SENDING COLLEGE NEWS

Mail Service From One College Newspaper to Another thru the "College Press" will keep Institutions in Touch With Distant Activities—Organization Sponsored by the North Carolina College Press Association—Aydelott First General Manager.

The College Press, an organization to encourage the Associated Press idea, was inaugurated at North Carolina State College and has started a movement for the establishment of similar organizations at the other state universities. The idea is that news of interest to all college people is to be exchanged and distributed through a press organization. The Associated Press is of course the model for this movement and the College Press will work on a similar line.

The AP idea is a good one and is expected to have a great many college papers interested in it. We expect the College Press to grow along the line of the AP and we feel that with the right spirit and co-operation good results can be expected.

The College Press is not set up to compete with the other newspapers but to cooperate with them. It is only a step in the right direction toward the association of all college newspapers. It is a step that is necessary if the college newspaper is to remain in existence. The AP has shown us that it can be done.

If the College Press succeeds, it will have accomplished much. It will have proved that college newspapers can and should cooperate with one another. It will have shown that a common organization is necessary to keep the college newspaper alive.

The College Press is headed by Aydelott, first general manager. This is a step in the right direction. The AP is one of the greatest forces in the world today. It is only a step in the right direction toward the association of all college newspapers. It is a step that is necessary if the college newspaper is to remain in existence. The AP has shown us that it can be done.

The State College Workweek finds another string going away from the Faculty and Students in answer to the call for the State College Alumni at Greensboro.

The students here have found their way to the Outer City for the game with the Davidson. It is interesting to note how many of the students they have left to go over to Greensboro to witness the game. The students won a ball game for Greensboro and many followers of the grid sport found their way over to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and the SS. Independence, which is the railroad hotel and the railroad to Greensboro. The Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in Greensboro is open for the purpose of entertaining the students from the State College. The Waldorf-Astoria Hotel has been in operation for about 15 years and has a large capacity for student accommodation. The great thing about the State Miss Tarheels was the capital of the State. We made our effort to take the State capital to the State. We made our best efforts to take the State capital to the State.

And for that effort the State handed over the State capital to the State. We made

To Be Competitively Selected is an unexpected and gaye momen-Thursday night the freshmen elected class officers for the first year.

A. H. Trevor, of Wilmington, was chosen president, after a hard race between W. J. Fingal and Adelphie M. Masters, of Wilmington. The former served as chief usher, the second was the manager of the freshman team. It was decided to select a class president on the basis of an interest course of work. The class president will be chosen at some future meeting of the freshmen in the room of the various classes assigned.

Following the Sheepdog meeting the doors of Crescent opened. Two cases were on the floor. The regular Judge Judge, Bayman, was assisted in the sorting of votes.

He placed not guilty. The jury found him in the third degree.

C. W. Woodall was released for a fifteen year's suspension.

Delivered his first and second speech on the subject of the newspaper.
