PRIMARY ELECTION NORRIS ATHLETIC TROPHY, FEB' 9TH

Three Men Receiving Highest Number of Votes Be Voted
On in Final Election

ALL PHASES OF ATHLETICS

Award Will Be Made At Annual Commencement Day
Exercises

The primary election for the awarding of the Norris Athletic Trophy will be held Tuesday, February 9, at the College Y. M. C. A.

The awarding of the Norris Athletic Trophy is the crowning event of the year in athletics. It is the privilege and the duty of the student-body to choose from among themselves one who has been outstanding in athletic performance during the year. At the coming election the three men receiving the highest number of votes will be chosen to enter the final election, which will be held in connection with the Student Government election late in the spring. The following is a copy of the rules of award:

RULES OF AWARD

Of the Norris Athletic Trophy for 1925-1926, N. C. State College

The Norris Athletic Trophy for 1925-1926 will be awarded at Commencement 1926 under the following regulations, to the student who most distinguishes himself in athletics during the scholastic year 1925-1926:

1. The Norris Athletic Trophy Committee, made up of the Director of Athletics, the Chairman of the Faculty Athletic Committee, the Graduate Manager of Athletics, the President of the Student-Body, and the Alumni Secretary, with Mr. Frank E. Lowenstein, of Atlanta, Ga., as ex officio chairman, shall have charge of the details of awarding the trophy. In the absence of the ex officio chairman, the Director of Athletics shall preside at all meetings of the committee. The Alumni Secretary shall act as secretary to the committee, and shall keep a record of all proceedings.
2. To be eligible for the Trophy the prospective recipient must have attained a passing grade on at least seventy per cent of his scholastic work carried during the year.
3. The winner shall be determined by a popular vote of the student-body.

NEW STATE BOARD TO ADVERTISE N. C.

State College Men on Committee
Chosen by Governor
McLean

The new State Board of Conservation and Development, appointed by Governor McLean, held its first meeting at the State Capitol on January 30th. This meeting was devoted to the formulation of plans for an enlarged program of State publicity and the compilation of industrial data for county-wide distribution.

The session in the Governor's office, which lasted two hours, had the following present: Governor McLean, Chairman ex officio, former Congressman John H. Small, of Washington; H. L. McClaren, President of the Made-in-Carolinas Expositions, of Charlotte; Dr. D. D. Carroll, Dean of the School of Commerce, of Chapel Hill; James G. K. McClure, Jr., head of the Buncombe County Farm Agency, of Asheville; S. Wade Marr, treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce, of Raleigh; Dr. H. B. Shaw, Director of the Engineering Experiment Station at State College; Major Wade H. Phillips, Director of the Department of Conservation and Development; R. L. Gray, Sr., Director of Publicity; State Forester J. S. Holmes; State Geologist, Jasper H. Stuckey, and Dr. E. C. Branson, of the University of North Carolina.

One of the main purposes of the department is to present "Tar Heel" opportunities in such a manner as, first, to attract and then satisfy the interest of newcomers, and to further the development of industries and the investment of capital.

SELECTED BEST SPEAKER ANNUAL SENIOR DEBATE

GEORGE B. CLINE

PULLEN SOCIETY WINS ANNUAL SENIOR DEBATE

George B. Cline Chosen as Best
Speaker in Closed
Contest

Pullen Literary Society defeated Leazar Literary Society in the annual Senior debate, on the question, "Resolved, That the necessary steps should be taken to abolish federal prohibition of manufacture, sale, and consumption of light wines and beer. Wines, 7 per cent, and beer, 5 per cent alcohol."

The debate took place in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Friday, January 29th. C. B. Brown, the first speaker on the affirmative for Leazar Literary Society, was a close runner-up for the best speaker of the debate. The main points that he stressed were that the state itself should have the right to decide whether its people should have light wines and beer. Next he showed that such a change was needed and how it would improve the present prohibition situation.

G. B. Cline, first speaker on the negative for Pullen Literary Society, had the honor of being the best speaker, with a decision of two to one. The main points he stressed are as follows: "The affirmative, since they advocate a change in policy, must show that conditions in our nation today warrant a change in policy. Since they advocate an alcoholic beverage they must show that the drinking of the same would add to the mental, moral, and industrial vigor of our nation. They must also show that the plan they advocate would decrease crime, vice, and bootlegging in the nation today and increase respect for prohibition."

S. H. R. Haswell, second speaker for the affirmative, brought three strong points that are worth mentioning. A change is necessary because the demand for alcoholic beverage has produced gallons of poisonous liquor which has caused an increase of 500 per cent in deaths due to alcoholic poisoning. Second, the expense of enforcing the 18th amendment for the year.

TEXTILE SCHOOL IS HOST TO SPINNERS

Discuss Spinning Problems and Formulate Standards of Government

The Spinning Division of the Southern Textile Association met at State College this week. The Textile School had as their guests quite a number of the leading spinners of the South. F. Gordon Cobb, secretary, accompanied the spinners here.

This meeting, which was held in the Textile School, was conducted by Carl R. Hanes, chairman, and C. M. Black, assistant chairman.

This group of men discussed the spinning problems of today and tried to establish standards by which the textile men can govern themselves.

The results of this meeting will be reported to the Southern Textile Association's semi-annual meeting, and if approved, will be published in our book of proceedings as the best standards we have been able to set up.

The different items taken up were as follows: spindle speed, twist per inch, draft and breaking strength of fabric.

Standardization is today the most important step toward industrial efficiency, and as this was the subject, the Textile School had many leading mill men as visitors on this occasion.

Hon. J. Stitt Wilson Will Give Series Lectures Feb. 14 to 17

Noted Lecturer and Student is Well Known to Many Upperclassmen and Members of Faculty; Comes Under Auspices Y. M. C. A.

Honorable J. Stitt Wilson, formerly Mayor of Berkeley, California—publicist, lecturer, student—will deliver a series of lectures here February 14-17. This will be the third time Mr. Wilson has come to State to deliver a series of lectures. He comes under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The general consensus of opinion is that Mr. Wilson is about the best man the "Y" has ever brought to the campus.

Some of the subjects on which Mr. Wilson will speak are:
"Creative Education."
"The Message of Science."
"Constructive Christian Democracy."
"The Approaching Spiritual Renaissance."

The schedule for Mr. Wilson's addresses is not fully completed. Plans are being made to give a banquet in his honor Saturday night, February 13th. Probably his first public address will be at the First Christian Church on the night of Sunday, the 14th. He will address the college assembly on the following Monday and Wednesday mornings, and will speak in Pullen Hall on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights at 8:30.

It is only once in a great while that a man of Stitt Wilson's caliber visits our college. Therefore the "Y" asks the co-operation of the faculty and all student organizations in cleaning the calendar so that every State College man may have the privilege of hearing all Mr. Wilson's addresses.

We have many testimonials regarding the value of Mr. Wilson's work. Space will permit us to give only one, which reads as follows:

Justice Chambers,
San Francisco, California.
William H. Waste, Associate Justice.
October 24, 1925.

I have known Mr. Wilson for many years. He was at one time Mayor of the city of Berkeley, and has been more or less prominent in community and religious affairs in this State. His loyalty and devotion to the principles of our government cannot be challenged. As a scholar and thinker, he is a profound student of affairs. His Christianity is as simple and devout as is his devotion to his country. Here, where we know him best, the announcement that he is to speak insures a great gathering. It usually means "standing room only." The pulpits of the churches, the platforms of lecture bureaus and service clubs are always his, if the opportunity of securing him offers.

Within recent years, Mr. Wilson has been devoting his energies and his talents to lecturing, particularly at universities, in the interests of an enlightened, sane Christianity. You will be indeed fortunate if you can secure his services.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) WILLIAM H. WASTE,
Associate Justice.

Mr. Wilson's many friends in Raleigh are delighted to know that he is coming back, and those who have not had the privilege of hearing him have a rare treat in store.

COLLEGE LYCEUM COURSE HAS GOOD NUMBERS COMING

Strickland Gillilan Will Again
Address State College
Students

A number of students and faculty members have been asking recently, "When are you going to have another entertainment or lecture?"

In response to these inquiries, I wish to say that we will have three, and possibly four, more high-grade numbers this year. On Sunday afternoon, February 23, the Cleveland Symphony Quartet will give a concert in Pullen Hall. This quartet consists of a violin, flute, cello and harp. It is a highly artistic and professional musical organization which puts on a program that will be pleasing to all lovers of the best in music.

On Monday night, March first, our friend, Strickland Gillilan, humorist and author, will be with us again. He and Mrs. Gillilan are touring through the South in their car and will stop for a day with us. No speaker who has appeared at State College in recent years has met with more universal approval than Strickland Gillilan. His slogan is "To be funny without being silly, and to be deep without being dull."

It has been several years since we had a magician at State College. On March sixteenth the DeJen Company will present "Counterfeit Miracles."

JUNIOR CLASS DEBATE BE HELD FEBRUARY 12

At 7 p. m. Friday evening, February 12th, the members of the Junior Class of the Leazar and Pullen literary societies will hold their annual debate. The question for discussion that evening is one that concerns every student of State College—"Shall compulsory military training in colleges and universities be abolished?"

This question is now being discussed by all the leading institutions of the country. It is desired that a great number of students be present in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on that night. A representative vote of the audience will be taken, after the decision of the judges has been rendered, and a record of that vote will be sent to Dr. Brooks' department. The debate will be concluded within one hour's time. Every student is cordially invited to be there.

OFFICE SECRETARY COLLEGE Y. M. C. A.

MRS. W. L. BISHOP

MRS. W. L. BISHOP NOW "Y" SECRETARY

Succeeds Mrs. Margaret R. Moores, Who Leaves State For Norfolk

Mrs. W. L. Bishop has been employed as office secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association to succeed Mrs. Margaret R. Moores, who tendered her resignation last October to take effect February 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Moores are leaving Raleigh and will make their home in Norfolk, Va. Mrs. Moores has been with the "Y" for two years and a half, and during that time has made many friends among the students and faculty. Through her efforts the self-help department of the "Y" has been built up, and she has rendered excellent service in locating students receiving visitors and in dispensing information. Her many friends at State College regret to see her leave, and wish for her health, happiness and success, in whatever work that she may undertake in Norfolk.

Mrs. Bishop has lived in Raleigh for a number of years. She is a graduate of Raleigh High School. After her graduation she accepted a position in the office of the Mitchell Printing Company, where she worked for a year and a half, leaving to take a better position with the Tobacco Growers Association. Those for whom she has worked give her a high recommendation, both as to character and business ability.

In addition to being an efficient business woman, Mrs. Bishop is an active Christian worker. She is a member of the Southside Baptist Church. She is a teacher in the Sunday School of this church and a leader in the young people's work.

In the few days that Mrs. Bishop has been in the "Y" office she has demonstrated her ability to do the work, and as soon as she gets acquainted with the students and faculty she will have things running smoothly. The "Y" officers consider themselves fortunate in being able to secure her services.

The "Y" asks that all students, especially the self-help students, cooperate with Mrs. Bishop in helping her to render the best possible service.

RED CROSS HAVE LIFE CORPS HERE

Expert Instructor to be Secured if Students Sufficiently Interested

The Athletic Department is sponsoring the organization of an American Red Cross Affiliated Life Saving Corps. The requirements for membership are:

To be a student at State College, and to pass the prescribed examination issued by the American Red Cross. This examination must be conducted by a certified Red Cross examiner and preceded by six hours of practice.

If sufficient interest can be aroused among the best swimmers of the student-body, the Red Cross will send Captain Reese here. Captain Reese is well known throughout this part of the United States, and is noted as being an expert instructor in life saving. Besides being of great benefit to the students, Captain Reese's visit here will help to further the purpose of advertising State College and setting an example for other colleges.

GLEE CLUB HAS SUCCESSFUL TOUR OF WESTERN N. C.

Visit Several Towns Over Widely Separated Portions of State

HOLD KANGAROO COURT

Quartet and Instrumental Solos
Receive Most Enthusiastic Applause

Returning to the campus early Sunday morning, the State College Orchestra and Glee Club completed its first long tour. This trip, which started Tuesday morning, was successful to a high degree, but could have been more so. On the whole, it was enjoyed by all of the thirty-four men that made it.

Five engagements were played, and the towns in which the concerts were given were so situated that a greater part of Western North Carolina was covered. The first date was at Newwood, where the members of the organization were pleasantly surprised at the reception given the program. Probably the most applauded number was the well-known State College Quartet. These four men were encored repeatedly here and at every other place the program was given. Jack Baxter, '25, playing a violin solo, also came in for several encores, as did Henry Sang, '25, pianist. These three numbers were perhaps the most enthusiastically received, but the Glee Club and Orchestra were not far enough behind to really allow any discrimination. Both of these groups were encored and very enthusiastically received.

Leaving Newwood Wednesday morning, the Blue Geese carried the members to Denver, stopping in Charlotte for dinner. The concert was put on in one of the best auditoriums that was found on the whole trip. It was well attended, and the audience seemed very appreciative.

Thursday the bus stopped in Forest City, where the most successful concert of the whole trip was put on. The members were very well pleased with this town and its townspeople, so much so, in fact, that it was

SNYDER RECEIVES DOCTOR'S DEGREE

Has Done Notable Work in Study of the Human Family by Blood Tests

Mr. L. H. Snyder, Associate Professor of Zoology at State College, received his Doctor of Science degree from Harvard University recently. Professor Snyder came to State College in January, 1924, as an instructor in Zoology. He was later promoted to assistant professor and then to associate professor. Dr. Snyder received his B.S. degree from Rutgers in 1922, and his M.S. degree from Harvard in 1924.

Dr. Snyder's more recent studies deal with the classification of the races of the world, based on heredity and distribution of the blood groups. He found that blood groups are inherited according to regular Mendelian laws, and in such a way that the frequency of each hereditary factor can be calculated. From his work he classified races, based on the frequency of hereditary factors. Dr. Snyder has taken samples of blood from races of people in various parts of the world and has calculated this frequency for each race. He worked on the distribution of blood groups upon mental diseases, such as feeble-mindedness, epilepsy, and insanity. He found that the American Indian is the most primitive race, from a blood group standpoint.

Professor Snyder lectured a short time ago at Harvard and Yale universities on the above work. He was not expecting to receive his doctor's degree from Harvard before next term, but, due to his brilliant and untiring work, he was given a special examination last month.

While at State College, Professor Snyder has taught Genetics, Comparative Anatomy and Embryology. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Genetics Association, and the North Carolina Academy of Science.

Purchasing Class Visits Office of Highway Com'n

Managing Agent Betts Conducts Class on Tour of Whole Department

The Purchasing Class, instructed by Mr. A. S. Brower, Purchasing Agent for the College, enjoyed a trip to the State Highway Commission office Friday morning, January 29, at which time Mr. Betts, in charge of the purchasing department, conducted the class through the Highway Commission's purchasing organization.

Mr. Betts, a former graduate in the Engineering School of this College, has exhibited real skill in organizing and successfully operating the most efficient purchasing department in the State. While the department is doing excellent work for the State at the present time, Mr. Betts has foremost in his mind plans to make his department even more helpful to the State.

ALUMNI NOTES

(Observations and Communications of Stumpy Mack)

Sammy Homewood's Freshman tossers are filling up an impressive record. The variety has no flee on it, as any team they have met this year will testify. All in all, basketball is reaching new high levels at State College. It is a good drift. Keep drifting.

Mr. J. E. Britt, '24 Mechanical, has been transferred from the Philadelphia branch of the Westinghouse Company to the Washington office of the same company. He is now in the Patent Department, and will have charge of the investigations of mechanical engineering patents. In connection with this work, he will do work in law, with a view to becoming a patent attorney.

Mr. L. S. Pridden, of the '25 Chemicals, was on the campus recently, and was seen at the Carolina game, Tuesday night. He is now teaching school in Oxford.

Mr. J. C. Harwell, of the '23 Electricals, visited his old haunts last weekend. He is considering doing graduate work in his department, and may, therefore, be in school again next year. He is now division superintendent of the Yadkin River Power Company at Maxton.

Mr. J. C. Richert, of the '24 Electricals, has recently been placed in the office of the Yadkin River Power Company at Wadeboro.

Mr. Julian H. Blue, of the '22 Civils, has recently been given his commission as First Lieutenant in the 117th Field Artillery, North Carolina National Guard, by Adjutant-General J. Van B. Metts.

Tal Stafford, General Alumni Secretary, is kind enough to allow us to use a letter he recently received from J. L. (Sheriff) Turnage. In his mis-sive, Sheriff Turnage not only tells of his own doings, but also gives some information of other old State College men. Our connection with the Department of English will not allow us to comment on the letter itself, accordingly we are presenting it just as Tal handed it to us:

South Palm Beach, Florida.
Dear Tal—I have quit the oil business, been through for over a year now. No, I am not selling real estate or bootlegging, but making an honest living—general contracting, that is, until the embargo tied things up as tight as a new Ford. Rock is so precious around here now we call it nuggets. No cement closer than Savannah. The last sack I used I swiped it. Guess things will pick up now, though, as West Palm Beach has become a port. Inlet is too shallow for big boats to enter, but they are plugging away on her day and night.

Here's some prices I paid for stuff this week: Plaster, $3 per bag; 2x4's, $55 per thousand; chicken, 75c per pound.
Several of the boys are down here now. Old Dunc Devane is some kind of a sanitary inspector down in the Magic City. Jack Mace is trying real estate. Mount Wilson traveling the State selling and installing sprinkling systems. Heck Stewart is catching orange bugs. Bud Fisher pulling chain and stakes and tearing up streets here in town. A. J. Maxwell is taking care of Mizner and Boca Raton, doing some drafting in his spare time. Bob Ormand is drawing curly-quees for the Mayor of Palm Beach. Pip Harris married his boss's daughter—no more fifteen cents.

Tal, I just wanted to tell you there is now a ("Sheriff") James Lewis, Jr. My address is 331 Nottingham Blvd., South Palm Beach.

"SHERIFF" TURNAGE.

GROUND HOG BEATS A MOST HASTY RETREAT

The students of this school, as well as other schools, will walk through mud and slush, snow and rain, and winter's cold winds for forty more days, according to Mr. Groundhog, the faint-hearted weather boy.

According to mythology, this animal ventures out from his six-months hibernation on the second day of February each year. If the day is cloudy all day, everything is all right, and summer-time begins on that day. But if at any time during the day the sun comes out, and the ground hog sees his shadow, he is frightened so bad that he goes back in his hole and does not venture out again until April 14.

College Lyceum Course Has Good Numbers Coming

This is not just an ordinary presentation of tricks of magic, but will include an expose of Spiritism, Crystal Gazing, Mind Reading, etc. Mr. DeJen will be assisted by his wife, Lucile DeJen, a soprano soloist and pianist. The dates for our attractions this year have not worked out just as we wished them to, but your committee has tried to pick out the best numbers offered by two or three different Lyceum Bureaus, and it is impossible to get the dates to work out as satisfactorily as if all the attractions were booked by one bureau.

E. L. CLOYD, Chairman of Committee.

Primary Election Norris Athletic Trophy Tuesday, Feb. 9

In a primary election to be held annually during the first week in February and in a final election to be held annually at the same time and place that balloting occurs for the election of officers of the Student Government.

The three men receiving the highest number of votes in the primary election shall be considered as candidates for the trophy, and shall enter the final election to be held simultaneously with the election of officers of the Student Government as above provided.

Each regularly enrolled student of the college may vote once for the candidate of his choice in the primary by writing the said candidate's name on the ballot prepared for that purpose and depositing same in the ballot box; but after the field of candidates has been narrowed down to three by the primary, only the three receiving the highest number of votes shall be considered in the final election.

Ballots for the final election shall carry the names of each of the three candidates, and the voter shall indicate his choice by a cross-mark (X) after the name of the candidate for whom he elects to vote.

Balloting in both the primary and the final election shall be conducted by representatives of the Norris Athletic Trophy Committee. Immediately after the primary, the committee shall determine from a count the three candidates to enter the final election. Their names shall be published in the students' newspaper, THE TECHNICIAN, and also be posted on all College bulletin boards.

If the three men receiving the highest number of votes in the primary are below the scholarship standard adopted, the committee may substitute the names of the next highest men whose scholastic work meets the requirements. In determining the scholastic standing of a student, the committee shall be guided by the records on file in the Registrar's office.

All expenses incurred in holding both the primary and the final election, such as the cost of printing the ballots, etc., shall be borne by the State College Athletic Association.

"RED" BYRD ELECTED PRESIDENT TEXTILES

J. F. Byrd, a textile senior specializing in textile chemistry and dyeing, was elected president of the Tompkins Textile Society Tuesday night at the regular meeting of this organization. The newly elected president, known on the campus as "Red" Byrd, hails from Vass, North Carolina. He is not only a student of high standing, but is also an energetic worker and leader in the work of the Textile Society.

The other officers that were elected to serve this term are: F. E. Plummer, vice-president; D. A. Purcell, secretary and treasurer; J. L. Hauser, reporter. John F. Matheson, H. L. Brown, and J. L. James were selected for the program committee, with Matheson as chairman.

Glee Club Has Successful Tour of Western N. C.

unanimously voted to return to it next year if possible. The boys were told that the program was better than the one put on by the Wake Forest Glee Club, which appeared there just before Christmas, and that there was a much larger crowd present.

Friday, after traveling over some country that astounded some of the members, who were seeing the mountains for the first time, the upper-classmen were given their first real chance to have that which is always necessary on a trip when freshmen are present—a "court." This opportunity was offered when they were told that they would be put up in a hotel, and advantage was taken of the fact that they were all together. Immediately after dinner when all the freshmen, both real and on their first trip, were tried in a court with Al Davis as judge and "Railroad" Fountain as prosecuting attorney. Various charges were preferred against the "prisoners," and the "State" won all cases. Various sentences were imposed, and were received good-naturedly for the most part. Our well-known friend and artist of the dramas was given the most severe sentence, being convicted on a charge of "general freshness." The lightest sentence went to the pianist, who was guilty of being too solemn on a trip of that nature. Three freshmen failed to appear in court, so the victims of this trip have something to look forward to on the next, when they will be "old men." Due perhaps to the fact that Arthur Freeman and John Stokes made speeches in several of the school-rooms advertising the concert, the crowd in attendance Friday night was rather disappointing in its size, though the reception of the program was as enthusiastic as at any place.

The bus left at seven, supposedly, Saturday morning, bound for Swepsonville, over two hundred miles away. Dinner time came when Salisbury was reached, and after that, more riding until Greensboro was reached. It stopped there for about half an hour, much to the delight of some of the "sheiks" on board, and then continued on to the Alexander Wilson School, about a mile from Swepsonville, where it calmly dug itself in to the depth of an axle, and was "stuck." This caused much pleasure (?), as the weather was coming down in the form of a disagreeable mist, but the fellows all helped, and after some digging and much pushing, the Blue Goose rolled onto more solid ground and was soon maneuvered so as to be ready for a speedy departure at the completion of the program. Supper was served by the Domestic Department of the school, assisted by Mr. Watkins, a member of the Glee Club and a man of great culinary fame. After supper, the concert was put on for the last time to a rather small house. However, as usual, it was greatly enjoyed. Pulling out of Swepsonville and the mud, about ten-fifteen, the journey back to State College was begun, to be completed without notable incident, a little after twelve on Sunday morning.

It would be greatly amiss to complete this article without saying something about the driver. His name was Ralph Stokes, and by the time he piloted the bus back to the campus, after driving over five hundred miles under every condition possible, the boys were more than ready to declare him the best driver that they could have had. And more than a driver, he was a regular fellow, making friends with every one, and entering heartily into all the fun. It will be safe to say that on the next trip "Ralph" will be asked for; nay, even demanded, and our hope is that we get him.

Preparation will begin immediately for an entirely new program to be given on the spring tour, when it is hoped the Glee Club and Orchestra will have a week's trip in Eastern Carolina.

1825 amounted to $32,000,000, which is borne by the people for very little good. Third, the change is workable in that it would restore due rights to the states, which should govern their own internal affairs.

J. B. Edwards, the last speaker for the negative, stated that the present prohibition laws do the greatest amount of good for the greatest number of people.

He then stated that alcoholic drink of any per cent is harmful to a nation. The debate proved to be very interesting, as both teams displayed the art of casting witty remarks at each other. This contest, being won by the Pullen Society, evens up the victory that was won by the Learner Literary Society in the intersociety oration contest.

Techs Drop First Game In State To Carolina Quintet

Carolina Takes Early Lead and Holds it Despite Rally by Terrors

FINAL SCORE IS 31 TO 21

Dickens and McDowell Star for State; Gresham Scores First

(EDWARDS.)

Last Tuesday night, in Carolina's "Tin Can" Gymnasium...

This was one of the best basketball games played between the two institutions...

Gresham, the fighting little State forward, opened the scoring...

Then an avalanche of field goals followed when he sank a free throw...

The half ended with Carolina leading 15 to 8.

State opened the second half with a rush that almost tied the score...

In the last stages of the game Carolina rallied and boosted her lead to a ten-point margin.

Captain Dickens and Jack McDowell played the best game for the "Terrors," while Cobb, Van Story, and Hackney were the shining lights of the Tar Heels.

FOUL SHOOTING CONTEST

Owing to the use of the Gymnasium for Varsity and Freshman games next week the foul shooting contest has been put ahead one week.

The team competition will include any team in any of the three leagues—Fraternity, Society, or Company.

The individual contest will include any student on the campus not on the Varsity or Freshman squads or those who have won a Varsity letter.

A definite date for both team and individual contests will be announced in next week's TECHNICIAN.

SPORT COMMENT

Seven wins in eight games. H-m; sounds like State Champion Freshmen to us.

Here, there, or anywhere—the Blue Devils mean nothing to Red Streaks.

Money doesn't mean everything. Witness poor little rich Duke.

State's track is improving wonderfully. Why isn't the crowd number planning to use it doing the same thing?

If "Revenge is Sweet," the '29 basketeers ought to be like 'lasses, after last Saturday's encounter.

Chick Doak—baseball—State Champs. All those words have come to the same meaning with N. C. S. students.

Well, we still contend that "Gus" and "Sammie" have a couple of plumb good basketball teams.

Guilford College had better watch out, or it will wake up and find itself battling somebody for the state title.

Fraternity, society, and company games seem to be succeeding right well if keeping the courts and players hot is their main purpose.

Soon, as last year's sport editor said, we'll be hearing the crack of willow on horsehide, or some words to that effect, and methink 'twill not be an unwelcome sound to winter-weary ears.

We're glad to see these high school teams making use of the Frank Thompson floor. Besides seeing some good games, that's one way to get them back for three or four years.

If you don't believe the intramural department is picking up, just cast an orb at the dressed-up column devoted to it in this and succeeding issues of THE TECHNICIAN.

"Gus" says that as a basketball judge he's a blow-out patch if the Terrors don't "wreck Georgia Tech" at least fifteen points the next time they meet, which is Friday, February 12.

The Demon Deacons pay the Terrors a little visit next Wednesday. We don't claim to be a weather prophet, but it's our private opinion they will get what their baby brothers did.

Thirty-nine entries to the high school tournament so far. That is by no means bad, yet look what it will be next year if it increases like the State College Co-Eds.

See ourselves as others see us. How's this for the State line-up as it appeared in an out-of-town newspaper just before the Duke game last week?

STATE FRESHMEN BEAT TAR BABIES

Yearling Tossers Double Score in Easy Win Over U.N.C. First-Year Squad

(EDWARDS.)

Just before the main bout last Tuesday night the "Little Terrors" of State College defeated the "Tar Babies" of Carolina in a one-sided game by the score of 35 to 13.

State opened the game with a scoring rush that lasted throughout the contest.

The combination of Waring, Young, and Goodwin ran through the Tar Babies' defense at will, and the defense of Trogden and Holden was invincible.

Goodwin was the star of the game, being high scorer man, but was trailed very closely by "Hank" Young, who made the bleachers gasp for breath as he rang the basket from mid-court. Carolina's best bet was on Satterfield, who covered the court like mud covers State's campus.

Table with columns for Line-up and summary, listing players and positions: Hackney, Satterfield, Watkins, Foard, Oakley, Goodwin, Young, Waring, Holden, Trogden.

CINDER TRACK IS NEARLY FINISHED

Completely Remodeled Since Last Season; Drainage System Perfected

In the last few weeks there have been some slow but nevertheless much-needed changes to a certain part of Riddick Field. This is the track, which has been completely remodeled since last track season.

The new track is one-fifth of a mile to a lap, and is fifteen feet in width. Work was started on it right after football season closed, the concrete sides having been laid this summer before school started.

These were leveled out and rolled, and as soon as the weather permits, a top coating of several inches of fine sifted cinders will be placed over the track. This will be leveled and rolled, and the weather man will do the rest toward packing the cinders.

Heretofore the track has been torn up considerably by every heavy rain. The rain would wash away the cinders and sometimes leave big ruts in the track. This has now been remedied by a proper drainage system over the entire track.

Soon State will have one of the best tracks in the South, thanks to the athletic authorities and the work they have had done. With the completion

ATHLETIC SQUADS WILL NOT CHOOSE MANAGER

Classes and Athletic Council to Have Final Power of Appointment

Student managers of State College athletic teams will no longer be chosen by the squad, but will be picked by the classes, the coaches, the present manager, and the athletic director, under the new ruling passed by the faculty athletic committee last Tuesday.

In the past both teams and the general student-body have been dissatisfied with the choice of, and work of, a few managers, though on the whole the system has done well. The new plans will do away with this and also provide for the replacement of a manager should the team and coach become dissatisfied with his work.

With this system, at the end of the season of each major sport the coach, director of athletics, and present manager will recommend one of the junior managers to the faculty committee for election as senior manager.

As soon as possible after the close of a season of each major sport the coach, manager and director of athletics shall recommend two of these candidates, with one alternate, to the Faculty Committee for election as Junior assistant managers.

The coach, manager and director of athletics shall recommend to the Faculty Committee for election one of the Junior assistant managers for Senior manager of the varsity team, and the other as Senior manager of the Freshman team.

At the opening of the season for each Freshman major sport, the president of the Freshman Class will call for applications from his class for the positions of assistant Freshman managers of that sport.

As soon as possible after the opening of the season of a minor sport, the coach shall recommend to the Faculty Committee for election one of his squad for manager. There shall be no assistant managers of minor sports.

Student athletic managers, with the difference of their award and power to vote on a captain, shall be entitled to all the privileges of the wearers of the monogram.

Another junior manager will be chosen as senior manager of the Freshman teams in each of the major sports. He will have Freshman assistant managers to do most of the work for him, and will, besides making all trips with the team, get a monogram like the varsity manager, except that it has the small double A (Athletic Appreciation) along with the manager's M.

of this work, State is likely to get the State Track Meet here this year. This will be a big advantage for the Tech cindermen, besides advertising the track and school.

APEX DEFEATS CARY ON GYMNASIUM COURT

Coming from behind in the last half with a rush, Apex High School defeated Cary High School, 26-23, Wednesday night in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

Houston, Cary's left forward, was the outstanding star of the game, scoring nine points, while Sloan and Bell, of Apex, were but one point behind him.

DUKE BOWS TO TEBELL'S TECHS FOR SECOND TIME

State Quint Plays Stellar Ball to Win by Score of 32-24; Dickens Scores 12

Duke University's quint seemed already started on the down-grade, and the Tech tossers were in no wise slow to give them a healthy shove on downward last Saturday night when they returned to Raleigh with the part that counts of the 32-24 score.

Showing that the one-point margin of State's first victory was an accident, the Techs had little trouble in vanquishing their Methodist opponents. They held the lead throughout with the only anxious moments directly after the half, when the Blue Devils scored six points in exactly two minutes.

The game was slow at the outset, but soon speeded up and ended one of the fastest and best-played games of the season. Many fouls were called, and Captain Dickens was removed because of them.

Gresham, Dickens, Brown, and McDowell played a decidedly fine brand of ball.

CUNNINGHAM CONCLUDES SERIES OF "Y" ADDRESSES

Says Bible Written by Men of Strong Religious Impulses and Motives

At 1:30 o'clock last Sunday afternoon, in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A., Professor Cunningham concluded his series of three addresses on the subject, "What is the Bible?" The speaker purposely omitted one lecture of the series, that which analyzes the contents of the book and tells how it has come down to us. He suggested, in this connection, in answer to a question propounded to him by a student, that perhaps the best single book on the Bible, presenting an ideal combination of the religious and literary points of view, is "How to Know the Bible," by Dean George Hodges, of the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge, Mass.

At the outset of his talk Sunday, Professor Cunningham summarized the conception of the Bible that he has been bringing to his audience, as follows: The Bible is a collection of writings (prose and poetry, histories and stories, chronicles and apocalypses, essays and sermons, dramas and addresses, orations and proclamations—in fact, all types and kinds of literary productions) emanating from the Semitic world of antiquity, written by men whose lives were motivated by strong religious impulses which led them to seek to understand and to interpret the mysteries of God's character and His dealings with men. These writers were inspired in the fields of morals and religion alone, not in science and history. But even in ethics and religion they made some surmises and held some conceptions that were later proved incorrect or were improved upon. As a result, they did not produce a book that is infallible throughout, and no such claim of infallibility is made in the Bible, even as to its religious and moral teachings, to say nothing of its scientific accuracy. To the man who is really a Christian, all other things in the Bible will be subordinated to its account of the life, character, and teachings of Jesus Christ. The Christian will be satis-

Last Week's Best Article

The honor of having the best article in the issue of January 22 goes to F. M. Chedester for his story, "Athletic Department Give Basketball Tourney."

The honor of having the best article in the issue of January 29 goes to R. R. Fountain for the story, "Red Mud Adheres to Stenographers."

As regards the Bible to know that in it Jesus set forth a Way of Life, in both ethical and religious relationships, that has never been surpassed. If we take His attitude toward all things, including the Holy Writings of His people, the Jews, we are Christians, and that is the only central and important thing.

The speaker then pointed out the results of this conception of the Bible, and contended that it would save what is essential in the book. An adherence to the literalist, or self-styled fundamentalist, point of view is utterly incompatible with increasing knowledge in all fields. Youth inevitably revolts against that old point of view, and unless the new and correct conception of the Bible can be given, disaster will follow. The Bible can be preserved in its exalted position as the center of Christian faith, only if the distinction is made between fact and truth. When this distinction is made, it is seen that all the essential religious meaning of the parables and stories in the Bible is preserved. The speaker illustrated this by reference to the creation and temptation stories in Genesis and to the book of Jonah. He also pointed out how the right perspective revitalizes all the Biblical books, and mentioned in this connection Ruth, the Song of Songs, Job, and the several books of prophecy.

But, more important still, the new concept of the Bible rescues essential Christianity. Our religion has carried a dead weight of non-essential material for many centuries, and as a result its strength has been dissipated by foolish attempts to defend untenable positions. The Christian church would do much better to take its stand with Jesus, who is supposedly its head and foundation, and acknowledge the inaccuracy and, in some cases, the incorrectness of certain Old Testament concepts. If Christianity is to do its work in the world, it must be stripped to what is vital and essential. This really fundamental Christianity the speaker presented in the form of direct questions: Can you think of anything beyond loving God with all your powers and your neighbor as yourself, unless, perhaps, it be this: "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another even as I have loved you?" Can you think of anything beyond striving to be perfect, even as your Father in Heaven is perfect, whose perfection was manifested

Sammie's Notebook

Today I wuz a comin by States dinin' room just as the fellows wuz a goin in and it gave me a ideer and when I got home I went bustin in a slamin the dore and a hollerin. Maw came jist a runin out of the kitchen, a speakin of ballin out—well she sure balled me out. Wanted to no what I ment buy bustin in like I wuz goin 2 a fire. My big brother what goes to State luffed an told maw that that wuz the way some of the fellars out at State done. She said that it wuz dis- gracefull an she hoped that no sun of hers wood do anything like that cause it wuz a reflectshon on the way they wuz broupt up at home. She lectured to us all three supper an rite then I decided that when I went 2 State I woodnt go bustin in the dinin room to get somethin to eat.

I've been thinkin that if what she said wuz true, an my maw all knots tells the truth, I wood wait an knot go bustin in and a puttin a bad reflection on the way I wuz broupt up at home. I no that if the fellars new how there folks felt about it they woodnt want no bad reflectshon threw on there home.

Dont u think so 2?

In Jesus, His son? Can you think of anything that exalts the worth of the human personality more than this: "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world yet lose his own soul?" Can you think of anything higher in the concept of love of God for man than the redemptive purpose made manifest in the life and character of Jesus Christ? Can you think of any higher social ideal than that of the kingdom of God on earth, in which righteousness, love, brotherhood, and the will of God are to reign? Can you think of any higher purpose for the human race than having the will of God done on earth as it is in Heaven, as it was done and exemplified by Jesus when He was on earth? Those, said Professor Cunningham, are the real fundamentals of the Christian religion, and he concluded with a plea for every State College man to realize them in his mind and soul, and to work them out in his living.

(Note: In last week's account of Professor Cunningham's addresses the name Malachi was used when Micah was actually referred to.)

KO-ED KOLUMN

By D. M. B.

It has occurred to the Ko-Ed that the Yelper has been severely maltreated by a fair lady, else he would not be so bitter against them. As for the "smart appearance"—"if the boat fits, put it on."

Oh, for the life of a Freshman, Wearing his cap of red, Being loudly yelled at by Seniors, Off the walk! In the gutter instead!

Meredith complains of the mud out there; State still has room for complaint; but Duce—takes the prize. The shoe casualties were enormous at the Duke-State game. All of which brings to mind that there was a conspicuous absence of State rooters.

An article in a recent Saturday Evening Post states: "Modern youths have no interest in anything but amusements." State seems to have plenty of interest which does not seem to lie entirely along the lines of amusements—neither does there seem to be an overdose of work. There appears to be a happy mixture.

We wonder what the Court of Customs will do to the Freshmen Co-Eds if they don't report to meetings. We can't very well be responsible for matches, either—but we might be able to supply chewing gum!

BREAKFAST TIME IS RETARDED HALF HOUR

At last, breakfast at 7:30 a. m. This has been one of the ideals in the minds of students to make State College bigger and better. This change in the schedule was brought about by the continuous pleadings of the students. In last week's TECHNICIAN there was an article that showed how great was the need of a later hour for breakfast. This article pointed out that most all the large colleges had a later breakfast than State College. There was also expressed, in behalf of the students, a desire to sleep longer in the morning. Now it is all a reality. The rising whistle blows at 7:10 and the whistle for breakfast blows at 7:30. At 7:40 the doors are closed and no one is allowed to enter. This was brought about because the boys who work in the dining hall would not have time to get to classes if everybody was allowed to come in as late as 7:45.

FACULTY ENTERTAINED AT GYM TACKY PARTY

"Hark! Hark! the dogs do bark! The beggars are coming to town! Some in rags, and some in tags, And some in velvet gowns."

Suffice to say, the faculty of State College was certainly heralded by the above rhyme when coming to the Faculty Tacky Party. Dignity was doffed, hoboes' glory was donned when the faculty paraded over to the Gym last Friday night to see who looked the tackiest.

After a name-guessing contest, a gum-chewing contest, and the grand march, some of the spryer members of the faculty indulged in the Virginia reel. After the grand march, Dr. Metcalf was adjudged the Beau Brummel and Mrs. Hudson the Belle of the Evening. Then the beggars partook of doughnuts, cheese, fudge, and coffee served on barrel tops.

The program of the evening was in the capable hands of Mrs. B. F. Brown and Mrs. Stanton. This party was one of many that are planned for the current year by the College Woman's Club.

TEXTILE SCHOOL GETS NEW KNITTING MACHINE

The Knitting Department of the Textile School has recently received one new knitting machine from the Hemphill Manufacturing Company, Pawtucket, Rhode Island, and two new ribbers from the Fidelity Knitting Company, Philadelphia. The Knitting Department is now equipped to make various kinds and styles of hosiery, and in the near future expects to install machinery that will make knitted underwear. When the new textile building is completed this department will be located in a separate section.

The Textile School has also received several pounds of Rayon yarn from the following concerns: The Viscose Company, the DuPont Company, Industrial Fibre Company, Tubize Company, Lustron Company, and also Celenese yarn from the American Cellulose and Chemical Company.

The Woonsocket Machine and Press Company has recently donated and installed a new card in the Department of Yarn Manufacturing.

CIVIL SOCIETY TOLD OF NATIONAL MEET AT N. Y.

Professor C. L. Mann made an extremely interesting talk at the regular meeting of the A. S. C. E. Tuesday night. Professor Mann has just returned from a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers, held in New York, so he told the boys all about how the meeting was conducted. He also discussed the way in which the tunnel under the Hudson River was constructed. Professor Mann's talk was greatly enjoyed by all those who heard him.

DR. E. WARD TILLOTSON WILL NOT COME FEB. 5

Dr. E. Ward Tillotson, Associate Director at the Mellon Institute of the University of Pittsburgh and President of the American Ceramic Society, finds it impossible to address the student-body on February 5th, due to conflicting engagements, as announced in an earlier issue of THE TECHNICIAN. However, he has promised to visit the State College campus at some future date.

Decorate yourself with the degree of P. A.

THAT means "Pipa Amoroso" in the Latin, or "pipe-lover" in plain campus English. P. A. has certainly endeared a pipe to more men than any other letters in the smoke-alphabet. Because Prince Albert lets a fellow smoke all he wants to—and makes him want to!

Cool as the stare of a marble Venus. Sweet as the approach of vacation. Fragrant as spring blossoms. Think up your own similes, Fellows. You will when you pick P. A. and a jimmy-pipe for permanent roommates. Prince Albert is great tobacco, and that's not blah.

Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. Fill the bowl of that old jimmy-pipe to the brim and borrow a match. Then you're set for some great smoke-sessions, as sure as you're a foot high.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moulded stop. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.

BACHELORS FRATERNITY DENOUNCES REX HALE

"Knute" Tarleton Kicked Out For Breaking Official Rule Number 25

"Knute" Tarleton was officially kicked out of the Bachelors Fraternity last Monday night for breaking Rule Number 25, Section 30. More space would be given to Mr. Tarleton's fall if it were not for Mr. Rex Hale's attack, which must be answered.

Rex Hale must crave publicity, if one is to judge from the article that was written by him in last week's TECHNICIAN. And all the members of the Bachelors Fraternity have decided to give him what is known as the nth degree of verbal denunciation that is permissible by our editor and good member of the Bachelors Fraternity.

In the first place, Rex Hale is not a normal student, as he stated in THE TECHNICIAN three weeks ago, as follows: "I wish to announce that I am a 'normal' student here, fulfilling all the requirements of an ideal student, except agreeing with the editor of THE TECHNICIAN." Then in last week's TECHNICIAN Mr. Hale said: "I haven't had a date in the two and one-half years I've been here." Now all the Bachelors wonder: If Mr. Hale is a normal State College student, when he hasn't had a date with a girl for two and one-half long years. Is it possible that he is normal? He must be either abnormal or subnormal—we Bachelors do not know which.

Maybe if Rex Hale would discard his dogmatic ideas about women and call up some real, honest-to-goodness, red-blooded American girl and spend a cozy evening with her he would be able to enjoy some of the jokes in THE TECHNICIAN. He might also take an altogether different attitude toward life. Of course, Rex may not be able to get a date. If he can't, just call by Jim Potter's office and he will get him one out at Dr. Charlie's Country Club. It will be a blind affair for the girl, and we know that she will get the little end of the bargain, but the fellows on this campus are willing to help Rex at least get a showing among the fair ones. Call by, Rex, and take a chance; it may do you good! It does most of us.

At the conclusion of the Bachelors' meeting the following charges were brought against Rex Hale:

(1) That he is untruthful; he charged Jim Potter with writing up the Bachelor meetings, which is absolutely false.

(2) That he is insignificant; if he were not, the Bachelors rationalize, he would be willing to link his name up with his writings. However, Rex knows that if his name were put to an article it would immediately kill its effect—he is such an insignificant person on the campus.

(3) That he is jealous; the Bachelors have not written him up until now.

(4) That he is either abnormal or subnormal and, therefore, excusable for his writings; he hasn't had a date with a girl for two and one-half long years.

If Rex Hale wants to know who writes up the Bachelor meetings, just get the first article appearing about its organization.

If J. J. Wright keeps up his retrogression out at Dr. Charlie's Country Club, he will soon be eligible for the noted and distinguished Bachelors Fraternity.

What Matters, Huh?

Why, what care I if skies are gray
If you are only with me, hey?
Oh, it can rain and rain and pour
And then clear up and rain some more,
For what care I if it should rain
From Portland, Oregon, to Maine—
Yes, right across America,
If you are only with me, huh?

For love's a grand umbrella, too,
When skies let loose the way they do.
Right when it rains so hard 'tis when
You always get the closest then.
When leaky heavens threaten harm
You have to travel arm in arm.
So what care I if troubles strike,
A little tribulation like?

Yes, what care I what raindrops whirl
If you are only with me, girl?
When storms are breaking all about
We'll get the old umbrella out.
We'll face the struggle and the strife,
And laugh, and slosh along through life.
What matters what the kind of day
If you are only with me, hey?

German Club Dance

With an eight-piece orchestra in the Dixie Serenaders, the German Club dance given Saturday afternoon, January 30, in the exercise room of the gymnasium, was fully enjoyed by those attending. The attendance was small for the occasion because of the bad condition of the weather. The afternoon dance, however, proved more enjoyable than some of the former evening dances.

The Dixie Serenaders, under the supervision of Dick Lashley, have increased to eight pieces, and the change is quite noticeable. The orchestra gave a selection of numbers as good as any orchestra that has played in the gymnasium this season. The addition is a marked improvement.

MEREDITH NEWS

(By LEONE WARWICK.)

The fact that communications between Meredith and THE TECHNICIAN have been suspended for so long does not at all indicate that nothing has been happening at "Dr. Brewer's Country Club." On the contrary, so much has happened that it would take several volumes and more time than is at our disposal to tell it all.

One of the new customs to be instituted at New Meredith is the masquerade party given the night fall semester exams close. This year the masquerade took place January 26 in the dining hall. The costumes were varied and clever, so that the committee (made up of Miss Potat, Dr. Ellis, and Dr. Horton) were hard put to it to decide who deserved the prizes. Some of those receiving prizes were: Mary Yarborough as Don Q, Mary Rodwell Hunter as a clown, Paige Leonard as the Blue Boy, Misses Freeman and Tillery as snowbirds, Miss Lenander as Carmen, Dorothy Dunning and Madeline Elliot as the Sheik and his Latest Catch, and Martha Livermon as Juliet. Romeo was present, but had to yield place to the fairer Juliet, although he was very dashing with his plumed hat, sword, and sword. Judging from the enthusiastic reception of the masquerade this year, it will be a cherished tradition in the years to come.

On January 27 began a series of revival meetings conducted by Dr. Charles E. Maddy in the Meredith auditorium. Dr. Maddy has been holding two services a day, one at the morning chapel hour and one in the evening. These meetings have been well attended and have gone far toward effecting a spiritual revival among the students.

In spite of the difficulty of getting into town, a large proportion of the students attended the Zimbalist concert. All who went felt amply repaid for their trouble. Enthusiastic press notices have already given witness to the excellence of the concert.

As a result of a recent chapel talk by Mrs. R. N. Sims, plans are under way for putting flowers and shrubs where they are needed most on the campus after the paving is finished. A landscape artist has already estimated the cost and offered to plan the work. The money for this project is to be raised by the students, and in connection with it a tea room is being opened twice a week in the dining room. The Senior Class is taking the lead in raising the necessary funds.

There seems to be an almost universal tendency toward the formation of Old Maids' and Bachelors' clubs. There have been several Spinster organizations at Meredith during the past year, and one in particular is flourishing at present. Its rules are not so lenient as those of the Bachelors' Club at State; heavy penalties must be paid for any kind of date, serious or otherwise. The P. W. D.'s are small in number, but are rapidly growing, both in spirit and membership.

NASH-EDGECOMBE CLUB MEETS WITH MEREDITH

A new idea for dates was originated when the Nash-Edgecombe County Club went to Meredith last Saturday night, the boys braving the red mud that prevails on the campus of New Meredith.

Although the conditions would not permit a strictly private meeting, the boys did the best they could at the new way of getting dates. Credit is due Mr. R. R. Trevathan for originating the idea. Under his leadership the boys commanded enough courage to venture into the wilderness. Due to the incomplete society hall, they were unable to secure a private "den" for the occasion.

Every one seemed to enjoy the meeting and, best of all, to know that the event might happen again.

NOTICE!

The recently organized Animal Husbandry Club will have a very important meeting Thursday evening at 6:30, February 11.

It is especially desired that all men taking Agricultural subjects who are interested in Animal Husbandry come to this meeting, which will be held in Room 10 in the Animal Husbandry Building.

A Wise Crack
"You must not grieve," the young minister said to the wife whose husband had just died. "The body that lies here is not your husband. It is merely a husk, an empty shell—the nut has gone to heaven."

The height of optimism is a 90-year-old gentleman buying a new suit with two pairs of trousers.

This giant hydro-electric unit weighs 750 tons and consists of a vertical shaft hydro-turbine attached to an electric generator delivering 52,000 kilowatts at 12,000 volts.

Bigger Generators—Cheaper Electricity

A 70,000 horsepower hydro-electric unit recently installed at Niagara Falls utilizes the same amount of water as seven former 5,000-horsepower units, yet does the work of fourteen such units. And it saves 700,000 tons of coal yearly for the nation.

As more and still more uses are found for electricity, larger and more economical generators are installed. At the power plant, as well as at the consumer's end, important changes and startling developments have steadily reduced the cost of electricity for light, power, and heat.

And wherever electricity has blazed its trail—in towns, cities, industrial centers, and rural communities—comfort and progress have come to stay.

Generating and distributing electricity concern the technical student. But electricity's application in the betterment of industry, the professions, and home life concerns every educated person. Cheap electricity means many startling achievements today, but countless and unbelievable possibilities tomorrow.

The General Electric Company, as of December 3, 1924, had 37,716 stockholders, of whom 45 per cent were women. The average number of common shares held by stockholders was 55. In ownership, policies, past and present activities, G-E is unambiguously dedicated to the cause of electrical progress.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEE-1.
