's 23-yard line. After a first down and a series of unsuccessful line plunges and passes, State was forced to kick. State soon recovered the ball and Jennette and Faulkner gained 21 yards on short passes. Alternate punts put the ball in the middle of the field and State again tried to break the Gamecocks' line but without success. South Carolina received a punt on the 35-yard line and fumbled but recovered the ball. Both teams continued to use passes and line plunges for the remaining period with poor results. The whistle blew with South Carolina ball on State's 30-yard line.
