TAYLOR TO BE PRESIDENT

Kaupp, Rice, and Dana Elected
From Faculty; Membership
Is High Honor

The Phi Kappa Phi National Honorary Society held its first fall meeting Monday night in Ricks Hall for the purpose of electing new officers and to select new members from the faculty and student body. C. C. Taylor was elected president for the year, while W. A. Anderson was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The faculty membership of the society was increased by electing the following faculty members: Dr. B. F. Kaupp, Dr. F. E. Rice, and Dr. W. J. Dana.

The eleven Seniors who were honored by being elected into the fraternity were C. O. Butler, Chemical Engineering, from Southern Pines; J. D. Cassada, Textile Manufacturing, from Littleton; F. M. Chester, Civil Engineering, from Asheville; J. D. Conrad, Mechanical Engineering, from Lexington; R. R. Fountain, Agriculture, from Catherine Lake; J. F. Matheson, Textile Manufacturing, from Cheraw; S. C. W. E. Wilson, Electrical Engineering, from West Asheville; F. E. Plummer, Textile Manufacturing, from Selma, Ala.; B. A. Sides, Agriculture, from Concord; W. E. Mathews, Electrical Engineering, from Laurin.—Continued on page 2.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT ENLARGED

Teachers Training Agency Now Occupies Eight Rooms on Top Floor of Ricks

After moving from three rooms on the first floor to eight on the third floor of Ricks Hall, and now having an office for each member of the department, as well as a psychology laboratory and an additional recitation room, the Department of Vocational Education is now very well settled. With an increased enrollment, 257 students now being registered in the courses given by this department of the School of Science and Business, and with enlarged departmental facilities, the department expects to lead to greater developments in the educational field of North Carolina.

The present plans for a future program will enlarge the active department to include training of teachers of science for secondary schools, rural school principals, and combination teachers of physical education and science in secondary schools, to meet the demand for teachers of agriculture and science, and will combine with the College Extension Service to train extension workers in agricultural and home economics. Just as it is now co-operating with the Department of Physical Education to produce teachers of science and athletics.

A great advantage of the new location of the Vocational Education Department of the College is that it is directly across the hall from the State Department of Public Instruction.—Continued on page 5.

NOTED LECTURER SPEAKS CHAPEL NEXT WEDNESDAY

Mr. James Speed, widely known lecturer who is sponsored by the Southern Agriculturist, will speak to the student-body of State College next Wednesday in Pullen Hall at the regular college assembly period.

Mr. Speed has spoken in some of the most famous universities and colleges in the South and before conventions in all parts of the country. He has four great speeches, which are: "Idealize the Job," "Keep Eyes Wide Open," "Selling the Rural Group," and "English—A Tool of Expression." It is upon one of these subjects that he will talk to the student-body here, and from reports from all over the country, it is a rare treat to hear one of these discourses given by such a well-recognized man as Mr. Speed.

FRATERNITY ROW NOW POSSIBLE AT STATE

Planned to Acquire Frontage in Fair Ground Development for Local Chapters

Plans for the establishment of a "Fraternity Row" at State College are under way, and if carried out will establish a row of beautiful houses along Hillsboro Street on the old fair ground property. It is planned to secure the aid of one of the largest life insurance companies of the state in financing the project.

For some time students have been thinking of the possibility of a "Fraternity Row," but until the subdivision of the fair ground property there was no suitable location near the college. Leaders of the movement expect to see fifteen or twenty lots facing Hillsboro street set aside for this purpose. Houses will be built according to the needs of the various fraternities and will be constructed along the most modern designs. The first floor will contain large living rooms and club rooms, the second floor will be used for sleeping quarters, and the third floor will be devoted to the chapter room. Payment will be made over a long period of years so as to distribute the expense. It is stated that this plan has been used successfully at the State University and other colleges of the section.

The first experience of fraternities here with houses came last year when one of the locals moved off the campus. Prior to that time all fraternities had grouped themselves in dormitories and used a centrally located room for chapter headquarters. The moving spirit spread rapidly and now there are ten chapters living near the college in houses which they are renting. They are located indiscriminately, and fail to make the appearance that a row of spacious houses would contribute.

In addition to furnishing residence quarters for students, these houses will be useful for the stopping places for the former members and friends when visiting the capital city.

FELLOWSHIP GROUPS ARE DISCONTINUED FOR WEEK

Freshman Meetings Called Off to Allow All Attend Student Body Meeting

In order to clear the calendar for the general student body pep meeting of last Wednesday night the regular meeting of the Fellowship Groups was postponed for one week. This is not a "let-up" in the freshman program of work, but it was a positive, cooperative effort toward the building of a greater unity and morale on our campus.

The "Y" hopes that every member of the freshman groups will note the reason for this postponement of the regular meeting. Furthermore, that every member and leader will make it a point to be on hand promptly at the meeting to be held next Wednesday night at 8:30.

The problem for next week is: "How Shall I Choose My Life Work?" The leaders' meeting has already been held and the problem carefully gone over. The syllabus has been prepared, and Professor Boshart has given an assembly talk on this problem. Everything is in readiness for the best and most profitable meeting yet held.

Be sure to be present next Wednesday night and bring a friend along.

Forenic Contests For Year Be Governed by Committee

The Co-ordination Committee, legislative body for regulating all inter-society contests between the Pullen and Leazar literary societies, met Wednesday and recommended to the two societies regulations governing the year-round contest.

The Committee is composed of Professor C. C. Cunningham, director of public speaking, and three representatives from each society. The men representing Pullen are: Morris, Ammons and Roberts. The Leazar representatives are: Dunlap, Britt and Bowie.

The Committee report, as follows, will be voted on by the two societies: To the Pullen and Leazar Literary Societies:

The Co-ordination Committee of the two societies hereby recommends:

1. That the year-round contest commence with the meeting of Friday, October 29.
 2. That the Annual Declamation Contest be held on the evening of Friday, December 3.
 3. That the system of scoring for the Annual Contest be the same as last year, including the amendment of March 5. This system is as follows:
- For each member present at a weekly meeting, add 1 point. (This total to include only those members who are in good standing.)
- For each member scheduled to appear on the program who fails to perform his part, deduct 5 points. (It is understood that a member who is scheduled for a program and who finds that it is going to be impossible for him to appear, may notify the Chairman of the Program Committee, of his society not later than noon of Wednesday, in that way avoiding the deduction and permitting the Program Committee to schedule a substitute.)

For each favorable opinion of an official visitor, add 25 points.

For each new, dues-paying member, who enrolls after the first fifteen days of the term, add 2 points. (In carrying out this provision, it is required that the Secretary of each society shall submit to the faculty advisor at the expiration of the first fifteen days of each term a list of the members in good standing at that time. For the first term of the current year such list must be submitted to the faculty advisor by Saturday noon, October 30.)

Points to be scored in the inter-society contest are to be as follows:

- Declamation and Oratorical contests:
- First place, 25 points.
- Second place, 15 points.
- Debates:
- Each favorable judge's decision, 10 points.
- Best speaker in contest, 10 points.
- For each member who represents—Continued on page 2.

STOCK-JUDGING TEAM DOES WELL AT DETROIT

D. C. Worth, H. M. Adams, and
R. W. Zimmerman Judge;
B. A. Sides Alternate

The stock-judging team and the dairy products team, composed of H. M. Adams, D. C. Worth, R. W. Zimmerman, and B. A. Sides, did some creditable work at the National Dairy Exposition, held in Detroit, Michigan, last week, by placing 6th in dairy cattle judging and 7th in dairy products judging.

There were twenty-seven teams entered in the stock-judging contest, from twenty-six states and the province of Ontario, Canada, and by putting twenty-one of these teams below State a very creditable showing was made.

The fact that all teams placing above N. C. State were from cattle states, and the majority placing below State were cattle states, goes to show how consistently the team worked. The men who judged were H. M. Adams, D. C. Worth, and R. W. Zimmerman, B. A. Sides being an alternate. The states placing ahead of N. C. State were South Dakota, Ontario, Canada; Oregon, Connecticut, and Minnesota. Not only did the team place 6th in judging all—Continued on page 2.

Y. M. C. A. MEN DELEGATES TO WORLD-WIDE INSTITUTE

"Y" Secretary King and A. B.
Holden Attend Conference
at Charlotte

A. B. Holden and E. S. King represented the State College "Y" at the Institute on World-Wide Y. M. C. A. Work, held in Charlotte on October 12th. There were about 75 laymen and secretaries present, representing the associations of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia.

A number of the national and regional leaders of the Y. M. C. A. were present. The delegates from abroad were Frank V. Slack, who has supervision over the "Y" work in India, Egypt, the Holy Land, and South Africa; H. G. Holt, of Lucknow, India; O. R. Magill, Student Secretary for China, and Dr. H. E. C. Liu, National "Y" Secretary for China.

The institute was featured by discussions on how to promote more effectively the world-wide program. The North American Y. M. C. A. is now promoting work in thirty nations at an annual cost of over one million dollars. The policy being followed is to plant the Association, develop native leadership and support, and then withdraw, leaving the management in their hands.

The special features of the day were the luncheon and dinner meetings. Dr. H. E. C. Liu, National Secretary for China, was the speaker at—Continued on page 2.

DR. A. W. TAYLOR WILL SPEAK HERE OCT. 21-22

Brother of Dr. C. C. Taylor Has Just Returned From Good-
Will Tour in Mexico

Dr. A. W. Taylor, brother of Dr. C. C. Taylor of N. C. State and a leader of the recent good-will tour to Mexico, will be here Thursday and Friday, October 21 and 22, to speak to the students and members of the faculty.

Dr. A. W. Taylor has just returned from Mexico, where he spent a month studying the conditions in that country and the relationship that exists between that country and the United States. He, as well as the other members of the party on the Mexican good-will tour, studied these conditions with the hope of developing a better understanding and a more friendly relationship between these two countries. Dr. Taylor is, therefore, very well informed about subjects concerning Mexico.

Dr. Taylor is at the present time the Social Service Secretary of the Disciples of Christ Church, and a member of the Federal Council of Churches. He is not only very active in church work, but a leader in religious life.

For several years his activities have been confined more or less to industrial conciliation. He is trying to help Christianity find a larger and really important place in industry. He wishes to see industry as a whole on a higher plane—a plane that is based on the simple principles of Christianity.

The schedule of program that Dr. Taylor will follow while here has not been announced. Dr. C. C. Taylor and E. S. King, general secretary of the "Y", are working on this program at the present time and will have it complete when Dr. A. W. Taylor arrives. Dr. Taylor will very likely speak at one general assembly, conduct an open forum Thursday night, and speak at several classes Thursday or Friday.

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL CARRY STUDENTS TO BAPTIST MEET

Seven State College Men Will Attend Southwide Student
Convention Oct. 28

A special train will leave Raleigh October 27th, carrying students to the First Southwide Baptist Student Convention, to be held in Birmingham, Alabama, October 28-31. The Eastern delegates will be joined in Greensboro by students from Maryland and Virginia, in Spartanburg and Greenville by students from Western North Carolina and South Carolina, and in Atlanta by students from Georgia and probably from Florida. More than 2,000 students are expected to attend the convention.

The purpose of the gathering is to conserve for kingdom advancement the spiritual power of the Baptist students in the college life of the South.

Many outstanding men and women will be present to help the students solve the vital problems of their lives. Among the speakers are: Dr. Geo. Truett, Dr. Henry Alford Porter, Dr. B. D. Gray, Miss Kathleen Malloy, Dr. J. F. Love, Dr. L. E. Scarborough, and Dr. Geo. W. Leavelle.

AGRONOMY FLOAT WINS FIRST PRIZE IN STUDENTS FAIR

Horticultural and Agricultural Administration Win Second and Third Places

DIVERSIFICATION WINS

All Prize-winning Floats Stress
Idea of Placing Faith in Several Crops

The Agronomy Department float won first prize in the contest conducted by the Students' Agricultural Fair Thursday. The Horticultural float won second prize, and the Agricultural Administration float, third.

The competition for these prizes was unusually close this year. In years gone by there has sometimes been some one float outstanding above the others in beauty and ideas conveyed. This year, however, the floats were all good, each carrying a distinct message.

In the contest for best exhibit and float combined, the awarding was almost parallel to the placing of the floats alone. Again the Agronomy Department won first place, while the Agricultural Administration and Horticultural Departments won second and third places, respectively, thus reversing the order in which they placed in the float contest.

To a close observer it was easy to follow the train of thought of the judges. There are three points on which floats are usually judged, namely:

1. Beauty, pleasing to the eye. All the floats had this quality.

SPRINGER HAS EVENTFUL TRIP TO BLACK MOUNTAIN

Attends Southern Field Council Meeting of Y. M. C. A. as State Member

"Jumper" Springer arrived in Raleigh Monday morning at 2:30 in his Ford "Bouncer," thus completing a trip to Black Mountain to attend the Southern Field Council meeting of the Y. M. C. A., held at the Black Mountain Inn, October 8th, 9th, and 10th.

Springer, senior member of the council from North Carolina made the trip with Joe Bobbitt, of the University of North Carolina, junior member from this state; "Ku Klux" Griffin and E. C. Nesbitt, of Klute.

The latter two were making the trip because of a weakness for the feminine gender. The trip to the "Land of the Sky" was very pleasant, special features being a blowout, short circuiting of lights, breaking of fan belt, and several detours. After dropping the "skirts attracted duo" at Old Fort and Black Mountain, Springer and Bobbitt arrived at the Inn at 3:00 o'clock Friday morning. Failing to find a vacant room with blankets in it, they located two very Christian brothers who let them warm their feet on them until later in the morning. The special features of the return trip were: the city of Statesville declined to sell the travelers gas because of church hours, and the last hundred and eighty miles made in six hours in a drizzling rain, including a detour and several stops.

SNYDER INVITED SPEAK IN HOLLAND

Dr. L. H. Snyder, of the Zoology Department, has received an invitation from the Royal Academy of Science of Holland to address the International Eugenics Federation, which meets in Amsterdam next year.

This invitation comes as a distinct honor to Dr. Snyder, as he is one of the youngest zoologists in the country to have gained international reputation as an authority in his field.

Dr. Snyder came to State College three years ago, having only recently received his Master's degree, and in appearance looking no older than his pupils. He was at that time doing research work on the blood test of heredity, which he has since completed. It is the most exhaustive and conclusive work that has yet been done in that field.

A. S. M. E. INITIATION BANQUET HELD IN "Y"

100 Old and New Members Attend Annual Dining and Speechmaking Event

On Tuesday night at 7:30 the local branch of the A. S. M. E. held its annual initiation banquet in the Y. M. C. A. The old and new members were almost one hundred per cent present. Mr. L. M. Stuart, the president, acted as toastmaster. After chief waiter "Red" Hicks had finished serving the delightful three-course dinner and all were contenting themselves with smokes, the toastmaster called on J. D. Conrath, who briefly outlined the plans of the A. S. M. E. for the coming year and welcomed the new men into the society.

Mr. R. M. Person responded for the new men and pledged their co-operation in making this a successful year for the society.

Prof. W. J. Dana, faculty advisor for the society, spoke on the general purpose of the national A. S. M. E. and its relation to the student branch.

Prof. J. M. Foster made a most enthusiastic talk on the subject, "Our M. E. Graduates". With specific cases he pointed out the success which the mechanical graduates are having in the world at large. He urged upon the mechanical students to get the "department spirit" as well as the "college spirit" and advertise to the world the department of Mechanical Engineering at State College.

Prof. L. L. Vaughan spoke of the National Student Convention and its importance to the local branch. He urged the students in their diligence to their society work in addition to their college work.

Person led in a snappy yell for the A. S. M. E. and the banquet closed, everyone feeling highly enthusiastic over the prospects for the coming year.

breeds, but placed 2d as a team on Guernseys, 8th on Ayrshires, and 9th on Holsteins.

The results of judging ice cream, butter, cheese, and sweet milk was most gratifying, because State had never had such a team before, and to place 7th out of thirteen teams the first time was perhaps more than was expected. The team's placing on some of the products showed better than on others. For instance, State took 3d place in judging ice cream and 4th place in judging butter.

Besides seeing all the fine cattle at the fair, the team and coaches, Professors F. M. Haig and W. L. Clevenger, attended the National Dairy Industries Exposition, which was being held in Detroit. At this exposition there was every conceivable kind of dairy machinery and products used in dairies and dairy manufacturing plants.

While in Detroit the students also visited the Ford plant, the Studebaker plant, and the largest warehouse and railroad and steamship terminals in the country.

Of course the trip was not complete until a trip over into Canada was made, so the boys took a boat over to the country where prohibition is not considered seriously.

On the return trip a day was spent in Buffalo, N. Y., looking over the city and Niagara Falls. One day was spent in Washington, seeing the sights and wonders of that city.

There were thirty representatives at the National Dairy and Dairy Products Exposition from North Carolina. A good majority of the men were State College graduates.

the luncheon meeting. Dr. Liu appeared in native Chinese dress. He pointed out that there are 250 associations in China and that three million people have been taught to read and write in the Y. M. C. A. schools there, but that since China has a population of four hundred million, much yet remains to be done. He pleaded for America to continue to send out strong leaders to help the growing association movement in China.

The speakers at the dinner meeting were F. B. Lenz and F. V. Slack. Mr. Lenz told of the work of the "Y" in the newly formed republics of Europe and how it had been an effective force in combating Communism and Bolshevism in those countries.

Mr. Slack described the new building which is being erected in Jerusalem. He also told of the beginnings of the work in Egypt and of the great work being done in India to improve the economic conditions of the rural population through the establishment of "Y" Credit Associations, the basis on which loans are made being the character of the borrower. Mr. Slack said that Max Yergen, a graduate of Shaw University, was doing a wonderful work among the colored people of South Africa.

It is interesting to note that most of the foreign "Y" secretaries received their training in the student associations of this country. Some of the best of them have gone from North Carolina and other Southern states.

4. That all inter-society contests begin at 7:00 p. m., and that each society hold a business meeting before the contest if said contest is held on Friday night, attendance at the business meeting to be included in the total of points for the society.

5. That all men who have represented the college in intercollegiate debate be debarred from participation in inter-society debates.

6. That all men who have represented the college in intercollegiate oratorical contests be debarred from the intersociety declamation and oratorical contests.

7. That members of the undergraduate student-body enrolled as "Special Students" be allowed to represent the class whose courses they are taking a plurality of their weekly hours, provided that number is at least nine hours.

8. That a student be allowed to participate in only one intersociety debate each year.

9. That graduate students be debarred from all intersociety contests.

10. That the sides to be upheld in each debate be determined by the toss of a coin at a meeting of the Co-ordination Committee, after the proposition has been selected.

11. That the chairman of the Declamation Contest shall be the President or Vice-President of Pullen Literary Society in odd years, and the President or Vice-President of Learzar Society in even years; and that the office of chairman of the other contests shall alternate between the heads of the two societies.

12. That the judges of each contest shall be selected and procured by the Co-ordination Committee.

13. That there shall be two timekeepers for each contest, one appointed by the president of each society. That in the declamation and oratorical contests, these men shall keep a record of the speech lengths of the several contestants, and report to the judges any who violate the rule as to minimum and maximum length. In the debates these men shall sit in the front center of the hall, and shall give signals to the speakers as follows:

A warning signal, usually one or two minutes before the end of speech, by one of the two timekeepers standing momentarily.

A closing signal, at the end of the speech, by both timekeepers standing and remaining on their feet until the speaker has closed his speech.

14. That the time of speeches for the inter-society debates be:

Declamation and oratorical, from nine (9) to twelve (12) minutes in actual delivery time.

Debates, constructive speeches, ten (10) minutes; rebuttal speeches, three (3) minutes.

15. That the order of speaking in debates be:

First affirmative constructive.
First negative constructive.
Second affirmative constructive.
Second negative constructive.
First affirmative rebuttal.
First negative rebuttal.
Second affirmative rebuttal.
Second negative rebuttal.

16. That the order of speaking in declamation and oratorical contests be determined by drawing of lots as soon as feasible before the beginning of the contest.

17. That in all contests the affiliation of the speakers to the societies be not publicly announced until after the judges have rendered their decision.

2. Portraying the importance of that particular line of work. They all did this very effectively.

3. Driving home a message to the onlooker.

It was in the third point that the judges evidently found their decisions. They awarded all prizes to those departments in which diversification of crops and farm maintenance is stressed. The prize-winning float advised against "putting all your eggs in one basket," stressing a diversification of crops. The float winning second prize stated "the time has come for a balanced agriculture." The float winning third place had on it all the different horticultural crops that it was possible to procure.

The floats from the Animal Husbandry and Poultry Departments were beautiful in design, and told their message in a convincing way, but they were, to the casual observer at least, a one-stop proposition, and they won no prizes.

The minstrel show, "The Cyclone Twinklers," and the Biology Show gave entertainment on the midway Thursday night.

The judging contests, open to all agricultural students, were held Friday, but the results are not known at the time of this writing.

Wildcats Take Thrilling 3-0 Game From Lame Wolfpack

Outen, State Fullback, is Star of Game as Both Teams Rage Fiercely Over Field

The Wolfpack lost by 3-0 the most thrilling and closely contested game to the Davidson Wildcats last Thursday that has been seen on Riddick Field this season. The game was played before a crowd of approximately five thousand people and was one of the features of the first "Dad's Day" ever held at State College.

In the beginning the Wolfpack showed the fighting spirit and fought gamely throughout the entire game. One of the features of the game was the ability of the backs and ends to break up passes. The Wildcats tried six forward passes, but in vain. All were grounded except one, which was intercepted. State tried three passes and made one of them good. It was a fight from beginning to end. At no time during the game was it clear who was going to win. State suffered severely from penalties from holding.

Both teams tried desperately to carry the pigskin across the goal line, but in vain. In the third quarter State's line held like a brick wall when Davidson had the ball on the 2-yard line, and failed to carry it over in four downs. Grey drop-kicked in the beginning of the fourth quarter.

In the fourth quarter the Wolves launched an offensive attack that carried the ball to the 30-yard line, and there the Wildcats held and Austin failed to drop-kick.

McDowall, star half for State, was out of the line-up owing to a bad shoulder, which he injured in the Clemson game last Saturday. Bynum, star tackle for State, was also out of the game on account of injuries.

First Quarter

The opening quarter was fairly even, with State showing its first offensive threat. An exchange of punts gave State the ball on its 35-yard line. Hennessy made six yards and Outen added twelve yards in two downs. A line-play added one yard and Outen came back for nine yards and a first down. Mitchell then intercepted a State pass. Wells made 23 yards around end, followed up by a nine-yard gain with Grey carrying the ball. Davidson was penalized 15 yards. A drop-kick by Grey fell short.

Second Quarter

The Wildcats came back strong in the second quarter and ran off four first downs. Wells made 15 yards around end, followed with a 10-yard run by Gray. Three line-plays gained seven yards. Grey missed a try for a drop-kick. Wells made two yards and Harrison added eight. Melton threw Harrison for an eight-yard loss, and Wells lost a yard. Wilson, of Davidson, tried passes, but failed to complete a single one. Logan blocked a pass, as the half ended.

Third and Fourth Quarters

In the third quarter the Wildcats had the ball on State's 2-yard line at one time, but the Wolfpack line held and the Wildcats were unable to carry the ball across in four downs. Early in the fourth Grey made a drop-kick good. Ridenhour made six yards. Two tries at the line failed. Morris ripped off nine yards and a first down. Then the Davidson line held and Austin tried a drop-kick which fell short. Wells made 25 yards around end, but State held the Wildcats. State started another drive. Morris made eight yards. Ridenhour completed a pass to Crum for nine yards and the game ended.

TIGERS DEFEAT WOLVES IN HARD-FOUGHT GAME

McDowall Star of Game; Lose Chance to Score Touchdown in Third

The rejuvenated Clemson Tigers defeated the Wolfpack last Saturday by the score of 7-3.

State scored in the second period when McDowall drop-kicked from the 30-yard line. McDowall was no doubt the star for State. He played a very brilliant game throughout, and gained the admiration of the small crowd which witnessed the game. Jack tried in vain to complete passes, but the State ends failed to hold them.

The Wolfpack had an opportunity to score a touchdown in the third quarter when the ball was on Clemson's 5-yard line, but the Wolves failed to gain more than four and a half yards in four downs.

Clemson's score came in the third period when Midkiff completed a pass to Eskew, who ran 45 yards for a touchdown.

The line-up:

PACK HAS FRIENDS AT CLEMSON GAME

Many State Grads and Students Find Their Way to Scene of Football Game

Last Saturday at the Clemson game the Wolfpack was surprised at the number of people who were there yelling for them. The bleachers on the right were not as full as those on Clemson's side, but still there were a number there backing the Wolfpack.

The people who were yelling for the Wolfpack were mostly graduates of State College. One of the graduates whom every football player knew was R. E. Lawrence from Brevard. It was on his property up at Lake Sega that the Wolfpack had its first two weeks of training this year. Another person whom all the boys knew was Captain Logan's father, as he had visited them while they were at Lake Sega.

"RED" GRANGE VISITS RALEIGH ON SCREEN

There is probably not a college student in the United States that has not heard of the football career of Harold "Red" Grange, noted college and professional football star.

Only a comparative few have ever seen "Red" play, but State College students will have the opportunity of seeing him on the screen at the Capitol Theatre next week.

The football picture, "One Minute to Play," starring Grange, will come to the Capitol next week, showing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Capitol management has shown a good attitude toward State College by giving away 1,000 megaphones to the student body at the State-Davidson football game Thursday.

Tom: "You bet, and a lot of them, too."

Cathedral in New York Will Have Unique Window Depicting 26 Sports

A unique stained glass window is to be placed in Cathedral of St. John The Divine, in New York City, and will depict twenty-six of the leading sports of the day.

In the left panel, six feet wide and eighteen feet high, polo, golf, tennis, and baseball are pictured in four medallions, while the semi-circular sections in this panel show steeplechase, cycling, basket-ball, hand-ball, swimming, gymnastics, yachting, bowling, and billiards. The right panel represents racing, rowing, track and field, and football in medallions; with skating, hockey, soccer, fencing, wrestling, pole vaulting, boxing, and motor boating filling the surrounding sections.

This window was designed to adorn the Sports Bay that is being built to typify the idea of "playing the game squarely," and to "attract the young people." Letters are being sent out, by the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletics of America, saying

NEW PIGSKIN GAME NEARBY INSTITUTE

Tense Moment Comes in Play of Game Well Known to Oldtimers

A thrilling pigskin game was held at a sister institution yesterday afternoon which should be of especial interest to the men of State College, yet no State College followers of the pigskin were present to cheer.

Although the game lasted only a short time, it was characterized by a great expenditure of energy, and was considered the most important event in the season by the players. There

"For sport's sake and for God's sake, send us some money."

Sports should be closely related to religion, according to Bishop Manning, of New York, because they were originated as religious festivals in Greece. He also states that "A well played game of polo or football in its own place and in its own way is as pleasing to God as a beautiful service of worship in the Cathedral." The Bishop, apparently, sees no difference between the Pagan and Christian religions, for these same ideas were in vogue 2,000 years ago in Greece.

"For hundreds, perhaps for thousands of years to come, the glowing beauty of this window will do honor to sport, while the chapel becomes the sanctuary of the athlete and sportsman, and the whole Bay, chapel, triforium and clerestory stands as the symbol of the ideas of sportsmanship."

Four thousand years from now, after the Cathedral has long been forgotten, when fragments of such a window are unearthed, by excavators, what kind of religion will they give us, "the ancients," credit for?

The lusty cries and cheers of the rooters were heard from afar; a man appeared carrying a large bucket. As he approached, the cheers were given with redoubled energy, and punctuated by squeals of delight. Each brain had but one idea—that they must get there first, for they were about to feed the pigs at the Soldiers' Home, and they all knew that haste makes "waist."

PRINCE ALBERT stepped out into the world nearly twenty years ago. Success was immediate . . . and outstanding. Because P. A. measures up to the first and greatest rule for success: It has the goods! The school of experience has produced no finer tobacco than this.

Just buy yourself a tidy red tin of P. A. and tamp a load flush with the muzzle of your old jimmy-pipe. Connect with a match, and let that first wonderful drag tell you that no other tobacco can come within a mile of this for sheer pipe-quality.

Cool as a dormitory radiator. Sweet as an extra cut. Fragrant as a peach-orchard. P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat—another important detail. Get yourself some Prince Albert today. No other tobacco can bring you so much downright smoke-pleasure.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT —no other tobacco is like it!

Paragraphics

The Yanks played set-back in their last series of Card games.

Seems good that we shall have to hear no more "Ag. Fair" announcements.

There will be no more visitors in the Dining Hall. The 50-cent hold-up settles that.

The stock-judging team went over into Canada for a short time. Probably to test some of the Old Canadian Stock.

Our idea of a poor policy is for the college administration to invite the "Dads" to visit the college and then compel the sons to attend classes.

Cub reporters and head-line writers frequently cause stories to carry the wrong impression. We apologize to Mr. Wray for the misleading article in our last issue.

The old idea that intellectual men are small eaters was smashed recently when the editor of The Waitegan ate 14 hot-dogs at midnight, after having taken refreshments several times earlier in the evening.

Did you ever see those 400 maidens from Meredith stroll across our campus on their way to and from church Sunday? O, Detour! Where is thy victory? O, Co-education! Where is thy sting?

Someone was at fault. It may have been the Fair management or it may have been the Raleigh police department, but Fayetteville street should have been completely cleared of traffic for the "Ag." parade.

"Roey" Roberts and his freshman friends scored a touchdown when they "beat" a ride all the way to N. C. C. W. with the president of that institution. They scored the extra point when he invited them to "come often."

The world is not all bad. The Poultry Department has been in the habit of borrowing horses from the Johnnie J. Jones Circus to pull the poultry float in the parade. This year "Johnnie" had no horses, so he hired the best mules he could get in town and sent them along.

"Dad's Day" was a success beyond the hopes of its promoters, although there is much room for improvement. There would have been a great many more Dads present if the students had shown more individual enthusiasm in their letters to those Dads at home.

It is refreshing to notice the great number of students that gather in the newspaper and periodical end of the Library reading room. But it is sad indeed that there are those among us who have no more thought for the library files than to mutilate the copies for clippings, etc.

ABOUT TENNIS COURTS

The annual agitation for a set of tennis courts greatly endures our birth into the college world, and it now seems as if it might "go on forever." The subject has been approached from every possible angle, and each seems more impregnable than the last. Our most recent predecessor in these columns was most versatile in his attacks on our deplorable tennis situation. At that time we had four courts that were in fair condition, but repairs were necessary before they could be used. The Athletic Department "took the bull by the horns" and promised us a whole field full of courts near the dairy barns. Everybody was happy. The editorial columns of this weekly congratulated in all directions, fearful lest some should be forgotten and left without "the glad hand."

It was deemed wise not to spend anything in repairing the old courts, since the new ones would soon be ready. All hopes for a team to represent the college during that year were abandoned, but there was every assurance that everything would be in readiness for late spring practice in preparation for an active inter-collegiate season this year. All went well for awhile, then work was suspended on the half-done tennis courts. A few sarcastic editorials and student forum articles brought a statement from the sultan of athletics to the effect that all available finances were used already, and that a temporary lull in the storm of work on the tennis courts would be necessary. The explanation was most satisfactory, and very convincing. The Athletic Department was doing all it could, and the courts would be completed as soon as funds could be provided.

The beginning of another college year has come and gone. The weeds in the future tennis courts are reared in their growth only by the drouth and threat of frost. The Athletic Department has not the funds to complete the work started, and holds out no hope as to when said funds will be available. Meanwhile the old courts are beyond recognition as such. This is the only college in the state that has no tennis courts, and most high schools have at least enough courts for individual practice and recognition. It would seem that we are hopelessly in the background of the tennis world.

We are quite ready to admit that the game of tennis is not to be considered as one of the major sports, on which the Athletic Department is expected to receive its sustenance in a financial way. But tennis is probably the most pleasant and recreative game we have, with the probable exception of baseball.

Tennis courts are a necessary part of every college campus. Without them no college can have a well-rounded physical educational program, such as is boasted far and wide by State College. Those tennis courts down by the barn should be completed, and we are not particular as to who or what department shall be responsible for their completion. The Athletic Department has gone as far as its limited funds would allow. We question the strict propriety of expecting that department to build the courts. It did not build the Gymnasium, the Textile School did not build the textile building, nor did the hospital fee pay for the building of the Infirmary.

It is now time for the college administration to step into the breach left by the Athletic Department and complete those tennis courts. If no college funds are available, steps should be taken to make funds available. As a last resort we would earnestly favor taxing the already over-taxed student body. We are informed that only a few hundred dollars is now necessary to complete the work started, and it can be secured. Some may be inclined to ask "How?" Our question is "When?" It is not at all probable that there will be a financial boom here in the immediate years to come any more than there is now. In the meantime this procrastination should cease. Let us enjoy the privileges of tennis that we may rightfully expect in an institution of combined cultural and technical education.

We don't mind losing a game when we have a team that shows the fighting spirit that the Pack showed Thursday.

The daily papers have their little squabbles, even as we of the student world have ours. The News and Observer and The Raleigh Times each claims speed when it comes to getting out extras.

ON WRITING EDITORIALS

When a college man (or woman, perhaps) chances to be placed in the leading role in the play generally known as editing the student newspaper, he (or she) immediately becomes the most "sought after" person on the campus.

Whenever a reform of any nature is desired by any individual, that individual seeks diligently until we are found, then proceeds to tell us what is going on that should not be going on, and confidently suggests that the best way to handle a situation of that grievous nature is to give them an editorial, that panacea for all social ailments.

We listen very attentively to the discourse on the subject, and if we believe that it is worthy of an editorial we give it one. Otherwise—one more person is convinced that we are a poor excuse as a college editor.

We appreciate all suggestions for possible editorials, but we must still contend that we are incapable of conducting a reformatory for wayward boys, and that we are not in a position to make of this newspaper an encyclopedia of campus etiquette.

DO YOU GET YOUR PAPER?

Several students have met us on the campus, or called at the office, and registered complaints that they have not been receiving their copies of THE TECHNICIAN.

We thought we had perfected our system of mailing until there could not be a recurrence of this seemingly inevitable condition of chaos at the outset of each journalistic year, but we find there are still some who do not receive their papers.

We cannot believe this is entirely the fault of our circulation department. The mailing list was copied very carefully from the registration books, but since that time there have been some who registered late. They were not on the mailing list.

There was no way at this early date of checking up on who lived on or off the campus, so many copies were sent to the local postoffice when they should have gone to addresses out in town.

Some have not received their copies, although their correct address is on the mailing list. In a case of this sort we have to lay the blame on either the printers, who handle the mailing for us, or on the postal authorities.

We are this week completely revising the mailing list, and hope all who are entitled to receive a copy may do so. If there are those who still fail to get their copy of THE TECHNICIAN they should speak GENTLY to Jeff Davis about it.

STUDENT FORUM

SHUFORD MAKES REPLY

Being ignorant as to the identity of Uncle Dudley, I have a suspicion that he is one of those Raleigh social dudes who acts as a cat's-paw for some woman to drag here and yonder. Not having the fluent style of this learned columnist, I am at a loss as to how to answer him when he places me in a class with that notorious Rex Hale. Please follow me so closely as not to be misled.

I have reread my first article concerning co-eds, which was written as a relaxation from more strenuous duties, and find that it contains no statements that "should be kept to myself or proved." I believe that Uncle Dudley got his wires crossed and mixed my article with one written by Mr. Cross in the Literary Digest of October 9, which is a low slur on the name of woman, be she collegiate or otherwise. I wash my hands of such publicity-seeking charges, for I believe them groundless.

I have ten good reasons why I do not wish to see petticoats mingled with the wolf of N. C. State. They are as follows:

- (1) Co-eds are a nuisance. They nose into everything. Even the plan of salvation would be mislaid if they should happen to find it before Gabriel blows his horn.
- (2) Co-eds will cause us to study for our eyes out. Woman-like, she will search out little details which we do not at present have to worry about. Aspiring to be the best in the class, she will raise our standard of grading and will cause us to have to work harder.
- (3) This is not a school for women. The few that are here should be treated as the ladies which they have proved themselves to be, but a technical school—a man's school, where many a "cuss word" is liable to slip from the lips of the students—is not the place for a woman.
- (4) Figuratively, too many co-eds will be a pain. The few we have with us now are like a single cone of ice cream—delicious and refreshing. But did you ever try eating a barrel of ice cream?

(5) It is not fair for co-eds to come here. The authorities at N. C. C. W. would ring for a policeman if I should go there to register for a class in cooking or in the Greek dance. A hatted call at Dix Hill would be my first stop. Yet when women register here they are hailed as heroines of a new freedom.

(6) Co-eds will detract from the serious things of life. Anthony made love to Cleopatra while his empire crumbled about him.

(7) Co-eds on the campus will put an end to our traditions, such as shirt-tail parades and other half-clad gatherings. She already refuses to wear the authorized freshman cap. As a co-ed will still herself on the level with us, but still expect us to hold her on the pedestal of Southern custom.

(8) Co-eds can get away with murder. The faculty of the University of Kansas allowed the co-eds to put on a South Sea Island play, and while Eve is reported to have worn a leaf for clothing, these dusky chorines had on little but a few strands of grass. Later this same faculty caused the front page of "The Night Owl," student newspaper, to be mutilated because it carried a picture of a woman in a one-piece bathing suit.

(9) The co-ed is a woman. Woman's object, be it velled or otherwise, since the beginning of time has been matrimony. Woman's thoughts turn as naturally to that long, narrow church aisle as a duck turns to water.

Fellow-students, if you want to become mortgaged property and feed little fluffy poodle dogs each night, side with Uncle Dudley and it won't be long.

C. F. SHUFORD.

TENNIS AGAIN

Year before last a tennis team was started. It was coached by W. C. Parker, professor of Physical Education, and played all the colleges in the State. The team was sent to the State meet, which is held at the University of North Carolina each year, and even with the handicap of lack of courts, and also being the first year to have an organized team, they put up some good matches. Monograms were awarded to five members of the team, with the sweaters to be awarded with a star for the next year's play. There was no team the next year, and of way things look now, there will not be this year.

What is State College going to do—let the tennis team fall through? If anyone should glance over by the Freshman Athletic Field they will see twelve "supposed to be" tennis courts, all grown up in weeds. The courts look more like a pasture for the College cows to graze on than a place for the racketeers of State College to show their ranking as players.

Prof. Lefler, of the History Department, has offered his time and services to coach the team. Prof. Lefler has the reputation of being a real tennis star. He was a former star of the Trinity College Tennis Team, now Duke University. If a professor shows his interest enough to give his time for a team and the students all want a team, why can't State College give us some courts and let us do the rest, as to putting State College on the map as a tennis-playing college?

W. R. TAYLOR.

DON'T WASTE WATER

Do not waste water. The City of Raleigh has issued a request to all of its citizens to cut down on the use of water. At the present time the city has water enough to last only a few weeks, and something will have to be done.

The water supply of State College is furnished by the city, and each student should do his part to keep the water usage down as low as possible. For many years the boys have had the habit of pouring water out of windows on others, and this must stop. Boys, think what it would mean if the water supply would give out. Not only would there be much suffering caused in the city, but State College would be forced to close its doors.

In the future, when anyone is using water, let him think what it means to use more than is needed.

F. M. WILLIAMSON.

FRIEND FROM CITY MAKES SOME REMARKS

Editor Technician:

DEAR SIR:—A copy of your paper fell into my hands by accident and I received quite a shock from something I read therein. The News and Observer had led us to think that the students at State were grown men devoted to acquiring a college education and that the fact of having a few women engaged in the same pursuit of wisdom at the same time and place was a matter of indifference to them—a mere incident in the daily routine. Such seems not to be the case, however. The little boys want mama to "make Sally and Jenny go back to the house to play and not bother us." They have actually assumed a real brotherly attitude toward the girls and gone to finding fault. It is all right for while bus loads of Meredith girls to ride

Professor Zip says--

LAST Thursday was the Day of Dads, when paters came from far and near to see their little college lads, and meet their comrades over here. "Come, meet my Dad, a bully scout, and let me see your folks from home," are words we heard the fellows shout, while 'round the campus they would roam. The patent pride of fatherhood beamed forth from friendly brawny brows, whose wearers walked the grounds where stood within their youth primeval boughs. The Aggies staged their best parade, the Wildcat-Wolfpack played its game, and all the college campus made itself bedecked for Dads who came. Yet all the blare and gala dress is not enough for any Dad, who, older now, is none the less the best old pal you ever had.

Uncle Dudley's Opinion--

On Responsibilities

Home-coming Day is not long off, how, so, boys, let's make it a huge success. Everyone of us must do his part to make the day an eventful one. You and all the rest want to see this old campus crowded with alumni that day we buck up against Duke. They are strong this year, and it will be no easy game for either team.

The night before November 11 will be Stunt Night, and to be successful every fraternity and organization should pull off some stunt. The success of it all depends on the reaction from you; so, will it be a day to be remembered by the alumni or not?

In this same connection the question of spirit arises again. Boys, only a short while ago I said something concerning this. The truth of the matter is what hurts, and you should realize by now that we haven't the spirit here that reigned on this campus at one time.

The seriousness of it all is not realized by you, but the athletic department, the faculty, and the people of Raleigh see it and know that we are not supporting the team as we should. The lack of interest is not only falling down in athletics, but in everything. Just try to call a meeting of any organization on the campus and see how many respond.

Fellows, it has gotten to be a serious matter, and if we do not wake up and see that the whole student body is responsible and not just the Freshman Class, we will lose our influence in the State and everywhere.

It is hard to support a losing team, I'll admit, but one cannot expect a team to run with an unloyal student body. Why not be loyal? It is hard, but does not a school get greater publicity and wield just as much influence by college spirit as by winning teams? The spirit also is an essential to a winning team. Do you realize that our athletics are at stake now, and that if we do not wake up and stop letting "George do it" we will make State College a mere community for boys and nothing else?

Fellows, if there is any fight to you at all, take a hold to the new move that has started on the campus and make this season one of the greatest in loyal support and patriotism that has ever been at State College.

Lack of Legs Does Not Stop Archie in Search Education

Getting an education is an important task to Archie Cathey, and the fact that he has no legs is not sufficient hindrance for this youngster. When State College opened about three weeks ago, Archie appeared on the scene and has been here since. He came from Mooresville, where his parents live, and where he received his high school training.

Victim of Railroad Accident
Archie lost his lower limbs when he was run over by a train while he was a lad of ten years. The left leg is slightly longer than the right, but neither is more than a few inches in length. During the eleven years that have passed since his misfortune, Archie has accomplished wonders in handling himself and in getting about. He has a small board, about 12 inches square, mounted on rollers from skates. He perches himself on this device and uses his hands for propellers. Abe Lincoln is credited with saying that a man's legs should be long enough to reach the ground. Since Archie cannot meet this requirement, he says the next best thing is that one's arms should be long enough to reach the ground, and this is where Archie scores his point. He wears heavy gloves to protect his hands while thus "walking" with them.

A Regular Fellow
Cathey is a regular fellow—freshman cap and everything. He rooms in one of the dormitories and eats at the college dining hall. He is always on time for classes, despite the fact that many of them require a trip across the campus. The concrete walks which were put in last year are a great help to him, for he can "coast" down the hills and there is always someone along who is glad to give him a shove uphill. He has developed almost superhuman strength in his arms and can pull himself up into a chair with no apparent effort. He sits in a chair as proper as a judge, and when he wants to go to town he jumps aboard a street car and journeys forth. The manner in which he has learned to take care of himself is almost beyond belief.

Archie is quite an athlete, according

Best Stories Contributed to Date

September 25: "Band Returns From Good-Will Tour," written by R. R. Fountain.

October 2: "Wandering Greek Club to Be Organized Here," written by Allen Watkins.

October 9: "Freshman Corn Exhibits Gave Incentive for the Students' Fair," written by R. R. Fountain.

to his roommate, Frank Clarke, also of Mooresville. Swimming is the easiest thing in the world for him, and he can lie on his back on the water and read a newspaper for hours with no danger of drowning. And he is no second-rate swimmer, either. Clarke says he can dive with the best of them, his only handicap being that he does not get the full benefit of the spring-board. He also claims that his "buddy" can climb a ladder, and judging from his activity on the campus no one is inclined to doubt him. He drives a car when at home, and according to his own statement, "can do anything except ride a bicycle."

Plans Business Career
Cathey is taking the regular four-year course in Business Administration and expects to go into the business world when he has completed his college work. He was graduated from the Mooresville high school last spring and at once saw the necessity of a college education. According to his instructors, he is a very good student and will make good in his college work.

Here is an excellent example of turning a handicap into a stepping-stone to rise to higher things. This youth might never have entered college had he been equipped with two good legs. Of course, this is debatable, but it is certain that his physical handicap brought him face to face with the importance of mental training. Here is also an example of courage that makes some of the story books appear insipid. He goes about his tasks with a determination and a grin that makes an imprint on those who watch him. He may get discouraged at times, but it is not evident if he does. His cheerful disposition is contagious and he is rapidly becoming the best-liked freshman on the campus.

"This Week's Ads"

By G. P. DICKINSON
Attention! This column is directed to the attention of the faculty and of the studentbody. Last year THE TECHNICIAN was voted the best college newspaper in the State. Who made it possible for our paper to be the best in the State? The merchants of Raleigh and the foreign enterprises who have so liberally contributed their advertising to us. Now isn't it time that we begin to show them our appreciation by giving them our trade, rather than give it to some one who doesn't show the least interest in our school?
So when you are in town and need something, think of those who help us, and help them in return. They will appreciate it, and you will be able to save money by so doing.
Below is a list of the advertisers who are contributing to this week's issue. Be sure and visit them when you need anything.

MONTGOMERY CO. CLUB HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING

The students from Montgomery County held a meeting Monday night, October 11, and elected officers for the coming year. The officers elected are as follows: J. L. James, a senior in Textile, President; W. C. Warner, Vice-president; H. M. Luck, Secretary and Treasurer, and K. P. Hayward, Reporter. The members of the club are: T. C. Andrews, H. C. Batten, P. R. Ellis, M. L. Harris, A. B. Hayward, K. P. Hayward, J. L. James, C. E. Kellam, J. H. Lemons, H. M. Luck, J. B. Maness, J. A. McLeod, E. P. McCaskill, G. A. Munn, W. F. Roberts, Earle Skein, W. C. Warner, J. B. Watkins, and W. F. Woolley.

The Montgomery County Club was first organized in the fall of 1923 and has grown steadily every year, the membership now being 19.

Great enthusiasm was shown by every member of the Club and a most successful year is anticipated. The club will send THE TECHNICIAN to the six high schools in Montgomery County as it did in the past year.

FOUNTAIN NOT TO BE CONTENDER FOR MEDAL

R. R. Fountain, Editor of the college newspaper and winner of the journalistic award in the contest of last year, states that he will not be a contender for that honor this year. He states that the editor should leave contests of this nature entirely with the contributors. He believes that this attitude on his part should encourage a keener competition among younger journalists, and probably take work off his own pen.

the people of Birmingham on the Harvard plan (bed and breakfast). The necessary expenses of the trip will be transportation, one and one-half fare on railroads, registration fee of three dollars, and two meals a day while there.

It is hoped that a number of State College students will join the delegation leaving here the 27th. Already seven have expressed an intent to go and carry our colors. Any one desiring further information may get it by seeing Mr. Y. C. Elliott, Pullen Church; H. H. Burroughs, 219 7th; B. J. Kopp, 226 South, or D. R. Pace, Y. M. C. A.

and consisted of two students from each of the ten Southern states, local and state secretaries, church board representatives, and four delegates from the Y. W. C. A. The council members showed a great interest this year in that they paid their own traveling expenses, with several of them riding all night in Fords of every description in order to get there. The Blue Ridge Conference next summer will be unique in that the leaders will stay the entire ten days. There will be greater emphasis laid on the fundamentals of Christianity instead of the problems as heretofore. The cycle system of program will be followed. Small discussion groups will break open the subject, followed by an address giving Christ's teachings on it, then an open forum followed by small discussions groups again.

These departments are closely associated because the relations between the training of teachers of vocational agriculture and the supervision of the teaching of agriculture in the high schools of the State are so close that frequent conferences and interviews are necessary.
T. E. Browne is now head of the department, with the following assistants: L. E. Cook, professor of Vocational Education, in charge of the training of teachers of agriculture; E. W. Boshart, professor of Vocational Education in industrial arts and industrial education; W. L. Mayer, associate professor of Vocational Education, and L. O. Student From South Africa Tells of Late Diamond Rush

The 19th of August last saw another of those wonderful dramas staged in South Africa, which in past years never failed to stir man's cupidity, and which in the years to come will continue to do so, in the depraved rush men make periodically after possible wealth.

The farm "Treasure Trove," peacefully and snugly situated on the banks of the Great Marico River, is now the scene of failure and success, turmoil and strife, hope, happiness, treachery and vice, as a result of the discovery of alluvial diamonds along the river bank.

From all corners of South Africa thousands, sped by the lust for wealth, have flocked to the veritable "valley of diamonds." On the 19th of August a rush was made for claims—a rush which eclipsed all former records.

Fifteen thousand "diggers," the majority of whom have probably spent the greater part of their lives on alluvial diamond fields, participated in this mad rush. Among them were some 120 women, clad in full running togs, undaunted and determined not to be outclassed by their male competitors over the distance (across unbroken and well-vegetated country) of one and three-quarter miles.

Over 20,000 claims were available in the rush, and from the number of competitors present on that eventful day, and the subsequent arrival of other diggers which usually follow such rushes, it is evident that out of that vast number of claims very few if any remain unclaimed today.

A mining city arose, hyperbolically speaking, overnight. In the course of a few days nearly eighty stores opened their doors for business, while a hundred side-shows sprang up like so many mushrooms. It is estimated that the population of "Treasure Trove," including black laborers, was somewhere in the vicinity of 50,000 after the first couple of weeks.

A bachelor is a man who is bothered by only one pair of cold feet.

LEAZAR SOCIETY HAS INITIATION

Three Phases of Life Stressed by Old Members; Feed and Smoker Follow

Refreshments, smokes, a most interesting program, and the initiation of nineteen new members, were the features of the first general meeting of the year for Leazar Literary Society Friday night.

The program consisted of short talks by R. E. Fountain, W. E. Wilson, and J. B. Britt. Fountain discussed college fellowship, in which he declared that there were two opposing forces at work in college life—the desire for scholastic standing and the desire for a place in extra-curricular activities. He pointed out that the proper combination of these two should be the aim of all college students.

Wilson's topic was literary publications, and the ability to give self-expression through the medium of the pen. He believes that only through literary endeavor can right attitudes and right fellowship be formed.

Britt spoke on the value of literary society activities in college, in which he stressed the idea that the ability to speak clearly and forcefully is one of the greatest assets, financially and otherwise, that a college man can acquire.

Professor C. C. Cunningham, acting as critic, said that he was most favorably impressed with the program. Leazar will hold other meetings each Friday night, and initiations as often as necessary.

Mr. R. C. (Royal) Stephenson, of the '24 Civils, is spending sometime at the home of his parents on Hillsboro Street. Royal is now in the employ of the Corn Exchange Bank, of New York City.

Ella: "Oh, John, that candy just makes my mouth water!"
John: "Here's a blotter."

Alumni Notes

Observations and Communications of ZIPPY MACK

The Wake County Chapter of the Alumni Association met Wednesday night in the College "Y" for the purpose of election of officers. Mr. L. E. Wooten, of the '17 Civils, and at present on the Civil Faculty, is the president of the organization for the coming year. Mr. Folk Denmark, of the '15 Civils, was made vice-president, while A. M. Fountain, of the '23 Electricians, will serve as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Jullous Joplin Chamberlain and Miss Gladys Copeland were married Saturday at Scotland Neck, North Carolina. Mrs. Chamberlain is a graduate of Lenoir College, and is connected with the Spring graded school. Mr. Chamberlain, a native of New York, is a member of the Textile Class of '21, and is now with the Nantuxet and Lily Mills at Spray.

Mr. William Thomas Harding, Jr., and Miss Alice Rhone Best were married this morning at Thompson's Chapel, Goldsboro. Mrs. Harding is a graduate of E. C. T. C., and of late has been connected with the Raleigh Public Schools, and has a host of acquaintances here. Mr. Harding is a member of the Mechanical Class of '22. He is a native of Raleigh, and he and Mrs. Harding will make their home here.

Mr. L. C. Salter, of the '25 Ag. Administrations, was the chief speaker at a recent meeting of the Sampson County Poultry Association, held in the quarters of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce. "Salty" is with the State Division of Markets, with headquarters in Raleigh.

Mr. C. E. (Cam) Morrison, of the '26 Vocationals, and a member of Chick Doak's baseball team for three years, is now teaching at Snow Hill High School. Although this is the first year of vocational training at that school, Morrison has already produced a judging team that made an excellent showing at the Kinston Fair.

'Y' MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT FOR FELLOWSHIP GROUPS

"How Shall I Choose My Life Work?" is the problem that will be discussed at the next Freshman Fellowship Group on Wednesday night, October 20.

All new students that have not as yet joined one of these groups are urged to be present at the meeting of the group in their section of dormitory next Wednesday night. The group nearest him needs his contributions and support, and he needs help that the group can give.

Any member of a Freshman Fellowship Group that changes his dormitory assignment is requested to report to the group in his new section, unless he especially prefers to attend the old group. When he changes to a new group he should notify immediately the secretary of the group that he is leaving, in order that the Y. M. C. A. can keep its records correct.

RIFLE TEAM SWINGS TO POSITION OF ACTION

State College has better prospects for a winning rifle team this year than for some time. Although it will greatly feel the loss of Captain Vick and others who are not back this year, there are others who can take their places, and with the coaching of Captain Vernon, the vacancies in the old ranks will soon be filled with new men.

The rifle team is getting into action a month sooner than usual. There are about a hundred men out for the team, going through the preliminaries which consist of the different positions and getting into the sling properly. There will be inter-company matches for the next two weeks, and then individual scores will be handed in to Captain Vernon, who will pick twelve men to represent N. C. State in the intercollegiate matches. The men making the best scores in the try-out will make the team. The team will probably be picked by the first of November.

R. O. T. C. INSPECTION REPORT IS RECEIVED

A copy of the report of Colonel Frank W. Rowell, R. O. T. C. Officer 4th Corps Area, covering his inspection of N. C. State College R. O. T. C. Regiment held in January, has been received by the Military Department. The report was made to the War Department, and was very favorable to State College.

Colonel Rowell stated that a marked improvement in appearance, courtesy, and deportment was noted in the inspection. The fine spirit of the R. O. T. C. students and the neat and military appearance in uniform was very favorably received, as was also the cooperation of the college authorities and members of the faculty.

The improvement in general discipline was noted to be remarkable.

GERMAN CLUB DANCE

The first German Club dance of the season was given Thursday night, after the State-Davidson football game.

Of the large crowd who attended, not one of them had any complaints about the dance. The music seemed to bring back memories of the never-to-be-forgotten German Club dances of last year. Not a better entertainment could be given to the Davidson boys, who were visiting us.

On Tuesday afternoon of last week, the K. I. E. Fraternity entertained at a tea dance at the house on Hillsboro Street.

Many Freshmen were invited and several fraternity men were asked also.

The girls present for the affair were: Misses Leitta Mason, Betty Rose Phillips, Annabelle Webb, Dot O'Donnell, Lib Barber, Lula Wynne, Margaret Crowder and Margaret Sherrill.

The chaperones for the afternoon were: Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Wynne.

STEPHENSON WILL AGAIN LEAD CLASS STATE BOYS

Mr. Gilbert T. Stephenson will take his class of State College boys Sunday morning at Pullen Memorial Church. He is in every way qualified to direct young men in their religious thinking. Mr. Stephenson loves young men, and is genuinely Christian. He always tries to adapt his lessons to the needs of young people.

His outline for the fall term is based on the Old Testament, as follows:

- Oct. 17: Man's Approach to God.
- Oct. 24: The Almighty God of Abraham.
- Oct. 31: The God-Who-Cares of Jacob.
- Nov. 7: The Only God of Moses.
- Nov. 14: The God-of-Right of David.
- Nov. 21: The God-of-All-Men of Isaiah.
- Nov. 28: The God of Personal Relations of Jeremiah.
- Dec. 5: The God-Who-Protects of Daniel.
- Dec. 12: The Universal Father of Jesus.
- Dec. 19: Our God.

A warm welcome awaits you. Come! Sunday school 9:30 o'clock.

Wife: "What on earth are you doing in that costume of mine?"
Husband (in wife's clothes): "Well, I want a haircut, and this is the only way I shall ever get it in that crowd barber-shop."

WISCONSIN BOYS "FALL" FOR SOUTHERN BEAUTIES

In a recent number of The Round Table, the semi-weekly newspaper published by the students of Beloit College, Wisconsin, a detailed account is given of the twelve-thousand-mile hiking and bumming trip made by two members of the Senior Class last spring and summer through the United States and Canada. One paragraph of the story reads as follows:

"At Greensboro, North Carolina, they stopped off for some time to find out if the Southern girl is a beautiful or only a fictitious character. Here there are three thousand women in one of the largest women's universities in the United States. Both Bennie and Charlie will be willing to debate any of Mr. Rassweiler's classes on, 'Resolved, That the Southern girl is the loveliest in the country.' They wish it to be understood that they will positively take only the affirmative side."

Professor Cunningham, who is an alumnus of Beloit, says that if the two young men referred to are looking for a third member of their debate team, he'll be glad to lend them his best assistance.

Hurled 25 Stories to Cement—Picked Up Unbroken!

Where the Pens Landed
Traffic stopped to watch this test of the Parker Duofold Non-Breakable Barrel

Point Guaranteed 25 years for mechanical perfection and wear

TRAFFIC stopped as big Frank Ketcheson, Supt. of Steel Construction for the George A. Fuller Co., hurled two Parker Duofold Pens from his perilous foothold on a slender steel girder at top of the new Stevens Hotel, Chicago.

One pen struck on asphalt, the other on cement—away they bounded into the air, then landed in the street—unbroken!

We wanted to give the public proof more convincing than any guarantee. So we have shown by a series of heroic tests that the new Parker Duofold Pen with Permalite barrel does not break. Be sure no fall on corridor or classroom floor can harm it. Get this sturdy black-tipped lacquer-red beauty at any good pen counter.

"Permalite"—the new Non-Breakable Material of which all Parker Pens and Pencils are now made—is lustrous, light-weight, and does not break, fade or shrink.
