EXTENSION DEPT. GIVE COURSE IN PRACTICAL RADIO

Be Thorough Study of the Basic Fundamentals of Radio Operation

16 ASSIGNMENTS LISTED

Operation and Care of Receiving Sets Will Be Outstanding Theme of the Work

Realizing the need of a thorough understanding of the radio set before being able to get the best results, the Extension Division of N. C. State College has prepared and is now offering a short correspondence course in Practical Radio. In offering this course it was felt that a brief study of the fundamental principles of the radio receiving set would be welcomed by the radio enthusiasts of North Carolina. Mr. E. W. Ruggles, of the Electrical Engineering Department, will conduct the course.

The course consists of sixteen assignments, each one dealing with some particular phase of radio reception, set construction, or the fundamental principles of radio electricity. The course is non-mathematical therefore the student need not be a high school graduate.

The chief object in preparing the course was to explain in the simplest and easiest way the fundamental principles of the receiving set, how and why it operates, and to teach the radio fan how to take care of his set, in order to get better reception at all times. It is also designed to help those who wish to construct their own sets. Anyone interested in the course should write to Frank Capps, Director of Extension, for further information. The course is open to anyone who desires to learn more about radio. Following is a brief outline of the course:

1. Radio waves and radio transmission.
2. The antenna: fire underwriters' rules.
3. The electric circuit.
4. The magnetic circuit.
5. Telephone receivers; crystal receiving sets.
6. The vacuum tube.
7. Methods of tuning.
8. Sources of electricity for vacuum tubes and radio sets.
9. Audio frequency amplification.
10. Radio frequency amplification.
11. Care and operation of the radio set.
12. Constructing and testing the set.
13. Constructing and testing the set.
14. Common troubles and their remedies.
15. Radio telephone and telegraph transmission.
16. The future of radio.

FRAUDULENT ADVERTISING SCHEME IS DISCOVERED

College Newspapers Numbered Among "Suckers" in Recent Swindle of Big Proportions

THE TECHNICIAN has been an innocent aid in an alleged national advertising scheme that has probably netted the promoters around a million dollars.

It seems that the headquarters of the "swindle trust" was at Atlanta. A raid by Federal agents last week disclosed the fact that several offices were operated. Quite a number of arrests were made, but it is believed that there are several implicated who were not arrested.

Their plan of action was to advertise promiscuously in college and other small newspapers, quoting commodities at very low prices, specifying that cash be sent in advance. The most common of the articles offered for sale have been "Florida oranges" and chickens from "The Fulghum Hatchery." An examination of college newspapers from all over the country reveals branches of this "hatchery" in almost every state.

The per cent of their profits was approximately infinity. This advertising was never paid for and they sent us no checks or oranges.

Mr. Herbert W. Kueffner, B.E. 1908, is director of public works for city of Durham, N. C.

THESE MEN WILL GUIDE THE DESTINIES OF THE 1927 STUDENTS' AGRICULTURAL FAIR

F. S. SLOAN, President

J. B. BRITT, Secretary

Sloan and Britt Will Lead Students' Agricultural Fair

Annual Fair One of the Biggest Jobs That the Students Have Tackled

A large percentage of the fate of the Agricultural Students' Fair for 1927 was placed in the hands of F. S. Sloan, C. W. Jackson, and J. B. Britt, at the final meeting of the board of directors of the Agricultural Fair for 1926.

F. S. Sloan, a student of agriculture from Franklinton, was placed at the helm as president of the good host—the Fair. Sloan has been an enthusiastic and untiring worker for the Fair since his Freshman year. This year, under his capable leadership, the Agronomy Department won the coveted first prize for the best float and exhibit. Not only has he been an active worker for the Fair, but he has shown much ability in getting finances for the Agriculturalist, the agricultural students' monthly publication. Sloan, as well as the other two officers, have shown themselves to be leaders in the classroom, as well as in outside activities, as indicated by their being members of Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity.

The right hand man of the president of the Fair is C. W. Jackson, who was elected vice-president. Jackson is from Middleburg, and his untiring efforts have helped make three Fairs successful, and indications are that he will be a great aid in making next year's Fair the biggest and best ever.

J. B. Britt will have a good part of the burden of getting up a prize list for next year, since he was elected as secretary. Britt is from Garner, and his honors already show him to be one of the campus leaders. Britt ably assisted the secretary this past year and his knowledge and ability of secretarial work bids fair to be a factor in making the next Fair a great financial success.

"J. B." has been actively connected with literary society and other club work. He is at present vice-president of Leazar Literary Society and is also a member of the Pine Burr Society, local scholarship and leadership organization.

The Board of Directors for next year's Fair is as follows:

F. S. Sloan, president; C. W. Jackson, vice-president; J. B. Britt, secretary; R. W. Shoffner, assistant secretary; W. P. Albright, treasurer; P. R. Turner, J. D. McCall, T. L. Moore, P. A. Raper, L. Shaw, J. B. Litchfield, J. R. Buchanan, H. M. Willis, W. C. Warner.

The following men are retiring from the Board of Directors of the Agricultural Fair:

C. A. Leonard, R. R. Fountain, B. A. Sides, W. R. Burnett, R. E. Nance, J. L. Fort, H. G. Shelton, C. J. Goodman, R. S. Gaston.

CONCERT BAND ELECTS OFFICERS COMING YEAR
At an informal meeting in the ban room last week, the State College Concert Band elected the following men to serve as its officers for the following year: President, G. C. ("Pat") Michael; vice-president, J. A. ("Sleepy") King; secretary and treasurer, Joe Mathews, and G. P. ("Dick") Dickinson, reporter.

A proposed trip, which will last a week and will take the band to numerous sections of the State, was also discussed. No definite arrangements have been made, but a program will be published later on as dates are arranged.

GYM. AND BASKETBALL COURSES TO BE GIVEN

Especially Adapted to Students Who Desire to Teach or Train Athletes

Physical Education and Coaching has become a profession. The demand for trained teachers is much greater than the supply.

The Department of Physical Education at State College desires to serve those students who wish to take some special work in this department with Coaching or Physical Training instruction in view.

Many students will go out in the teaching field upon graduation, at least for a few years. If a man has qualified himself by special work in Physical Training and Coaching, his salary will be somewhat supplemented in school work or factory work, because he is capable of handling this special work. Or, of even more importance is the opportunity this special work will give him of making contacts with the community at large wherever he is located. This acquaintance will serve him in whatever profession he engages.

This winter term the Department of Physical Education is offering four elective courses, all of which carry credit towards graduation.

1. Basketball Coaching, under Tebell, will be given at 12:00 o'clock Mondays and Fridays.
2. Gymnastic Teaching, under Drennan, will be given at 11:00 o'clock Tuesdays and Thursdays.
3. Athletic Training and First Aid, under Dr. Sornson, will be given at 2:00 o'clock Tuesdays and Thursdays.
4. Advanced Physical Training, under Miller, will be given at 4:30 on Mondays and Wednesdays.

All juniors and seniors are eligible for these courses, and are urged to come out to the gymnasium and talk over the courses with the different members of the Athletic staff before Christmas holidays. The department will have two tables at the place of registration and will be glad to advise and register those wishing to take any of these courses.

POULTRY JUDGING TEAM IS SELECTED

Many boys on the campus have the names of being the biggest sheiks, cruelest heartbreakers, and sundry other appellations attached to their names, but it remains for J. L. Fort, J. J. Barnhardt, and R. W. Schoffner to be crowned the best judges of chickens by being chosen as the ones to make the Poultry Judging Team that leaves for Madison Square Garden, New York City, on January 7, 1927. The contest will be held January 7.

This is considered one of the big judging trips of the year, as the show is a thing of worth in itself, and Broadway must be seen before leaving the city of skyscrapers.

W. M. Ginn seems to have a firm lead in the race for alternate.

Other students have been busy in a contest raising money to pay the way of the winners in this contest, who will accompany the team.

MARTIN KILLED IN COLLISION WITH A FORD AUTOMOBILE

Breaks Handle From Door of Car in Striking It With His Head

CAR TRAVELING SLOWLY

Burial Services Held at Home in Greensboro on Monday Afternoon; Only Child of Family

R. D. Martin, of Greensboro, State College student, was fatally injured Saturday night, December 11, when he ran into a Ford coupe driven by W. A. Credle, of the State Department of Education, and sustained a crushed skull.

The accident was an unusual one. Martin, it seems, was intent on catching an oncoming street car and ran headlong into the side of Mr. Credle's car, the boy's head striking the left handle of the car with such force that it was broken from the door. He evidently looked only to his left for oncoming traffic, and failed to see the car coming from his right.

Eye-witnesses of the accident declare that the car was not traveling over ten or twelve miles an hour.

The body of Martin was carried to his home in Greensboro Sunday afternoon, with schoolmates in attendance. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon. State College men who were present acted as pallbearers.

Martin, while a student at State College, lived the part of a true Christian gentleman, playing an active part in all church activities.

Being the only child in the family, the death of young Martin was particularly sad.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY CLUB ELECTS NEW MEMBERS

The Animal Husbandry Club concluded its work for the fall quarter in its regular meeting last week, when a short program was held and which was followed by an election of officers for the winter term.

The following were elected to office: R. Striper, president; T. L. Moore, vice-president; C. J. McConnell, secretary-treasurer; R. E. Nance, reporter.

After the election, six new members were initiated into the club.

PRESLER CALLED HOME ACCOUNT SICK MOTHER

B. A. Presler, a Junior in Mechanical Engineering, was called home Tuesday on account of the serious illness of his mother.

WORK IS PROGRESSING ON THE 1927 AGROMECK

All Individual Pictures Have Been Taken; Sponsors Are the Best Yet

The work on the 1927 Agromeck is progressing rapidly. All of the staff members are working on their sections and several of the sections have been completed.

All of the individual, football, baseball, track, and cross-country pictures have been made. The club and society pictures will be made on Sunday, January 16, and those who have not already done so are asked to make arrangements to have the pictures made at that time.

The annual is going to be different this year from any of its predecessors, and so far as any of the staff members have been able to determine there has never been one published like it before. The theme of the book is entirely new, due to the hearty cooperation of the Senior class. The staff is expecting to put out the best annual yet.

The sponsor section will be better this year than ever before, it is believed. It is going to be a thing of artistic beauty, and those concerned should be proud to have these pictures in their annual.

The individual pictures of Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores, made by Mr. Dunbar of Siddle's Studio, as a whole are the best set of pictures that have been seen, and it is hoped that the pictures in the book will be better this year than ever before.

Mr. Rockfield, Senior editor, states that the Seniors have not all turned in their write-ups and snapshots, and that they should do so as soon as possible.

ELECTRICAL DEPARTMENT OCCUPIES NEW BUILDING

Heavy Electrical Apparatus and Physics Department To Be Moved During Holidays

The Department of Electrical Engineering has moved from its former quarters in Winston Hall to the new Electrical and Physics building, opposite Polk Hall, and has finally settled in the offices of the new building as well as the classrooms where the examinations are being held this term in electrical subjects. The heavy laboratory apparatus has been left in Winston Hall for the present, and will be transferred to the new quarters during the Christmas holidays.

Winston Hall has been turned over entirely to the Chemistry Department and the Department of Civil Engineering, each of which has been in need of larger quarters for some time, and both will now expand to suit their respective needs.

The Physics Department is at present remaining in the basement of Holladay Hall, where it has been for many years. This department, too, will remove its laboratory apparatus during the holidays, to keep from disturbing affairs as they stand at present and from bothering the students who are now undergoing examinations upon the work covered during the fall quarter.

Both of these departments will be entirely and firmly established in their new quarters by the time the students return in January to take up their work for the winter term. It was originally hoped to have the new building open by the beginning of the school year, but several things entered to prevent scheduled opening.

DELEGATION WILL GO TO MILWAUKEE

Among the students and faculty members who will attend the National Student Conference, to be held at Milwaukee December 28 to January 1, inclusive, are Dean E. L. Cloyd, E. S. King, J. B. Britt, H. K. Platt, and C. L. Straghan from State College.

The National Student Conference is being held this year in Milwaukee, Wis., and is being sponsored by the Council of Christian Associations. This organization includes the Y. M. C. A.'s and Y. W. C. A.'s in all the leading colleges of the country.

A similar conference was held in Indianapolis in December, 1925. The present conference is restricted to 3,000 mature students and advisers. Among the speakers will be found A. Bruce Curry, who is familiar to many on the State College campus. Also Korby Page, who is a popular speaker to student audiences on social and international questions. Mr. Page has recently become the editor of The World Tomorrow. The list of speakers also includes such men as Henry Sloane Coffin, Robert A. Milliken, Mordcai Johnson, Dr. Edith H. Swift, and Howard Thirman, who is a graduate of Shaw University, Raleigh.

Mr. Isaac H. Farmer, B.E. 1908, is owner of the Farmer Supply Company, at Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Tech Tossers Get Off to a Good Start and Win First Tilt to Lively Tune of 38-16

LOCAL OFFENSE RAGGED

Team Has Easy Time Scoring During First Half, But Substitutions and Close Guarding by Opposition Slack Up the Scoring Power of Local Hardwood Artists Toward Close of the Game.

N. C. State's Red Terrors pried the lid off of the 1927 basketball season last Saturday night in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium by an easy 38-16 victory over the Rocky Mount Y. M. C. A. quint.

A fairly large crowd witnessed the 1926 champions get into action for the first time this year in what might be called a pre-season game. With every member of last year's aggregation back except Dickens, Coach Tebell has excellent material with which to build a championship team this year. Besides the letter-men that are back, there are several men who are coming up from last year's championship freshman team. Goodwin and Young look the most promising at present.

The Terrors had little trouble in turning in a victory over the visitors, who put up a good fight but lacked teamwork and the smoothness displayed by the Red Terrors. On account of the good guarding of the State quint, they were forced to try long shots, which were for the most part wild. At times the Terrors worked like a clock and scored at will, but at others they failed to function and were unable to locate the basket.

Captain Gresham, flashy forward for State, started the scoring when he located the basket early in the first period. The first half was a runaway for Tebell's men, who located the basket for twenty points while the visitors were held to six points, but in the second half Rocky Mount displayed better skill and scored ten points against eighteen made by the State quint.

Harry Brown and Hooker Spence led the scoring for the evening. The former made four field goals and one from the key, while the latter was runner-up with four goals to his credit. Captain Gresham was outstanding in the passing game and also accounted for six points. Watkins and McDowall played a good game. The Terrors' work as a whole was of a very good order, considering that this was the first game of the season. With a week's practice ahead of the Terrors before the contest with Atlantic Christian College, Tebell's charges will no doubt display better form in this game, which will be played in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium Saturday night.

TERRORS MEET A. C. C. AT GYM. SATURDAY, DEC. 18

"Little Christians" Expected to Present Their Usual Hard Fighting Machine

The Red Terrors will meet the last quint from Atlantic Christian College Saturday night on the floor of Frank Thompson gymnasium in their last game before the Christmas holidays.

The writer does not know how strong the opposition will be, since they have not yet made their initial debut to the public this season, but judging from the past the Red Terrors will have to be on the lookout for the "Little Christians." Probably some recall the game with the Christians last year. The Terrors were forced to extend themselves in order to defeat them by the score of 37-20.

At the end of the first half the Christians led by a four-point margin. Last Saturday night the Red Terrors easily defeated the Rocky Mount "Y." At times they worked with clock-like precision, but at others they failed to function properly and were unable to locate the basket. This week Coach Tebell has been smoothing out the wrinkles displayed in this game, and no doubt the Terrors will display more speed and their system will function better in this game.

Paragraphics

Only four pages this week.

We know that the students will be too busy to read six pages.

They will probably be just as busy the first week after the holidays, swapping Christmas yarns.

A new angle on the co-ed situation has been brought to our attention. They threaten to require the freshmen to carry hairpins for them.

We have been "legging" the Post Cards For Christmas Club, and the latest indications are that we stand an excellent chance of becoming a member.

That old cheering down at the Gym sounded mighty good Saturday night. The old spirit was the best thing in evidence except the Red Terrors.

The thing that happened to Randal Martin on Hillsboro Street Saturday night might quite as easily have happened to any of us. Let us use more caution, and let us insist that the traffic authorities use more precaution.

A YAWNING DEATH TRAP

The accidental death of young R. D. Martin, on Hillsboro Street Saturday night, was but one of a series of fatal and near-fatal accidents that have happened on that thoroughfare. The series will continue with increasing frequency as time goes by unless drastic steps are taken to prevent this wanton waste of life.

There have been two killed in front of State College in as many years, the last a student. The other was a negro laborer, who was run down by a motorist who speeded on his way, never to be caught.

Two years ago a senior was run down as he alighted from a street car on registration day. He spent months in a hospital, and is still slightly deranged.

Since that time at least four others have been confined to the hospitals as results of wrecks, while almost countless students have been slightly bruised or had very narrow escapes.

During the last five years there have been several accidents, some of them fatal, on Hillsboro Street, from St. Mary's west.

The latest fatality was the fault of no one in particular, but the fault of circumstances in general. Martin would ordinarily have been fairly safe in looking out to his left for oncoming cars as he started for the street car, as he was nearly a block from the barricade across the opposite side of the street. The motorist would ordinarily have been on the right of the street in that distance.

Because of the construction work on Hillsboro Street this fall and the resultant traffic congestion, it is singular that there have not been more accidents on the campus. There have been several, but none fatal. The campus has been fairly alive with motorists trying to thread their way either into or out of Raleigh.

Hillsboro Street has ever been Raleigh's speedway. When the average driver going west reaches St. Mary's he decides that he is out of the zone of law enforcement, and the highest figure on his speedometer is his speed limit.

Now that Hillsboro has been made wider the reckless driving has increased. Last week a negro, driving a high-speed truck loaded with coal, sped into town making at least 50 miles per hour. He raced through a group of Meredith students who were changing cars at the old Fair Grounds, scattering them like so many geese.

There are approximately 1,300 students at State College. They will cross Hillsboro for their mail, to go to their fraternity homes, to the barber shop, or to go to town, on an average of three trips daily, making a total of 7,800 crossings. The faculty, office force, and resident crossing will bring the total up to somewhere near the 10,000 mark.

The automobile traffic is very heavy, this being one of the most congested routes in the state. Thousands pass daily.

Unless effective measures are taken to make life safer on this street it is destined to rival "Dead Man's Curve" between Greensboro and High Point.

In the first place students should be more careful. We have heard citizens of the town remark that students seemed to think their lives are charmed, and that they are never in danger.

The city of Raleigh should adopt a system of drastic law enforcement regarding the traffic on this busiest of all its boulevards. At present, and in the past, there has been little more regard for city traffic ordinances on this street than if there were none in existence.

All haste should be made to complete the two new western outlets, one by the Experiment Station and the other by Brooks Avenue, through Fairmont.

The present situation is a blight on the city of Raleigh.

Student Forum

STUDENTS, BE CAREFUL!

Are college students growing more careless, or has the year 1926 been unlucky for them? Since the colleges opened in September there have been a great number of accidents and deaths reported.

Last week J. D. Martin, a State College student, was killed as he was running across the street to catch a street car. This is the first fatal accident reported from this College, but many of the students have been confined to hospitals on account of injuries or sickness. These students have received their injuries from auto accidents, football games, and other sources.

State is not alone in reporting many accidents, for there have been two Carolina students killed and several injured at both Wake Forest and Davidson.

All institutions should stress safety among their students, so in the future similar accidents will not happen. F. M. WILLIAMSON.

LONGER DANCE HOURS

What can be done concerning the hours of the dances given on the State College campus? Is it right that all dancing hours on the campus be from 9:00 to 12:00? Should we have the same hours for dancing here as we are accustomed to when off the campus?

For some time the dancing situation here has been very unsettled, and from the opinions and discussions among those students who attend the dances it is obvious that they are not satisfied. Only a very few dances with the exception of those held on Saturday nights have the hours from 9:00 to 12:00; instead, they are from 9:00 to 1:00, and on special occasions from 9:00 to 2:00.

Hours such as these are customary to the students in their home towns, and naturally they have become accustomed to them. When we are here at school we must stop dances at 12:00, which gives us, including intermission, about two hours to dance, since the functions here do not begin until around 10:00 o'clock.

Only recently, during the Thanksgiving dances, we recall that as soon as 12:00 o'clock came the dance was transferred from the gym to the Yarrowburgh Hotel, where the students had to pay an additional fee. Instead of undergoing the possibility of trouble, would it not be better to have a State College student on the campus than in a downtown hotel ballroom?

Those who went to the Yarrowburgh dance after the closing of the dance on the campus would have preferred to remain at the gym an hour longer; from the fact that they wanted to dance more, they were willing to pay an additional $1.50 and go to the downtown dance. Since that time there has been much criticism, inside and outside, as to the dancing hours here. There will be dances corresponding to that late dance so long as the dances on the State College campus stop at 12:00 o'clock.

To be sure, if trouble ever arises at a late dance in the Yarrowburgh ballroom, it will stand out in black headlines and that won't help State College.

The best dances in the State are held at State College; why not have customary hours and have a larger attendance and greater satisfaction? T. S. STUART.

"SAFETY FIRST" ADVISED

A system of safety must be installed on Hillsboro Street, in front of the College, both for motorists and for students of the College. The recent accident at College Court, which cost the life of one of State's students, shows the great need of "safety-first" on Hillsboro Street.

Plans, which are underway, to divert traffic on N. C. 10 to the Western Boulevard and on N. C. 50 to Clark Street will give relief to the Hillsboro problem, but, until then, some steps must be taken by the student body, citizens, and police of Raleigh. Some steps must be taken toward "crossing Hillsboro Street cautiously." A safety drive, sponsored by The Technician, with the aid of the student body and the Raleigh police, will mean much toward preventing further accidents.

"Safety First," "Cross Hillsboro Street cautiously," and "Look both ways before crossing," are slogans that must be adopted in order to relieve the present situation. A. N. GREENE.

Uncle Dudley's Opinion--

Exams are so prominent all over the campus now that there is very little thought given to anything else. After a few days we will all have the Christmas spirit, when the trains begin to near the home towns bearing our bodies and minds wearied from such hard work and exams.

Make it two weeks of enjoyment, and may everyone's Christmas be a huge success! In this climax our joys shall fall and we will find ourselves back here again. Then will be the time for our minds to be fresh from the holidays and ready to work. We shall all be in good spirits to support the basketball team and see that we have another State championship, and then to the Southern Conference.

With all these in mind but not too deeply rooted, we shall all leave the old campus in the next few days with a smile on our faces and a good Christmas to everyone.

Professor Zip says--

OLE SANDY CLAWS, I've been right good, for twelve months on a string; I've done things just the way I should, nor loafed in anything. I've washed my face, I've combed my hair, and kept the woodbox full; I've searched for duties everywhere, nor stopped for slinging bull. My lessons all were well prepared, from gym to 'rithmetic; and I was always sorter scared to play off hookey, sick. My little brother had for lunch the biggest piece of pie, while prayers of mine for all the bunch went daily to the sky. I've counted fifty 'fore I'd fight; I hit above the belt; and though my eye was swollen tight, no anger have I felt. I love my pop and mamma, too, and every kid I know; but I ain't had a thing that's new for half a year or so. Now, Sandy, please, bring on your toys, and let me have 'bout five, for I have been the best of boys that ever's been alive.

HOWARD D. EGE

—and now, while he doesn't own the business, he's got what he had hoped for in a business of his own. He's gained the opportunity to bring out the best there is in human effort—to handle men rather than materials.

That's what Howard D. Ege had in mind during the time of his early schooling at Grand Island College. It was actively developed during 1919-21 when he worked nights in a Lawrence power plant while completing the work for his B. S. in Engineering at Kansas University.

Ege doesn't scorn the well-known dictum of Socrates—"Know thyself." But he gets more of a kick out of the practical application of "Know others."

Today—five years after enrolling in the Westinghouse Graduate Students' Course—he directly controls a staff of fifty persons. And he's responsible for coordinating the efforts of 1500 employees—half of them men and half of them women—on the production floor.

Ege is Production Supervisor in the Coils and Insulation Department at the East Pittsburgh Works. He is the link between the entire Westinghouse organization and thirteen foremen who directly supervise the work of hundreds of employees. He is engaged in a production job which turns out finished parts with a shop value of more than $1,000,000 a year.

How Westinghouse offers opportunity to engineers differing widely in outlook is demonstrated again in Ege's case. From the time he conceived his ambition to work with men his path has followed a straight line. His training course at East Pittsburgh was in Works Management. This lasted about a year. Then he became Chief Clerk in the Coils and Insulation Department. Only one year later he became Supervisor, reporting directly to the Works Superintendent of Production.

To the man who wants to work with men rather than with materials, Westinghouse offers promising opportunities.

RANDOLPH STUDENTS WILL HOLD AN UNIQUE BANQUET

Representatives From Different Colleges Will Attend; Both Sexes Will Attend

All college students from Randolph County who are attending college at the present time will have a get-together meeting in Asheboro, N. C., December 23, 1926.

This is the only county in the State which holds a get-together meeting at Christmas each year. The first banquet was held last Christmas, and was such a great success that it is to be an annual affair.

Randolph County has many students attending in college in this State, and many attending college in other states. They have a get-together meeting to discuss their various schools. Each college that has students from the county is requested to have a representative to make a short talk, explaining some phase of the college.

It is hoped that some arrangement can be made whereby the high school seniors of the county can attend these meetings. The plan will probably be worked out at the next meeting whereby this can be done. If the seniors who are in high school and expect to attend college could be present at these meetings, it would be a good advertisement for the various colleges represented.

The principal speech at the banquet will be delivered by Congressman William C. Hammer, and other leading men of the county will be present and make short talks. Besides the speeches, an orchestra has been employed to furnish music for the evening. Other entertainment will be on the program.

This banquet is for both male and female students. Last year, at the first get-together meeting of this kind, there were more female students than male. It is hoped that they will be more evenly distributed this year than last. This banquet is to be held in the Ashlyon Hotel, Asheboro, N. C., December 23, 1926, from 8-12 p.m.

OFFICES AVAILABLE FOR STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

The vacating of the basement of Holladay Hall by the Physics Department has left ample space for offices for the students' publications, which have in the past had either inadequate quarters or none at all. The new quarters will be far from satisfactory, because of a lack of the proper furniture and cabinet work. The heating situation may also prove far from satisfactory, as Holladay is strictly an office building and has no heat after 4:30 p.m. This problem can probably be solved. The Wataugan and The Agriculturist will probably move in immediately after the holidays, as they have no offices at present. It is not known whether The Technician and The Agromeck will move, or if they will choose to remain in their present cramped and otherwise unsatisfactory quarters in the Y. M. C. A. building. It is understood that permanent offices will be fitted in the basement of Holladay as soon as funds are available.

INFIRMARY PATIENTS ARE NOW RECOVERING

All the patients in the College Infirmary are rapidly improving and will be out and able to go around the campus in a few days. Several recently have undergone operations for appendicitis at Rex Hospital and are now convalescing under the care of Miss Mainor.

R. S. Mears and R. L. Wooten, as well as F. W. Habel, manager of the 1926 football team, gave up their appendix in each case under the doctor's knife, and all will soon be out of the Infirmary.

J. B. Webb has been confined to his bed in the College hospital since Thanksgiving, with rheumatism, but has been improving rapidly in the last few days and will be able to go home for the holidays.

B. A. Peacock is out after a confinement of two weeks, caused from a minor operation upon his nose, through which he lost much blood in hemorrhages of that organ.

Alumni Notes
Observations and Communications of ZIPPY MACK

The millennium has arrived. We went to no less than two banquets last week, and green peas were served at neither. For these thirty-odd years we have waited for just one like that, and to have them come double was simply too much. When we get into the legislature our first bill will have nothing to do with Evolution, but will safely consist the inventor of the green-pea idea to a life of solitary confinement, alongside the fellow who invented this way of eating with one hand under the table. Neither of them deserves anything better.

The Wake County Chapter of the Alumni Association was host Friday night to the members of the varsity and freshman football teams at a very enjoyable banquet at the Yarbrough Hotel. Mr. L. E. Wooten, president of the local association, acted as toastmaster, and featured his services with introductions of each member of the teams, and by speeches from the coaches and captains, and from several distinguished alumni present.

Mr. H. D. ("Red") Hamrick, of the '24 Electricals, left the General Electric folks long enough to be with us some during the week. "Red" used to rate first in a good many things. He was first monogram man to make the Pine Burr, and the first to win the P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal. In addition to that, he was captain of track, and still holds the State record for discus throw.

Professor Grimshaw tells us that he has lately heard from F. S. Pritchard, of the '26 Textiles, who is now boss dyer at a mill in Soddy, Tennessee. The village is lonely, so Pritchard has obtained a Chrysler and suddenly become a sheik of the first order.

Mr. S. H. McNeely, B.E. 1908, is with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at Buffalo, New York.

Mr. M. L. Eargle, B.Agr. 1908, is farming on Route No. 7, Charlotte, N. C.

Mr. R. B. Cochran, B.E. 1902, is chief inspector for the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company at East Norwood, Ohio.

Mr. Fred C. Phelps, B.E. 1904, is a major of infantry in the U. S.

It is tight, flexible, easily made and non-corrodible—there are no bolts to rust out—it makes changes of alignment or insertion of special fittings a simple matter—it can be taken apart and the pipe used over again, without any injury—it is not subject to damage in transit—in fact, it embodies practically all of the desirable qualities in an underground joint.

Camel attracts the quality smoker

CAREFUL observation will reveal that men of quality demand quality in a cigarette—smoke Camels. A Camel smoker goes straight to the point in cigarettes and demands enjoyment.

For there are no better tobaccos or blending than you get in Camels. There is no other cigarette taste and fragrance that can compare with Camels, because they are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. In a cigarette, as in the smoker, there is nothing that can substitute for quality.

If you want to know what experienced smokers like, just try Camels. Each year new millions try them all and find in Camels enjoyment realized. Camels never tire the taste. To test the quality of Camels, compare them with any cigarette made regardless of price. "Have a Camel!"
