Pack Poll shows support for expansion, fee increase

By a slim margin, most of the students who responded to a Pack Poll survey conducted Feb. 17 said they would be willing to pay an extra $40 in student fees to expand Carmichael Gympasium

student fees to expanse Gymnasium.
Of the 309 students who responded to the poll, 50.5 percent indicated support for the fee increase.
Fifty-six percent indicated they had been discouraged from using the gym due to overcrowding and 75 percent felt there is a need for the expansion of the gymansium.

felt there is a need for the expansion of the gymansium.
Richard Lauffer, head of physical education and intramural athletics, elaborated on the plans for the expansion and the fee increase in an interview Tuesday.
"The whole concept is that the students have probably felt in the past that fee increases to build buildings or whatever have sort of been crammed down their throats," he said.
"That is not at all our idea. In other words, we see the need for this building addition and the Pack Poll indicates that the students see the need also.

also.
"The only way we are going to get this addition is through an increase in student fees."

Lauffer said the state is not going to support this addition with funding.

"They have so many other commitments to other places, black campuses and such, that we could sit here for 10 years before we could even be considered (for state funding for expansion of the facilities.)," he said.

"We are here to meet the needs and interests of the students and it looks like the only way we can do this is through a fee increase."

through a fee increase."

Lauffer said other ideas have been considered since the Pack Poll was conducted on the fee increase, such as a graduated fee scale.

A graduated fee scale would allow students to pay a smaller amount the first year the increase went into effect and build up the increase as more funding was needed once construction started, he said.

"Nothing has been finalized though."

ding was needed once construction started, he said.

"Nothing has been finalized, though. We are in the talking stage right now." Lauffer said.

"We are in the planning stage and we would like to move ahead as quickly as possible. There has been some concern that students will be paying for something that they might not ever get to use. Especially the freshmen and sophomores right now, because the increase will not go into effect until the fall of 1983. The juniors and seniors won! be affected.

"We have talk d about a graduated fee scale. The first year the fee would be a little less because we would only need so much money for the planning stage. A graduated scale is something to be considered to get the money necessary for the planning." Lauffer explained.

Lauffer said that Carmichael Gymnasium itself was paid for by student funding. He feels that students should look at it "from the standpoint that if students 20 years ago felt like they shouldn't pay for something they won't use, we wouldn't have this building. This building was half funded by students."

Lauffer said that the new facility will not be used for athletics.

"We are not planning this facility will not be used for athletics.

"We are not planning this facility for athletics. This will be for recreational and physical educational activities," he said.

Lauffer said there are no final plans for the facility as to where it will be and exactly what it will contain. But he outlined what the department would like to see and has conjectured for the future facility.

"The planning stage will take about a year and a half," he said. "In general, we are going out the back in the direction of the tennis courts. Now we are going to lose some of the tennis going to lose some of the tennis courts."

Lauffer said he is aware of the concern over losing courts, since there are hardly enough now to accomodate those who wish to play.

But there are some plans to possibly replace the lost courts, he said.

"We have a joint project going on right now with the athletic department to construct 12 new tennis courts, which possibly could be completed by the fall of 1982," he said.

"No funding will come from students for these courts. It is totally through the physical education department and the athletics department. We hope to finalize that project. It is in the planning stages also.

"They will be lighted courts for recreational use at night, instruction in the morning and varsity use in the afternoon," Lauffer said.

"We've got no other place to go recreational use at night, instruction in the morning and varsity use in the afternoon," Lauffer said.

"We've got no other place to go though. We have to take out those courts to be able to expand," said Lauffer.
Other plans for the facility will be to make it accessible to the handicapped, something the existing facilities do not really have now, Lauffer said.
He said he hopes there will be elevators and ramps in the new facility for handicapped and disabled students.

Funding from other sources for the new facility is about nil, Lauffer said.
"There is no chance. I've pursued this with George Worsley, vice-chancellor for business affairs and Dean Tillman and (Banks)Talley, (vice-chancellor of student affairs). People who have been here for a number of years and have a pretty good feel for the way the general administration would react to such plans," he said.
Lauffer said the UNC board of governors has a priority system for capital improvements.
"I think that they are not even accepting any new proposals for capital improvements this biennium. They are just taking the ones that were on the board last biennium," he said.
Lauffer said the final decision will be made by the UNC board of governors after a formal request from the physical education department for a fee increase is made through State's administration.
At least two open hearings will be held for the students and others to voice their opinions on the matter, he said.

After the hearings are held, the ad-said.

After the hearings are held, the administration decides whether or not the fee increase should be upheld and then their recommendation is sent to the board of governors, he said.

The amount of the fee increase was determined by Worsley and A.B. Harris, campus planner, Lauffer said.

"He (Worsley) and A.B. Harris are the ones who deal with these things and they projected a figure of $10 million for this addition," he said.

"But that might be a heavy figure. I personally feel that it is not going to cost the $10 million. But we won't know until the bids go out.

"But Worsley's best estimate is the $40 fee increase right now. That may come down once we get into the planning stages."

$40 fee increase right now. That may come down once we get into the planning stages."

Lauffer said Carmichael Gymasium will be paid for in 1984.

"So the $5 students are paying now for the gym can possibly go toward the new facility as well as maintaining operating costs for the existing facility," he said.

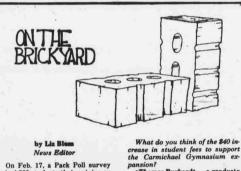

"We want to provide the students with a better chance to lift weights, play basketball and swim and do those things they are having trouble now doing."

Lauffer said he feels the Pack Poll indicates that the students want a larger facility and have been discouraged from using the current facilities because of the present overcrowding.

facilities because of the present or crowding.

The new facility, he said, will hopefully be completed either in September 1985 or January 1986.

He said that it depends on how soon the preliminaries are over with and the planning can begin. The official predictions are approximately one and a half years for the planning and two years for the construction of the facilipredictions are approximately one and a half years for the planning and two years for the construction of the facility — a total of three and a half years

On Feb. 17, a Pack Poll survey asked 309 students their opinion on the proposed $40 student fee increase to be used to expand Carmichael Gymnasium.

According to the survey, 50.5 percent said they would be willing to pay the increase.

departments. It is just another thing offered by the University that not everyone takes advantage of."

*Lisa Davis — a junior in industrial engineering — "I feel like the fee increase would be worthwhile. The only way to expand the gym facilities is to get it through the students. I am willing to pay it because it would be an improvement for the future of the school."

school."

*Jeff Kinsley — a sophomore in political science — "I think it is a good expansion. That gym is used an awful lot and it has a lot of good facilities in it. As much as it is used, it is important to keep expanding it, because when it is expanded, new equipment will be put in and make better facilities for people to use. That will only help, it can't hurt. I would rather pay $40 for this expansion than something else."

*John Graham — a senior in history — "Even though I'm graduating, I agree with it because if my information is correct, that gym was built in '62 or '64 for a maximum of 12,000 students and since there are now almost 22,000 students at State, it is pretty ridiculous to have to stand in line for an hour to play basketball on crowded days. So I'm for it."

"Gigi Hassan — a sophomore in pre-med — "I guess it will benefit all of us. Maybe they should expand it a little at a time instead of giving such a high increase in fees. Why not a fund raising benefit through the physical education department? I feel they should explore other alternatives for funds before increasing fees."

•Kurt Jetta — a junior in statistics — "I think it's great **Hurt Jetta — a junior in statistics — "I think it's great because people complain about not enough gym capacity yet they aren't willing to pay the price to get adequate gym facilities. I'm willing to pay for the expansion with an increase in fees. It has to be done sometime. Somebody has to bear the brunt of the expansion. The expansion obviously has to be done. The expenses will be incurred and will have to be paid for."

pansion? *Thomas Burkardt — a graduate student in mathematics — "As long as it's for the general increase for all students. I wouldn't object. Because it is part of the University facility, you pay tuition and don't use all of the University. For example, you don't take four years of English or four years of economics but the fees help support those Polish poet second in lecture series

by Kurt Jetta Staff Writer

Polish poet and winner of the 1980
Nobel Prize for Literature, Czeslaw
Milosz, gave a recital of his prizewinning poetry Monday night in Stewart Theatre.
In a lecture co-sponsored by the State English department and University Student Center, Milosz read and discussed his work to a reserved but attentive audience of about 250 people.

ple.

For approximately one hour he translated his poems, which were written in Polish, into English. Milosz also recited the only English poem he has ever written.

Humor and irony are the Nobel Prize winner's primary devices to con-vey his poetic ideas. Milosz defines himself as an ecstatic poet — one who celebrates the uniqueness of life and examines the ambiguities, contradictions, and many levels of truth.

Milosz experienced a tragic and dramatic period in his literature, however. World War II and the Nazi occupation of Europe were the conditions which produced his most cynical and solemn work.

A Warsaw freedom fighter during World War II and former Polish diplomat, Milosz eventually sought political asylum in France in 1951.

Along with several other young European poets, Milosz underwent his poetic apprenticeship in Paris, France.

In 1960, Milosz immigrated to the United States where he became a professor of Slavic languages and literature at the University of California at Berkeley.

In one piece, he serves warning to the world's oppressive leaders. "The poet remembers. You can slay one, but another is soon born," he wrote.

During the question-ard-answer period following his discussion, Milosz shared his experience of returning to Poland last year to a hero's welcome after a thirty year absence from his homeland.

homeland.

Milosz said that he met Soldarity leader Lech Walesa. He expressed great admiration for the Polish laborer who helped bring the citizens together.

"It is not true that Solidarity was as

Registration first step

Staff Writer

Registration may be a first step in the direction of reinstating the draft, according to Bob Sealey, spokesman for the Central Committee for Conscientious Objectors (C.C.C.O.) and publications director who wrote the handbook of conscientious objectors.

According to Sealey, whether or not one feels that registration is the first step on the road the draft "depends on what part of the government you are talking to. When the government was arguing in the Goldberg case, the Supreme Court made clear that registration was the first step and the first part of the process."

"It is not only an essential step but by having registration in place it is possible to have a draft," he said. "The President was underestimating the importance of this. There are influen-tial people who believe that registra-tion is the first part of the process."

Among the examples of such people Sealey cited were General Bernard Rogers, a supreme commander of NATO forces.

Sealey said, "In general, the reason why it is easier (to prosecute non registrants) is because it clears away underbrush. With the constitutional issue of women (being excluded from the draft) being debated, prosecutions were unlikely because the issue was unresolved. There were indictments ready to be handed down just before the grace period for non-registrants was declared," Sealey said.

was declared." Sealey said.

Sealey added that of the 900,000 persons who did not register for the draft, two different kinds of nonregistrants existed. There are "the person who takes a public stand and the person who simply stays home. Of the latter type, the government is not going after very many. The indictments are coming mainly of people who the government knows about," he added.

Conscientious objectors, according to the CCCO, are not in risk. Seally added, "First of all, conscientious objection is perfectly legal. There is nothing bad about the claim on the card. Later being a conscientious objector gives non-registrants a chance to be recognized if they make their claim." Sealey that because conscientious objectors' records are not kept, upon filing a conscientious objection claim one should make a Xeroxed copy of it immediately.

Of the CCCO, Sealey said, "We don't take a stand when in a counseling position. We do have a position on conscription. A counseling situation is different. We maintain a list of counselors throughout the country. counselors throughout the country. When counseling we do not tell young men what to do."

inside

- Economic plan deserves little credit. Page 2.

United States could lose credibility by its interference in El Salvador. Page 3

Animal behavior in bars discussed in 'On With the Show'.
 Page 4.

Joe Rat meets Garfield on the Serious Page Page 5

Pack takes second post-season shot at Cheyney Page 6

- Fletcher heads for keydet country Page 7

-Theme revolves around homosexuality in Making Love Page 8.

weather

Today — Variably cloudy with a chance of showers and thunder-boomers with a high around 70 and a low around 50. Thursday — Partly cloudy with a high around 70. (Forecast provided by student meteorologists Neal Lott, Raymond Kiess and Donald Cahoon).

Campus crime rate third highest in county

by James Nuns

Staff Writer

Statistics for 1981 show that State's crime rate is the third highest in Wake County.

Public Safety investigated more in-cidents than the police departments of Cary, Garner and Apex. Only the Raleigh Police Department and the Wake County Sherriff's Department handled more cases than Public Safe-

The statistics, which are derived from the Police Information Network, were released last week by Capt. J. McGinnis, assistant director of Public Safety.

"The Police Information Network contains uniform crime report statistics," McGinnis said. "We file a monthly report to the Police Information Network which addresses specific

The cumulative figures of the mon-thly reports for 1981 reveal the degree of criminal activity on campus. According to McGinnis figures, Public Safety investigated 1,288 cases last year: 2 robberies, 1 rape, 44 assaults, 148 burglaries, 1,082 larcenies and 21 motor vehicle thefts.

McGinnis said the high incidence of rime is a result of the campus environment.

"Our biggest problem is larceny. It's easy to steal in a University community because of the amount of personal property on campus. And, a thief spends little effort in breaking and entering any of the many motorvehicles on campus," McGinnis said.

"The University is also in a close, urban setting, where crime rates are always high."

McGinnis' office compiles the morning report, which outlines the department's activity each day. The report is a good indicator of criminal activity on campus.

Each week the reports reveal the high crime rate. During the seven days before spring break, for example, Public Safety investigated 97 cases. These included 27 cases of larceny, 9 cases of damage to property, 5 cases of assault and a variety of other cases that include missing persons, domestic disturbances, controlled substances, and trespassing. and trespassing.

The 1,298 cases handled by Public Safety is double the number handled by the Cary Police Department, yet Public Safety does not have the manpower and financial resources of the Cary department.

Because the Public Safety budget is tight, McGinnis said, Public Safety must work to prevent crime.

"We sponsor preventive education for groups an campus, including the resident advisers and the community watch groups, and the student parto officer program helps, too," he said.

Public Safety gives a presentation to new students each semester with advise for protecting property.

Public Safety has also upgraded the officers uniforms and the patrol cars. The uniforms were changed in August 1980 to a more official style, and the patrol cars were more distinctly marked.

"We hope that the markings make the officers more visible, and that maybe a person will think twice before committing a crime after seeing Public Safety around campus," McGin-nie said ious that to be in earnest in seeking the truth is an indispensable requisite for finding it.

– John Henry Cardinal Newman, Oxford University Sermons

Economic plan deserves little credit, much blame

President Ronald Reagan's recent sw-g through the South in order to defend his economic policy proved to be politics as usual. Reagan took credit for everything good that is happening, but tried to place blame for the country's ndous economic problems on so-le else — namely, previous adne else

Reagan tried to claim that he alone was Reagan tried to claim that he alone was repossible for the recent abatement in inflation. This claim, mind you, comes from the same man who only a few weeks ago was critizing Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker's tight monetary policy as being too harsh. It seems that Reagan wants economic policy to be two different things at the same times.

wants economic policy to two different things at the same time.

Contrary to Reagan's rhetoric, the Fed's tight monetary policy is primarily responsible for the decreasing rate of infla-tion. Reagan's policies have contributed somewhat to the reduction in inflation; the current recession that Reagan has led nation into has reduced demand and the nation into has reduced thus lowered prices.

But most economists agree that the driving force behind the economy is interest rates, whether they be high or low. The Fed's tight money policy is lowering inflation, which should eventually lower interest rates. Reagan's program, on the contrary, is proposing the largest budget deficits in history in order that a bloated defense department can become even more inefficient and wasteful. These tremendous deficits will not lower interest rates. They will only cause the real interest rate — the actual demand for money — to skyrocket.

This process has already started. Inflation is currently running at about 8 percent per annum and the prime rate is at about 16 ½ percent. This means that the real rate of interest is running at about 8 percent, which is a phenomenal rate by historical standards. Neither Reagan's supply-side economics nor any other kind of economics can be successful when the of economics can be successful when the real rate of interest is that high.

Reagan can take only a small amount of the credit for the lowered inflation rates, but he must take the all of blame for the high real rate of interest that budget deficits are causing.

oudget deficits are causing.

At this point, it seems certain that Reagan's economic plan will not pass both houses of Congress without some major changes. It is hoped that the Senate and the House will realize that these large budget deficits will not help the economy and then succeed in convincing Reagan of that fact.

At issue: human rights, U.S. involvement

El Salvador has become the focal point of President Ronald Reagan's foreign-policy agenda for the past several weeks. Reagan has announced aid plans for the Caribbean basin. El Salvador will receive approximately $104.5 million in economic aid and $81 million in military aid. El Salvador shows its importance by raising two significant questions about U.S. foreign policy.

One question is: exactly where does the United States stand on human rights? The other question is: how far should the United States involve itself in the internal affairs of other countries?

Human rights have always been an area of ambiguity for U.S. foreign policy. The United States can point a finger of accusation at Soviet violations of human rights, but it is difficult for U.S. foreign policy-makers to point the same finger at a country that is friendly toward us but deprives its people of basic human rights. Americans become enraged when they hear about someone like Idi Amin killing 300,000 of his own people in Uganda. However, there is a different response when one hears about a group of women in Buenos Aires pleading with anyone for information about where their loved ones have disap-neamed to.

Aires pleading with anyone for information about where their loved ones have disappeared to.

It is therefore obvious that when it comes to human rights we apply one standard for our friends and another standard for our enemies; it should be noted that the Soviet Union does the same thing.—In El Salvador there have been numerous documented cases of human-rights violations perpetrated by the government. The most notorious was the murder of four American nuns by Salvadoran national guardsmen. The rebels do not exactly have a clean slate; they have been known to coerce people into joining them.

Next door to El Salvador is Guatemala. Guatemala suffers from the same type of internal conflict that El Salvador does. The different conflict that El Salvador does.

Costa Rica and Mexico would be next.

Writer Enrique Altamirano has pointed out that "if all of Central America fell to Communism, then Cuba, the five Central American countries, and Panama would have an army of more than a million men, located almost at the borders of the United States."

most at the borders of the United States."
El Salvador is the key to whether the United tates can halt this communist advance. We or else.

Communism must be defeated and stroyed. It remains to be seen whether we wave the will to confront such an intensive evil did defeat it before it rolls stealthily across our orders. Time is running shoet. We must act fore it runs out and we must act soon.

Henry Jarrett

ference between El Salvador and Guatemala is that while there is a moderate element in El Salvador, there are only extreme rightist and extreme leftist elements in Guatemala. Since extreme lettist elements in Guaremaia. Since 1978, 13,000 people have been executed by lettist death squads and government supported rightist death squads.

In a recent Newsweek poll, 70 percent of the people polled said they favored helping spread freedom and democracy rather than spread freedom and democracy rather than supporting authoritarian governments. Perhaps Americans feel it helps our linage abroad to promote the democratic process rather than to stoop to justify the actions of a government that wages war against its own

An important question of concern is: how deeply involved should the United States become in El Salvador? Reagan warns of another Cuban-style Marxist dictatorship. Secretary of State Alexander Haig has often rectited the number of arms flowing from Cuba to the guerrillas. It sounds as if the Cubans and the Soviets created the revolution. However, it is years of poverty and repression that have sowed the seeds of revolution.

that have sowed the seeds of revolution.

El Salvador is not Vietnam. In the Vietnam War there was an outside aggressor, North Vietnam. In El Salvador's case, it is a war in which there are two factions fighting for control. Neither side has quite won the hearts and minds of the people. The government is supplied with arms from the United States and the guerrillas are supplied with arms from various left-wing governments.

Reagan supports the upcoming elections in El Salvador and he contends that they will be El Salvador and he contends that they will be free and democratic. He says further that these elections will produce a democratic government. However, the only participants in the elections are right-wing and moderate candidates; the left wing is boycotting the elections. President Jose Napoleon Duarte may also not be the likely winner of the election; instead it may be a right-wing candidate who is supported by the military. One Salvadoran official said grimly, "Then, instead of 3,000 guernillas, we will have 300,000."

The only real solution from the point of view of the United States is a negotiated settlement. A negotiated settlement would spare us the decision of whether to send troops. It may also spare a lot of Salvadoran blood.

First priority in El Salvador

President should aim to restore order

This is the lost of a series of columns on the current situation in El Saliador.

The chorus of opposition to President Ronald Reagan's "militaristic" Latin American policy has been somewhat muted by his Caribbean Basin initiative. The fact that the economic and humanitarian assistance he has pegged for the region assistance he has pegged for the region with the president process of the presid economic and humanitarian assistance he has offered is five times as great as the military assistance he has pegged for the region should serve to remind all of us that the president's policy is not so one-tracked as his opposition attempts to deptct it.

The heart of the Reagan proposals resides properly in the area of economic assistance.

Reagan proposes a special 12-year period in properly in the area of economic assistance. Reagan proposes a special 12-year period in which Caribbean products will have special duty-free status. By the same measure he offers strong tax incentives for outside investfers strong tax incentives for outside invest-ment in the region by American industry in addition to greater amounts of direct

Thomas Paul DeWitt

From the Right

between the region's nations and the States.

Finally, the president calls upon our friends and allies to do something they rarely do — to act like friends and allies. As such, he requests that they too help in the suscitation of economic growth on a more equitable basis for the Caribbean Basin.

All of this, however, will be of little use unless the countries affected can establish within themselves viable governments that secure their attendant power through popular consent rather than through the smoking barrels and chaotic reverberations of military conreis and chaodic reverberations of military conguest.

El'Salvador is a particularly difficult country in which to attempt to construct the societal constraints that popular consent for legitimate governace requires. The United States runs the clear danger of making a big mistake in supporting the government of Jose Napoleon Duarte, a socialist if ever there were one. The Carter administration's support of the Duarte government's land-reform efforts lent redence to a socialist economic maneuver doomed from the start. That plan has severely crippled El Salvador's economic performance, thus further aggravating an already unmanageable situation and giving the Marx-violent electors.

Economic and political freedom are mutually exclusive — without one the other cannot long exist. The establishment of both should be the primary American objective in the region. How to do so is a nettlesome question with no easy answers. As this month's elections approach in El Salvador, the calls for a negotiated solution will no doubt rise to a crescendo. The involvement in such talks by the guerrillas, as they have made abundantly clear in the past, would be but a cynical manuever to allow them time to recoup, reorganize and strengthen their military options.

Duarte too faces abundant problems with the question of negotiations. If he were to decide upon entering into them, the military would doubtless take action to constrain him from doing so or take action to replace him. would doubtless take action to constrain him form doing so or take action to replace him. As one American policy adviser in San Salvador has pointed out, negotiations would likely be useless because "negotiations would likely be useless because "negotiations between two such polarized groups just can't work. It would be like the Jews negotiating with the Nazis."

with the Nazis.

The elections themselves will unquestionably be less than definitive. The Leftists refuse to have anything to do with them and the military would probably wipe out any government elected that it did not approve of.

when so potanzed, leave intitle room for compromise.

Nevertheless a political solution is preferred. It must then be remembered that a time arrives when the latitude of the political option becomes exhausted. In this context then we must maintain the ability of the Salvadoran government to deal effectively with the communist opposition now supported by Soviet-Cuban imperialism.

Following from this it must be said that current media attempts to paint the Salvadoran conflict as a "new Vietnam" are riddled with demagoguery and falsehoods. They remind one of an insipid anti-Americanism that ignores the moral bankruptcy of leftist-directed revolutionaries while attempting to cripple American policy because it contains certain defects.

Thus critics of U.S. policy regarding friendly authoritarian governments — while deriding conservative policy-makers for a naive black-white world view — describe the situation in a simplistic way that simply assumes the moral superiority of any group opposing an existing authoritarian power. It is little wonder then that much of the naivete surrounding America's Salvadoran policy is swamped in simple platitudes about American "imperialism" with little examination of communist intentions in the area. Ignorance has a cost. That cost, if the opposition conquers, will be a consummate infestation of com-

El Salvador is a particularly difficult country in which to attempt to construct the societal constraints that popular consent for legitimate governace requires. The United States runs the clear danger of making a big mistake in supporting the government of Jose Napoleon Duarte, a socialist if ever there were one."

munist totalitarianism that holds absolutely no promise of a better life for Latin America's almost at the borders of the United States."

El Salvador is the key to whether the United States can halt this communist advance. We have no choice but to do so if we hope to retain our freedom and prosperity. Moreover, if we pride ourselves on being the leader of the free world and the greatest proponent of human rights, we cannot well consign the people of Central America to the shackles that now bind those of Nicaragua, Cuba and Grenada. The situation may well entail a grievous ocean of blood, given the penchant for fanaticism among communist revolutionaries. Yet the greatest tragedy of all is that although Reagan's proposals are unprecedented in scope and boldness, they are arguably much too little and much too late. It would entail much more at far greater cost if we were to roll over and pretend the world is a pretty place where communism is but another way of life. It is not. It is a way of repression, hatred and death. It is the way by which man is sublugated to the terrors of the human mind that dictate one view, one way—or else.

Communism must be defeated and destroyed. It remains to be seen whether we have the will to confront such an intensive evil to confront such an intensive evil campesinos.

America's interests in the region reside not only in seeking a better life for the area's peoples but in the sure protection of our legitimate national-security concerns. What, one may ask, do these interests entail? These interests are clear and indisputable: the legitimate national-security concerns. What, one may ask, do these interests entail? These interests are clear and indisputable: the Panama Canal and the Gulf of Mexico facilitate U.S. importation of 75 percent of its imported oil, 90 percent of its imported strategic minerals and, in the event of war in Europé, 45 percent of its military response.

With this in mind the first priority is a restoration of order. This requires that we assist the Duarte regime in the liquidation or neutralization of the guerrilla movement as led by those Marxist ideologues who dream nightly of a new "worker's paradise" in the cast of Cuba, Nicaragua and the Soviet Union. Our only task in this respect is to help Duarte deal with a Soviet-Cuban sponsored military problem. All other concerns must be relegated to peripheral status because they simply cannot be effectively addressed in the current atmosphere. Military violence must be met with military violence.

Reagan, in his assistance proposal for the region, recognizes that as we must give greater amounts of economic and humanitarian assistance, we must also significantly increase military aid. We must work with our friends in Latin America, such as Argentina, to develop effective covert actions to stem the flow of arms to the guerrillas through Nicaragua and Cuba. We should give serious consideration to the mining of Cuban and Nicaraguan harbors.

If El Salvador is lost to the communists, the Domino Theory, played out to grim and genocidal proportions in Southeast Asia, may well drag its way to our southern continental

U.S. loses respect by not allowing social revolution

It's hard to be a spectator, especially if the play performed is passed off as a classical tragedy, with the United States or, alternately, the USSR as the "deus ex machina," depending on the stage. I'm tired of applauding if the great "helpers" are the Americans or turning aside with disgust if it is the Soviet Union. It is expected of me because West Germany belongs to the Western hemisphere, but it makes no difference to me whether an injustice is committed by the United States or the USSR; it is still an injustice.

The two superpowers represent two totally different superpowers represent superpowers represent two totally different superpowers represent superpowers repr

The two superpowers represent two totally different systems, but basically they pursue the same kind of politics: suppressing liberal movements in countries belonging to their

he same kind of politics: suppressing liberal novements in countries belonging to their phere of influence. Should a relatively weak country in a great tower's sphere of influence be allowed to have its own social revolution? The answer of he United States: Poland — yes, Zeachoslovakia — yes, El Salvador — no, Chile — no. The answer of the USSR: El Salvador — yes, Chile — yes, Poland — no, Czechoslovakia — no. Zeechoslovakia — no. Zeechoslovakia — no. As Moscow considers Afghanistan at its outhern border to belong to the Soviet phere of influence, so does the United States segard Central America apparently as an appendage of the United States. Americans, reguing that their national safety is in danger, yould justify an intervention in El Salvador in he same way the Soviets would. It wouldn't be the first time the United States has intervened. Under different pretexts — whether for protecting the trategically important Panama Canal or the banana plantations for agriculture — U.S. croops have intervened in Central America and the Caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least consideration of the caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least consideration of the caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least the parana cand the Caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least the parana cand the Caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least the parana cand the Caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least the parana cand the Caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least the parana cand the Caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least the parana cand the Caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least the parana cand the Caribbean in the past. Now an inervention in El Salvador seems to be at least the parana cand the caribbean in the pas

Mayorga — both sponsored by the American State Department — succeeded Romero. In addition, there was Colonel Jaime Abdul Giutierrez, a protege of the Washington military men.

With Giutierrez, however, the right wing among the military in El Salvador had from the very beginning one foot in the door. He represents the coffee-planter and

Suzanne Dresel

Guest Opinion

industrialist's oligarchy, exaggeratedly called the "14 famililes," who refused to relinquish its power over the armed forces or to tolerate its power over the armed forces or to tolerate reforms.

So the land expropriation, praised as the "most progressive reform of the continent" which was supposed to break the power of the oligarchy, stopped at the plantations of the coffee barons. Sure, banks and agrarian exports were nationalized and estates covering more than 500 hectares expropriated, but the attempt of a fundamental reform falled: the most lucrative estates — the coffee plantations, mostly fewer than 250 hectares in size — were not included in the land reform. Thus, many of the great and still powerful landowners continued to take part in the politics of the country as they had always done.

In a period of just three months after the coup, October through December 1979, $24 million was paid by the richest families to the right. "The right extremists have millions," said former U.S. Ambassador Robert White, "to bribe the officers."

The rich were and are supporting the same people — those who terrorized peasant unions, left parties and the Catholic church under dictator Romero — because the junta was unable to accomplish far-reaching civilian members of the first reform junta, Social Democrat Guillermo Ungo and University Chancellor Roman Mayorga, felt powerless in relation to the military. The civil-reform politicians soon gave up and took sides with the Frente Democratico Revolucionario (FDR) under the former Agriculture Minister Enrique Alvarez Cordoba, who is considered to be the "fallen son" of the 14 familles. Only the right wing of the Christian Democrats under Napoleon Duarte still participated in the junta.

nder reported that it is a constant of the constant of the constant organizations, Christian unions, the christian Democrats who fell away from the constant of the constant o Duarte, the Social Democratic Party and the Communist Party of El Salvador. In addition,

Duarte, the Social Democratic Party and the Communist Party of El Salvador. In addition, professional employer organizations — like the association of the bus owners and the two large universities of El Salvador — joined the FDR. There was never such a broad alliance in the history of El Salvador.

Some time later, in September 1980, the different and rivaling guerrilla groups united to form the Liberation Front Farabundo Marti (FMNL). In January 1981 they felt strong enough to start a general offensive against the junta and the situation in El Salvador escalated into a civil war.

"El Salvador muere" (El Salvador is dying) is written on a wall in the capital, San Salvador. True enough; an estimated 20,000 Salvadorans — El Salvador has 4.5 million inhabitants — have been killed in the last two years, and at least 1,000 more are murdered or disappear each month.

According to Time magazine, "Most victims of violence apparently died at the hands of security forces, possibly acting under orders from El Salvador right-wingers who oppose the Duarte government and are against all social reforms, especially recent land reforms." The right-wingers hinder Duarte from taking a more liberal course in his politics, and he seems to be greatly dependent on them.

Duarte will be supported by 129 million in Dilitics, and he seems to be greatly dependent on them.

Duarte will be supported by 129 million in U.S. economic and military aid, and is leading a massive destruction war against the opposition with this money. This war is against an opposition which evolved out of social injustice rather than out of "communist subversion" sion."

"The violence of the left," admitted former U.S. Ambassador Robert White, "is the direct consequence of 48 years of violent suppression. The Left has plenty of right to exist."

None of the leftist parties will participate in the election of March 28, on which the United States pins so much hope. They protest against their current exclusion from a share in political power. Eight parties are put up for election, most of them far to the right of government by the right extremists after the elections.

The campaign for the conservative National Reconciliation Party, the traditional party of the oligarchy, runs at full speed. This party could get an estimated 30 percent of the electorate. Together with the 15 percent for the ultra-rightist ARENA Party of Roberto d'Arbuisson, the right extremists could have the majority in the constituent assembly because Duarte is expected to get only 40 percent. The United States continues to support the weak Duarte regime, and has made unmistakingly clear that it prefers, in case of doubt, a repressed right to a disordered left. Out of fear of further revolutions in Central America, Washington refuses to consider the opposition

Fine performance

I am very glad that State and Reynolds Coliseum were able to book the Rod Stewart concert on March 2. Mr. Stewart put on an exceptional performance which was truly worthy of his immense talents. I've been a fan of rock music for years and for the first time, I've finally realized that entertainers, musicians, actors and the like are really just ordinary people with extraordinary talents.

front as an alternative to Duarte because this would mean acceptance of the Left as a legitimate political negotiation partner.

If the United States-supported right takes over after the election, it is only a matter of time until the military men, Defense Minister Garcia and Colonel Guitierrez, don't need Duarte's Christian Democratic decoration any more. Then we are heading for an even bloodier war.

From my European viewpoint, El Salvador should be allowed to have its own social revolution, and the United States should stay out of El Salvador. If the United States doesn't change its simplistic, one-sided foreign politics—the right is good; the left is evil—it runs the risk of losing what remaining credibility it still has in Western Europe.

Suzanne Dresel is a graduate student in land

The two superpowers represent two totally different systems, but basically they pursue the same kind of politics: suppressing liberal movements in countries belonging to their sphere of influence.'

After you have read the Feb. 15 column of the right-winger Thomas Paul DeWitt ("Marx-jists at heart of Salvadoran conflict"), you should hear my opinion about the situation in El Salvador for reasons of balance.

On Oct. 15, 1979, the dictator Romero was overthrown by a military coup. Military men like Colonel Adolfo Maiano, and civilians like Catholic University Chancellor Roman

Staff photo by Patrik of History Piece

LAST CHANCE YEARBOOK SALE

Through March 26

1894: The third "formal" football team of N.C. Agricultural and Mechanical College pauses to have itself recorded on film. This team was the first to request funds from the school for the purchase of uniforms and equipment. These photos have been provided for the 1982 Agromeck by University Archives.

10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. 1st Floor Student Center and Student Supply Stores Tunnel

42. Within the period of two hours and forty five minutes, this 75-ton pile of metal, useful in the manufacture of armaments, was gathered during a campus-mattle of Scrap," part of a challenge to other schools across the nation to equal State ge's contribution to the war effort.

1982 Agromeck

N.C. State's Yearbook

Your yearbook will rediscover State's modest beginnings while also recording in pictures and words the happenings of the 1981-82 school year.

Yes, I want to order the NCSU yearbook by enclosing this coupon and a check in a postage-paid envelope mailed to the address below, rather than purchasing one on campus.

	77
pick-up,	$10.00

]	mailed,	$13.	50

Mr.
Social Security Number
Address
City	The second second second
State	A	Zip Code
Please make checks seveble to

Human beasts stake out territory during bar visits

In my last column I wrote about why people behave so oddly in elevators. Kathi Middendorf, a doctoral student in social psychology at State, was good enough to offer an explanation from a professional point of view. In addition, I have noted other situations where people behave defensively.

For example, picture a doctor's office. As they walk in, people will smile at the others in the waiting room — sometimes — but they look away very quickly. Most will establish a certain chair and magazine for themselves. The magazine is used as a shield to prevent any context with the second of t for themselves. The magazine is used as a shield to prevent any contact with others. Maybe they are afraid of catching something.

> wore the hill ho BY LIZ BLUM

Another situation where folks establish their own space is in bars. But it must be a little more difficult to do in a large public area such as the local tavern for people hardly ever go without reinforcement. The reinforcement I speak of is mainly companionship. Very few people will go to a bar by themselves — especially one of those pick-up joints such as Ed's, Zack's or Tut's. But even a cozy pub such as Mitch's finds few people sitting by themselves.

On one certain evening, I found myself sitting comfortably in a booth, by myself, enjoying my favorite hobby of scrutinizing folks' behavior. I discovered that not a single person that not a single person entered by him/her se entered by him/her self in a given half-hour period. And most entered in groups of three or more.

I also observed that

I also observed that American rite of establishing his or her own turf. Every single person that came into the bar that night had instituted his or her area of the room to be occupied for the evening within five minutes or so of entering.

cupied for the evening within five minutes or so of entering.

Whether it was a booth, table, bar stool, video machine or wall to lean against, each had its own claimant. Even though it was a Wednesday night, the bar was crowded and every square-inch had been staked out. by 10 p.m. Several people left upon finding out there was no place left unclaimed.

As a result of my observations, the behavior of people in bars can be closely related to the behavior of animals in their natural environment.

As illustrated above, people tend to stake out their own territory when in a bar. Animals will stake out their territory using a scent or droppings at certain joints along the edge of their personal area. While people do not use physical markings such as cates, beer bottles, cigarettes or — if none such physical markings are available — their aura in place of a scent.

If you should happen to sit in someone's space — even if there are no identifying marks — you still will feel uncomfortable and ill-at-ease. This feeling is caused by the "owner's" aura still being in effect. If the original owner has left, the aura will disappear. Such as when an animal leaves his original territory

In the animal kingdom, there are battles fought every day over a certain bit of territory. Some cocky beast comes waltzing up and challenges the owner's rights to the territory and all within its boundaries. Of course, the owner is not going to lose face by conceding without at least a bit of a fight. The territory ceding without at least a bit of a fight. The territory by law goes to the winner.

In a bar, if you have the chutzpah to sit in someone's designated area, one of two things will happen. Either the original owners will challenge your rights to the table or will slink off and claim someone else's area. The slink offs you will never know about. The challengers will be known by you and by most likely the entire bar.

The challenge will end with you either getting the table or finding another area to stake out. The challenge will begin with a haughty request for you to vacate the premises. The best way to retain the area is to respond in a loud tone of voice so as to embarrass the challenge enough where they will drop area is to respond in a loud tone of voice so as to embarrass the challenger enough where they will drop the subject and find another table.

If the challenger does not embarrass easily, then chances are slim that you will be able to retain that area. But if you persevere and don't get thrown out for fighting, you could possibly wear them down to the point of giving up. In either case, the strongest will emerge victorious and in possession of the table or whatever.

Another animalistic behavior is the fact that people very seldom go alone to a bar. Animals travel in groups — packs, herds, prides, ... — of at least two, but usually three or more. Animals very seldom travel alone, unless they are sick or mad.

In a given half-hour period, I observed just one person who entered the bar by herself. And she went immediately to a table where apparently friends had earlier staked out a claim. Everyone else entered in groups and began to look for an area to claim almost immediately after getting in the door.

In comparison, a pack of animals will begin

Cycle logic

n, NCSU

"We the Students" The Technician, NC P.O. Box 5698 Raleigh, N.C. 27650

to find a better area, his droppings and/or scent become weak and undetectable, leaving the area free for any who wish to have it. If however, you happen to sit in someone's space and are not perceptive enough to realize that it is "marked", the main law of the jungle and bars comes into effect. The strongest will emerge victorious.

In the animal kingdom, there are battles fought every day over a certain bit of territory. Some cocky beast comes waltzing up and challenges the owner's rights to the territory and all within its boundaries. Of course, the owner is not going to lose face by conceding without at least a bit of a fight. face by conceding without at least a bit of a fight.

looking for a good area to settle in after entering a new area. If they are all males, they will most likely choose an area with available females. This leads to yet another comparison of animals to humans.

An "unprotected"

"unprotected" female will be automatically brought into a pack where there are few available. The female animal usually welcomes this, for she is offered protection and a fairly reliable source of counterparts.

The female human The female human does not react quite the same. While the male will immediately zero in on the available women in the bar, the women tend to be a little more choosy than their animal counterparts. counterparts.

The ape-man style went out way back. One does not walk up and simply grab a girl. Granted, the animals do observe certain mating rites. But they are usually simple and do not involve a whole lot of money or time.

The human female requires a certain amount of attention and a certain amount of money before she might even consider you for a conversation. This amount depends on several factors, the major ones being the time of night, how long she has been without male companionship—Beware, fellows. The length of time is not necessarily the longest. The most susceptible female is the one who has just been dumped—and how much she has had to drink.

A male cannot simply walk up and claim a woman as a stake. She must be wooed and won. In this comparison of the animals and the humans, the human male is definitely the one with the most likenesses to the animals.

the animals.

The last comparison of burselves to the furry creatures is the rite that takes place at the bar itself. Again, the rule that the strongest obtains the victory reigns supreme.

While most people are content to wait meekly for a bartender's attention, there are those who insist on "me, first." They are the ones who wave their money around and either whistle or clear their throats audibly to catch the bartender's attention. These "me, first" types tend to be male or females with strong ERA tendencies.

Their animal counterparts are those who get the largest portion of the kill while the others are content with the leavings.

My habit of people watching leads me to strange musings, I must admit. But I have never seen the 1211 Hillsborough St.

833-4588

SPINS SPECIALS!

beasts enjoy a cup of their favo

laws of the jungle so aptly performed as I did this one laws of the jungle so aptly performed as I did this one night.

I suppose you are wondering — what about the exceptions? Those who do go to the bar by themselves or who wander aimlessly without establishing their space. Well, the latter I cannot classify or understand. They are the "outcasts" of the pack, I guess. The former are a bit different.

The former are a bit different.

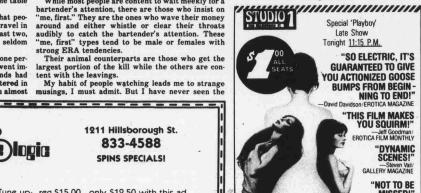

Those who go by themselves to bars still have their reinforcements. Instead of companionship, they have a certain skill, such as being able to play Pac-Man for 30 minutes or being a pool shark or being able to drink mass quantities of alcohol to the point that they don't care that they are alone.

Usually, these loners are male. They are easy to strike up a conversation with — unless all they eat, drink or breathe is their game — for they wish to be part of the pack as well.

"But" von protect "von just finished saving you

"But," you protest, "you just finished saying you were alone in the bar. You aren't male. Which category are you under?"

Well, my friend, it's like this. As I said before, my hobby is people-watching. A bar is an excellent place to observe human behavior at its most uninhibited

Late Sho Tonight 11:15 P.M.

"SO FLECTRIC. IT'S GUARANTEED TO GIVE YOU ACTIONIZED GOOSE BUMPS FROM BEGIN -NING TO END!" vid Davidson/EROTICA MAGAZINE

"THIS FILM MAKES YOU SQUIRM!" —Jeff Goodman/ EROTICA FILM MONTHLY —Steven Vail/ GALLERY MAGAZINE

"Bon

"DYNAMIC SCENES!"

"NOT TO BE

MISSED

Appetite"

APPLICATIONS Now Being Accepted for Student

Center Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Chairpersons of all Union Activities Board Committees.

Tune up: reg.$15.00, only $12.50 with this ad Overhaul: reg.$40.00, only $32.50 with this ad

FREE SUPERLOCK with any bicycle purchase. All bikes on Sale 10% - 40% off!

_____

Stewart Theatre Advisory Dance Committee
Films Committee
Recreation Committee
Black Students Committee College Bowl Committee Entertainment Committee Art Committee
Art Committee
International Student Committee
Lectures Committee
Publicity Committee

Please apply in Room 3114, Student Center by 4:00 pm, March 30.

ST. PAT'S DANCE 8:00 pm - 12:00 SATURDAY MARCH 20 Student Center Ballroom SEMI-FORMAL

ENGINEERS

G Come to the

FREE

for you and one guest Bring registration and ID

featuring SPICE OF LIFE

So...You've Been Kicked Out by the Lottery!

Don't find yourself left out in the cold when fall semester arrives. Reserve your own apartment NOW at the Orchards before its too late. Act now and qualify for our REDUCED security deposit with student I.D.

Studio, One and Two Bedroom Apartments Available. Starting at $230. Located on Direct CAT and WOLFLINE Bus Routes.

the serious page

Joe Rat (with apologies to Jim Davis)

K. Zoro

M. Shoaf

My Life Massacred

Skool Daze

I'VE BEEN SMOKING CAMELS FOR WELL ... I READ THAT 9 OUT ABOUT 8 YEARS NOW ... WHY DO YOU WANT TO KNOW ? CAMELS PREFER WOMEN INSTEAD !

165 Tucker

Dance

Ham's Humor

PURVIS!

DON'T YOU LOVE IT WHEN SOMEONE TALKS TRASH WHEN YOU'RE IN JUST THE RIGHT MOOD?

Brandy

hair by nature's way

Specializing in natural hair design for men and women.

by appointment:
612 Glenwood Ave., Raleigh NC 834-1101
2524 Hillsborough Street
Raleigh NC 833-9326

Card Tournament

Friday, March 19, 1982 at 7p.m. Forth Floor of the Student Center

Spades, Bid Whist, Uno

Sign up at the Student Center Information Desk. Presented by the Black Students Board.

the tradition of the world's great problem solvers.

Even given the benefit of historical perspective, it is difficult to fully comprehend the enormous contributions to man's knowledge made by Sir Isaac Newton. His Philosopiae Naturalis Principla Mathematica is termed by many authorities to be one of the most important single works in the history of modern science. His studies of light are the foundation of physical optics and his laws of motion provided a quantitative description of all principal phenomena in our solar system.

E-Systems continues

Interesty, systems where the first-of-a-kind. E-Systems engineers are recognized worldwide for their ability to solve problems in the areas of antennas, communications, data acquisition, processing, storage and retrieval systems and other systems applications for intelligence and recomnaissance. For a reprint of the Newton illustration and information on career opportunities with E-Systems in Texas, Florida, Indiana, Utah

, vice President and Engineering, Inc., Corporate ers, P.O. Box 226030,

The problem solvers.

State women set for NCAA showdown in wolf den

Wolfpack golfers take Iron Duke title

by Bray Toot Sports Writer

Sports Writer

While many students were on spring break the State golf team was on its way to winning two individual titles and one team title. The team opened its season with three tournaments: the Imperial Lake Golf Classic of March 5, the East Chrofins Thytational on March 9, and the Iron Duke Spring Classic this past weekend.

past weekend.

The beginning of the season did not start in the best of style. After one day of play in the Imperial Lake Tournament in Lakeland. Fla. the Pack golfers were fifth. The second day of the tournament never came about as rain cancelled the rest of the tournament.

rest of the tournament.

After the disappointment of not finishing the Imperial Lake Tournament, State Headed to Greenville to play in the East Carolina Invitational. State as a team did not do well, but a Wolfpack golfer walked away with the individual title.

Eric Moehling won his first tournament as a collegiate golfer with a three-round total of 218. His nearest competitor, Jody Mudd of Georgia Southern, was three strokes behind with a score of 221.

As a team, State finished sixth with a score of 923 in the tournament. Georgia Southern won with a score of 911, followed by Campell 912, Temple with 916, East Carolina 919, Duke with 922 and then State. and then State.

State was represented by David Chapman, Dick
Stimart, Bill Swartz, Patrick
Brady and Moehling, Brady scored State's second highest score of 234, Chapman scored 236, Swartz scored 236, and Stimart scored 253.

scored 253.

The tournament served as a good chance to give some of the Pack's other golfers a chance to compete. Moching, the tournament champion, was the only Wolfpack golfer who usually competes for State.

"We did not play as well as we could," State coach Richard Sykes said. "But it gave us a chance to give some of our younger golfers a chance to compete."

a chance to compete."

State got back on the winning track as it won the Iron Duke Spring Classic. Also, a Wolfpack golfer won the individual title and the others finished in the top 10 spots.
As a team State picked up its first tournament win in the applier season as they

its first tournament win in the spring season as they scored a 16 stroke victory over its nearest competitor. Clemson. For the tournament State shot a three-day 34-hole total of 872. On the second day of the Iron Duke, State shot a team score of one under par. On the final day State also scored a great team score of 298.

"It is yery hard to score a "It is yery hard to score a score of the score as the score of the sc

"It is very hard to score a team total of one under par," said Sykes. "As a team we scored very well as all of our

YOU'LL SCORE

AT

I PLAY GAMES

SINGLES POOL TOURNEY WED., MARCH 17th. YES - TODAY SIGN UP AT THE BAR

MON - THURS 6-10 25¢ DRAFT

NEW ATTITUDE ADJUSTMENT

Incentive.
That concept has often been the only practical basis for the weaker in a battle to create the unexpected, the uncommon — the upset.

State's women's basket-ball team will carry that hid-den concept into its contest with Cheyney State on Thursday as it hopes to pull the upset in the NCAA East Regional semifinal game at 9 p.m. in Reynolds Coliseum.

The Wolfpack gets that needed incentive from last year's 88-72 setback to the host Wolves in the second round of the AIAW National Tournament a year ago.
That loss, in itself, is enough to set the Pack howling.

"They're a team which is somewhat fresh on our minds," said State head coach Kay Yow, who has been nominated for Stayfree been nominated for Stayfree Coach of the Year in the large college division. "We have a better memory of that game than any other we played last year. We know how tough they were and we felt we've seen them at their best. We especially remember how physical the game was."

Rankings, records and scores will not be used as a measuring stick, by any

"We're smart enough to know that the numbers speak for themselves, but will not determine the game," said Chepney State head coach Vivian Stringer. "It should be close. I think whoever holds their ground the longest will be the one who wins."

An outright battle is ex-pected between the na-tionally second-ranked Wolves, 25-2, and the Pack's 11th-ranked squad, 23-6.

11th-ranked squad, 23-6.

The victor will meet the winner of the Old Dominion-Kansas State matchup, which begins at 7 p.m. That championship game is scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday and the winner advances to the final four event.

Old Dominion, 21-5, currently sits on the No. 3 national ranking, while Kansas State, 24-5, fills the No. 18

Admission for the evening is $4 for adults and $2 for students.

students.

Cheyney State, which rides a 19-game win string, captured its opening-round game by thwarting Auburn, 75-64. State, which is 17-2 on its own hardwood this season, advanced to the semis by bumping Northwestern, 75-71.

"This is the highest and

"This is the highest ranked team we've played all year," Yow said. "Player for player, the most talented. Their ability to hurt you from every position is what worries me most. They play you hard, they are a physical team and they go to boards

Yow said her team will have to turn in its finest per-formance of the season to defeat the Wolves.

oriesat the Wolves.

"We'll have to put a lot of pressure on them defensively and be patient offensively." she said. "I don't mean passive patience. I mean agressive patience. We can't allow too many mistakes because they're the type of team that will take advantage of them and overwhelm you."

tage of them and overwheim you."

The Wolves are extremely well-balanced with four players averaging in double digits. The talented crop is led by 6-1 forward Val Walker, who scores at a 22.0 clip and secures a game-average eight rebounds. These impressive numbers have made her one of the top three finalists in the prestigious Wade Trophy balloting. The award is given annually to the top women's collegiate basket-ball player in the country.

"Val Walker played on both of my national teams this summer." Yow said. "She's got a great shooting touch and quick hands. But we can't key on her because they have others who can take up the slack and hurt you just as bad."

Guards Rosetta Guilford and Yolanda Laney average 15 and 12 points, respective-ly. Forward Debra Walker averages 11 points a game and brings down more than nine boards a game. Sharon Taylor, the Wolves 6-5 center, averages just under 10 points.

Taylor, the Wolves 6-5 center, averages just under 10 points.

For the record, Pittsburgh and Maryland are the only common opponents. Cheyney State had trouble with neither team, cruising to an 85-59 victory against the Panthers and a 67-51 triumph against the Terrapins. State brushed Pitt, 72-63, and downed Maryland, 71-65, before falling to the Terps, 79-64, in the ACC Tournament.

Ginger Rouse continues to head State's scorers as she averages no less than 13 points a game. Angle Armstrong still hits in double figures, hitting over 10 points on the average.

This is the first year State has competed in the NCAA Tournament. It was an AIAW affiliate prior to this season and made two appearances in that national tourney.

"A key is how much pressure we put on them

"A key is how much pressure we put on them and how much we box out," Yow said. "We'll have to keep them from second and third shots. The game could be on the board."

Last leg: NCAA Championship

State's women's swim team will attempt to improve on last year's sixth-place NCAA finish Thursday through Saturday in the NCAA swimming and diving championships in Gainesville, Fla.

The Wolfnack which

Gainesville, Fla.

The Wolfpack, which finished with an 8-3 overall record and a second-place finish in the ACC, will again be led by sophomore Patty Waters.

Waters will enter the meet ranked in the Top 10 of three events. She is ranked fifth in the 50-yard breaststroke with a time of 29:95, sixth in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:04.48, and ninth in the 200-yard breaststroke with a time of 2:20.57. She also qualified in the 200-individual medley.

a time of 2:20.57. She also qualified in the 200-individual medley. "We are really looking forward to the NCAA cham-pionships. We have aimed towards them all year," State women's swimming coach Bob Wiencken said.

"Patty Waters has gotten back in form for the first time since she was sick and should help us out."

coach Bob Wiencken said. "Patty Waters has gotten back in form for the first time since she was sick and should help us out."

The Wolfpack will also look to senior Amy Lepping to score well. Lepping had a tremendous meet in the ACC Championships as she was named the outstanding female performer. She enters the NCAAS ranked and has a chance to score. She has a ranking of 200-yard backstroke and 23rd in the 100-yard backstroke. Junior Kelly Parker is freestyle with a time of 4:49.03.

"Amy Lepping will be the only senior to make the trip and will provide leadership and experience for us," Wiencken said. "I will really hate to see her leave us."

Junior Relly Parker is free 200-yard medley enters with a time of 4:33.67.

The Wolfpack has also qualified its relay teams. The 200-yard medley enters with a ranking of eighth with a time of 4:40.0 and 800-free tyles come in ranked seventh, 23rd and fifth, respectively.

"Our relays will move up swimmers once they have showing in Florida."

Technician file photo

golfers finished in the top ten. The Iron Duke is one of our most important tournaments. This is one of the tournaments that will help decide if we go to the NCAA."

State's score of 872 was hard for any of the other teams to stay close to as Clemson shot 888, Duke 890, Marshall 907, Elon 909, Guilford 914 and Temple 919. Overall the twenty teams that competed in the tournament could not stay close as State's top five golfers scored one of their best rounds as a team.

Nolan Mills won the in-dividual title with a score of three over par 215. The title was the junior's first tournament win of his collegiate career. His closest competitor was Clemson's Tone Nimmer who shot a score of 218. State golfers Thad Daber and Neil Harrell were in a four-way tie for third with a score of 220. Roy Hunter and Moehling tied for seventh with a score of 224. So far this season Moeling has been on a tear.

LEARNING OPPORTUNITIES UNLIMITED

DANCE COURSES BEGIN THIS WEEK

BEGINNER SHAG Meets Tues. 7:45-8:45 p.m.

5 weeks/$12.00

ADVANCED SHAG

ets Thurs. 7:45-8:45 p.m.

5 weeks/$12.00

5 weeks/$16.00

ADVANCED AEROBIC DANCE Meets Tues. / Thurs. 6:30-7:30 p.m.

ADVANCED CLOGGING/BIG CIRCLE MTN, DANCE Meets Wed. 7-8 p.m.

5 weeks/$13.50

BICYCLE REPAIR and MAINTENANCE
Meets Tues. 7-9 p.m.

Meets Tues. 7-9 p.m. 6 weeks/$7.50

FOR MORE INFORMATION OR TO REGISTER CALL 737-2406 OR COME TO 206 HARRIS HALL BETWEEN 1:00-5:00 PM-WED., THURS., FRI.

Free green peppers! Just Ask!

Free green peppers on any size pizza. No coupon necessary. Expires: 3/18/82 Fast, free delivery 207 Oberlin Road Telephone: 821-2330 4131 Wastern Blyd

Pack thinclads see NCAA action

by Todd McGoe Sports Writer

State sent eight thinclads to last week's NCAA Indoor Track and Field Nationals in the Silverdome at Pontiac, Michigan. Though no one from State placed in the meet, coach Tom Jones felt it was a "learning experience."

perience."
State's representatives were Perry Williams and Juan Nunez in the 60-yard dash, Arnold Bell in the triple jump, Greg Smith in the 60-yard high hurdles and a mile relay team consisting

60-yard high hurdles and a mile relay team, consisting of Stanley Dunaton, Bryan Burns, Franke Anderson, and Eric Townes. Nunez advanced the farthest, reaching the semifinals of the 60-yard dash while Williams false started and was disqualified. "I really felt Perry and Juan could have made the finals," Jones said.

Smith missed making the finals in the hurdles by .01

Jones feels the experience gained by participating in this meet will help his run-ners in the more important outdoor season, which begins this weekend with a trip to Florida State to com-pete in the Domino's Pizza relays.

"We are looking forward to going to Florida this weekend to start the out-door season," Jones said. "This will probably be our best meet before our con-ference meet."

Jones said that the SEC teams will be there along with the Big Eight and many major independents. About 30 runners from State will participate in the meet, which Jones says will be taken "low-key."

Castrignano, Thacker earn all-America status

by Bray Toot Sports writer

After placing seven par-ipants in the nationals, ticipants in the nationals, State's wrestling team finished 11th in the NCAA Tournament which concluded Saturday in Ames, Iowa. Frank Castrigano and Tab Thacker earned All-America honors for the first time in leading the Pack in the tourney.

leading the Pack in the tourney.

Castrigano placed fifth in the 150-pound class while Thacker placed eighth in the tourney at the heavyweight level. Castrigano lost to Wisconsin's Mark Schmitz in the second round before coming back to beat the Wisconsin All-America in the fifth place bout. He finished with a total of 18-3-1. Nate Carr, the 150-pound winner, earlier in the year narrowly defeated Castrigano in the dual meet season. The Wilkes-Barre senior made it to the quarter finals last year, but this year he ended his career in style by finishing in the top five in the country.

Thacker pinned his first opponents to put him in a country.

Thacker pinned his first benents to put him in a diposition to go into the rnament. In the second and he lost a very close to with Lou Branch who ned him. The bout could have gone either way. Thacker lifted him for a takedown and proceeded to pin Branch but he got the bad end of the takedown as Branch pinned him.

Branch pinned him.

He later came back to pin George Fears and Eric Neily to earn the All-America honors. He lost his final two consolation bouts and finished 19-4. He lost to Iowa State's Wayne Cole in overtime, 1-0 and was pinned by Gary Allbright of Nebraska. Earlier in the year Thacker pinned Cole when State wrestled eventual runner-up Iowa State.

"Tab had wrestled very."

Iowa State.

"Tab had wrestled very well until he got into the consolation rounds," State. coach Bob Guzzo said. "Last year he lost in the first round, but this year he discovered that he could wrestle against other All-Americas. A lot of people forget that he is only a sophomore. Next year he should be a terror because of the tournament experience."

Three other State grapplers needed only one more consolation win each to earn All-America honors but failed in their bids. Senior Jerry Rodriguez finished 20-3 after losing to Iowa State's Mike Mann and

Pack 9 hosts Tigs today

Clemson baseball coach Bill Wilhem is in his 25th year as head Tiger baseball coach. During his reign the Tigers have for the most part had things their way in the ACC especially over the last ten years.

Clemson is the defending ACC champ and tied with State for the regular season title last season. Although the Pack is winless in the ACC after one try, it will try to get the jump on the Tigers this afternoon at 3 p.m. on Doak Field.

State sports a 9-3 record after twice trying to get in games with Connecticut this week and will tries treated.

record after twice trying to get in games with Con-necticut this week and will try to tackle the Tigers in their first outing since Sunday's 12-8 loss to Virginia. State will then play a twinbill with Connecticut Thursday beginning at 1 p.m.

The Tigers swept a doubleheader from State last year at Clemson after a game in Raleigh was snowed out. The two league foes are the favorites for the league to some prognosticators. A high of 70 is expected for the day, and this battle of contenders could be a preview of the ACC Tournament finals.

Technician file photo

Michigan State's Mike Potts by decisions. Mike Mann went on to finish second at by decisions. Mike Mann went on to finish second at 190-pounds.

"We had a very tough draw when it came to who we wrestled," said Guzzo. "Many of our wrestlers had to wrestle either former champions, this year's champions or the top seeds. At this level of competition it is hard to wrestle tough match, after tough match, but that's the luck of the draw. Also at this level, close matches can go either way. Many of the matches we lost were very close."

Junior Matt Reiss, the 1980 national champion at 167, ended his season at 7-2 in the 177-pound class after losing to Ohio State's Ed Potokar and Rockport State's Anthony Connetta. Before the tournament Reiss had an undefeated record of 5-0.

Junior Craig Cox lost a decision to Jan Michaels of North Carolina in his first consolation battle and finished 21:6-1 on the year. The battle between Cox and Michaels was the fourth between the two this year. Two weeks ago Cox defeated Michaels for the ACC title in overtime. In the season the two split two very close matches. Cox has been wresting very well this year. Last year he was not even close to the form that took him to the NGAA tournament.

Chris Wentz and Chris Mondragon were State's other NGAA participates. Wentz, a former All-America, wrestled Bob Monahan for the third time this season. The two drew the first time that they wrestled and Monahan for the ACC title. He lost to the North Carolina wrestler for the second time in a row. Monahan went on to take fourth in the nation at 126-pounds. Last year Wentz finished sixth to earn All-America honors. Wentz led the Pack with superior decisions this year. Mondragon competed in his second NCAA tournament. The sophomore won the ACC championship at 158-pounds this year and he placed third last year. Iowa won another national championship and Iowa State came in second. North Carolina finished fifth.

"I am pleased to place 11th in the country," said Guzzo. "Many of the matches we lost were very close. If we had had better draws we could have finished in the top 10. It is very hard to score on the national level and many good teams did not even score."

Pack women golfers triumph in host tourney, Longwood event

Sporte Editor

After taking a fourthplace finish in the Lady
Wolfpack Invitational
State's women's golf team took a victory in the Longwood Tournament this weekend.

The Wolfpack shot a 54-hole total of 976 to top to their lead to win by 10 shots. That's our second win for the year. We won at UNC-Wilmington this fall."

At the Lady Wolfpack Invitational the Wolfpack finished fourth behind South Carolina, Duke, and Wake Forest. Individual leaders for the Pack at Longwood were Jamie Bronson who finished second overall with a three-day total of 237 and Andrea Shumacker and Valerie Brown who placed in a tie for 10th with a total of 249 each.

"I think we all knew we could do better," Dunbar said. "The girls were not happy with where they finished at the Lady Wolfpack. We've got three and a half weeks to get ready for the South Carolina Tournament."

Scholars of the College

If you are a freshman or special student in the School of Humanities and Social Sciences and have a high GPA, you may want to apply for the Scholars of the College Program. The SCP is an honors program for freshmen and sophomores and is designed in part to make you a more attractive prospect for employers and graduate schools.

Some of the benefits that SCP offers are:

special seminars cultural events and field trips scholarships for selected students resident advisor SCP residence area

Applicants must have a minimum GPA of 3.5 or better. Special concideration may be given for other factors such as age, background, proven leadership skills or demonstrated creative talents.

For more information contact:

Dr. J.N. Wall Department of English Tompkins 201

The SCP is jointly sponsored by the School of Humanities and Social Sciences and the Division of Student Affairs.

Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale at o below the advertised price in each A&P Store except as specifically noted in this ad.

527 Plaza Cir. 2420 Wycliff Rd. 5426 Six Forks Rd.

AN ASP EXCLUSIVE OFFER:

CONTINIO

A GREAT VALUE AT A GREAT PRICE! A 20-Pc. Service For 4 Cost Less

• •

$3.00 $2.20 69¢ $1.60 $1.60 $1.60 694

SEE STORE DISPLAY FOR COMPLETE DETAIL:

SAUCER

DESCRIPT DISH BREAD &

Than $14
CHOOSE FROM 3 BEAUTIFUE PATTERNS!
- Freazor To Overn 10 Table Conventionse.
Obstrategate and Microwen Safe.

	APCO	UPON
When	SAVE You Pur Ce	50° chase A Pair
Reg. 5.99	Soup	Bowls
With Ti Coupon Pay Or	You 5	49 For Pkg. Of Two #641
AP	Good 1	Thru Set., Mer. 21	•

EXTRA LEAN SPECIAL TRIM COUNTRY FARM Assorted 10 lbs. or more—Limit 2 Pkgs. Please Pork Chops

N.Y. Strip Steak

Sliced Bacon

Hot 1-lb. 99¢

QUOD THAN SAT, MARCH 20 AT AAP IN Raileigh PURE VEGETABLE DEXO Ann Page Shortening

Shortening

ADD MAT ONE WITH COUPON
GOOD THRU BAT, MARCH 20 AT AAP IN

Save 50°

Totino's Pizza

LAMBRUSCO'BIANCO'ROSATO Riunite Wine 4.79 P&Q SOFT DRINK 2 ltr PLASTIC

Potatoes

Strawberries

Green Cabbage

A&P DELICATESSEN

SAVE $1.00 per Lb. 1b299

Baked Ham

2420 Wycliff Rd oad 4031 Old Wake Forest Road 5426 Six Forks Road SLICED to Order

Turkey Breast SLICED YELLOW OR WHITE IN STORE BAKED American Cheese Peach Pie only 179

WHATA

Entertainment

Making Love

Issue of homosexuality explored

The movie Making Love has been heavily promoted on television with scenes that display the intense emotion of the film. The ads also expose the nature of the plot, which involves a subject that is in nature of the plot, which involves a subject that is in every movie: sex.

This movie is different — it doesn't have just sex scenes. Making Love has a sexual theme, one not explored in other films often. The theme involves man pondering the prospects of his heterosexuality.

The film concerns a doctor by the name of Zack portrayed by Michael Ontkean, who asks himself a question that is taboo to most men; "Am I gay?"

And no, the film is not about "gays." In fact, the theme is tastefully presented, and the movie does not dwell on homosexuality. Nor does it attack male sexuality.

Man's problems portrayed

Making Love portrays the problems of a man who has a promising medical career, a vibrant and loving wife, a new dream-house, and questions about himself.

himself.

The story starts in a documentary fashion, with Harry Hamlin as the character of Bart and Kate Jackson in the role of Claire both being interviewed about a man that they have been involved with. Jackson as a wife of eight years and Hamlin as a patient-turned-lover.

The interviews give way to the scenes that recreate the course of Ontkean's sexual inquiry and the effects on his and his lovers' lives.

The movie is best in its tumultuous emotions. The scenes vary between the married couple's life at home, which make the viewer actually feel the happiness, and Ontkean's private wanderings as he looks at others and into himself.

In one scene, Ontkean is in his car and two men on motorcycle stop beside him at a light. The passenger has his arms around the driver's waist, and Ontkean realizes their choice of sexuality, and begins to wonder if that might be the mysterious element in his own life — an element that has been long subdued yet is still strong in its exile. It sparks an interest in Ontkean that leads to exploration.

Here the movie becomes daring, as Ontkean's exploration into the gay life takes the camera into bars and alleys. He remains frustrated, though, because he is unsatisfied with what he finds and does not become involved in what he sees.

Here the movie reaches an anxious point. Ontkean meets Hamlin, a homosexual author, in the examina-tion room. However, their affair does not start here.

Movie Review

In meeting Hamlin, Ontkean begins to find a possi-In meeting Hamiin, Unixean begins to line a possible answer to his bothersome question. The two men substantial merit in its treatment of homosexuality, spend time together, but it is not in the way that might be expected.

Neither man is the typical gay; both are of normal remainder of the substantial merit in its treatment of homosexuality, which has so often been the victim of stereotyping. Editor's note: Making Love is playing at Cary's Imperial IV.

character and completely likeable. Their time together on the screen is so well-portrayed that the whole affair gains the viewer's sympathy. Still the two are not lovers.

The most daring scene of the movie is the seduc-tion scene involving the two men. It is done with taste, and while some people may not like the idea of two men together, the scene does not intend to of-fend anyone.

Subject matter may lead to problems

Making Love has probably lost half of its prospective viewers just because of the subject matter. This is disappointing because the subject matter is so controversial and surrounded by such strong feelings. Prospective movie-goers: Think twice, and overcome any defensive feelings, as Making Love has substantial merit in its treatment of homosexuality, which has so often been the victim of stereotyping.

Entertainment Briecs

The Smedes Parlor Concert Series offered by Peace College will feature Florence Peacock, soprano, from Chapel Hill, on March 17 at 8 p.m. Other artists to appear are Brenda Windham, who will present a harpsichord and piano concert, and Elliott Frank, classical guitarist. Admission is free.

The Raleigh Little Theatre will hold auditions for the musical, Gypsy, on March 22 and 29 at 7:30 p.m. The musical comedy saga derived from the best selling memoirs of show business personality Gypsy Rose Lee will require a large cast. Those wishing to audition should be prepared to sing a song, preferably from Gypsy. For information, call 821-4579.

The traditional concert by the State British Brass Band, and State Pipes and Drums will be presented in Stewart Theatre March 19 at 8 p.m. The Thirteenth Annual Concert of Music from the British Isles will be performed by over 50 student artists and soloists. The concert is free.

The "Southeastern Graphics Invitational 1981: Prints" will be held on display through March 21 in the Collectors Gallery of the N.C. Museum of Art in Raleigh. The feature will include etchings, lithographs, wood engravings, woodcuts, photoetching and silkscreens. Admission is free. For more information, call 833-1935.

Solver Screen

by Karl Sam Entertainment Writer

The Viking Erdahl-Cloyd Theatre

Tonight, 8 p.m. Admission: Free

This is a rare treat for anyone interested in the history of the cinema. In 1929, the Technicolor com-pany produced this feature film in order to show the film industry and movie-going public their new color process. ne use of verdant forests and colorful viking umes makes the most of this two-strip color pro-

A Harry Langdon short comedy will also be shown.

Hear Hee Haw's country quartet

A super show of country music will be presented tonight by Archie Campbell's Pilgrims from the Grand Ole Opry. This group is one of the fastestrising country quartets existing in the country music business. They accompany Archie Campbell who stars on Hee Haw.

In a poll of country music on Hee Haw.

In a poll of country music fans as to who their favorite country quartet was, the Pilgrims ranked in the top three with the Statler Brothers and the Oak Ridge

Brothers and the Sports Sport Sports Sport Sport

crier

COOPERATIVE EDUCATION SOCIETY will meet Thurs., March 18 at 7 p.m. in 168 Har relson Hall. All interested students are in

INTERESTED IN TRAVEL? IMPROVING YOUR COMMUNICATIONS SKILLS? Join the NCSV Speech-Debate Club. Meet Wed, March 17 at 6 p.m. in 201 Winston Hall, or call Dr. Ray Camp at 737-3204.

DINETCALF DINNER SEMINAR: Mayor Smedes York of Raleigh will be the featured speaker. Dinner begins at 6:30 p.m., March 21 in the Student Center Ballroom. Tickets available in 203 Metcalf. For further information call 737

OWEN-BOWEN WINE AND CHEESE PARTY Thurs., March 25 at 8 p.m. in Bowen stud lounge Girls: $1 w/ac, $1.50 wo/ac. Guys $1.50 w/ac, $2 wo/ac. Wine glass required

LAST CHANCE 1982 AGROMECK YEAR BOOK SALE begins Wed, March 17, and will be in progress until Fir, March 26. Reservey our 400-page record of the year's events and people, plus something extra, on the 1st floor of the Subsent Center and at the SSS Tunnel from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Word Processing Services for:

Dissertations-Theses Technical Documents Manuscripts

Convenient location to NCSU
Per page fee (dbl. space, straight text) $1.75
Graphs, charts, bibliographies also provided
Contact: Susan Smith 834-4134

-Get Five Free Tokens-with this coupon-

PAC MAN SPACE INVADERS PACE IN

VIDEO FUN ARCADE

3244 N. Blvd. Across from Kings Plaza

Open 7 days a week 11 a.m.- 11 p.m.

ABORTIONS UP TO 12TH
WEEK OF PREGNANCY
+185
Abortions from 13 to 18 weeks pregnancy test, birth control and problem pregnancy counseling. For turther information call 632-6353 (tolfree number 800-221-2508) between 9 AM-5 PM. weekdays. —90-0 Civic

ABORTIONS UP TO 12TH

Raleigh Women's Health Organization 917 West Morgan St. Raleigh, N.C. 27603

ASCE MEETING, Wed., March 17 at 12 noon in Rm. 216, Mann Hall Lunch will be served.

THE SOCIETY OF WOMEN ENGINEERS will be selling "Love An Engineer" T-shirts and bumper stickers Marchg 16-18 in front of Mann Hall. All proceeds will go to fund the Annual Awards Banquet.

THE 2ND ANNUAL MISS MOD-U PAGEANT will be held Thurs, March 18 at 7 p.m. in Nelson Auditorium. Tickets cost $2. Proceeds go to Easter Seels. Sponsored by ALPHA PHI OMEGA!

UAB

OUTING CLUB, Wed., March 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center Blue Room. Easter outlings planned Everyone in underwer!

OVEREATERS ANONYMOUS meets Wed., March 17 at 12 noon in the Student Center

WORK ASSOCIATION orch 17 at 4 p.m. in 129 and Work students are en-

ICSU INFACT - Nestle's Boycott Committee neets Wed., March 17 at 6:30 p.m. in the

GRE

LSAT - MCAT - GRE GRE PSYCH - GRE BIO GMAT - DAT - DCAT - PCAT VAT - MAT - SAT NAT'L MED BDS ECFMG • FLEX • VQE NDB • NPB I • NLE Shaley H. KAPLAN

UAB

LAST OF THE SEMESTER Coffeehouse presents

Perry Leopold Friday Night March 19 8:30

Walnut Room 4th floor Student Center $1.00 Admission

Refreshments Served

99¢ Special Single and 16 Oz. Ice Tea

Cheese and Tomatoe extra plus tax

Good at Western Blvd. only with coupon only good thru 3-24-82

99¢ Special Reg. Chili and 16 oz. Ice Tea

Good at Western Blvd. only with coupon only good thru 3-24-82

TENNIS CLUB MEETING Thurs., March 18 at 5 p.m. in 214 Carmichael Gym. Those wanting to play team matches must attend. For Saturday's match, all challenges must be

TENT

An interview with candidates for student body president, Student Sen president and student body treasurer is scheduled for March 18 at 7 p in the board room on the fourth floor of the Student Center. The inview is open to all interested students.

view is open to all interested students. All candidates for student body president, Student Senate president, student body treasurer and Student Center president who wish to have position papers published in the Technician must have those papers in by 4 p.m. Thursday, March 18. No papers submitted past this deadline will be published. Papers should be no longer than two-and-a-half pages, typed and double spaced, and should be turned in to the editor in chief. Platforms will be published in the March 22 edition. Phone numbers must be submitted also, but they will not be published. submitted also, but they will not be published

DEADLINE 4 p.m. THURSDAY MARCH 17

Prices good March 15 thru March 21, 1982

$188

Chuck Roast

Stew Beef

Berries

Mushrooms

Beer

Food Town Oil

Duke's Mayonnaise

KRISPY

Sunshine Crackers

Apple Juice

Margarine Quarters

Toilet Tissue

Del Monte

Prices good at Raleigh, Apex, Garner, & Cary Food Town Stores only

(UPI) — Two University of North Carolina officials were shocked when North Carolina State basketball coach Jim Valvano who said he talked about two hours with the got amillon things to do you think the chancellor's at million things to do you think the chancellor's at million things to do you think the chancellor and the athletic stars a saying Wolfpack at the ties have "nothing to do when the university." We're not even really was not a day—to—day basis". "We're not even really was not do not not store the concellor and the athletic councils. The councils meet only also have facetily and advise the chancellor and the athletic stars of the school anymore, were there, but the meaning and admissions.

(UPD — Two University of North Carolina officials were shocked when North Carolina State basketball coach Jim Valvano was quoted in national publications as saying Wolfpack athletics have "nothing to do with the university."

Even though Valvano maintains that he was quoted out of context by the Washington Post. UNC President William C. Friday nations and faculty in the 16-campus system.

But Friday said different campuses have different structures for athletics and academics.

Valvano told Friday and Nash N. Winstead, acting North Carolina State chancellor, his remarks had been misinterpreted by a reporter for the Washington Post. The comment was later used as the introductory quote for a New York Times editorial that argued the gulf between academics and Valvano said. "The words were there, but the meaning wasn't. He took the words I said, but didn't include the thinking, the philosophy I'd talked about for two hours before."

thinking, the philosophy i dalked about for two hours before."

The most common arrangement for balancing athletics and academics is a director of athletics who supervises' a department of athletics, Friday said. That system is used at State and at North Carolina.

Friday said there are two simple rules for athletic directors — 1) don't use state appropriations for intercollegiate athletics, and 2) report to the chancellor, just as other campus administrators do.

Head coaches are hired

Head coaches are hired only with the approval of the chancellor and the athletic director.

Many campuses, including councils. The councils meet regularly and advise the chancellor and the athletic director on issues affecting the academic life of athletes, including recruiting and admissions standards. Winstead said State has a 15-member advisory com-mittee that includes seven faculty members, three students, three alumni, the athletic director and the chancellor.

He said he has had no problems with the University's athletic director, Willis R. Casey, or with the coaches. Winstead said Valvano and Monte Kiffin, the school's head football coach, have made it a point to keep him informed.

Friday said athletic pro-rams must be financially grams must be self-sustaining.

"You can't use state appropriations for athletic programs." Friday said. "We just don't do that."

Raleigh Mayor G. Smedes
York has been elected president of the North Carolina
State University Alumni Association for 1982-83.
York, who played basketball at State under the late Everett Case, received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering in 1963. He was elected to the Alumni Association's board of directors in 1978 and served during 1980-81 as chairman of the association's fundraising committee, the Alumni Loyalty Fund.
As president, York will head the association's efforts to provide academic support for State. The organization's programs include the John T. Caldwell Scholarships, the Alumni Distinguished Professorships and teaching, research and extension awards to outstanding State faculty members. members.

members.

The ninety-fifth anniversary of the founding of State will be celebrated March 23 at a ceremony and dinner involving legislators, state officials and educators at the McKimmon Center.

The event will begin at 6 p.m. and will feature the annual presentation of

PROFESSIONAL TYPING. Will do rush jobs. IBM Selectric. Call 828-1632 and ask for three persons who have "rendered unusually distinguished service to the university." Acting Chancellor Nash N. Winstead will present the medals to this year's recipients.

TION RESUME. Custom written s, typed or typeset. General typing, sing. Call 781-2378 from 2-7 p.m. COLLEGE STUDENTS, part-time work at a grocery store. Cell 833-0572.

Dr. Richard D. Mochrie, chairman of the Faculty Senate, will preside at the exercises and Dean Dame Hamby of the State School of Textiles will deliver the annual address.

Among those planning to attend are Governor James B. Hunt Jr., members of the North Carolina General Assembly, the State board of governors and other distinguished alumni and sittinguished sittin of trustees, the UNC board of governors and other distinguished alumni and citizens of our state.

State traces its founding to March 1887 when legislation adopted by the general assembly established what was originally named the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts.

From its beginning as a small land-grant college with 50 students and six professors in a single academic building, State has emerged as an institution nationally recognized for excellence in as an institution nationally recognized for excellence in many fields of teaching, research and extension. It is in March of each year that the University pauses to honor its past and recognize those who have contributed significantly to the quality and scope of the University's endeavors.

Peace Corps director oret Ruppe will be guest peaker at a Duke Universit ty reception sponsored by the Center for International Studies on March 23.

All area students are invited to the reception scheduled for 4 p.m. at the center located on Duke's Campus Drive.

Ruppe will talk about the newly independent Peace Corps. Now in its twenty-first year, Peace Corps recently became an independent foreign service agency. Ruppe will discuss the agency's exciting new future as a volunteer service agency in the developing nations of Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Pacific.

The 1982 Freshman Orientation Program dates have been set at State.

The schools and their orientation schedules are:

"Humanities and Social Sciences, June 13-15

"Physical and Mathematical Sciences, June 17-19

"Acricultural Institute."

Mathematical Sciences, June 17-19

Agricultural Institute, Textile, Agriculture and Life Sciences students with last names beginning with A.K., June 20-22

Agriculture and Life Science students with last names beginning with L.Z. and all Education students, June 24-26

Engineering students with last names beginning with A.L. and all Forest Resource students, June 27-29

*Engineering students with last names beginning with M-Z and all Design students, June 30-July 2 *Late orientation is scheduled Aug. 24-26.

Director of Admissions
Anna P. Keller said
freshman applications for fall admittance are running only one percent behind those received by this time last year.

Even so, Keller said, several programs have already been closed. These include some programs in engineering, computer science and business ad-engineering, temperature and business administration.

"We plan to accept 5,000 freshmen in order to obtain our freshman class of 3,000," Keller explained. "At this point we've accepted over 4,000

"Although we have about 2,000 applications pending, it's beginning to look as though we'll have to close (admissions) before May 1."

Keller added, "I would particularly like to en-courage students who have been accepted to reserve their on-campus housing. We have guaranteed rooms for freshmen who were acfor freshmen who were accepted and who reserved before March 1.

"There are still some rooms available for freshmen, but we think these will all be filled in the next few weeks."

Football NEEDED: Managers Contact Football Office 737-2114

On campus Contact

ncy Miller 3 Patterson Ha MWF 11:00-3:00

classified

UP TO 4 STUDENTS PERMITTED PER APARTMENT KEEPS YOUR MONTHLY RENT PER PERSON REASONABLE!

Located adjacent to Wake County Medical Center and I-64! Just 13 minutes from NCSU. Bus service to NCSU on Route #15. Year round indoor swimming pool, exer-cise room and clubhouse. Tennis courts and outdoor pool tool One and two bedroom plans offer modern kitchen air conditioning, and carpeting. Cablevision and HBO available. Direct Bus service. For complete information

9 MONTH LEASE AVAILABLE

WakeField

ASTHMATICS - FARM $150 in a 20-25 hour breathing exr at the EPA facility in Chapel Hill areas must be male, age 18-35, w a current or previous history of asthma. If interested, please call collect 966-1253, Mon. Fri. 8 a.m.5 p.m.

PARKING HALF PRICE - 1/2 block to your building, Guaranteed space. Cell 834-5188.

TYPING, EDITING, & EDITORIAL CON-SULTING SERVICE: 111 straight typing lelec-tronic typewrite with memory, 1/2 eldorial assistance, or (3) write "from scratch". M.A. Journalism. 15 - years professional writing defining experience-rip, IV. business, trade 6 alumn publications, such amaiats, feature articles & speechs. Call Betty W. Anderson, 63: 18897.

TYPING FOR STUDENTS DONE IN MY HOME. 25 years' experience. Reasonable rates. Call 834-3747 anytime.

1/4 lb. Fresh Ground Beef-Hand Pattied!

HAMBURGERS 750 CHEESEBURGERS 90¢ offer good through March 28, 1982

Two Doors Up From TUT's

3319 Western Boulevard Raleigh 851-5057

Get Yourself a piece of the pie!

OPEN HOUSE FOR STUDENTS AND FACULTY

DATE Wed. Mar. 17 TIME 7-9 p.m. PLACE ACROSS FROM CAMPUS

All Electrical and Mechanical Engineering and Computer Science students and faculty are cordially invited to attend. Displays and literature about the high technology, state-of-the-art programs and products of the Fortune 500 Harris Corporation will be available. Engineers and technology and an approach of the President Medical managers from Harris divisions will be president managers.

ent to answer any questions and discuss career opportunities with graduating seniors and advanced degree candidates.

Refreshments will be served. Join us.

e Fleming Center makes the diffe ilverBullet Rock-n-Roll

WEDNESDAY

THURSDAY

Not all clinics are the same.

ABORTION is a difficult decision that's made easier by the women of the Fleming Center. Coun-selors are available day and night to support and understand you. Comfort, safety, privacy, and a friendly staff... that's what the Fleming Center is all

Call 781-5550 day or night.

ce accepted Prec pre usive fees Saturday on charges Very early p

*** ZAK *** FREE GREEN BEER while it lasts

**** PHANTOM **** NO cover with college I.D.

FRIDAY SATURDAY SUNDAY

**** STRATUS ****

TUESDAY

WEDNESDAY **** THRUSH ****

Coming March 26, 27 ★ SUGARCREEK ★

Now on Thursdays

"WKNC Ladies Night" -First 88 ladies FREE

Sunday- FREE DRAFT 8-9:30 Tuesday- .75 bottle beer ail night Wednesday- .10 draft 8:30-10 Thursday- .25 draft 8:30-10 Friday- 10 draft for ladies 8:30-10

* Thursday *
College I.D. at the door means NO COVER

Modern Farm Equipment Agricultural Club Exhibits Agricultural Career Shows Farm Animal Display

Thursday Barbecue Lunches

Speaker: Former Governor BOB SCOTT 2215 Williams Hall

7:30 - 8:30 pm

Music: ARCHIE CAMPBELL BAND Student

4:30 -6:00 pm Center Ballroom Contest: Celebrity & Interfraternity COW

m biscuts & Corn on the Cob too! 12:30 - 1:20 pm

All events to be held on the NCSU 'brickyard', except those noted above

Sponsored by the fraternity of Alpha Zeta ...