JUDGE LANDIS TO GIVE DECISION IN CHINK OUTEN CASE

Johnny Nee, of Hornets, First Discovered Local Star

YANKEES AND HORNETS BOTH CLAIM STATE STAR

One of Three Decisions Will Be Awarded in High Court of Baseball: (1) Award Outen to the Hornets; (2) Rule Player the Property of the Yankees; (3) Declare Outen Free Agent.

By "SKIP" MERRIAM

The decision whether "Chink" Outen will try out for the Yankees or will play with the Charlotte Hornets, is now in the hands of Judge Landis, high court of baseball.

Judge Landis can make one of three decisions: declare Outen a free agent; rule Outen property of the Yankees; award Outen to the Hornets.

The Hornets claim Outen signed a contract with them, and they are trying to hold him to it. The Yankees declare they signed up Outen thinking he was a free agent.

Outen has asked the Hornets to release him from his contract, but they refuse.

Outen met Johnny Nee, Yankee scout, in Durham last summer and came to an agreement with the Yankees.

If the Charlotte Club can convince Judge Landis that Nee knew Outen was on the suspend list, then Judge Landis will give Outen to the Hornets or declare him a free agent.

Two summers ago Outen played with the Concord Independents. Mr. Hayman of the Hornets called Outen to Charlotte and asked him to join the Charlotte Club. Outen agreed and signed the contract. He said he wanted to return to college to finish his course and then report to the Hornets.

Last February Outen received a contract from the Hornet manager, but failed to fill it out.

Last summer he saw Hayman and told him he had a chance to try for the Yankees. At this conference Hayman made it understood that he would not release Outen.

Intramural Athletics Thru Winter Season, Says Director Miller

J. F. Miller, director of physical education at N. C. State, announced that he intends to conduct intramural athletics throughout the winter season.

He will call together representatives from all fraternities and form an Inter-Fraternity Basketball League similar to the "touch football" league last fall.

For the first time, he intends to arrange a schedule for an inter-dormitory league in basketball, and expects to get this league into action some time next week.

Other sports, such as wrestling and boxing, will also be stressed.

DUKE WINS OVER STATE MATMEN 24 1/2 TO 9 1/2 FRESHMAN THROWING

Struggling for sixteen minutes in an effort to put the other on the mat, two freshmen, Goodwin of State and Woodrow of Duke, featured the meet between the Duke Blue Devils and the State frosh, in which the former won 24 1/2 to 9 1/2.

The two fellows, weighing 125 pounds each, grasped at each other for two extra periods, and after sixteen minutes of rolling the referee called it a draw. Jnes of State put his man on the mat in 9 minutes and 22 seconds for another feature of the meet. State's other winner was found in Black, who won time decision over Rotha in 9 minutes and 30 seconds. They were fighting in the 175-pound class.

The quickest throw of the meet resulted in Bryant of Duke pinning Meade of State down in 55 seconds.

Blue Key Asks One Dollar From Each Student For Band

Blue Key went on record yesterday at their regular meeting as being in favor of assessing each student a dollar at next registration for the purpose of buying new band uniforms.

Major P. W. Price said if the students contribute around fifteen hundred dollars, he can raise five thousand among the town merchants. With the total amount he can outfit the band to be the best dressed in the South.

The matter will be referred to the faculty council, also to the students at the next student body meeting. The subject of a student organization such as the Y. M. C. A. handling the text-book concession was discussed. Since the Students Supply Store has a lease on the concession, the matter was tabled.

The order favored having members meet the high school basketball teams during the tournament, the better to impress the high school men with the State spirit.

The following men were taken into the fraternity at this meeting: E. H. Roberts, H. C. Green, R. W. Shoffner, and Charles Belvin.

Red Terrors Are Victorious Over Wake Forest 27 to 20

DR. W. W. ALEXANDER WILL LECTURE HERE THIS SPRING

Speaker Is One of the Most Outstanding Men in the South

State College students will be favored this spring with a series of lectures by Dr. W. W. Alexander, secretary of the Interracial Commission of the South.

Dr. Alexander is one of the most outstanding leaders in the South and is known the world over as a leader in the promotion of better relations between the white and colored races in the South, and incidentally throughout the world.

His lectures at State College will hinge around this question, and he will try to put across to the student body the determination to use Christian principles throughout life in whatever profession or business the student enters.

One of his lectures will be a story of the life of John J. Egan. He will show how Mr. Egan, who started out as a business man, determined whatever he did would be governed by Christian principles. Many times he reached a place where it seemed impossible to continue, but finally overcame all obstacles, and his life will go down in the memory of those who knew him as one of the finest that was ever lived.

The second lecture will be an account of the Jerusalem World's Missionary Conference held last March, which Dr. Alexander attended. This will interest all who hear him.

Other lectures will hinge around the subject of "Race Problems in the South." These lectures will be of special interest to southern college students and will offer much enlightenment.

He will be here from March 2d to 6th, inclusive, and will deliver a number of lectures and be open for public interview at any time.

The Interracial Commission, of which Dr. Alexander is secretary, has as its purpose the promotion of better relations among races, especially the white and colored races in the South. They have many of the most prominent men in the South on the commission, both white and colored. Numbers of college presidents are vitally interested in this work.

It is believed that due to the work of this commission the percentage of lynchings has greatly decreased in the South in recent years. Dr. Alexander is a speaker of wide renown, and spends most of his time speaking in churches, schools, colleges, and other organizations throughout the South.

JOHNSTON, S. C., BOY LEADER AT N. C. STATE

Major W. V. Sawyer

Walter V. Sawyer, son of J. W. Sawyer of Johnston, S. C., is cadet major of the first battalion, Reserve Officers Training Corps, an honor only three students at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, have in the 1929 regiment, commanded by Major C. C. Early.

Major Sawyer is also active in other campus circles, playing intramural baseball, basketball, and football for the past three years. He is a senior in the State College school of science and business, majoring in marketing subjects. He is a member of Theta Kappa Nu, the cotillion club, Delta Sigma Pi honorary business society, and the national army order, Scabbard and Blade.

State College Boys Have Big Blowout In Chemistry Lab

By SKIP MERRIAM

G. W. Hilliard and J. W. Harris, State College freshmen, were seriously injured about the face and hands by an explosion Monday afternoon, while mixing potassium chlorate and red phosphorus in a cement mortar in the Chemistry Building.

Hilliard was mixing the two chemicals as the explosion occurred. His hair, eyebrows, and face were slightly burned, while five stitches had to be taken in his hand in closing a wound caused by a flying piece of the mortar.

Harris had his hands slightly burned and his eardrums broken by the explosion. Hilliard's eyes are a little weak and his hand is bandaged.

Hilliard blames the accident on the other boy, who was standing near him when the chemicals exploded; Harris, in turn, blames Hilliard. The condition of both boys is improved and they are expected to be out of the infirmary in the next few days.

DR. E. C. BROOKS TALKS ON STUDENT FINANCES

Declares Cheating on Exams This Term Is Far Below Average

"As we begin this term, after setting a high standard of honesty on examinations, let us continue to have this word 'honesty' forever in our minds, so that the ideals of State College may still be raised to higher levels," said Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of State College, in his address to the student body in Pullen Hall yesterday. Dr. Brooks gave a further account of the reports turned in by the faculty members in regard to the attitude taken by the students on the various exams held throughout the college.

"My address two weeks ago was based on 'Sense of Honor,' and you recall the three statements I made in regard to honor. Today let us take these three statements and apply them to 'Student Finances in Student Organizations.'" In his address on "Student Finances" Dr. Brooks brought into play the great principle that made Robert E. Lee and General Jackson, two men whom the South will pay respect to today and Monday in memory of their births. This great principle, "honesty," had more influence on their soldiers, friends, and country than did their military genius, Dr. Brooks declared.

To make his address more vivid Dr. Brooks created an organization with fifty men, and proceeded to have its treasurer turn in his financial reports in three different forms—the natural impulse to keep his record straight, the impulse to keep the money, then changes his mind and makes a correct report, and finally, the impulse to keep the money and only when taught by someone else that it is wrong to keep the money trusted to him, hands in the correct report. Under the third impulse a man is classed as a crook.

"Hundreds of public officials fall into this third group, and still more in the second. They do not realize what it is, or do not care what they do with money trusted to them for a definite purpose. Their desire is to spend, have luxury, and a good time, no matter where the money comes from. But this cannot exist for all time, for a report must be made, and then the money is to be replaced. This college has forty-seven organizations that require financial reports, and it is their duty to see that their report is correct by electing a new treasurer when some report handed in by the present treasurer is incorrect." It was a forceful explanation of how men in public, private, and other forms of business life, and college men, can carry on their work in a straightforward way.

"And now, as my final word, let me plead with you to follow the first group, so that when you leave this college the business world may point to you and say, 'that man's honesty' stands high and he is capable of carrying on the problems of the world today,'" finished Dr. Brooks, in one of the most forceful addresses delivered in Pullen Hall.

Newspapers are playing up the fact that a former co-ed is entering her second year of semi-consciousness. Just what makes her different from other college students?

Nickel and Five Votes Received by Albright on Campus Honor Ballot

Five votes and five cents in the form of a nickel were all the response of the student body to the request of President W. P. Albright for information as to the cheating on examinations in a poll conducted last week.

Printed ballots in The Technician requested the members of the campus to fill out the slips and drop them in the box provided in the Y. M. C. A. vestibule. These slips asked the students if the examinations were honorably conducted, whether or not honor was maintained, on how many was cheating observed, and how many cases of dishonesty were seen.

The ballot stood three to two in favor of honesty. "We are glad somebody contributed a nickel to the cause," Albright said, as he told of the money disappearing from the place he pinned it with the title of "found."

WAKE COUNTY ALUMNI HOSTS TO VARSITY-FROSH GRIDMEN

Wolfpack Captain To Be Selected; Adams and Lepo Outstanding Contestants

The N. C. State "Wolfpack" and Coach Drennen's freshman gridmen will be guests of the Wake County alumni at a barbecue supper this afternoon at the State Fair grounds.

A banquet, featuring the election of next year's captain, was to have been held in the middle of December, but the influenza epidemic caused its postponement due to the closing of the college.

It is thought among the student body that the 1929 "Wolfpack" leader will be selected from two outstanding aspirants, "Sparky" Adams, quarterback, and John Lepo, tackle. Both players have served two years with the "Pack" and are logical candidates to succeed "Bob" Warren. Alumni from all sections of the State will attend the feast.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS WILL REPLACE BIBLE DISCUSSION

"The Kellogg Peace Pact" To Be Topic for Wednesday Evening at 6:30 o'clock

Instead of the Bible Discussion Groups this year the students will have opportunity of listening to some prominent man each Wednesday evening at 6:30 in the Y. M. C. A. on some important topic of the day.

The topic for next Wednesday is "The Kellogg Peace Pact" and some interesting speaker will be secured. It is not definitely known yet who it will be.

At a luncheon in the private dining-room of the cafeteria last Sunday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. cabinet passed upon a recommendation to the Bible study group that some speaker be selected each Wednesday evening to speak on some important topic of the day.

Wednesday night at 6:30, in the north end of the Y. M. C. A. at a buffet supper for the Bible study group this recommendation was presented. After much discussion pro and con it was decided it would add much to the campus life if the students would become interested in such lectures, and the topics with which they would deal. Every man present voiced his support and the lectures will become a reality.

Outstanding men on the campus and leaders in the city will constitute the nucleus of those who will deliver lectures during the coming months. Every student on the campus is invited to come and hear them. It is believed that everyone will benefit by going.

In addition to this Wednesday night lecture series, the Bible study group, the Bible study group will meet each Monday night at 6:30 to study the different phases of the Christian life. Beginning next Monday night they will make a study of the "Sermon on the Mount" and try to find out what it means in the life of the man who is endeavoring to live a life for Christ.

FROSH WILL STAND PHYSICAL EXAMS TWICE EACH YEAR

Department of Physical Education Compiling Statistics

ATTEMPT TO CORRELATE DEFECTS AND LOW GRADES

Second of Examinations Will Be Given in Spring Term—First Is Taken at Registration—Toxic Tonsils Most Prevalent Defect at Institution, Tabulation of Statistics Show.

Two physical examinations yearly will be given the freshman class at State College by the department of physical education, and the results of these will be compared with the scholastic records in an attempt to prove the theory of some that students physically defective also tend downward in their class-work. J. F. Miller, director of the department, said here recently.

First of these tests has to be passed when the new man first comes to the institution before he can continue with his registration for the fall term. In conjunction with the physical training department, the military department uses the results of this first test to choose men for its unit in the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Dr. A. C. Campbell, college physician, and Dr. R. R. Sermon, athletic medic, are aided in their work in the examination by the army and navy physician connected with the local branch of the United States recruiting service.

The second of the examinations is to be given at the end of the first year of the new men in college, and the results of the latter test will be compared with those of the fall term. The work will be carried on for three or four years in an attempt to acquire enough statistics to enable the departments to prove or disprove their theories.

Special Classes

Those who are found physically defective are at once put into special training classes in physical education and letters sent to their parents advising them of the fact, and what remedies could be made. It is in this group of students the physical education department is most interested.

Of the 433 students examined in 1928, 179 failed to pass, 149 were recalled by the department, and the others were allowed to enter regular classes.

List of Defects

Statistics of physical defects are as follows:

- Hernia 8, toxic tonsils 32, verticello 13, astigmatism 7, below normal 3, flat feet 5, large inguinal rings 1, hypochondria 2, enlarged testicles 2, spinal deformity 1, obesity 1, atrophy of testicle 2, heart trouble 1, deformity 1, leg broken 1, enlarged tonsils 1, chest deformity 1, infantile paralysis 1, right leg atrophied 1, emphysema 1, tachycardia 1, history of emphysema 1, ptosis of stomach 1, heart murmur 1, osteomyelitis 1, suspicion of paraneal abscess 1, underdeveloped 6, deformed left leg 1, deformed left foot 1, large varicelloe 1, spinal curvature 1, hydrocele 1, left varicelloe 1.

Varsity Wrestling Schedule Announced By Coach Drennen

The North Carolina State College varsity wrestling team will engage in five more matches before the end of the present season. Coach Drennen's boys had their initial engagement last Wednesday night, when they met the Duke grapplers.

The schedule is as follows:

- Jan. 19—V. P. I. at Blacksburg, Virginia.
- Jan. 21—University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va.
- Feb. 14—Washington and Lee at Raleigh.
- Feb. 16—Davidson at Davidson.
- Feb. 21—University of North Carolina at Raleigh.

two minutes without using some form of profane language.

Men, it is a shame that we, as State College men, cannot express ourselves without cursing every other breath. If some of the men on our campus, in very high positions, were as rotten or as dirty as their speech signified, we would have to bury them in quicklime to safeguard the good health of our college.

Some men seem to feel that to curse is to be a real, college-bred man, and the shame of it is that we often smile when a man describes something or some experience with a string of blank, blank, blankety-blanks.

Fellow-students, your speech is an index to your culture and character; if you value the impression you make upon others, see that that impression is good instead of being shot through with vulgar, cheap, filthy expressions, a rich assortment of blankety-blank-blanks.

If you have no respect or pride in yourself, consider the impression you make upon others.

Men, we should remember that we represent not only State College, but our community, and above all else our homes, and the type of training our mothers and fathers gave us. Shall our speech be a credit or a discredit to our true selves?

WHERE WAS RALEIGH HI?

While history was writing itself in Raleigh last Friday with the inauguration of North Carolina's new governor, O. Max Gardner, the Raleigh public school students were housed in their classrooms, apparently giving no heed to this great event. Only on three or four occasions in the past has a governor of North Carolina received such an ovation as did Governor Gardner, a former State College student.

History books have tried to tell in words how the inauguration of a governor takes place, but words cannot take the place of the actual thing. These hundreds of students detained in their classrooms have had some time in their course of study of history a lesson on the inauguration of a governor, and last Friday they had the chance to see it in living form—but no, they had to remain where they were while this great spectacle was unfolding itself just outside their school. It was an occasion not to be missed, and thousands of people took advantage of it and journeyed hundreds of miles to the Capital City for the event. Among this great throng were the school children of Greensboro and the whole city of Shelby.

Greensboro's students, living a good distance from Raleigh, saw the works, but Raleigh's students, only a few blocks away, did not. Did not Raleigh think as much of her new governor as did Greensboro? It seems as though they didn't. Shelby showed their great love and faith in him by the enormous reception they gave him prior to his leaving their city, and by turning out in thousands to see him take the reins of state government. Raleigh's reception was great and spectacular, but it lacked the on great essential—Raleigh's younger boys and girls were not lined up and down the street, or in the auditorium, to greet the manager of their state. But now it's too late; the chance came and it was taken away from them. Four years must elapse before the event will return, and in these four years thousands of Raleigh boys and girls will study in books what took place in their own city. FRED DIXON.

HOLDING THE BAG

Something is wrong somewhere. I don't know exactly what it is, or exactly where it is, but I do know that the cadets of the R. O. T. C. are the ones that are holding the bag.

As it is, the R. O. T. C. unit is marched downtown on Armistice Day to parade, and again on Inauguration Day to escort the governor around. Well, that is all right, for the cadets are proud of the U. S. State and don't mind letting the people know it. While the cadets are exercising around and trying to keep warm while the governor takes his oath, the rest of the school is having a most enjoyable holiday. Still, the R. O. T. C. unit takes it with a smile, for they are glad to do what they can for their college.

But the cadets of the R. O. T. C. unit are not taking with a smile the fact that they have to form on Fridays to march to Pullen Hall and remain for one hour while the rest of the school are enjoying themselves.

In other words, the R. O. T. C. unit is not being treated fair, for they get a bull-rig if they don't go, and the rest of the school gets nothing. Or, either, it looks like the R. O. T. C. unit is not treated that is, it is believed that they won't attend the meeting unless they are compelled to, whereas it is taking for granted the rest of the student body will attend it without being compelled to do so. Now, I ask you, is that fair?

There is yet one more way to look at it. That is, that it is just naturally known and accepted by everybody that it is up to the R. O. T. C. unit to uphold the college, to look after the rest of the school, and to keep the college before the eye of the public. Therefore, it is only necessary that

'SOAP he didn't die in vain! Let me hold your PALMOLIVE. Not on your LIFE BUOY. IVORY right to love you. VIOLET, you love me: what will JERGEN say? I have an OCTAGON box, and after I CASTLE into his heart, I WOOD-BURY him there. FAIRY well: I got TAR be going.

All of this is sort of beating around the bush, maybe, and not exactly hitting the nail on the head, so, in ending, to put the whole thing in a nutshell, the cadets of the R. O. T. C. do not like to form on Fridays and march to Pullen Hall or receive a bull-rig if they are not present, while the other half of the school do as they please. KARL KOONTZ.

WE ARE ONE-SIDED

During this week the Kellogg peace pact was ratified in the United States Senate by a vote of 85 to 1, which announces to the world that the United States is in favor of PEACE and in favor of such a document that advocates peace as does the Kellogg peace pact.

Whether or not this will insure peace to the world remains to be seen. Evidently Will Rogers thinks it is a blind venture and looks at it lightly, but as that is his business we should not let it influence our opinion.

Though this is one of the greatest problems the United States has faced recently, and though it may control the destinies of many nations, not once have I heard a State College student mention it anywhere on the campus. The point I am trying to make is this: State College students are growing up one-sided men.

We are getting mathematics, history, engineering, business principles, but few of us are interested in the vital questions that are facing the world today. The problems that face us as a nation, or the obstacles that the nations of the world come up against in dealing with each other, fade into insignificance insofar as State College students are concerned.

College is but a laboratory lasting four years, in which young men are experimenting with the principles that guide men in life. It is in the world today that the real life is being lived. The problems that face us as a nation, or the obstacles that the nations of the world come up against in dealing with each other, fade into insignificance insofar as State College students are concerned.

to us. This is a step in the direction of broadening ourselves. If we back it, it will succeed. If we are not interested, it cannot succeed.

Let us make our lives here in college well-rounded ones. Come each Wednesday night to listen to these talks, and add your opinion to the discussion at the end of each one. Let us make State College men interested in other matters as well as those pertaining to our little sphere here in college. E. W. BUCHANAN.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMITTEE SENDS LETTER TO EACH PRINCIPAL IN THE STATE

The committee on letters to the high schools of North Carolina, composed of State College professors, recently sent each principal a letter stating the exact requirements for entrance to State College for students entering the school of engineering.

The letter reads as follows: To High School Principals in North Carolina:—Dear Sir:—May we bring to your attention the entrance requirements for applicants who intend to take a curriculum in engineering at N. C. State College? Eight and one-half of the fifteen units of credit required for admission are in specified subjects and six and one-half units are electives.

We would like particularly to call your attention to the fact that plane geometry is one of the specified subjects listed in the college catalog. Of the specified subjects, two and one-half are in mathematics, made up as follows: Algebra to quadratics, one; quadratics through progression, one-half; plane geometry, one.

The other required credits are: English, three; history, two, and science, one.

We urge you to bring these requirements to the attention of those of your students who intend taking an engineering curriculum here or at any other Class "A" college.

They should also be made aware of the fact that a lack of thorough training in mathematics is the chief reason for the large number of failures during the freshman year at college. Sincerely yours,

COMMITTEE ON LETTER TO THE HIGH SCHOOLS.

Franklin Davis, Mountain Grove, Mo., Added Faculty As Asst. Professor of Soils

Franklin L. Davis of Mountain Grove, Missouri, has been added to the State College faculty as assistant professor of soils. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture from the University of Missouri in 1923. From the time of graduation until 1926 Dr. Davis taught agriculture and managed the school farm at "The School of the Ozarks," at Hollister, Missouri. In 1926 he accepted a graduate fellowship in soils at the University of Missouri and continued studies there until coming to Raleigh.

Mr. Davis received his M.S. degree in Soils in 1928, and has completed most of the course work towards his Ph.D. degree. He will carry on research work for his Ph.D. degree while at State College.

His appointment as assistant professor of soils came as a result of the large increase in enrollment of soils courses. From the time Dr. Cobb came to State College in 1924 until the present time the increase has been so great that it was necessary to secure an assistant.

The enrollment in soils and geology in 1924-25 was only 89 students. The enrollment increased to such an extent from 1925 to 1927 that geology was made a separate department.

The soils enrollment alone for 1927-28 was 238 students. The enrollment for 1928-29 promises to exceed this considerably, since there are 128 students registered in soils courses for the first term. The enrollment promises to go far over 300. Davis comes to State College well qualified and highly recommended for his duties, and it is expected that his addition to the faculty will greatly aid the soils department.

RUSSIA BOOSTS ART

Moscow—(IP)—In an effort to raise the cultural of the peasant masses, the Russian government is to spend $100,000,000 on art in the next five years, it has been announced by Aleksey Sidersky, newly appointed head of the government art department.

New theaters will be built in each county, while museums, drama, and opera will be made available to the masses by lowest admission fees possible. The government is also to publish popular editions of all the world's classical works, to be sold to the public at minimum prices.

Dear Friends: I have been a very heavy pipe smoker for the last thirty years, and have always used Edgeworth Tobacco (Plug Slice) and find there is no other tobacco like it for a cool and well flavored taste.

I am in the vaudeville business, and have traveled all over the world with my brother, and always have had very great pleasure in recommending your tobacco; and many a time I have had to pay double the price in different countries for it, but I would sooner do that than smoke anything else, as I have tried all different brands. I generally buy a one-pound tin and roll it up; and believe me, gentlemen, it is real tobacco.

With best wishes from Yours sincerely, Sam La Mert of the La Mert Brothers' Piano Novelty Act.

The "Hallmark Self-Instructor" is the title of this method. Eight years were required to perfect this great work. The entire course, with the necessary examination sheets, is bound in one volume. The first lesson is unsealed, which the student may examine and be his own "JUDGE and JURY." The later part of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" is sealed. Upon the student returning any copy of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" with the seal unbroken, we will refund in full all money paid.

This amazing Self-Instructor will be sent anywhere. You do not need to send any money. When you receive this new method of teaching music, deposit with the postman the sum of ten dollars. If you are not entirely satisfied, the money paid will be returned in full upon written request. The publishers are anxious to place this "Self-Instructor" in the hands of music lovers all over the country, and is in a position to make an attractive proposition to agents. Send for your copy today. Address The "Hallmark Self-Instructor," Station G, Postoffice Box 111, New York, N. Y.

South Africa, is valiantly endeavoring to excel similar publications produced at liberal arts colleges and universities.

While the literary efforts of the practically-minded "Techs" may not surpass in artistic merit the work of those who are by nature more aesthetic, The Wataugan has little to apologize for when it shows its face in the best of company.

There are revelations of clear thinking, accurate observation, and flashing wit within the pages of this issue, the second of the year.

As compared with similar efforts in the whole field of magazine publication, both professional and amateur, the department entitled, "Life, Jr." is by far the best. In fact, there is much therein which might have found a place in the "paid-for" pages of regular magazines of humor.

The leading article in the magazine, "The College Challenge," by Doctor B. W. Wells, Professor of Botany, must be awarded the palm. Doctor Wells boldly suggests that the primary purpose of institutions of higher learning is to develop scholarship. This somewhat heretical point of view is maintained with a good deal of incisive wit and is clearly set forth in an effective analogy. The professor's solution of the problem is the creation of a rather nebulous "challenging environment."

The author is out of step with his age in that he does not suggest some machinery for attaining his objective.

The "dynamite" in this month's issue is in an editorial on the honor system. One paragraph is worthy of quotation:

"With few exceptions the people who are endeavoring to perpetuate the present system are those that benefit by its shortcomings. The situation is analogous to prohibition and the bootleggers. That highly popular and much sought after group will invariably vote against any movement to abolish the eighteenth amendment. So, here, we have too many men who benefit from our present system to ever have it completely thrown out. Too many academic bootleggers!"

The recent national political campaign furnishes the motive for two contributions. H. F. Ellis, of Rhodessa, South Africa, expresses astonishment at certain phases of the 1928 presidential "dog-fight"—particularly the prominent part played by the religious issue in a supposedly civilized nation. E. W. Buchanan contributes an oration on "The Citizen's Duty to Vote," which well illustrates the best qualities of modern speech composition—directness, energy, variety, con-

"With most honorable approval"

When the Most Honorable Tourist enters a Japanese shop, experienced travelers tell us, he is instantly struck by the elegant bareness of the shelves. The astute Eastern merchant discloses his wares one piece at a time, working down from the choicest to an eventual sale.

If our local tobacco shops were conducted on the Japanese system, we venture to predict that Chesterfield would be the first cigarette offered — and about eight times out of ten there'd be a sale on the spot!

At least that's what the sales figures indicate — over six million smokers keep asking for Chesterfield and the salesmen all know it.

And no wonder, you smokers. You who have tried 'em know there's no need to sell Chesterfields — that mild different flavor just puts itself over.

creteness, and an appeal to strong motivating forces.

The most puerile features of the magazine are the story called "The Rose of the Nile," the pale-pink nonsense, such as O. O. McIntyre, and certain of the verse. The author of the story displays a certain facility in writing, but he needs to seek his themes in a quarter closer to twentieth-century Tarheelia than ancient Egypt, and to practice writing dialogue in a manner that at least in a remote way resembles the speech of actual human beings.

The editor of the book reviews needs to scrutinize contributions more carefully on all points. Only one of them, that of "The Great American Ass," is worthy of a college publication; and that of "Many Marriages" is, in style and content, poor enough to make the "Americana" column of the American Mercury.

FROSH ORGANIZE COUNCIL BOOST CHRISTIAN SPIRIT

Organization Has Been a Vital Part of the "Y" Program Each Year

The Freshman Friendship Council will be organized at the College Y. M. C. A. auditorium next Sunday afternoon, at 1:30, when every student who is a freshman at the college and who is at all interested in Christian work or promoting better Christian spirit on the campus is invited to attend, whether or not he desires to become a member.

This organization has been a vital part of the Y. M. C. A. program each year for a number of years, and has proven a decided success.

Its purpose is to create fellowship among a group of students who will become the nucleus of the Y work for the following year. Each year these men meet and discuss problems connected with the Christian life, and then the following year they try to put these same principles across to the freshman class for that year.

They also become the new student committee, as they are best fitted for that purpose. Next year they will meet the freshmen at the trains, the busses, and at the rooms to show them where to go and what to do.

This group will be sponsored by the cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. this year and will be headed by A. B. Holden, J. E. Moore and H. C. Green will have charge of the discussions which will be entirely by the freshmen who are members of the group.

The book studied this year is "Introducing Men to Christ," by Dr. W. D. Weatherford.

A model program will be carried out Sunday afternoon at 1:30 by men on the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, and every freshman is invited to come. Special invitations will be sent out to every man who has shown an interest, but Holden states that he wishes as many freshmen present as will come.

STATE FRESHMEN TAKE BABY DEACONS IN FOR 24-TO-8 COURT LICKING

North Carolina State freshmen opened their basketball season by licking the Baby Deacons from Wake Forest 24-8 in the Raleigh auditorium Wednesday night.

Never were the Little Terrors in danger, for Doc Sermon's lessons in basketball had been well drilled into their heads and they proved that they knew how to play this hardwood game.

This contest was the first of the scheduled games for the Little Terrors this season. They had previously had a hard workout with the Morson High cagers. From the showing these basketekers made Monday night much can be expected of them in the championship race.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

State Students Attend Dance

A large number of State students attended the dance given by Misses Annie Louise and Elsie Mason Underwood, 1928 debutantes, Tuesday evening at the Carolina Hotel, in the Buena Vista ballroom.

The dance was one of the largest and most elaborate entertainments of the season for the younger society group.

Punch and a variety of sandwiches were served during the evening, while the University Club Orchestra played.

Visitors' Ball

The Sphinx Club of Raleigh honored the visitors in the city for the inauguration of Governor O. Max Gardner at a dance given in the Virginia Dare ballroom of the Sir Walter Hotel in place of the usual inaugural ball, omitted at the request of the governor.

A number of the State College faculty and students attended this ball, at which North Carolina's most prominent people were gathered.

Punch was served in the dining-room during the dance. Confetti and noisemakers were given out during the grand march.

Braxton's orchestra of Raleigh furnished the music.

S. P. E. Pledges Entertain

Pledges of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity honored their future brothers at a dance last night at the fraternity home, in Clark Avenue, Fairmont.

Refreshments were served during the evening. Loud speakers connected to the victrola were in each room so the dancers could hear the music clearly. The house was decorated in the fraternity colors of purple and red.

Members of the fair social set of Raleigh and fraternity members of the college attended the dance.

Governor's Reception

Many of the students and faculty members of the College met Governor and Mrs. O. Max Gardner at the reception in the Governor's Mansion.

After meeting the Governor and his wife they continued through the receiving line, meeting the notables of North Carolina.

Following the receiving line ice cream and cake and punch were served by the Junior Woman's Club of Raleigh. St. Mary girls were present also to add to the entertainment.

A concert orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

People from all parts of the State were present.

Gus Wright Arrives

Gus Wright arrived on the campus Wednesday night from Independence, Mo. Gus was captain of the freshman basketball team last year, thus he is expected to add strength to our present varsity. Gus not only plays basketball, but is a more capable performer on the gridiron, where he has played every position on a football team during his prep school and freshman career.

Movie Clubs Are Latest Rage on College Campuses

College men and women have come to the point where taking movie pictures at big games and winter sports festivals is the mode. In the East, where football originated, the students are going in for moving picture photography with the same amount of interest and enthusiasm that they show for archery, hockey, and soccer. Movie clubs are next, for in this day and age of simple movie cameras, which now even take color pictures and which are being shown in all attractive colors, it is possible to get a permanent record of your college days.

ADJUTANT GENERAL SAYS COLLEGE REGIMENT DID GOOD WORK IN PARADING

Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts of North Carolina, in the following letter to Major C. C. Early expresses to the R. O. T. C. units of State College hearty thanks and appreciation for splendid cooperation in the inaugural parade:

My dear Major:

Just a note to you to express to you my hearty thanks and appreciation for the interest you and your officers displayed in the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of Governor Gardner. Realizing that this occasion came at a time when, due to the mid-year examinations, it interfered with the work of the college, I feel doubly grateful that your cadet corps turned out.

The corps made an excellent showing, as it always does, and, we realize, enlarge the military attendance upon this occasion to the extent that it was highly appreciated by Governor Gardner, Governor McLean, and the spectators.

I will appreciate your taking some opportunity to express to the cadets my appreciation for their service at this time. Very sincerely,
J. VAN B. METTS,
The Adjutant General.

WILFONG TELLS POULTRY SCIENCE STUDENTS ABOUT IMMUNOLOGY MYSTERIES

The talk given by H. S. Wilfong was an unusually interesting feature of the Poultry Science Club meeting Thursday night of this week.

He began by saying he would like to quote the poem about "Some little bug is gonna get you some day," but he had forgotten the exact words. His subject was "The Mysteries of Immunology."

It seems at present there are two theories of immunity accepted by two corresponding schools, he said. The older and more generally accepted is that of anti-bodies being built up by the cells of a body when attacked by disease germs. This is the theory on which vaccinations are based.

The other theory is very recent, and is sponsored by a Frenchman. He believes that immunity is the result of a bacteriophage—that is, that filterable organisms live on the germs as parasites and eventually kill them.

It was decided the annual "chicken feed" would be given next Thursday evening, January 24.

Ryan, as critic, reported favorably on Wilfong's talk, and stated as his only criticism the regret that more members did not hear it.

W. C. PARRISH ELECTED PRESIDENT OF A. S. C. E. AT MEETING JANUARY 15

A. S. C. E. held its regular meeting Tuesday night, January 15. Instead of having a program, new officers were elected for the remainder of the year and the president appointed chairmen to be responsible for the float, exhibits, and brawl in the civil department for Engineers' Fair.

The new officers are: President, W. C. Parrish; vice-president, C. F. Mason; secretary and treasurer, A. D. Apple; reporter, V. L. Taylor, and sergeant at arms, C. B. Tate.

Retiring officers for the first half of the year were: President, C. B. Tate; vice-president, A. D. Apple; secretary and treasurer, E. D. Hubbard; reporter, H. M. Ellis, and sergeant at arms, W. T. Smith.

W. C. Parrish was appointed chairman of the float, C. F. Mason chairman of the exhibits, and W. T. Smith chairman of the brawl from the civil department.

Students Invited To Bible Class of Pullen Memorial Church, Sunday Mornings

The State College Bible Class of Pullen Memorial Baptist Church extends to every student of State College a very cordial welcome to attend their meetings every Sunday morning. The class meets at 9:30 o'clock, and the presence of everyone is needed.

Judge Gilbert T. Stephenson will continue to teach the class, and will give a series of talks on "The Simple Life," beginning next Sunday. Mr. Stephenson has just concluded a series of talks, or lessons, on the "Twelve Tests of Character." Although Mr. Stephenson has accepted a position in Winston-Salem, he will return to Raleigh each week-end and will teach the class.

Class officers have just been elected for the new year from the student body. These are: E. V. Vestal, president; P. S. Ballance, first vice-president; L. E. Hawes, second vice-president; R. L. Shepherd, secretary; and I. T. Jackson, assistant secretary and treasurer.

DUKE UNIVERSITY VICTORS OVER N. C. STATE MEN IN ANNUAL WRESTLING MEET

The N. C. State wrestling teams, both the varsity and freshman, swung into action for the first time this season when they met the grapplers from Duke University in the Frank Thompson gym Wednesday.

The Duke freshmen were victors over State's yearlings by a 24 1/2 to 9 1/2 score in the afternoon matches. The feature tussle was between Goodwin of State and Woodrow of Duke, which was fought 16 minutes to a draw.

The Duke varsity matmen were victors over the State varsity by a 24-8 score in the evening. Both Captain Moore and Stovall of State were victors in their matches. Moore gained a three-minute and ten-second time advantage over Johnson in the 145-pound class. Stovall threw Savage in 8 minutes and 37 seconds in the 125-pound class.

Mack Stout gave Knowles a hard tussle, but the latter gained a 3-minute and 45-second time advantage after the match went into extra periods.

We will take time out at this point only long enough to insert the announcement that likker is of no use in dispersing the flu—not that we had the flu or the likker, either. We got the information from a reliable source.

THE ANATOMY OF SMOKE PLEASURE

You see the fact is that once you've chosen Camels, you're somewhat the fair-haired boy. Perhaps a word of explanation is in order, but we're disinclined to elucidate at length. We could probably trace the cool course of a mellow Camel-cloud through your smoke-channel—and explain what makes it "click." But as the osteopath said to the bacteriologist, "Don't bacilli."
