Report of Registrar Shows Plummer In Scholastic Head

Senior in Textile Manufacturing From Alabama Lacks Two Points of Maximum

OTHER AVERAGES HIGH

Class of '27 Has Greatest Number of Students Making Grade of Over 90 Per Cent

F. E. Plummer, of Selma, Ala., Senior in Textile Manufacturing, holds the senior scholastic honors at State by leading his class and the entire student body with an average of 93 out of a possible 95, according to statistics compiled by E. B. Owen, the registrar.

With an average of 92, R. R. Fountain, of Catherine Lake, Senior in Agriculture and specializing in Poultry, is running Plummer a close second.

F. M. Chedester, of Asheville, Senior in Civil Engineering, ranks third, with an average of 91.

Following Chedester and ranking fourth, with the average of 90, is J. W. Perry, of Raleigh, Senior in Chemical Engineering.

Among the Juniors, E. B. Mangum, of Birmingham, takes first honors, with an average of 91. Mangum is registered in the Textile School and is specializing in textile manufacturing.

R. L. Hardy, of Valhalla, N. C., Junior in Electrical Engineering; W. P. Phillips, of Manly, N. C., Junior in Vocational Education, and C. S. Tucker, of Amherst, Va., also a Junior in Vocational Education, share together the second honor for scholastic standing of the class, with an average of 89.

The Sophomores are led by A. M. Greaves-Walker, with the average of 94. Greaves-Walker is a Raleigh boy and is taking Ceramic Engineering.

E. A. Dunaway, another local boy, ranks second, with the average of 92. A. B. Holden, of Wilmington, Sophomore in Textile Manufacturing, and H. J. Sang, of Raleigh, Sophomore in Mechanical Engineering, share jointly the third scholastic honors of the class, with an average of 89.

The averages of the men given above are based on the total number of years the men have been in school. Thus the average given for the Seniors is their total average for three years. It might also be interesting to note that 95 is the highest possible average that can be made.

MEREDITH COLLEGE ON GLEE CLUB ITINERARY

The Glee Club is planning to begin its fall trip the third week of this month. Dates have been arranged with Meredith College, Snow Hill, Hookerton, and Dunn, and engagements with several other towns are expected.

"Daddy" Price, Glee Club director, is planning to take his boys to Meredith, Monday, November 15, for the first concert by an entirely new program this year which is expected to prove popular.

DR. POE SEES NEED OF LIVESTOCK ON FARMS

In an address before the faculty and students in Animal Husbandry at State College Wednesday night, Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, pointed out several advantages of livestock farming and then showed that in no section of the country is there greater need for the production of animals than in the South, and particularly in North Carolina. The address is the first of a series that will be held in Folk Hall, the new Animal Husbandry Building. Other lectures will be given during the year, probably about one each month.

Wataugan Announcement

The next issue of The Wataugan is to be a special Thanksgiving number. All copy must be in by November 12 in order that the magazine may be in the hands of the students by the scheduled time. Any contributions that have as a topic the Thanksgiving idea will be welcome from any and all students. With a little cooperation from the student body at large this issue can be made one of the best of the year.

Uniform Regulations

The Military Department wishes to announce that wearing of mixed uniforms is strictly against the rules and requirements of the Military Department. The students owning the olive drab shirts can have them dyed at the Textile building free of charge. All students are required to wear a full uniform whenever a part of the uniform is used. The caps are supposed to be worn with the uniform, and the coats are supposed to be buttoned.

The Military Department is anxious to promote neater appearance among the cadets and thinks that neatness in dress is one of the chief requirements.

DR. METCALF SPEAKS ON SEX RELATION PROBLEMS

Says Companionship of Sexes is Greatest Gift of Century to Civilization

What shall be our relation to women, or is the single standard of morals possible in the world of today? was the topic presented by Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, of the Department of Agriculture of State College to the students of this institution in a talk to the student body at the general assembly period in Pullen Hall Wednesday morning. A great number were present to hear the interesting discussion of sex relations between men and women of the twentieth century. Frankness, according to Dr. Metcalf, is the one thing greatly to be desired in the discussion of sex problems today and it has been in the past the one thing which has been assiduously avoided by parents and others entrusted with the rearing of children in the world. No taboo of this type can ever settle the question or prevent the present recklessness continuing.

Past history has shown it difficult, because of the useless taboo placed upon such topics as the older people to correctly instruct the rising generations as they should be taught in this respect, thus making it necessary that they obtain their education along these lines in places where they receive a "B. A. degree in sexology"; in the Back Alleys where the usual amount is meager and a great deal warped in relation to the—Continued on page 2.

STUDENTS TRAIN FOR PLACE IN CROPS JUDGING CONTEST

Coaches Say Prospects Are High For Winning Team Like 1925 Champions

Twelve students in the agronomy classes at State College are training for a place on the crops judging team which will represent the college in the Intercollegiate Judging Contest to be held in Chicago on November 27 during the time of the International Livestock Exposition and Grain and Hay Show. Professors W. H. Darst and J. B. Cotner are coaching the young men for the contest and according to Mr. Darst there is more interest in the work and more contestants out for the team than ever before.

"We expect to have harder competition at the show this year because of having won so decisively last year. Last year instead of just having a champion team, we also had three individual champions, as our boys scored higher than any other individuals in the contest. As a team, they scored 108.3 points better than the second team. In 1923, when we first won the championship of the United States in this contest, we were only 71 points ahead of the second team. In 1924, we were awarded only fourth place, but even then a difference of only 27 points existed between the first team and the fourth team."

The team has not yet been selected for this year.

Armistice Day Proclamation

N. C. State College will observe Armistice Day this year in accordance with the proclamation of the Governor of the State. The State College R.O.T.C. Regiment will participate in the Armistice Day parade in the City of Raleigh at 11:45 a.m., returning to the College at about 12:45 p.m., in time for appropriate exercises in Pullen Hall.

The exercises will consist of music by the State College R.O.T.C. Band and short addresses by Dr. W. C. Riddick, dean of the School of Engineering, and Rev. J. A. Ellis, pastor of Pullen Memorial Church and formerly chaplain in the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

Dr. Riddick will speak of those State College students who gave their lives for their country in the World War. Dr. Ellis will speak of Christian Citizenship.

All State College students, members of the faculty, their families, and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Dinner for students will be at 1:30 p.m. Armistice Day, to allow for completion of exercises before dinner.

President.

PHI KAPPA PHI HOLDS ITS FALL INITIATION

Eleven Seniors and Three Faculty Members Taken in and Duly Banqueted

Three members of the faculty and eleven seniors were initiated into Phi Kappa Phi National Honorary Society at the fall initiation ceremony and banquet held in the Y. M. C. A. last Monday night.

Dr. C. C. Taylor, dean of the Graduate School, and president of the State College Chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, acted as toastmaster at the banquet. In his address to the new members he expressed the belief that Phi Kappa Phi should emphasize more strongly the social side without lessening the requirements on the scholastic side of college life. He invited discussion on this point, and suggested having several meetings each year at which problems interesting to all the members would be brought up by those most familiar with that special topic and explained for the benefit of those in some other line of endeavor.

R. R. Fountain replied to this address of welcome on behalf of the newly initiated seniors, while the three new faculty members of the society, Dr. B. F. Kaupp, Dr. F. E. Rice, and Dr. W. J. Dana, each replied for himself.

John F. Matheson was elected vice-president of the Chapter, an office held each year by a member of the senior class. In his inaugural address he made the following statement, which stirred up much comment among the faculty members: "I am certainly glad this election of Phi Kappa Phi members came in the fall instead of next spring, for I know that I—and I feel that many others are in like circumstances—would have been unable to stand the requirements, the way things are going now."

COLLEGE JOURNALISTS ENTERTAINED AT SALEM

Editors and Business Managers Enjoy Work and Play; State Is Well Represented

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday were red-letter days for the editors and business managers of college publications in this state, when the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association held its twelfth semi-annual meeting in Winston-Salem as guests of The Salemite and Signs and Insights, the newspaper and annual, respectively, of Salem College.

The Convention was opened Thursday evening, October 28, by W. O. Saunders, one of North Carolina's leading newspaper men. Mr. Saunders stressed the importance of originality and independence of thought among college editors. Following the address the delegates were given an informal reception in the home of the President of Salem College. The evening was rounded out by a theatre party of the whole group.

Friday morning Miss Dorothy Slew, editor of The Salemite, gave the welcome on behalf of The Salemite and Signs and Insights. Following this was President Haworth's address on "The Responsibility of the College Press," in which he urged the responsibility of publications to the student body, and to the college itself.

Each publication made its report to the convention in the business meeting following the address by the president of the Association, Byron Harwood, of Guilford. In the afternoon the delegates separated into two groups, the annual group being addressed by Mr. Siewell and the newspaper and magazine group, hearing Mr. Stearns. At these meetings specific problems of the publications were taken up and discussed freely. The association toured the city in.—Continued on page 2.

State's First Stunt Program Has Promise of Many Thrills

Stunt night, an innovation at State, will be inaugurated Wednesday night, November 10, at 8:00 o'clock in the College gym. An idea in the immediate past fired a spark which is now blazing in the whole student body, so that a live and glowing performance is expected to be put on by the various clubs, societies, and fraternities.

These stunts, coming as they do on the night before the State-Duke "Homecoming" football game on Armistice Day, herald a new form of having a pep meeting. The freedom only a student can feel before a holiday should lend itself well to the occasion, because of all times a holiday and football game losses the pent-up studying strain felt by a student so that a metamorphosis takes place in which the student emerges with a "thrilled-to-a-peanut" feeling. Therefore, the stunts are apt to be full of vim, wigor, and vitality.

Engineers' Pep Meeting

Every engineer on the campus is requested to take note of and to attend the meeting of all students in Engineering in Pullen Hall, Tuesday evening, November 16, at 6:30. The officers of the Engineering Council will have charge, and will present plans for combined meetings of the different clubs, and for the fair, the parade, and the Grande "Brawl" to be held on St. Patrick's Day. Be alive, Engineers. This is your meeting.

JUNIOR UNIFORMS RECEIVE MUCH FAVORABLE COMMENT

Company Tailor Does Altering at Armory to Save Time; Improve Service

For several years in the past the military uniforms have been made and altered away from Raleigh. This year the Military Department has introduced a new system that will save time and make the work more efficient. Instead of sending the uniforms off to be altered, they will be changed by the tailor, who will be at the armory. The uniform will be fitted on the man and the tailor will make the changes that are necessary for a good fitting uniform.

For the first trial of this new system a tailor of the Sigmund-Eisner Company, who is making the uniforms this year, has been in the armory all this week fitting uniforms for the juniors taking the advanced course in the R. O. T. C. So far only favorable comment has been received and it is felt that this personal inspection and quick service will prove much faster and more satisfactory than any tried before.

Much approval has also been given the new blouses with their roll-type collars and slightly changed style. This style is in accordance with the new army regulations for officers' blouses permitting the open collar.

STUDENT CONFERENCES BE HELD AT MILWAUKEE

Wisconsin City Will Be Scene of First National Gathering at Year's End

The first National Student Conference to be held under the auspices of the Student Y. M. C. A. and the Student Y. W. C. A. will be held at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, December 28, 1926-January 1, 1927.

This is to be a conference, not a convention. It is to be a conferring together and a sharing of experience by all the groups that make up the Student Christian Movement of this country—undergraduate, graduate, faculty, alumni and alumnae, and those friends of students who from time to time have enlarged and enriched student thinking out of their wider and more varied contacts with life.

Some of the speakers invited are: Studdert Kennedy and Maud Rayden, of England; Reinhold Niebuhr, Henry Sloan Coffin, Harry Emerson Fosdick, Professor William E. Hocking, Rufus M. Jones, and a number of others of like caliber. The size of the conference is limited to three thousand. Representation is on the quota basis. N. C. State College is entitled to eight.—Continued on page 2.

JOHN ANTHONY ELECTED TO PUBLICATIONS BOARD

At the student body meeting Friday night, October 29th, J. A. Anthony, of Shelby, was elected to be student body representative on the Students' Publications Board.

This board has regulatory power over the three student publications, The Technician, The Agromeeck, and The Wataugan. It is composed of one representative from each of the three publications, one from the student body, and two faculty advisers, one editorial and one business.

Denton, Clark, and Wilson Lead 1st, 2d, and 3d Battalions, Respectively

RANK AS HIGH HONOR

Leading Roles in the Student Officers' Groups Are Much Sought Positions

After a month and a half of tense waiting on the part of the R.O.T.C. seniors, Major C. C. Early has at last given out the list of student officers for the year. H. G. Lee and D. C. Worth will command the regiment, with the ratings of Colonel and Lieutenant-Colonel, respectively, with the battalions under the command of Majors W. N. Denton, E. C. Clark, and W. E. Wilson.

To become a cadet officer of high rank means that a student has shown unusual interest and ability in the military work, and these officers are considered a high honor to the students who receive them. As a result, competition is very keen and much effort is put forth by the aspirants towards the elbow of the junior year and at the beginning of the senior year.

Following is a list of the seniors who have been appointed cadet officers: H. G. Lee, Lexington, Colonel, in command of R.O.T.C. Regiment; D. C. Worth, Raleigh, Lieutenant-Colonel, second in command; E. A. Fenster, Greensboro, Regimental Adjutant; W. N. Denton, Raleigh, Major, First Battalion; C. G. Goodman, Oakboro, First Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant; C. H. Pruden, Windsor, First Lieutenant and Training Officer; E. C. Clark, Clarkton, Major, Second Battalion; F. M. Chedester, Asheville, Battalion Adjutant; W. Edwin Wilson, Asheville, Major, Third Battalion; M. L. Crawford, Winston, Battalion Adjutant; Band: W. K. Enos, Lexington, Captain; G. E. Michael, Kernersville, First Lieutenant; L. E. Robbins, Raleigh, First Lieutenant; E. L. Franklin, Alamont, Second Lieutenant; W. C. Lane, Sanford, Second Lieutenant; G. M. McCown, Florence, S. C., Second Lieutenant; W. T. Mosley, Kingston, Second Lieutenant. Company "A": B. W. Garvin, Seivern, S. C., Captain; J. R. Herman, Newton, First Lieutenant; C. W. Gray, Sumter, S. FAYETTEVILLE STREET HAS HALLOWEEN SPIRIT

Saturday night Fayetteville street presented a colorful and merry throng of masked boys and girls. The spirit of Halloween was in the air.

In rounding a street corner, if one were not careful, in the dim rays of a street light he might consider himself lucky if he didn't run into the devil, a black cat, or a witch, looking more hideous and colorful in the semi-darkness. Everything went well until about 10 o'clock, when the spirit of good will gave way to the "spirits" of bad liquor. Several fights ensued and confusion reigned supreme.

The scene broke up between 11 and 12 o'clock and all those that were not in jail went safely home to dream of riding witches and of spitting cats.

DR. METCALF WILL GIVE SERIES TALKS

As a result of the interest and at the request of a number of students, Y. M. C. A. has arranged to have Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, prominent and well known member of State faculty, give a series of two or possibly more addresses on the general subject of "The Sex Factor in Human Life." These lectures will follow up in a splendid way the work that was done in the Freshman Fellowship Groups on last Wednesday night. However, these lectures are open to any member of the student body and should prove of great value to those who are able to attend.

The first lecture will be given in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Friday night, November 12, at 7:30 o'clock. The second address will be given in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on November 13, at the same hour. There will be an open forum discussion at the close of each hour. Every State College student is cordially invited to be present at these addresses.

"ORIGINAL WASHINGTON" NAME NEW ORGANIZATION

Not content with having the oldest postoffice in America named after George Washington, nor of going to the college taking the largest delegation of students from that town, the State College students from Washington have pioneered in another thing, that of forming a city club on the campus of N. C. State.

The club will be known as the "Original Washington Club." So far as is known, this is the first organization on State's campus composed of the students from one town, and is the more remarkable for having a membership of eleven, which is more than many county clubs.

The club justifies its existence by having as its purpose the closer acquaintance of their town and their college, for the upbuilding of both. It is, then, a sort of double-booster club, boasting the one through the other.

The following men have been chosen as officers: Howard M. Ellis, president; Vance Adams, vice-president; F. A. Jefferson, secretary-treasurer and reporter.

The entire membership is as follows: F. A. Jefferson, Jun., E.E.;

MECHANICALS WILL SEND L. M. STUART TO NEW YORK

The A. S. M. E. held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at 6:30, in Page Hall. Nearly all the members were present and enjoyed the very successful student program.

At a business meeting immediately following the regular program the president, L. M. Stuart, was elected to represent the society at the National Students' Convention to be held in New York City the second week in December.

Those on the program were: W. A. Yost, W. P. Watkins, and R. M. Rothgeb. Yost and Watkins used as their subject, "Some of My Engineering Experiences," and Rothgeb used as his subject, "Why I Am in College." The talks were short, but full of interest.

The late afternoon as guests of the Winston-Salem business men, who furnished cars to carry the delegates.

The social phase of the convention reached its maximum at the final banquet Friday evening at the Forsyth Country Club. With Miss Martha Dortch as toastmistress the banquet was made quite a gala affair for everyone present. Between speeches by different representatives, "Joneo and Rullet" was dramatically staged for the guests by the Salem delegates.

The final meeting was held Sunday morning. The business meeting was followed by a very interesting and instructive talk by Dr. Willoughby on "A Journalistic Career and the Preparation For It." She placed emphasis on the value of being able to use good, clear English, and the necessity of keeping up with the times by careful study and reading.

The convention decided to secure a committee of newspaper men to judge the best college newspaper for the year instead of the committee chosen from the delegation, as has been done heretofore. The meeting adjourned Saturday morning, October 30, to meet at the North Carolina College for Women at Greensboro in the spring.

State College was represented at the convention by R. R. Fountain and F. S. McCoy, of The Technician; W. E. Wilson and H. K. Pleth, of The Watchman; J. R. Anderson and J. W. Shuford, of the Agromech, and R. S. Gaston of the Agriculturist.

delegates. The Y. M. C. A. will endeavor to secure State's full quota. The delegation should be composed of graduates, undergraduates, and faculty men. Only those students should go who are willing to dig down to the roots of problems—students who are asking what kind of a universe we live in, who God is, how we come to be the kind of people we are, and how we may find fuller and freer life for ourselves and our world.

Four major problems will be discussed and the cycle system will be used. The cycle will begin at night with an address by some outstanding leader. It will be followed the next morning by a forum led by experts. This will be followed by discussion groups. The afternoons will be left free for special group meeting for those who desire to go deeper into the problem of the morning. In addition to the daily cycle, there will be a period of worship each morning, and at the close of the afternoon, an hour of music and meditation where one may worship in silence.

The four major problems which the conference will consider are:

- 1. Whether the universe in essence is material or spiritual, personal or impersonal; whether there can be a God-infused life for men.
- 2. Can we believe in a God who is impartial in his love, and therefore in universal brotherhood?
- 3. Can we believe in a God who is a universal father and in men as the children of God? Does human nature itself make this realization impossible? If not, how can the personality of children of God be achieved?
- 4. Is God engaged in a moral struggle which men must share? What is involved in self-realization? What does the cross mean as a way of life? What is the source of an adequate dynamic?

These are deep questions, but questions that every student should think through for himself. State College students need to be able to give reasons for their faith as much as do students of other colleges. Let us have full representation at Milwaukee.

tary of the Chapter, and Dean E. L. Cloyd was elected Historian at the regular business meeting, held just before the banquet.

In addition to the three faculty members, the following students, all seniors, were initiated into the Society: C. O. Butler, Chemical Engineering, Southern Pines; J. D. Cassada, Textile Manufacturing, Littleton; F. M. Chedester, Civil Engineering, Asheville; J. D. Conrad, Mechanical Engineering, Lexington; R. R. Fountain, Agriculture, Catherine Lake; J. F. (Continued from page 1) true form. The youth of the world cannot in this manner gain the right respect for such topics nor learn their value in relation to humankind; they cannot adopt the correct standard of morals that would be conducive to a better civilization.

The single test of a civilization is the treatment accorded the women by the men on a universal basis, and no chemical laboratory can have a more "acid test" for any substance. Men should not lower themselves to adopt lower morals, but should aspire to the higher type always cherished by most women of the world. This single standard for both sexes raises the bars of civilization rather than lowers them. There was a time when the "cave-man stuff" would pass muster in any civilized community; a later time when women were treated as slaves; then the harem where a man gathered women around him as a bull seal appropriates as many cows as he can protect; and again the monogamous standard of living was developed. Even in this system the tendency to glorify woman and place her on a pedestal as was prevalent in the Victorian era is incompatible with the tendency of the men of the same period to lower their own morals. An idea that women must be pure and men may be indifferent will not hold.

In Dr. Metcalf's opinion it is unfortunate that there is so little tendency toward co-education at State College where a good number of the boys of this State and others spend the formative period of their lives, the years between the ages of seventeen and twenty-one, removed from contact with the opposite sex, which is one of the vital factors of the sex morals of an enlightened civilization. It takes this contact to blot out the idea prevalent in the world today that there is no fundamental difference between the morals of the two sexes. The companionship that modern civilization has given to men and women is one of the things to be greatly desired.

Normal sex impulses color the whole of life; home, itself, being centered around sex factors. Motherhood, fatherhood and the other relations of home and fireside are among the most beautiful things in the world and are closely interwoven among the essentials of pure and right sexual life.

Women of the present day do not have to marry because of fear of being an old maid in later life. They are coming more and more now and in the future to pick and choose man, according to Dr. Metcalf, should pledge himself always to safeguard the most precious thing the twentieth century has given to civilization, and that is the companionship of the sexes.

FIRST SOUTHERN BAPTIST STUDENT MEET IN ALABAMA

Several Discussions of Campus Religious Life Given by Leaders of South

The first All-Southern Baptist Student Conference was held in Birmingham, Ala., October 28-31. Over 500 delegates from all over the south were present, representing 90,000 Baptist young people. The State College delegates were Yancey C. Elliott, Baptist student secretary; Bernard J. Kopp, Hubert H. Burroughs, R. D. Martin, and R. E. Truesdell.

The opening address was delivered Thursday night in the auditorium of the Phillips High School by Frank H. Leavelle, on "Christ, Master of My Generation," which was the keynote address of the conference. "The Present World Outlook" was discussed by Dr. S. D. Jordan, of New York, who described Jesus as a world man in size and passion, coming to save men in the world.

Miss Jessie Burrall, director of religious education at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., spoke on the subject, "Keeping the Campus Elevated to the Master's Standard." She said that campus life could be straightened out only by the students themselves, and added that the boys and girls who indulge in "petting" cannot enter the holiest of holies, which, she explained, is spiritual, mental, and physical purity.

The afternoon sessions were devoted to group discussions of campus problems, led by the principal speakers of the conference. Thursday night's session was a very interesting part of the program. Miss Mary Sharp, of Indian parentage, made a talk on "Claiming the Indians for the Master." Several Indians from the Oklahoma reservation were on the stage in full costume. Dr. L. R. Scarborough, of Fort Worth, Texas, spoke on "Releasing the Unleashed Capacities of This College Generation." Dr. Maddry, of Raleigh, spoke on the task of enlistment and teaching of the younger generation in the church. Dr. W. R. Owen spoke on "Hearing the Master's Voice in the Choice of a Vocation."

Saturday evening Dr. George W. Leavelle spoke on "Christ, the One Adequate Hope for Humanity." The conference brought out forcibly the point that the local church is not only the single institution which Christ established upon earth, but it is the one agency through which all students can work most effectively in making Christ master of this generation and in advancing His cause in the world.

ALUMNI PRAISE TEAM AND FRESHMEN COACHES

Newport News, Va., October 27, 1926.

Dr. E. C. Brooks, President, North Carolina State College, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Dear Dr. Brooks: The North Carolina State College Alumni Association of Tidewater Virginia had the pleasure last Thursday and Friday, October 21st and 22d, of entertaining a college Freshman football team whose ability to play football and whose deportment was beyond reproach. That college Freshman football team was composed of Coaches Homewood, Brennan and twenty Freshmen from North Carolina State College.

It is with great pleasure and pride that I as representative of our Alumni Association am given the opportunity to express to you the very favorable and lasting impression made upon our alumni and citizens of this community by your present Freshman team. Favorable comment has been constantly coming in from all sources and especially from the football enthusiasts of this city as to their ability to play football, their conduct upon the streets, and their excellent training and physical condition evidently instilled in them by Coaches Homewood and Drennan. We feel that it is due Coaches Homewood and Drennan and members of the Freshman team that we express to you our complete satisfaction as to the manner in which they have developed such a capable bunch of fellows who will always uphold the name and standard of North Carolina State College. We appreciate very much the opportunity of having had them here as our guests and we hope to use the same method again to advertise our alma mater. We hope that in the future our efforts will meet with such financial success that we may turn our profits into channels beneficial to the college and athletics.

Wishing you even more success for your present Freshman class, I am, Yours very truly, ALBERT L. WHITE, Jr., Manager of Athletics, N. C. State Alumni Association, Newport News, Virginia.

Just how far a gentleman who prefers blondes will go is clearly demonstrated in Douglas MacLean's latest farce-comedy, "Hold That Lion," which is being shown at the Superba Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. The smiling comedian follows his blonde charmer around the world before he finally overtakes her in East Africa. Douglas MacLean has for his blonde Constance Howard. Walter Hiers also gets his due share of laughs from the audience in "Hold That Lion."

"As No Man Has Loved," the William Fox photoplay which is coming to the Superba Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, is based on "The Man Without a Country," the well-known classic by Edward Everett Hale. It tells, with great poignancy, the love story of Lieutenant Phillip Nolan and Anne Bissell, but it strikes with even greater strength the note of patriotism in its portrayal of an exiled traitor who grew to love his country as no man ever loved it before. Edward Hearn gives a fine, convincing performance in the title role, capably supported by Pauline Starke.

"Mantrap," with Clara Bow as the trap and the role of leading man played by Percy Marmont, is two continuous hours of suspense and entertainment of the highest degree. The cast of "Mantrap," which is being shown at the College "Y" on Tuesday night, is made up of one of the best trio of actors and actresses of filmdom—Ernest Torrence, Clara Bow, and Percy Marmont.

The country girl goes to the seashore and becomes the original "Palm Beach Girl," which is to be shown at the College "Y" next Thursday night. Bebe Daniels gets tangled up with real run-runners who have stolen Lawrence Gray's speed-boat to make a "run." Bebe recovers the boat just in time to enter the big boat races. The whole picture is hilarious from start to finish.

No more love affairs left. That is—no more classical love affairs remain in the bright lexicon of screenland, for King Vidor, director, took the last one when he made "La Boheme," Lillian Gish's new Metro-Goldwin-Mayer production, playing at the State Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Miss Gish is supported by John Gilbert, who plays the part of Rudolph in "La Boheme." Lillian is the lovely mimic and lovely she is playing that part. "The Sea Beast," the Warner picture that marks John Barrymore's return to the screen, is described as "an epic of the golden age of American seafaring adventure." It deals with the 1840 whalers. Barrymore appears as Ahab Celey, the New England sailor who falls in love with a missionary's daughter whom he meets on a voyage to Java. This picture appears at the Capitol Theatre Monday and Tuesday. Be sure to see John Barrymore in his best picture.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT BODY

I wish to thank everyone who has so kindly remembered me with gifts and visits during the time I have been in the hospital. A visit to a hospital is at best somewhat unpleasant, but all of your kind remembrances have made mine much less so. Whether or not I get out in time to be with the Wolfpack again this season, I will be back among you soon and shall start work for a greater Wolfpack next year. I thank every one of you. GEORGE HUNSUCKER.

A word to the wise is sufficient, so we are told. How many are following that old saying? When you are at home it is only natural to assume that you have your favorite store, at which you trade. When you walk in, you are met with a smile and a word of greeting. That word of greeting stays with you, and it makes you feel good, it makes you want to go back, for you know that not only are you getting the highest grade of merchandise, but that you are welcome. The Raleigh merchants are just waiting and hoping that you will give them the opportunity of greeting you with a smile and a word of welcome. FOUR STATE BOYS ATTEND BIRMINGHAM CONFERENCE

Report Inspirational Journey With Meredith Girls as Companions

Reckless of numerous class cuts, four State College boys attended the All-Southern Baptist Student Conference in Birmingham, Alabama, last week.

The four, B. J. Kopp, H. H. Burroughs, R. D. Martin, and R. E. Truesdell, Jr., in company with girls from Meredith and Chowan Colleges, and boys from Wake Forest, boarded a special train at Raleigh at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon. They were later joined by delegations from other colleges in North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Maryland, and Georgia.

Thursday, nearly two hundred strong they awoke in Atlanta to find their watches an hour fast and their stomachs empty. As soon as these conditions were corrected they made a trip to Stone Mountain to see the Confederate Memorial.

About noontime they once more were on their way; but it is to be feared that they saw little of the landscape of Georgia or Alabama, for boys will be boys, and girls will be girls; and when they both get together—there is no need to tell more of that part of the trip except that all had a very enjoyable time.

Arriving at Birmingham they were assigned to their various temporary homes, and the boys from N. C. State mingled in a great throng of nearly 1500 students, from fifteen states, in attending the various lectures and discussion groups of the conference. There were some of the leading Baptist speakers of the South on the program and the boys report that they found the conference very inspirational.

The only dark spot of the conference was Saturday night when, in the midst of deluges of rain, news reached Birmingham of Carolina's victory.

After looking over the representatives of all the other schools they report that Meredith College has the best looking girls in the South.

Sunday night, after a glorious three days of society with the students of the South, the State College delegation once more boarded the train and continued to enjoy the trip until finally, late Monday afternoon, they arrived in Raleigh with sore fingers and empty fountain pens from writing in memory books.

Tired and sleepy, but spiritually uplifted by the conference, and with many happy memories, "The Four Horsemen" are now busy at their studies once more.

TEXTILE SOCIETY VOTES MAKE COMER PRESIDENT

The Tompkins Textile Society had its first meeting of the year on Tuesday evening. All of the old members were present, and officers for the year were elected. Mr. M. C. Comer was elected president; Mr. J. B. Dunn, vice-president, and Mr. J. M. Dunn, secretary and treasurer.

Quite a bit of interest was taken in this, the first meeting. Dr. Nelson, dean of the school, made a short and very interesting talk to the boys, in which he outlined in a general way the work that was to be done by the department this year. He also made the following announcements:

The new Textile building is daily getting new machinery, and in a month or so all of the equipment will be in place, and then North Carolina can boast of the best Textile school in the United States.

Plans are being made to have an open house a few months later on in the year, when the building will be open to the public for inspection.

The Textile school is proud to say that all of last year's graduates have responsible positions with reliable corporations, which only goes to show that North Carolina Textile school graduates are always in demand.

The initiation of the new members will be held in several weeks, and all candidates please watch for the exact date, which will be announced later.

Brooks Literature Club

The Brooks Literature Club will meet November 9, at 7:45 p.m., in the D. H. Hill Library.

PROGRAM

Subject: "Uncle Remus," by Joel Chandler Harris.
Special Topic: "Uncle Remus As a Man." "Style of Uncle Remus."

A complete program will be posted at convenient places later. Everybody welcome.

A THOUGHT FOR ARMISTICE DAY

There's but one gift that all our dead desire,

One gift that men can give, and that's a dream,
Unless we, too, can burn with that same fire
Of sacrifice; die to the things that seem.

Die to the little hatreds; die to greed;

Die to the old ignoble selves we know;

Die to the base contempt of sect and creed,

And rise again, like those, with souls as true.

Nay (since these died before their task was finished),

Attempt new heights, bring even their dreams to birth,

Build us that better world, Oh, not diminished

By one true splendor that they planned on earth

And that's not done by sword or tongue or pen.

There's but one way—God make us better men.

Alumni Notes

Observations and Communications of ZIPPY MACK

The spirit of the Newport News Alumni in entertaining the members of the Freshman football team during its recent visit to that city is very commendable, and cannot but result in a better understanding between the old men and the new right at the start.

A great many of the old men were over at Chapel Hill Saturday for the big game. Several of them made it convenient to stop over here before or after the game. Among those stopping were H. M. (Henry) Bremer, of the '25 Civils; C. B. (Charlie) Brown, of the '26 Vocationals, and S. R. (Sam) Wallis, of the '25 Poultry Class, who was editor of the Technician while he was a Senior. Sam is now with the Poultry Extension service of the University of Arkansas. From that institution he brings greetings from Dan T. Gray, who was formerly an instructor here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. (Bill) Armstrong announce the birth of a daughter. Bill Armstrong is a member of the Poultry Class of '22, and is now on the Poultry Faculty.

Mr. C. D. (Clarence) Gaddy, of the '26 Mechanicals, was in town for the week-end, visiting "friends." He is now in the employ of the Rogerson Manufacturing Company at Goldsboro.

Mr. T. C. (Dick) Dickerson, of the Mechanical Class of '26, who is a sort of mouthpiece of the Newport News shipbuilding folk, writes in to tell how much he enjoys The Technician, and takes occasion to tell of a couple of old grads who have made good in that section. He writes as follows:

"Among those present at the Carolina game Saturday were: William S. (Bill) Haywood and the Honorable Judge William J. Wright, of Kecoughton, Virginia. Bill holds an M. E. degree, going out with the Class of '16. Since leaving State he has worked himself up to a responsible position in the estimating department of the Newport News

Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company. He is an ardent supporter of State's athletic teams and has been president of the Alumni Association of Tidewater Virginia for several years. Bill expressed surprise at the rapid growth State has shown since he left its halls. He was so pleased and gratified that he planned to send Bill, Jr., along about 1939.

"Judge Wright, who accompanied Mr. Haywood, has been the mayor of Kecoughton for several years and has held down the bench of the courts of that city. The annexation of Kecoughton, however, relieved him of his office, and left him free to attend to his duties as chief inspector for the Shipbuilding Company. The judge, while in Raleigh, inspected the college and was particularly pleased with the new power plant. He says that it is the best equipped college power plant he has ever seen. This statement from Judge Wright is a real compliment, as he has seen much fine machinery in connection with his work at the shipyard. Judge Wright was a member of the Class of '95.

DWIGHT JOHNSON SUFFERS APPENDICITIS OPERATION

Dwight Johnson, a Textile Sophomore, who was taken to the Rex Hospital last Wednesday for an appendicitis operation, is now rapidly convalescing. The operation was very successful and it is expected that he will be back on the campus in a few days.

Dwight, who is very well known on the campus, will be very glad to have his friends visit at the hospital. Tuesday evening he was stricken with an attack of appendicitis and it became so severe that he was taken to the hospital and operated on early Wednesday morning.

The Secret of How This Graduate Made a Five Figure Income In Five Years

LIVED in Newark, Ohio.

His folks wanted him to go into some business around home.

Wasn't a thing in the town that he wanted to dudge along in.

Figured that having spent four years at college, he didn't exactly cotton to tying himself down to "just a job."

Neither did he want to go into his father's old business.

So you see, it was the same old story so many of you college fellows have to have sooner or later.

Being a red blooded, two fisted kind of a fellow, with lots of pep and go, he wanted to get into something where he wouldn't have to keep all bottled up.

Looked around a lot during his college days, and finally decided he would build some greenhouses and grow lettuce and tomatoes.

From the very start he made money.

That was 12 or 20 years ago.

Now he and his Dad have a fine residence on top of a hill, and from their porch now look down on acres and acres of greenhouse-covered fields of lettuce and tomatoes.

Both of them are having the time of their life.

If Carl Weiant of Newark, Ohio can do all this, so can you.

We'll build you the greenhouses and help you in every little detail of getting started.

Write us. Let's get the idea working and plans started.

If interested write to the Manager of our Service Dept., 30 East 42nd St., New York City, who will give you your letter his personal attention.

After having lived off the campus since last spring, Pi Kappa Phi has moved to more comfortable and commodious quarters.

CERAMIC SOCIETY ENTERTAINED

The members of the Student Branch of the American Ceramic Society were entertained at a buffet supper at the home of Professor and Mrs. A. F. Greaves-Walker, on Forest Road, last Tuesday evening. Twenty-five members of the society were present.

MOORE MADE SECRETARY NEW PRESS ASSOCIATION

Durham, Oct. 28.—The North Carolina Association of College News Bureaus was organized here tonight at a meeting of newspaper correspondents from colleges of the State. Officers were elected as follows: R. W. Madry, University of North Carolina, president; Ernest Milton, of Davidson College, vice-president, and E. G. Moore, of N. C. State, secretary and treasurer.

Afternoon and night sessions with a banquet were held in the Washington Duke Hotel. Plans were adopted for holding two annual meetings, one of them to be held in Chapel Hill during the winter meeting of the North Carolina Press Association, a second meeting will be held next fall, probably at Duke University. The association went on record as favoring a continuation of the policy of frankness in dealing with the press. Any attempt at suppression of legitimate news on the part of colleges was characterized as detrimental to the best interests of the institutions. Co-operation with the press in furthering the cause of education was stressed.

At Forty

"At Forty" the housewife in some sections of Europe wears a black bonnet to signify the end of her youth. A quaint custom—you say—but it usually signifies a fact. Heavy tasks, indoors and out, have made her old—at forty.

Of all the uses of electricity in America, the most important are those which release the woman from physical drudgery. Electricity carries water, washes clothes, cleans carpets, cooks the family's food—better and quicker than could be done by hand.

A trip to town or an hour's rest in the afternoon pays a woman dividends in good health "at forty years." And what is youth but that?

Men and women who have had the benefit of college training and college life have learned to place the proper value upon rest and recreation. They appreciate the relief afforded by electricity.

Upon great generators which send out current to light the homes and carry the burdens of millions, you will find the G-E monogram. Upon industrial motors, on electric railway trains—wherever quality and un-failing performance are first essentials—the G-E monogram will be found.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.
