Fielding Ragged, But Hitting Good; Varsity Outfielders Fine in the Field and at Bat

SHUFORD AND UMP STAR

Two Doubles and Single Start Season for "Charlie" Shuford

Baaaawwwill one! and the game between the varsity and freshman nines was on.

Charlie Shuford and the umpire may be called the stars of the battle on Riddick Field last Thursday when the two State College nines locked horns for the first time.

The fielding of both teams, especially the freshmen, showed that it was truly of the early season variety, while the stick work was nearly up to standard set by former Tech teams.

Tommy Harrill held down the initial sack in regular style; Faulkner and Matheson handled things well, but a little roughly, around second and short, while Captain Gilbert did his first duty at third.

In center field, Tate hit and fielded well until replaced by McDowall late in the evening.

"Gus" Tebell's team of freshmen as yet hardly comes up to his court squad, but with time, his team shows promise of keeping up the good State baseball record.

BRAGG ARTILLERYMEN, ELON, DARTMOUTH; MEAT FOR NINE

"Big Green" Nine Third on State Schedule; Wake Forest Easter Monday

Fort Bragg Artillerymen! Elon College! Dartmouth!

Such is the coming week for Chick Doak and his State College nine, as they start the season Saturday, March 27, and follow with the other two games on Tuesday and Thursday following.

Elon, which last year lost by a large score to the Techs, will probably furnish real opposition this year and should keep the Red and White busy if they expect a win.

The banquet of the Wake County Chapter of the General Alumni Association Tuesday night was a decided success. The old boys had as their guests a few of the more prominent business men of Raleigh, and good fellowship was running rife throughout the festivities.

Mr. E. D. Cody, of the '25 Vocational, is now doing assistant county agent work in Henderson County. It is reported by responsible observers that he has one of the finest systems of club work now going on in the State.

The Easter Monday game of last year is yet fresh in the minds of many, and it is with eager thoughts that the students consider the chances of turning the tables in 1928. First-game line-ups are always rather speculative and subject to sudden and frequent changes, and the State team is now no exception.

ALUMNI NOTES

(Observations and Communications of Bippy Mack)

The briefness of this column last week was due to the excellent discrimination of the Managing Editor. He was crowded for space and had to abbreviate somewhere.

We are glad to note that a new section is being added to the Memorial Tower. It seems that the accumulation of funds for its erection is not quite such a vigorous process as was the fighting of the State College men.

Mr. J. D. (Dawkins) Henry, of the Electrical Class of '23, is now with the Southern Public Utilities Corporation in Winston-Salem.

Mr. T. W. (Timothy) Suttenfield, of the '23 Textiles, is now with a rug manufacturer in his home town of Leaksville.

Mr. E. D. Cody, of the '25 Vocational, is now doing assistant county agent work in Henderson County. It is reported by responsible observers that he has one of the finest systems of club work now going on in the State.

Mr. L. L. (Lewis) Langley, of the '23 Textiles, is with the Textile Department this week, giving a series of lectures on Textile Cost Accounting.

Messrs. J. O. Anthony and C. B. Eller, of the classes of '24 and '25, respectively, were in the city for the recent meeting of the State Teachers Convention.

Mr. Henry (Larry) Seaman, '25 Electrical, was on the campus at the first of the week.

INTRAMURAL TENNIS SCHEDULE UNDER WAY

Intramural tennis will be featured this spring, according to an announcement from the Department of Physical Education. A regular varsity team will not be picked this year, and no intercollegiate matches will be scheduled.

An inter-dormitory league will be formed and matches will be scheduled as in other sports. Each match will consist of four singles and two doubles. The standings will be figured on a percentage basis, each match counting one point.

J. E. Tiddy of Pullen, winner of second place in the Inter-society Oratorical Contest, demonstrated his ability as a speaker in his Freshman debates. In his Sophomore year, Tiddy was on the winning team of the Inter-society Debate, and at this time he was chosen as best speaker.

W. E. Wilson, winner of the Pi Kappa Delta preliminary Oratorical Contest held in February, delivered the same oration in this contest, but changed its title to "Enemies of Liberty" instead of "The Bankruptcy of Constitutionalism."

Wilson, by virtue of winning first place in the preliminary Oratorical Contest, is now on his way to Colorado to represent State College in the International Oratorical Contest to be held under the auspices of Pi Kappa Delta, the largest forensic fraternity in the world.

J. B. Baker, of Pullen, showed marked ability in delivering his extemporaneous oration on "We Criminals." All through his speech he used good platform presence, and he had only a short time in which to prepare his oration.

The Technician, State College, Raleigh, N. C. March 17, 1928.

Dear Sirs: Our approval of The Technician as an advertising medium is but slight evidence of the desire on our part to co-operate with the activities of State College students.

At one of our regular meetings we resolved to more closely identify ourselves with the college and school life of Raleigh, and to that end have appointed a good-will committee to bring to the attention of our members the activities and wishes of your student body.

An invitation is here expressed to communicate with us your ideas as to how best we may work in harmony with your students to develop a broader spirit of good will.

We believe it may be the privilege of this Association, formed by contributors to the educational facilities which your men enjoy, to ask that the members of your student body look over the merchandise offered by our members before placing orders with representatives of out-of-State firms who cannot participate in your activities nor support your college as do our members.

ELON TRACK MEET ON GOOD FRIDAY

First Meet on New Track Moved to Friday Because of Holidays; State Meet Soon

The track meet with Elon College will begin the 1926 cinder season next Friday, April 2. This meet was first scheduled for Easter Saturday, but this was changed on account of the holidays being at that time.

Besides being the season's opener, it will also be the christening event for the new concrete-rimmed track, recently completed and hardly yet in the best of condition.

State's track team suffers much this year in the loss of most of last year's veteran point-gainers, but "Doc" Sermon and his willing aspirants may show the way to a winning team and a new era of track at State College. The Saturday following Easter the Tech oval will have another visitor, this time the Blue Devils of Duke University.

MISS BOSHAUT RESIGNS OFFICE

Miss Dorothy Boshart, secretary of Leazar Literary Society, announced her resignation Friday night, March 19, with regret, even though she was overflowing with joy as she completed her newly performed duties. Miss Boshart was afraid to shock the members present, so she whispered to the president her intentions which were later revealed as an unexpected matrimonial ceremony.

"Railroad" Fountain made a motion that the society give a rising vote of thanks for the splendid work she has done while a member of Leazar Society.

C. W. Jackson was elected to fill the vacancy left by Miss Boshart. Leazar Society will seriously miss the faithful services and pleasant companionship of this most faithful co-ed.

RUDOLPH RHODES WILL BE MARRIED APRIL 2

At an attractive party and shower given at the home of Mrs. H. K. Land in New Bern, the engagement of Mr. Rudolph Rhodes and Miss Glennie Brinson was announced. The wedding is to take place on April 2 at the home of Mrs. Land.

The engagement has been suspected by intimate friends for several months, but the early date of the wedding came as a complete surprise. The couple are both very popular among young people of New Bern.

Mr. Rhodes is the son of J. F. Rhodes, of New Bern. He attended State College last year as a member of the class of '28 in Mechanical Engineering, leaving in the spring to accept a position with his father. While attending State College he made many friends among students and townspeople.

GIVE ME MY LOVE

When I am dead, forget me, dear,
For I shall never know,
Though o'er my cold and lifeless hands
Your burning tears should flow;
I'll cancel with my living voice
The debt you'll owe the dead—
Give me the love you'd show me then,
But give it now instead.

And bring me wreaths to deck my grave,
For I shall never care,
Though all the flowers I loved the most
Should glow and wither there.
I'll spend my chance of all the flowers
You'll lavish when I'm dead
For one small bunch of violets now—
Give that to me instead.

What saints we are when we are gone!
But what's the use to me
Of praises written on my tomb
For other eyes to see?
By lips we worship said,
Is worth a hundred epithets—
Dear, say it now instead.

And faults that now are hard to bear
Oblivion then shall win;
Our sins are soon forgiven us
When we no more can sin.
But any bitter thought of me—
Keep it, for when I'm dead
I shall not know, I shall not care—
Forgive me now instead.

MAJOR EARLY ISSUES COMMENDATORY ORDER

Major C. C. Early, Professor of Military Science and Tactics at North Carolina State College, wishing to express his congratulations to the students of the State College R. O. T. C. Regiment for their hearty co-operation shown during the recent inspection by the War Department, issues the following General Orders:

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 9
1. The P. M. S. and T. takes great pleasure in commending the State College R. O. T. C. Regiment for the excellent showing it made before the War Department Board of Officers inspecting the regiment on March 22, 1926. The general appearance of the regiment, the neat condition of the uniforms, the excellence of its drill were so noticeably good as to cause very favorable comment on the part of the inspectors. The classroom work for the most part was entirely satisfactory.

2. This superior showing made by State College was only possible because of the co-operation and loyal support of the R. O. T. C. students in the State College Regiment. The P. M. S. and T. is highly pleased with the way the State College R. O. T. C. students did their full part in making this inspection a success, and commends the fine spirit shown by the R. O. T. C. students.

C. C. EARLY,
Major, Infantry, D. O. L.
P. M. S. and T.

COMPANY "C" STAR AT R. O. T. C. INSPECTION

Company C of the State College Regiment was one of the outstanding features in the inspection of the regiment on Riddick Field Monday, March 22d.

The company was picked at random to give an exhibition in company drill. Student Captain Curran moved his company forward and brought it to a halt facing the Reviewing Officers. The manual of arms was given, and was executed perfectly by every man. The company was put through some close order drill for the visiting inspectors. Every movement was executed in perfect cadence. The company as a whole showed up as well as regular troops. If we do get the distinguished college, Company C should have their share of the honors.

ORCHESTRA AND GLEE CLUB WILL TOUR EAST

On April 17 the Glee Club will begin its second long trip of the year, which will be made through the eastern section of the State. The towns that are on the schedule are: New Bern, Wilson, Smithfield, Washington, Edenton, and Woodland.

The club has many new songs on the program which are sure to take great with the audiences. The orchestra, which "Daddy" Price claims to be one of the best college orchestras in the South, also has many new pieces. Jack Baxter, who always makes his way into the hearts of his audience, is a very talented young violinist. "Daddy" Price will take thirty-five members of the Glee Club and Orchestra on this trip.

STUDENTS SEE SECOND FIRE WITHIN A WEEK

For the second time in a week State College students have been enthused and excited by a fire. Monday night about 8:30 p. m. the home of H. C. Evans on Park Avenue was damaged to the extent of $1,500. All the furniture was removed, but it was damaged to the extent of $500. The fire started from a defective flue. The alarm was not turned in until it had gained some headway, and before the firemen could start throwing water the roof was in a mass of flames. In a few minutes the firemen had extinguished most of the flames, but the water did considerable damage on the ground floor.

The people of this community are convinced that there is need of a fire station in West Raleigh.

PROF. DANA RETURNS FROM PHILADELPHIA

Prof. W. J. Dana, of the Mechanical Department, returned from Philadelphia on Tuesday, March 23, where he was called by the Elliott Company, of Jeannett, Pa., to give expert testimony in a patent suit concerning evaporators.

Professor Dana is considered an authority on evaporators and de-airators, both of which are manufactured by the Elliott Company.

During the past summer Professor Dana did experimental work at the Jeannett, Pa., plant of this concern.

MEREDITH NEWS

By LEONE WARRICK

To the classes of '28 and '29 the most eventful night of the year 1925-26 was Thursday—Soph Night Off. Until this year the Sophomore frolic took place before Christmas, but the class of '28 wanted to be the first to celebrate New Meredith, and so the date was postponed. This fact has caused the Freshmen no little worry and inconvenience, since they had been requested by the Sophs to wear green badges until after Soph Night Off. It has been a custom that the Soph power over the Freshmen is ended with their one last fling, so the class of '29 is beginning to look cheerful once more. The costumes worn by the Sophomores were the same as the pajama suits worn by a chorus in their stunt last fall, with the addition of a purple and gold skull cap which throughout the day marked the Sophs as distinctive from the rest of the world. During the dinner hour the Seniors, dressed in white, marched through the dining room to the tables reserved for them, and sang to their sister class as they filed in, clad in purple and gold suits and caps, with black masks. The songs of both classes were all either beautiful or clever, but the marching song of the Sophs was a veritable triumph, being a creepy melody with extraordinarily blood-thirsty words. After a half hour or so spent in singing and yelling, the Sophs climbed into the busses ordered for them and departed for Durham and points west. It is reported that they were welcomed heartily as they passed Duke University. By ten o'clock they were all back and had the luckless Freshmen herded into a room where they had them fill their shoes with peas and execute some fancy steps and provide entertainment for the assembled even classes in a number of ways. After this they were marshaled out to a bonfire on the campus where they sang to the Seniors and Sophomores, and at last were permitted to burn the hated green badges, with commands to wall as they did so. The Freshmen were allowed to return to their rooms after a short time, and the even classes remained to toast marshmallows. When the fire had died down to a dull glow every one went in, and once more silence reigned over the scene of the carnage.

A new system of organization is being tried at Meredith, the Baptist Student Union being used to hold all the religious organizations on the campus together and weld them into a unified whole. This is not original, however; it has been tried out in a number of other schools and has been successful. The president elected by the student-body for the B. S. U. next year was Mary Frances Biggers. Although she has been with us only one year, Miss Biggers has proved herself entirely capable of carrying on work of this kind, having had experience at Mars Hill College before coming to Meredith. The other major officers elected were: Carolyn Peacock, president of the Senior Class; Geneva Benthall, president Astrotekton Literary Society; Emily Cheek, president Philaretian Literary Society; Sara Oliver, president Junior Class; Edith Waters, president Sophomore Class.

Monday evening at eight-thirty o'clock a piano recital was given in the college auditorium by Daisy Holmes, pupil for graduation. Her rendition of a well-selected program showed great talent and musical feeling. The Sonata, Opus 7, by Grieg, was especially well played. Miss Holmes' ushers were: Inez Herring, Mary O'Kelley, Alice Graves Hunsucker, Margaret Eagles, Lena Mae Williams, Sarah Newborn, Grayce Butler, Blanche Stokes, Nannie Bryan Parker, Marguerite Blackstock, Ellen Lewis, and Katherine Shields.

Barring flood, earthquake, and quarantine, our spring holidays will begin Wednesday, March 31. We feel that we need rest almost as much as anybody else, although we have not been through the ordeal of exams. recently.
