JUDGING TEAM AT CHICAGO TO MEET ALL COMPETITORS

Adams, McCullock, Alexander, and Pleasants Represent State at Annual Meeting

CONTEST STAGED TODAY

Identification and Placing of Farm Crops International In Its Scope

Four students from the School of Agriculture left here Tuesday night for the International Crops and Livestock Exhibition, which opened Friday in Chicago. The show has been in existence only three years previously, and North Carolina State College holds the distinction of winning first place for two of these years.

The preparation for this contest began early in the fall and required many hours of drill. At first there were a large number of students to enter the preliminaries, but the number decreased to about a dozen, who worked until the names of the four high men were announced last Saturday. Professors W. H. Darst and J. B. Cotner of the Agronomy Department have been directing the training of the team and accompanied the boys to Chicago. The contest in which the State team competes takes place today, and consists of judging, commercial grading and identification of the principal crop plants of America. Practically all of the leading agricultural colleges in the United States and Canada have entered teams in this contest.

A comparison of the scores made by previous winners and the try-outs which have already been held leads the coaches of the local team to believe that they will be able to make a very creditable showing, and perhaps repeat the performance of last year, when State carried away the sweepstakes honors. In 1923 the high score was 3,897; in 1924, 3,983; in 1925, 4,281. On November 11 the composite score for the try-out was 4,368, which is considerably better than the winning score of last year.

The students going to Chicago are W. L. Adams, of New Bern; W. W. McCullock, of Pleasant Garden; W. A. Alexander, of North Wilkesboro, and M. C. Pleasants, of Louisburg.

TAYLOR SPEAKS AT CHAPEL HOUR

"What State Students Have To Be Thankful For," was the subject of Dr. C. C. Taylor, Dean of the Graduate School, speaking to the Freshman Class assembled in Pullen Hall last Wednesday at the regular assembly hour.

Listing health, youth, future, vitality, and educational opportunities as those things for which State students should be especially thankful, Dr. Taylor developed his subject in a very interesting manner. One point upon which the speaker laid special emphasis was that State students are in their youth and have the best days of three lives before them, and upon them and no one else rested the responsibility for profitably investing these days.

Dr. Taylor declared that students could not measure their debt of gratitude to their parents in terms of the amount of money their parents gave to them, declaring, "I am what I am because my father and mother were what they were."

Musical Treat Coming

At the college assembly period Wednesday the students will be given a musical treat. Mr. Henry Sang and Mr. John Cole will give a piano duet, playing the overture "Zampa." These students are both accomplished musicians.

At the same meeting Prof. C. C. Cunningham will address the assembly.

"Barn Warming" is a Success Beyond Fondlest Expectations

Agricultural Students, Their Lady Friends, and the Faculty With Their Lady Friends Romped and Played Together in An Improvised But Realistic Country Scene; All Present Entered Into Spirit of the Occasion Heartily

The denim-clad Aggies did themselves proud last Saturday night when they came together with their neat gingham-dressed lassies for a spell of frolicking at the second annual "Barn Warming" in Squire Miller's barn.

The entrance into the barn was made through trees and bushes, and much gallantry was shown in opening up a way for the winsome maids. Gaining entrance into the spacious barn brought the young folks into an environment such as only baled hay and straw, shocks of corn, pine trees and autumn leaves could make. Of course, a full moon, bags of roasted peanuts, apple cider, fruit punch, and ice cream lent themselves well to the occasion, so that nothing was lacking in creating the desired effects—that of a barn dance when the harvest season is over.

The well-balanced program, directed by J. B. Britton, Master of Ceremonies, was varied and full of unique stunts. The chicken calling contest was closely contested by Peace girls, Raleigh girls, and wives of the faculty; however, Mrs. C. G. "Chick" Doak, lugging a baby under one arm, calling chicken, and sprinkling corn, was sufficient to bring the chickens, so she was presented with a neat cedar chest. Many an overall-covered heart was thrilled with the lure of the chase when hound calling time came. The chicken calling contest was followed by a contest on the trail showing wherein the farmer boy still lives his "possum and rabbit hunting. B. A. "Doodle" Sides' lusty voice and keen whistle was sufficient to give him the judges' decision.

From the many, many couples of farmers and farmerettes, Lieutenant E. P. Passaluniga was picked as the most typical farmer. He was well done up—blue jeans, roached hair, n'everything. Miss Ann Robertson showed the farmerette typical of the North Carolina farm so much that she was picked as a winner. In searching out the best farmer couple, Major and Mrs. C. C. Early were chosen. A home-looking rolling pin was presented to Mrs. Early, while a corn-cob pipe was given to the Major; the two favors to be used as the occasion demands.

The usual formalities of a cloze dance were held, and Miss Mary Alice McLaughlin came out as the victor. The more modern dance—Charlestoning—was another attraction, and Miss Ann Robertson showed the most ability to shake a leg.

The cakewalk found Miss Margaret Levering and Mr. J. H. Pope standing on the lucky number, so the Miss was given a box of candy, and the Mister a bill for same.

A coincidence took place when the wheelbarrow rolling contest came off. A large number of contestants were entered and rolled for the stake blindfolded, but Miss Virginia Woodard and her escort, B. A. Sides, each hit the stake, and thus the two tied for the winner.

The lads and lassies showed their carefree spirit at all times in romping and skipping over the floor, and the time to go home came all too soon. The occasion will, therefore, be looked forward to next year with much eagerness.

WEATHERFORD WILL SPEAK HERE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Noted Author and Lecturer Is Well Known to All of the Upperclassmen

Dr. W. D. Weatherford, President of the Southern College of the Young Men's Christian Association, will be the guest of the State College Y. M. C. A. next Sunday and Monday.

On Sunday morning at eleven o'clock Dr. Weatherford has been invited to speak in Pullen Memorial Church. His subject will be "God In His Universe." Sunday afternoon at 1:45 Dr. Weatherford will address the first meeting of the Freshman Friendship Council.

In order that the entire student body may have the opportunity of hearing Dr. Weatherford speak, Dean Ford will call a special College Assembly at 12 o'clock on Monday. The subject for this address is "Bucking the Universe."

Monday night at 6:30 Dr. Weatherford will speak to the Y. M. C. A. Promotion Force.

For 26 years Dr. Weatherford has been visiting State College, and hundreds of men have been helped by his inspiring addresses. He has many friends in the faculty and student body who will be delighted to know that he is coming back. Weatherford is the man who secured the funds for erecting the State College "Y" building.

MCCOLL AND POPE ARE ELECTED TO ALPHA ZETA

J. D. McColl and J. D. Pope, juniors in Agriculture, have been elected to membership in Alpha Zeta Fraternity, the national honorary agricultural fraternity, at N. C. State.

It is considered that the highest honor an agricultural student can have is to be elected to this fraternity.

The purpose of the fraternity is to promote scholarship, interest, and leadership in Agriculture, and to better the fraternal relations now existing in Agriculture.

CHEMICAL SENIORS VISIT POWER AND ALUMINUM PLANTS

Units at Southern Pines and At Badin Examined by Men Under Randolph

INSPECT WATER PLANT

Hedgepoch and Jarrett, Alumni of State, Are Stationed at Southern Pines

Piloted by Dr. E. E. Randolph, head of the Department of Chemical Engineering at State College, thirty senior students of chemical engineering left by bus on Thursday of last week on a 300-mile trip, with the purpose of visiting the water plant at Southern Pines and the aluminum plant at Badin.

L. L. Hedgepoch and J. M. Jarrett, former State College students, are in charge of the supervision and operation of the water plant, which is reported to be one of the best in the state. These men conducted the group of students over the building and explained the system used in purifying the water by the complete filtration method of the plant.

After completing their survey of the

LEAZAR SELECTS MEN DECLAMATION CONTEST

The preliminary for the annual literary society contest of Leazar Literary Society was held Tuesday night, November 23, in the society hall.

H. J. Oberholzer, Orange Free State, South Africa, and H. E. Springer, Portsmouth, Va., were chosen to represent the society in the annual declamatory contest against Pullen Literary Society, to be held in December. The title of Oberholzer's speech was "A Maker of Wars," while Springer delivered a declamation entitled "Saviors of Men."

Other members trying out for the contest were C. W. Jackson, Middleburg, who used for his subject, "Wanted, a Return to Idealism"; and J. R. Bowie, Glendale Springs, who spoke on "The New South."

DEPARTING TEAM GIVEN BANQUET

The 1926 Crops Judging Team, which is contending for international honors at the judging and identification contests in Chicago this week, were royally entertained at a banquet given by the Agronomy Department Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A.

This is the fourth team to represent this institution in international contests at Chicago. It is composed of W. L. Adams of New Bern, W. W. McCullock of Pleasant Garden, W. A. Alexander of North Wilkesboro, and M. C. Pleasants of Louisburg as alternate.

The team this year will have a worthy past record to live up to if they are to continue in the winning column with their predecessors. The 1923 and 1925 teams were grand champions of the United States and Canada in their respective years, while the 1924 team was only a few points behind the leaders.

The wherewithal for the banquet was furnished by Fred Sloan and his able assistants, who won the money as prizes for their float and exhibit in the students' Agricultural Fair.

Letters were read from practically the entire personnel of the former teams, giving encouragement.

Leonard and Tomlinson, who have pushed the team hard in all the practice training, were warmly commended for the faithful work that they have done.

PINE BURR INITIATES TEN HONOR STUDENTS

Two Seniors and Eight Juniors Received in Membership; Banquet Follows

Ten new members were initiated into the Pine Burr Society, local honorary scholarship organization, with an impressive ceremony in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening, November 3, at 6:30 o'clock. The initiation ceremony included talks to the new men on the importance of service in the life of every college student—service to the other students, to the college community, and to their alma mater.

This initiation is one of the three which are staged annually by the Pine Burr Society, and being the first opportunity for the juniors to become eligible, is the largest of the year.

Two seniors and eight juniors were taken into membership of the organization. The seniors initiated were W. A. Yost, Mechanical Engineering, and C. O. Butler, Chemical Engineering. The juniors were as follows: H. H. Rogers, Physics; C. S. Tucker, Vocational Education; J. B. Britt, Agriculture; L. Shaw, Agriculture; P. E. Treathan, Ceramic Engineering; J. M. Dunn, Textile Manufacturing; J. M. Kibbee, Electrical Engineering, and J. C. Tomlinson, Agriculture.

Following the initiation the new and old men together enjoyed a banquet in the State College Cafeteria. R. R. Fountain gave the welcome address to the new men, emphasizing the fact that these men had bestowed this honor upon themselves by application to their classroom work and their interest shown in campus activities. W. A. Yost responded for the new men, pledging their interest in the ideals of Pine Burr Society.

JOURNALISM CLASS TO HAVE CHARGE TECHNICIAN DEC. 4

Give Students Advanced Newspaper Work a Chance to Show Ability

The Technician of December 4 is to be issued by Professor Robertson's students in Journalism. The regular staff of The Technician will have a week of rest, for in no way are they to be called upon to assist in the publishing of the issue.

Nothing radical is expected in the way of innovations in the issuing of this number of The Technician, although it is supposed that several changes, either for the worse or the better, will be instituted. Professor Robertson announces that it is his idea to make this issue an exceptionally "newsy" one. In doing this it is deemed necessary to eliminate all "columns."

To the students of Journalism it means a chance to demonstrate to the school that they are capable of converting their theoretical knowledge into practical knowledge, and at the same time furnish some suggestions which should be of value to the regular staff in making The Technician a better college publication.

The staff of this special issue, as announced by Professor Robertson, is as follows: Editor-in-chief, W. H. Dawson; managing editor, L. A. Taylor; campus editor, M. B. Seyfert; sport editor, J. J. Wright; social editor, H. M. Weeden; copy editor, W. A. Daily; associate editor, W. E. Swain; assistant managing editor, W. A. MacDaniel; assistant campus editor, L. M. Shirley; assistant sport editor, E. H. Roberts.

Mr. Vance Sykes, B.E. 1907, is District Engineer of Maintenance of Way for the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, with headquarters at Hamlet, N. C.

TEAMS EVENLY MATCHED

In Rackley and McDowell Two of the State's Most Dangerous Triple-threat Men Are Placed Opposite Each Other, Each at the Helm of His College's Finished Football Bark; The Field Generalship of the Younger Player Leads to a Victory for a Supposedly Weaker Team; Every Man Fights.

History repeated itself on Riddick Field on Turkey Day when the hungry and growling Wolfpack threw a bomb into the championship dreams of Wake Forest, and defeated the Deacons by the score of 7-3 before a crowd of approximately eight thousand people. This classic marked the close of the 1926 season for the Pack, and by this win the football championship of North Carolina goes to Davidson.

The Deacons entered the fray a three-touchdown favorite over the Wolfpack, but from the beginning the State eleven showed its fangs and snarled the clean slate of the Deacons, who previous to this game had not been defeated.

In the first few minutes of play, Rackley kicked a field goal from the 30-yard line after the ball had been advanced there by Rackley's and Ober's gains through the line and around end, but the Wolfpack came back strong and launched a drive that netted a touchdown. On the kick-off, McDowell returned the ball to mid-field on a pretty run. Then McDowell completed a pass to Goodwin for 15 yards. On the next play a Wake Forest player tackled Hyman, who was receiving a pass behind the goal line. Wake Forest was penalized 15 yards, and with the ball on the 23-yard line, Outen divel over the line for a touchdown. McDowell sent the pigskin between the uprights for the extra point.

Although Wake Forest was in a threatening position several times, the Deacons failed to score. State kicked off and was penalized 5 yards for offense. Evans kicked again, and Wake Forest returned it to its 54-yard line. Rackley made 4 yards. On the next play, Evans threw Rackley for a 19-yard loss. Rackley punted, and Outen returned the ball

DELEGATES WILL GO TO "Y" MEET

At a recent meeting of the College Y. M. C. A. Council here it was decided to send three delegates to the National Student Conference, to be held December 28, 1926, to January 1, 1927, at Milwaukee, Wis. Those delegates are to be Messrs. E. S. King, H. K. Platt, and J. B. Britt, while the College is to send Dean E. S. Choyd.

Three thousand students of the Student Christian Movement from all over the United States will attend this mammoth gathering, at which the Y. M. C. A. will be jointly represented.

A most remarkable program will be presented, including talks by the most prominent leaders of this work. Study classes will assist the delegates to solve their various problems.

It is believed that this great conference will produce outstanding results, and that the delegates will return to their homes with increased enthusiasm and many new ideas to assist them in putting across their life work.

Card of Appreciation

The management of the "barn warming" wishes to thank those students who attended that function, who were not agricultural students, for the courtesy shown all concerned by refraining from participating in the costumed program.

Wolflets Take Championship By Defeating Dukemen 26-20

Many Spectacular Plays Feature in Game Played on Hanes Field Gridiron

The Wolflets established their claim to the freshman football championship of North Carolina by defeating the Blue Imps, of Duke University, last Saturday on Hanes field in a contest that was featured by many spectacular plays that kept the spectators thrilled from beginning to end. The score was tied several times, but when the final whistle blew the Wolflets had the large end of the 26-20 score.

Jankoski of Duke scored in the first few minutes of play when the Imps marched uninterruptedly down the field from the kick-off. Duke then kicked off to State, and Leeka, versatile yearling back, caught the ball on his own 20-yard line and ran 80 yards for a touchdown. Warren, halfback for the Wolflets, added another thrill to the game when he ran 85 yards for the third touchdown. Childress, State end, also did some brilliant work for the yearlings.

The backfield, composed of Warren and Leeka, halves; Adams, quarter, and Plonk, fullback, paved the way for the victory. The Imps had little trouble in penetrating the yearling line for a total of eighteen first downs. Most of the ground gained by the Imps was by straight football, and in that respect they were superior to the Wolflets.

This game marked the close of a very successful season for the Wolflets, having won four of the five games played and tied the other. Some very promising men will go up to the varsity from this championship freshman team. Leeka, Warren, and Childress have played football of the highest order in every game this season, and it is very obvious that they will furnish some keen competition for letter men on the varsity next year.

REDFEARN WINS FRESH CROSS-COUNTRY RACE

The second annual freshman class cross-country race run Tuesday was won by A. Redfearn, who did the two miles in 11 minutes 45 and 25 seconds. The first fifteen to finish were: A. Redfearn, M. W. Johnson, M. M. Alexander, C. H. Ford, B. M. Day, T. O. Perry, Bill Garibaldi, R. E. Truesdale, W. H. Bryan, G. H. Parham, I. A. McLain, G. M. Hobby, J. V. Yount, V. W. Richardson, and C. J. Mizelle. About five hundred men participated in the race, and only twenty failed to make the course in the required time of 17 minutes.

Much more interest was shown in the race this year than was shown last year. A large number of the students were on Freshman Field to witness the start and finish of the most successful race that the Physical Education Department has ever staged.

The first fifteen had their picture taken to go in the Agronomer. They will also be awarded the Intra-mural medals.

WRESTLING

The varsity and freshman wrestling training season begins Monday, November 29th. Fifty men are wanted to try out. Good trips are in store for those making the team, and healthy exercise and muscle building is promised to all who come out and work.

HARRIERS EASILY DEFEAT CLEMSON

North Carolina State's Cross-Country Team easily defeated the Harriers hailing from Clemson College, South Carolina, in the cross-country meet held here Tuesday afternoon, by the score of 19-44. Captain R. E. Nance finished first, finishing the three and one-half mile run in 22 minutes and 47 seconds. Following Nance for a good second came Cannon of the Clemson team. The line-up of the teams and the order in which they finished is as follows: 1 Nance (S); 2 Cannon (C); 3 Kendrick (S); 4 Hoyle (S); 5 Loman (S); 6 Greaves-Walker (S); 7 Rogers (S); 8 Brimley (S); 9 Haskell (C); 10 McLeod (C); 11 Wilson (C); 12 Andrews (C); 13 McGill (C).

FIGHTING RUSTY-MUGS DEMOLISH SOUTHERNERS

Playing before a mob of frenzied dormitory inmates who were precariously perched on window sills and roof tops, the "Fighting Rusty-mugs" of Fifth turned back their ancient rivals from South last Monday afternoon in one of the most hectic struggles ever witnessed on this side of the Mason-Dixon line.

The Southerners, eager to win the brawl at any cost, went to the extreme when they trained a ringer in the person of Sammie Homewood, ex-star in the realm of broken noses and flying cleats. This man, Homewood, is one sweet passer. Not once did he fail to toss the American spheroid into the waiting arms of his opponents. The outstanding star for the "Rusty-mugs" was Johnny Vick. It was Vick's bullet-like passes that won the game for Fifth in the last few minutes of play when the score was tied, 106-106.

Taking everything into consideration, it was a brilliant and hard-fought game, and one free from injuries except for a spot on Fullback Perry's shoulder where one of his opponents tagged him a little too hard. As the score would indicate, the game was not without plenty of action.

GAMECOCKS ENTERTAIN WOLFPACK WITH DANCE

The Gamecocks of the University of South Carolina are not only a smooth-working bunch of football players, but are good sports along with it, say the members of the Wolfpack who made the trip to South Carolina last Saturday. The State College football team was entertained at a dance which was given in the gymnasium on the University campus. All the members of the Carolina football team that were at the dance introduced themselves to the State boys, and then introduced them to the girls. This hospitality was greatly appreciated and everybody enjoyed the evening.

"Why is a girl's dress almost a yard?"

"Because it's a little over two feet."

"ALL-AMERICANS" END YEAR BY 18-0 WIN ON SOLDIERS

Aerial Attack Spells Defeat For Fort Bragg Eleven as Moore Scores Three Times

The "All-Americans" ended their football season in good form by defeating the strong Fort Bragg eleven by the score of 18-0 at Fayetteville last Saturday.

The Reserves took to the air early in the game and scored three touchdowns via the air route. The Fort Bragg team was helpless before the aerial attack of the A. A.'s. The combinations, Polk to Moore and Metz to Moore, were too much for the Soldiers to solve.

The victims' line was strong, outweighing the Reserves by fifteen pounds each. Some of the ground gained was through the line, but the situation called for an aerial attack, and to this the scrubs resorted. The Soldiers never seriously threatened to score. Their offense was irregular, but good at times. They lacked the drive to score on the "Fighting Scrubs."

Nineteen men were used in the A. A. line-up. They all played good football and deserve praise for stemming the tide of the rough-and-ready Soldiers. The outstanding feature was the passing of Polk and Metz, Moore, end, was responsible for the three touchdowns. For the Soldiers, Potts and Burches were the outstanding performers.

RIFLE TEAM AIMS TO HIT HIGH MARK

As the season of fall outdoor sports begins to close, and before the great indoor cage artists begin to play, there will be little to occupy the athletes and sport fans. But it is not so with the rifle team, especially the local team that is beginning to shape up and get down to the start of what is expected to be a successful season for the local shooters.

For several weeks the members of last year's team and the new candidates have been shooting and practicing for the inter-company matches and the battalion match to determine the battalion champions. Following this match, the rifle team will be picked from the best shooters in the regiment. The rifle team will represent the R.O.F.C. in all competitive matches of the year.

In all there have been quite a large number of tests entered on the schedule for the coming matches, and entrances have already been made for two teams from this school to compete in several of the national matches.

Many do not quite fully understand the way in which matches are carried off with other institutions. The teams do not really meet in competition, but all matches are shot under the National Rifle Association rules, and the scores are made and then sent to the competing team and are thus compared.

ROBBERS ENTER LONDON SHOP THURSDAY MORNING

About 6 o'clock Thanksgiving morning thieves entered Honeycutt's London Shop and removed several suits of clothing. They made their entrance by smashing the glass in the front door with a hammer.

According to all reports available, they made off with six to twelve suits, while they did not attempt to take anything else. The cash register was empty.

This is the second time that the establishment has been visited by robbers within the year. On the morning of July 4 an entrance was effected in almost the same manner. At that time there was a greater amount of goods taken away.

It is reported that a student heard the smashing of the glass door and went to investigate. As he drew near, the robber or robbers drove away in what appeared to be a Buick roadster, going in the direction of Durham.

Dr. "Tommy," coming upon a youthful angler sitting on the bank of a stream, thus addressed him: "Adolescence, art thou not endeavoring to entice the finny tribe to engage in their denticulated mouths a barbed hook, upon whose point there is affixed a dainty allurement?"

"No," said the boy, "I'm fishing."

Gamecocks Floor Wolfpack By 20-14 Score On U. S. C. Grid

Both Teams Score Soon in First Period; Three Men Play Well for State

In a game that was played for the most part in the air, the gamecocks of the University of South Carolina, running down its 1926 football curtain and defeated the Wolfpack in a free-scoring game at Columbia last Saturday by the score of 20-14.

Both elevens scored early in the first period by way of passes. Carolina scored first when by way of off-tackle plays and passes the Gamecocks advanced the ball to State's one-yard line, where Wimberly ran around right end for a touchdown. Rogers kicked goal. The 'Pack retaliated when State started a drive on its own 30-yard line that carried the pigskin over for a touchdown. McDowall brought the ball to State's 41-yard line on a pretty run around left end. Then, on a fake play, Outen to McDowall and McDowall to Goodwin, the ball was carried to Carolina's 15-yard line. Jack threw a pass to Goodwin, who caught the ball back of the goal line. McDowall kicked goal for the extra point.

On the kick-off, Wimberly carried the ball from the 8-yard line to midline. Then by a series of punts the ball was on State's 28-yard line. Carolina was penalized 15 yards for holding, but on the next play, pass from Rogers to Wimberly, the ball was carried to State's 15-yard line. Wingfield made 11 yards through line. State was then penalized 5 yards off-side, and Rogers carried the ball over for a touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

In the second quarter, with the ball on State's 34-yard line, Rogers passed to Wingfield, who carried the ball to the 20-yard line. Wimberly carried the ball by way of line plunges to State's 6-yard line. Wingfield caught a pass back of the goal line for a touchdown. The try for extra point was good. The game was a nip-and-tuck affair until the fourth quarter, when State launched a drive on its own 20-yard line and marched down the field for a touchdown.

With the ball on the 20-yard line, Crum went through line for 5 yards. Carolina was penalized 5 yards and Crum made a first down on the next play. Outen made 3 yards. A pass from McDowall to Crum netted 30 yards. Crum made 6 yards through line. Crum and Outen carried the ball to South Carolina's 14-yard line. A pass from McDowall to Outen netted 13 yards. With the ball on the one-yard line, Outen went off left tackle for a touchdown. McDowall kicked goal for the extra point.

Outen, Crum, and McDowall were the outstanding performers for the Wolfpack, while Rogers, Boyd, and Wimberly played good ball for the Gamecocks.

PRINCE OF WALES GIVEN RIDE IN COLLEGIATE CAR

The Prince of Wales, whose reported engagement to a Spanish princess, had caused many matrimonially inclined debutantes to writhe in disappointment, had a rather novel experience last spring while traveling through Africa cementing that part of the British Empire closer to the mother country, according to Ellis, who is now a student at State College, but who was then a senior at Rhodes University.

While a guest in the city of Cape Town he asserted that he had never ridden in an ox-cart, which is used as one of the principal means of transportation in that country, as the price of gasoline is over 90 cents a gallon.

The loyal and obliging students of the University rigged up a cart with the college colors, hitched four snow-white oxen to it, and drove up to the hotel, where they invited the prince to go for a buggy ride. The ride ended at the University, where the prince was crowned honorary head of that institution, with the title of Chancellor.

Road Tests Prove Autos Use Less Gas in Hilly Districts

Average Motorist Gets Different Result, Due to Methods of Operation

(By James Fontaine)

A question of considerable interest to motorists is whether more gasoline is required in making a round trip over hilly roads than on level roads; and if so, how much? The answer to this question rests with the driver, for he may so operate his car that the gasoline consumption per mile for a round trip on hills of considerable grade will be less than on roads which are level, though usually it will be more.

On hard-surface roads the grades of which are not more than one and one-half per cent there is practically no difference in the quantity of gasoline consumed in making a round trip at uniform speed over hills or level roads. In going up and down hills which have a grade of two per cent or greater with the engine in gear, but with closed throttle, more gasoline per mile is required in making a round trip than is required on a level. On the other hand, if the engine is disconnected, the spark turned off, and the car allowed to coast down grade, the gasoline consumption per mile in making a round trip on grades of two per cent or greater is less than on roads which have no grades. Allowing the car to speed up on down grade and using its momentum to help on a succeeding hill means an additional saving of gasoline. However, it is not a common practice of motorists to cut the engine off and coast down grade, and from the standpoint of safety this practice may be questioned.

Results of tests made by the Engineering Experiment Station of the State College of Washington to determine the gasoline consumption of some of the usual types of passenger automobiles operated on level and hilly roads are as follows:

Running at 20 miles per hour in both directions on a level road for a distance of 500 miles, the gasoline consumption was 19.3 miles per gallon. Running at a speed of 20 miles per hour up and down an eight-mile grade in the State of Idaho, which has an average gradient of four and two-tenths per cent, the gasoline mileage was found to be 11 miles per gallon when going up hill, and 28 miles per gallon when going down hill, with the engine in gear. The average for a round trip, up and down hill, with the engine in gear, is 16 miles per gallon. On down grade, with the engine disconnected and the spark cut off, no gasoline is used, so that the average gasoline consumption per round trip would be 22 miles per gallon, which is a greater gasoline mileage than on a level road.

Evidently, the increased gasoline mileage in making a round trip on hills, when the engine is cut off and the car allowed to coast on the down grade, is due to increased engine efficiency when climbing the hill—that is, when going up hill the engine is delivering more horsepower, under which condition it is more efficient.

"AG" CLUB TOLD OF COLLEGE HISTORY

C. L. Newman, Former State Faculty Member, Gives Some Choice Bits of Inside Dope

The Ag. Club enjoyed an unusual treat Tuesday night by having Mr. C. L. Newman, an associate editor of the Progressive Farmer and at one time a professor at State, speak to the members.

Mr. Newman let out some of the heretofore unknown facts about the college. The dining hall is the outgrowth of what was once the dairy barn, for the barn once stood where the dining hall is now located. Mr. Newman in outlining the growth of the college, said that the Horticultural Department had two peach trees, one plum and three elm trees for experimental work when he was a professor here. "The advances in the last thirty years have surpassed those of any two centuries before, and the next generation holds in store vastly more than has ever been accomplished in the past," Mr. Newman said.

The present Students Fair is the outgrowth of a small corn show held under Mr. Newman's supervision in Patterson Hall. The corn was from less than four feet long to less than four inches short and the total premiums were $5.

"Every one can carve out for himself a position that he and others will be proud of if backed by an ambitious urging to be of service to others." "It is the accumulation of our attainments that make us what we are," said Mr. Newman. "It is within our own power to do anything we want to, if we discover what we are best fitted to do and turn our energies towards this goal."

BRYAN DISCUSSES "SNAKE DANCES"

After denying a report that the Raleigh Police Department is considering placing "a strict ban" on student celebrations not confined to college campuses, Chief of Police J. Winder Bryan recently declared that he is in favor of allowing the students to celebrate just so long as they do it in an orderly manner.

"After what occurred on Morgan street Thursday night I am fully convinced that the students should do their celebrating in an orderly manner," said the chief. "They can celebrate in the right manner and I have no objection, but I do believe the celebrating should not be carried to the extreme. It was Thursday night, when Dunlap was injured by Dresser's car." R. H. Dunlap, a State College student, came near being killed Thursday night by R. L. Dresser, who claimed the college students refused to let him pass, and after an argument attempted to assault him. Dunlap was knocked down by Dresser's car as it sped away. The student was carried to Rex hospital, but was able to leave the institution Friday afternoon.

If the students desire to celebrate the victories of their football team the police department will "be glad" to keep Fayetteville street clear of traffic while the snake-dance is in progress, said the chief. He stated that the students would receive the cooperation from the police department if they requested it, but he emphasized that celebrations "carried to the extreme must stop."

"I shudder to think of what might have happened if some desperate runner, pursued by officers, had chanced on Morgan street Thursday night," said the chief. "A score or more of those boys might have been killed."—News and Observer.

"This Week's Ads"

By G. P. DICKINSON

Well—Thanksgiving has passed, and we are about ready to get back in the old grind again. How many can look back and say, "I did my part" towards making my college paper the best in the state? If you bought your new outfit from one of our advertisers, then you helped, but if you didn't, then you hurt your paper.

So, fellows, when we need something, try and make it a point to visit the firms which are advertising in THE TECHNICIAN.

Below you will find a list of our advertisers:

he is not too strong a Democrat" admiration at the audacity of the brief editorial which says, in part, that— "The leader turns and pays homage to the tattered rags of a political flag while ideals are ground in the dust under the iron heel of greed and power." The reviewer suggests that the longer editorials be supplied with headings.

"Jerry's Rosie Decision" is the one short story in this issue. Young love; fast work; the unexpected twist at the end. The story is readable enough, but it is of a type that the editors would do well to avoid using too frequently.

Two articles are of particular interest because they discuss opposite sides of a college problem—"legging." The titles are "Hoarding the Professors" and "In Defense of Legging." The two writers evidently are not fully agreed as to the scope of the term "legging." The writer of the second article does not attempt to defend some of the practices discussed as forms of "legging" in the first. Frank discussion of college problems, as in these contributions, is to be commended.

"Education—Improvement" is a presentation of worthy aims to be fostered in acquiring an education. Shorter contributions are "My First Day at College" and "The Kentucky Colonel" (a character sketch).

The departments—Epigrams, Exchange, Book Reviews, On the Campus, and Mr. Moore's racy "Scraps and Sketches"—are up to their usual form.

Everything's going to be all right

THAT'S the way P. A. talks to you in the bowl of a pipe. This great national gloom-chaser stabs the darkest clouds with a ray of sunshine. Buy a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today and see. Tamp a load of this friendly tobacco into your jimmy-pipe and light up.

Cool as a sub-cellar. Sweet as the breath of fresh-cut violets. Fragrant in the tin and fragrant as you smoke it. Never a tongue-bite or a throat-parch. So mild you can hit it up from sun-up to sun-down, yet with a body that satisfies completely.

There's more philosophy in a pipe-load of P. A. than in the average Doctor's thesis. No matter what brand you are smoking now, you don't know how much your jimmy-pipe can mean to you until you pack it with good old Prince Albert. Get started now.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin tins, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of life and pack removed by the Prince Albert process.

FOUR INSTITUTIONS ADOPT BOOK BY BROWN AND TAYLOR

"Especially Pleased With Text of 'Human Relations.'" Says Missouri Man

The book on Human Relations, written by Carl C. Taylor, dean of the Graduate School, and B. F. Brown, dean of the School of Science and Business of N. C. State College, has been adopted in four institutions. The book did not appear until after the fall term.

The following paragraph is a quotation from Charles A. Ellwood, of the University of Missouri:

"I am especially pleased with text on 'Human Relations.'" There is such a demand for a combined course in the problems of citizenship the last year of the high school and the first year of college work, that the book should fill a very useful place as a text for such a course before one group of teachers, and I have no doubt that I will recommend it very often in the future."

The authors of "Human Relations" have described with considerable insight the web of human relationship in which we live. All the major activities and services of social groups are outlined in great clarity of detail. The book presents a remarkably successful fusion of the most generally accepted practical teaching of economics, political science, sociology, and ethics. The emphasis throughout the book is wholesome and liberal. It is conservative in the sense of being temperate, moderate in its proposals, and radical only in the sense of being open-minded and forward-looking.

This book is now in use at State College. Published by Harper Bros.

Alumni Notes

Observations and Communications of ZIPPY MACK

We take this opportunity of extending to Davidson every congratulation we have left over after handing out a few for the good of the fellows on the team. For eight seasons we have watched the Davidson fellows on Riddick Field and elsewhere, and have found them always sportsmanlike, and in the game from the beginning to the finish, and a thorn for the best championship team in the State. Because of that consistency and sportsmanship, we are glad to see the championship go to them. It could not rest on a more deserving campus.

Mr. Roy A. Hollowell and Miss Blanche Hinshaw were married Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's uncle in Greensboro.

Mrs. Hollowell is a graduate of Greensboro College, and has taught for some years in Aulander. Mr. Hollowell is a member of the Agricultural Class of '21, and since his graduation has farmed near Aulander.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Barnes Worth, of Cleveland, O., announce the birth of a son, Daniel Barry Worth, November 15, 1926. The elder Worth is a member of the Medical Class of '20, at which time he was Lieutenant-Colonel and valetudinarian. He is now assistant sales manager of the Electro-Motive Company, of Cleveland, and is a brother of A. M. Worth, '22; D. C. Worth, '27; E. W. Worth, '29, and E. B. Worth, '30. We shudder to think what this column will look like when they all get started.

Mr. R. E. Vick, of the '23 Agriculturals, was up for the game. He is now farming at his old home near Seaboard.

Mr. Carl Bridges, of the '24 Vocationals, was here for the game. He is now with the Larroewe Milling Company.

Mr. E. R. Thompson, of the '26 Vocationals, was with friends and fraternity brothers for the game. He is now teaching at Acme.

Mr. R. H. Raper, formerly Business Manager of THE TECHNICIAN and a member of the Business Administration Class of '25, was in town for the game. Ralph is now teaching at Walkersburg.

Mr. J. D. "Judd" Albright, of the '21 Chemicals, was on the campus this week. He is doing chemical analyses for court cases involving narcotics.

Mr. P. S. Boyd, '34, dropped around to the office the other day to get his name on the mailing list. After making suggestions for closer contacts of the alumni, he admitted that he was one of the trustees, and that he has a son in the Freshman Class.

Messrs. M. T. "Mount" Wilson and E. D. Cody, of the '24 Textiles and Agriculturals, respectively, were campus visitors during the week-end.

Mr. E. F. Pittman, B.E., 1908, is with the Philadelphia Electric Company.

Mr. E. R. "Smitty" Smith, of the '23 Mechanicals, was here Tuesday for the Fair Ground auction. "Smitty" is now in the lumber and father business in Benson, and seems to be doing well.

Mr. I. A. Niven, B.Agr., 1906, is horticultural editor of the Progressive Farmer, with headquarters at Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. George G. Allen, B.E., 1906, is superintendent of the Cannon Manufacturing Company, Kannapolis.

Mr. I. W. Barber, B.E., 1899, is doing a fine engineering practice at Mount Airy.

Mr. J. E. Highsmith, B.S., 1897, is farming at Parkersburg.

Mr. S. H. Veile, B.E., 1905, is assistant electrical engineer for the Pennsylvania Railway Company, with headquarters at Altoona, Pa.

Mr. J. F. Robinson, B.E., 1910, is with the N. N. S. and D. D. Company, at Newport News, Va.

Mr. Roy Bowditch, B.S., 1910, is president of the firm of Bowditch & Gilliam, Inc., electrical sales engineers, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Mr. Tal H. Stafford, '12, General Alumni Secretary, has kindly consented to furnish some information each week of the older graduates, those who have been out of college so long we are not acquainted with them. Beginning with this issue, then, the location of several of the older men will be given.

Mr. F. F. Floyd, B.E. 1893, is a wholesale coal dealer at Knoxville, Tenn.

Mr. Lacy Moore, B.S. 1906, is Engineer of Services for the Government, with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Dorsey Y. Hagan, B.E. 1908, is dealing in real estate at Sarasota, Florida.

Mr. Robert D. Patterson, B.S. 1894, M.S. 1898, is President of the First State Bank of Chase City, Virginia.

CO-EDS AND SELF-RESPECT

For several weeks there have appeared in several college papers articles concerning co-education. In these articles the authors, for the most part, have held that co-education is not the right kind of education and should be done away with.

How many of these authors have ever had the opportunity of attending a co-ed school other than while at high school? Evidently at some time or other some girl must have told dear teacher that Charlie threw the eraser which hurt poor little Jimmie, and Charlie had to stay after school and make amends.

The girl who goes to college is not the same kind of a girl that told the teacher about Charlie misbehaving. She is the self-reliant girl who is able to cope with and solve difficult problems, and who is able to make a man respect her for what they are. And the girl who has the nerve to enter a school which was founded for men, in search of the kind of an education which heretofore men have been exposed to, but have proved immune, that kind of a girl deserves to be commended rather than criticized.

The presence of girls on the campus has a tendency to uplift the standard of dress, which has been very lax. When the first co-ed appeared on the campus of State College last year the boys began to fix up. The old lax way of dressing and their long beards began to disappear. Why? For the simple reason that no man wants to appear before a woman other than when he is dressed properly. Now if the presence of a girl on the campus would cause the boys to take more pride in their appearance, wouldn't the presence of girls in the dining room cause them to try and make a better appearance there.

The habits formed in college are not easily broken when one departs. If a boy falls into the habit of gulping his food down here, will he seek to remedy his failing when he gets on the outside, where so much depends on his appearance?

The time has come when business executives, whose time is filled with the more important things which confront them, are leaving the entertainment of their out-of-town prospects to their assistants; and before you can be an executive you have to be an assistant and before you get to be an assistant you will probably be carried out to dinner with your prospective boss. And the appearance you make will largely determine the kind of job which you will get. So the thing to do now is to try to improve rather than fall back, and the only thing to help a man in this is the presence of a girl at each table. For no man likes to make a blunder before a girl.

There will probably be a lot of fuss when State College becomes a co-ed institution of some rank, but that is nothing to worry over. We will always find some people who will fight a new thing, whether it is right or wrong. But the thing which we need is the presence of girls on our campus now. And the sooner we get them the more improvement we will have.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

Several weeks ago the Military Department issued an announcement concerning the wearing of mixed uniforms. In this announcement they asked that the students refrain from wearing any part of the uniform unless all was worn. So far the co-operation given the Military Department has been very favorable, and they wish to thank the students for the help that they have given.

The appearance of a man dressed in a uniform always depends on his manner of dress. If he is slouchy, and has an appearance of having been in a fight, he makes a very unfavorable impression on a visitor. It was for this reason that the Military Department asked the students to be more careful of their dress and appearance.

GAME BAG WELL FILLED BY PAIR LOCAL HUNTERS

Jesse Barden, a Junior in Agriculture, and Harry Westcott, a vocational Sophomore, took an extensive hunting trip on October 27th. After shooting away three boxes of shells at one dollar per box, they returned to the campus. From the looks of their knapsacks when they came in, one would have thought that game was plentiful where they came from. However, upon close examination, it was found that they had, all told, twelve birds, four of them being sparrows, one field rat, and a squirrel. With the exception of the rat, the game was made into a delicious pot-pie, and was enjoyed by many students Sunday afternoon.
