DURHAM SQUAD PUTS UP
HARD FIGHT FOR FINALS

Red Terrors' Defeat of Tennessee, Clemson, and Mississippi Mileposts in Brilliant Charge of North Carolina Wolfpack Against Best Teams of Southland, Carrying Raleigh Squad to Victor's Crown.

Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 8.—A fighting Wolfpack from North Carolina State College attained new heights of basketball glory here last Tuesday night by defeating Duke University's quintet by a 44-to-35 score in the final game for the Southern Conference championship tournament.

Fight Hard
The Red Terrors continued their steady, unslacking pace which had carried them to successive victories over Tennessee, Clemson, and Mississippi on the climb to the coveted throne, and subdued the fighting Demons in one of the hardest battles of the tournament. The victory gave State College its first conference title in the history of the institution.

Led by Frank Goodwin and Larry Haar, the Red Terrors played great basketball throughout the game, and only once during the entire contest was Duke able to gain the lead. This lead was short-lived, however, and was quickly relinquished to the fighting Wolves with their dependable teamwork and never-slacking pace.

Werber and Croson were Duke's greatest threats, and these two players were in the thick of the fight from start to finish. Croson tossed in twelve points during the evening, while Werber was lauded for his all-around brilliance.

Duke Strong
The Duke team gave State its greatest competition during the early moments of the game, but midway through the first half the Terrors pulled away to gain a 25-18 lead by the close of the period. In the second half the State team continued its steady pace that began to tell on the Duke players, and with Johnson, Haar, and Goodwin at their best it was apparent that the pace was too great for the faltering Devils.

Captain Hank Young opened the scoring of the game after a minute of play and Candler followed with a field goal for Duke. Haar was fouled by Werber and counted one try. During the next few minutes both teams were unable to locate the hoop, but Candler broke the ice with a free throw. Bob Warren slipped by the basket and caged a neat shot from an angle, and Rogers followed with a field goal for Duke. Johnson was fouled by Werber and counted his try. Werber then slipped down the floor to cage a pretty one-handed shot that drew applause from the fifteen hundred fans present. He followed with another neat shot.

Haar Stars
At this point the dependable Larry Haar came to the fore with two neat shots in succession before Croson slipped one through the net for Duke. Big Frank Goodwin and Larry Haar each caged a field goal that sent State into a comfortable lead of 16 to 11. Goodwin slipped under the hoop for another basket and Johnson repeated a moment later. Jankoski fouled Young, who counted his shot. Candler followed with a field goal and followed this up with a snowbird. Near the end of the half Haar was fouled in the act of shooting and counted both tries, with the field goal to boot. Rogers sank a long shot as the half ended 25 to 18.

Second Half
Frank Goodwin looped in the first score in the second half, and Croson repeated for Duke. Johnson passed to Goodwin, who caged an easy shot under the hoop. Goodwin then scored another field goal before Croson added one for Duke. Croson repeated several moments later and netted a field goal, and followed this up with still another. Captain Young then sent State into a seven-point lead by caging a field goal, but Candler reduced it to five points by virtue of a good shot. Young then sent another shot through the net on a pass from Warren.

Croson counted a foul when fouled.

ENGINEER CELEBRATION TO BE BIGGER EVENT THAN EVER THIS YEAR

The Engineers' celebration this year represents a departure from the program of previous years, in that it has been extended over three days instead of one as heretofore.

This year's Engineers' Council feels that the amount of work involved in preparing for the event warranted a three days program, and that such a program would give a much better opportunity for the families and friends of the students to attend at least some of the events.

The parade on Thursday evening will be a distinct innovation. It will be illuminated with colored flares, one thousand of which have been purchased by the parade committee for the occasion. The floats representing the various departments will also be illuminated. Governor O. Max Gardner, a State College alumnus, will head the parade in company with Dr. E. C. Brooks, Dr. W. C. Ridgick, and Mayor E. E. Culbreth. These gentlemen will review the parade at the State Capitol.

On Friday the Engineers' Fair will be open from 2 until 9 p. m. This is also an innovation, as in previous years the fair was open only in the afternoon. A large evening crowd is promised.

The six departments are again vying with each other to put on the best exhibit and win the Raleigh Times cup. Several of the departments are preparing to give souvenirs to the visitors.

The crowning event of the week will be the annual "Grand Brawl" in the Frank Thompson gymnasium. An

CREDIT NOW TO BE GIVEN FOR WORK ON PUBLICATIONS

In answer to the petition to Dr. Brooks, relative to college credit for work on publications, the Committee on Recommendation of Courses of Study recommends credit for the work, to be arranged through regularly organized channels.

The motion was passed that the necessary machinery be put into motion to make it possible for the business managers and the editors of college publications to have courses outlined in so as to receive college credit, and that the School of Science and Business be requested to work out such an arrangement.

MILITARY PARADES NOW TO BE HELD EACH WEEK

Last Monday's Parade First of Series To Be Witnessed By Invited Notables

The State College R. O. T. C. Regiment held the first of its annual spring series of parades on State College campus last Monday at 12 noon. These parades will continue once a week, each Monday at noon, during the spring months to the end of May.

Visitors are cordially invited. The excellent State College R. O. T. C. band will play during the ceremony. There is ample parking space for automobiles and visitors can observe the ceremonies from their cars.

Regimental parades held last spring at State College each Monday were very popular among the Raleigh townspeople, large numbers of whom motored out to State College to view the parades.

It is an inspiring sight to see the well-drilled State College regiment march in swinging martial step to the stirring music of its band. The parades are held on the cedar parade ground at State College, and the circle of fine old cedars gives a beautiful background to the ceremony.

State College R. O. T. C. parades have become an important feature in the social life of Raleigh. During the pleasant spring months a gay throng of spectators view the parades from the wooded park on the edge of the parade ground. Faculty members and their wives, young matrons from the city, young ladies from the colleges in Raleigh, parents of the R. O. T. C. students, and other visitors from towns near Raleigh all unite to form a colorful gathering to view the parades.

The regiment was reviewed at its parades last year by A. W. McLean, governor of the state; Josephus Daniels, ex-Secretary of the Navy during the World War, and Max Gardner, present governor of the state, and other distinguished citizens.

It is planned that the R. O. T. C. Regiment be reviewed at the weekly parades this spring by the deans of the different schools at State College, and by outstanding leaders of the state. It has been the custom of the president of the college himself to review the R. O. T. C. Regiment for the final graduation parade at the end of the school year.

Councilman Pinkston Objects to Suspension of Rules to Consider Constitutional Revision Program Before Publication for Required Two Weeks.

A slight hitch in the proceedings in the form of an oversight of parliamentary practice caused the adjournment of the House of Student Government here last Thursday night when a single member tied the hands of the body by refusing to make the vote unanimous for suspension of the two weeks publication of proposed legislation article of the by-laws of campus government.

Maintaining the opinion that the student governmental body was "attempting to put something over on the student body" in taking up consideration of the constitutional revisions and secret ballot provisions without first publishing notice for two weeks, Councilman H. D. Pinkston, civil engineering junior, sent the House into adjournment until March 26, sufficient time to allow for publication of the proposed legislation.

Pivotal point of the discussion was article eight of the rules adopted under the student government plan, which reads: "Any rule, regulation, by-law, or amendment to the constitution must be advertised in the college paper for two weeks before it can be brought before the House of Student Government for action. This rule may be temporarily suspended by the unanimous consent of the House members present."

The governmental body adopted Roberts' Rules of Order as standard parliamentary practice at the beginning of this scholastic year, and the article of the by-laws in question should have been repeated as conflicting legislation, the standard rules not providing for a unanimous vote for suspension of rules. This fact was overlooked in the heated debate that grew out of the proposal to consider the constitutional revisions.

Considerable discussion of the matter has been rampant since before the Christmas holidays, and a commission was appointed to draft proposed amendments and revisions for the House to consider and then to pass on to the student body for adoption.

It is required by law that the campus residents be allowed a referendum on all things of prime importance, such as the subject-matter of Thursday night's discussion.

MU BETA PSI ORGANIZED AS NATIONAL FRAT

First National Fraternity To Be Founded At State College

BETA CHAPTER GRANTED TO DAVIDSON COLLEGE

Applications for Membership Have Been Received From Several Southern States by Local Chapter as Expansion Becomes Program.

By W. R. DIXON
Mu Beta Psi, State College musical fraternity, began its active expansion program as a national organization last week when the delegation from Davidson College was accepted and initiated as the Beta Chapter of Mu Beta Psi of State College.

Originator of the idea was Major P. W. Price, who organized the chapter in the beginning to relieve a feeling of antagonism that was present between the members of the band and the glee club, and to bring them together and show them they were all doing the same work.

After the chapter here had become a little better organized, "Daddy" Price tried to get this chapter into a national musical fraternity, but because there were no regular musical courses taught in the school, he saw it would take more time and trouble than it would be worth to men in a technical school. He also noticed

STUDENT PRIMARY ELECTION WILL BE HELD ON APRIL 17

The idea of student body president, W. P. Albright, to have student elections earlier in the session this year took definite form this week in the announcement that primary elections have been scheduled for April 17th, with the final ballots to be cast shortly thereafter.

A special election for officers of the Y. M. C. A. was at one time proposed by J. E. Moore, student head of that organization, in order to choose next year's officers in time for the annual student Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. conference this spring.

Since the shifting of the date for the general election, the idea of a separate Y balloting has been abandoned, and will take place on the date set aside.

Student government officers and candidates for the Norris Athletic Trophy will be nominated in the April 17 election.

The Australian ballot system of secret voting will be used in this primary and the following election, President Albright said Thursday night. This plan has not been used before at this institution and will be inaugurated this year.

Faculty Meeting Last Saturday Results in Adoption of Plan

STUDENTS STRENUOUSLY OBJECT TO NEW SYSTEM

All Laboratory, Written Work, and Announced Quizzes Missed to Come Under Head of Recent Action—Fee Doubled if Make-up Period is Cut.

By W. R. DIXON
The general faculty of North Carolina State College adopted a plan at its meeting on Saturday, March 2, whereby it is hoped that the scholarship of this institution will be raised by requiring each student who misses a class without an excuse to pay a fine of 50 cents.

This plan also requires that all written work missed for any reason shall be made up or the pupil shall receive a zero. This make-up work is to be done under the supervision of an advanced student or an instructor approved by the department that the work is in. According to the plan, a fee of fifty cents will be charged for the make-up unless the absence is excused by the dean of students. This fee will be twice as much if the pupil fails to present himself at the make-up for the work, unless the absence is excused by the instructor in the course.

STATE LOSES DEBATE TO FLORIDA UNANIMOUSLY

Tech Supported by Wm. R. Dixon and Lee R. Mercer on Negative Side of Question

Judges decided unanimously that trial by jury should be abolished in the United States from the argument put up last Tuesday night by the University of Florida affirmative team, debating the question with the negative sponsors from North Carolina State.

The visiting speakers were Harold B. Wahl, Cocoa, and Mabry Carlton, Wauchula, and Dixie Beggs, Pensacola, who acted as one of the timekeepers. Wahl is a junior in the arts and science school of Florida University, and Carlton is a senior in the law division.

North Carolina State was represented by William R. Dixon, Rocky Mount, sophomore in architecture, and Lee R. Mercer, Norfolk, Va., president of the sophomore class and registered in chemical engineering. This was the first debate for the home team, while the members of the visiting squad had been on the platform in previous years.

Professor C. C. Cunningham, head of the forensic department at this institution, presided over the debate. Judges were Dr. Charles E. Brewer, president of Meredith College; Rev. Milton A. Barber, and Judge Crawford Riggs, "Timekeeper for North Carolina State was Hubert H. Burroughs, Bethel.

Davidson and Catawba colleges in North Carolina, Emory University and Georgia Tech in Georgia, Alabama and Birmingham-Southern in Alabama, and the University of Tennessee were other schools the Florida team debated on their northern trip.

N. C. STATE ENTERTAINERS HAVE WEDNESDAY PROGRAM

Major Price Says Musical Clubs
Should Give a Program Each Year for the Students

The North Carolina State Entertainers presented a most enjoyable and interesting program last Wednesday evening, February 27, at 8:00 o'clock, before a large and appreciative audience.

It is the opinion of Major P. W. Price that the musical clubs of the college should try to give at least one program a year and invite all of the students and the public at large.

This program was an outgrowth of this idea. There were piano, reader, ed by the State College Orchestra, the Glee Club, and numerous single vocal selections.

The orchestra compared favorably with any that has been at State College this year, according to students who were at the concert, and was much better than a number of the clubs that have been here. They rendered the classical numbers on the program unusually well and caused much favorable comment by their work.

The program was supposed to last only an hour and forty minutes, but in reality, with the many encores, it lasted two hours and ten minutes.

The yodeling of G. N. Swicegood took the house by storm, and instead of leaving the stage in five minutes, it was eighteen minutes before the audience would allow him to go. The State College Male Quartet made its usual hit with the people.

L. V. Lowe's vocal work compared favorably with any singing heard in Pullen Hall this year, not excepting the Criterion Male Singers. The Hill Billies captured the audience with their folk songs and kept the house in an uproar with their comic jigs.

Major Price said he was never so agreeably surprised in his life as he was when he saw Pullen Hall packed full on such a bad night, and he had never seen an audience go so wild over a program before.

This is an annual event and is free to all people. The increasing popularity of State College along musical lines was more than shown in this program. Major Price was more than satisfied with the work the Entertainers did this year, but promises the people and students a bigger time next year.

The program of the evening was:

Orchestra — Youth Triumphant; Gibb.

Glee Club—Secrets, Smith; Swing Along, Cook; Yodeling Sam, Selected —Mr. G. N. Swicegood.

Orchestra — Paraphrase of "Silver Threads Among the Gold," Danks; Baritone Solo.

500 UNIVERSITY STUDENTS DEFEAT MICHIGAN COPS

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 4.—AP—A rioting crowd of about 500 students of the University of Michigan, all that was left of a gathering of approximately 4,000 undergraduates who had withstood a one-hour battle with police, who used tear bombs freely, was dispersed tonight by President Clarence Cook Little after $2,000 damage had been done to the theater they were attempting to enter.

Four persons were held by police, but not formally arrested, and their names were not divulged. Three were said to be students.

A second unsuccessful rally was made against a hastily recruited defending force of police and ushers. The student crowd dwindled to about 500, but made up in belligerence for its smaller size. Potatoes, rotten eggs, bottles, and rocks were used as missiles. Police resorted to each new fusillade with tear bombs.

The students demanded release of the four in custody as the price of peace, but police refused to arbitrate.

SALISBURY BOY IS R. O. T. C. CAPTAIN

CADET CAPT. M. L. BARNHARDT

Marshall Luther Barnhardt, of 122 S. Church Street, Salisbury, is cadet captain of Company F of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, this year.

Captain Barnhardt has been a member of State's rifle team for two years, having entered the Camp Perry, Ohio, national matches in 1928 as a representative from the Fourth Corps Area of the Army.

Barnhardt is majoring in civil engineering, and is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, Theta Tau, and the German Club at the Raleigh Institution.

Students Celebrate Wildly As News Is Sent of Team's Win

The State College campus was suddenly changed from a quiet and peaceful station into a scene of riotous celebration last Tuesday night when word came by wire and air from Atlanta of the Red Terrors' victory over Duke for the Southern Conference title.

Rifles barked from the windows of dormitories and students shouted themselves hoarse. The "bull whistle" was blown hard and long, and the campus was lighted up by blazing papers drifting from dormitory windows. It was nearly midnight, but the students fled out of the dormitories and onto Hillsboro Street, eager for a wild celebration. Time means but little to Youth.

Blazing sticks of red fire illuminated the streets and autos overflowing with students roared around the city, proclaiming the victory. One group of students piled into an empty street car and rode down to St. Mary's College, where they gave several yells for the Southern Conference basketball champions.

Other students visited Meredith, and others Peace, proudly to announce, in the form of cheers, that the Wolfpack had triumphed.

From here the celebrators fled into the center of Raleigh, where a bonfire was made in front of the News and Observer, and the gathering gave cheers for the team.

A rubbish truck, laden with paper and boxes, was appropriated by the boys and driven to Red Field, where its contents were made the fuel of a bonfire around which the students danced and cheered until the wee small hours of the morning. It was a big night for State College, the Red Terrors—and the students!

PLANS FOR MILITARY BALL ARE NEARING COMPLETION

Committee Not Yet Decided Upon Orchestra For the Occasion

The R. O. T. C. Regiment of N. C. State College is now putting into full swing plans for a regimental ball to be held in the Frank Thompson gymnasium Friday evening April 12, from nine to twelve. This is the first event of its kind in the social history of the regiment, and is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest. All students attending will be in uniform and looking their snappiest for the occasion.

The gymnasium will be decorated to suit the taste of even the most critical, while one of the outstanding orchestras in the state will furnish music. Refreshments will also be served, toward which each member of the R. O. T. C. unit is contributing fifty cents.

The suggestions for this dance came from Major C. C. Early and were well received by the students, as is well shown by the manner in which the plans are being carried out by the student committees. Cadet Colonel J. H. McKinnon, as student head of the regiment, has appointed three separate committees to take care of the decorations, music, and refreshments.

On the decoration committee are: Capt. J. W. Black, chairman; C. H. Belvin, E. C. Overall, H. L. Hoaglin, R. A. Mauney, W. C. Bangs, Reginald Bell, W. E. Koonce, R. E. Shelor, H. E. Atkinson, H. E. Russell, C. B. Turner, and W. T. Clement. First Lieutenant H. J. Young was appointed to secure the orchestra, and the refreshment committee consists of First Lieutenant K. K. Koonce, chairman; First Sergeant W. T. Garbaldi, and Private L. T. Duffee. Various other tasks will be assigned to the members of these committees as preparations for the ball near the end.

Negotiations for music at the dance are being carried on with Joe Nesbitt's Pennsylvaniaans, the University Club Orchestra, and the Carolina Buccaneers. All of these orchestras are very good, and those attending the dance will be more than pleased with the music.

Engineer Celebration To Be Bigger Event Than Ever

(Continued from page 1) interesting program has been arranged and a big "Whoopie" is anticipated. The first number on the big program is the initiation of the twelve outstanding freshman engineers as Companions of St. Patrick. This will be followed by the dubbing of the seniors and faculty members elected to be Knights of the Order of St. Patrick, honorary engineering fraternity, by "Mac" Greaves-Walker, "St. Pat, 1929," and the "Princess Pat," Miss Rosalie Steele, of Statesville. Dancing will wind up the festivities of the week and evening. Music will be furnished by Jelly Lettich and his University Club orchestra during the entire evening.

Mu Beta Psi Organized As National Frat

that almost all the technical schools were barred from these fraternities for the reason that musical courses were not taught in the schools.

Major Price then decided to form a national musical fraternity here at State College. He mailed letters to all technical schools in the South and discovered they were in accord with the idea. One of the most interesting letters was from Davidson, and he felt that with Davidson as the second chapter extension could really start.

Last week the Davidson chapter was initiated as the Beta of Mu Beta Psi of State College.

At the Davidson meeting the national officers for the fraternity were elected. J. C. Matthews, Raleigh, N. C. State, was elected national president, with P. B. Fry, senior in law and president of the Davidson Glee Club, as national vice-president.

Petitions have been received desiring membership in this organization from colleges in other parts of North Carolina, as well as South Carolina, Tennessee, Louisiana, and Kentucky. According to Major Price, there are about 75 more colleges in the South alone that will more than likely apply for admission to this fraternity. There are six petitions before the chapter now; whether they will accept them or not has not yet been decided.

This State College national will add to their list all duly recognized musical organizations on a college campus.

This is one advantage this organization has over a number of other nationals in the country, and it does not limit the type of musician, nor does it require that courses in music be taught in the school.

There was a chance for this chapter to enter the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, but members of the band would not have been eligible for this fraternity, and Major Price desired an organization that would include all men interested in music.

The local organization does not embarrass its members financially, and when that can be said of an organization a great deal has been said in favor of it.

There is a monthly meeting of Mu Beta Psi in the cafeteria, where sup-

This is the first time any national fraternity has been founded at this institution.

Attempt Made to Boost Scholarship Here Next Term With 50-Cent Fee

There has been no method of collecting this fine announced as yet, but no doubt there will be before the next term starts.

There has been a lot of adverse criticism made in regard to this plan, which leaked out some time ago, and has been the subject of much talk since then. In all of the places where it has been discussed the students are radically opposed to the matter, especially where the fines are concerned. Some have even said that they would leave the school if such a plan was put into effect.

No doubt there will be some who will leave this old school if that is the attitude the pupils are going to take in regard to the matter, for, according to Dr. Brooks, this plan will go into effect at the beginning of the third term, March 14, 1929.

The following is an actual copy of the plan as it was accepted by the general faculty:

The general faculty, at its meeting Saturday, March 2, 1929, adopted the following plan for the improvement of scholarship at this institution:

1. That all laboratory work and written work missed for any cause shall be made up, or the grade for the assignment shall be zero.

2. That all make-up work shall be done under the supervision of an advanced student or other instructor approved by the department in which the work is taken.

3. That a fee of fifty cents shall be charged for the make-up, unless the absence is excused by the dean of students.

4. That the fee be doubled if the student fails to be present at the first make-up period arranged after the original absence was incurred, unless the absence is excused by the instructor of the course.

5. That students excused from the original absence who are absent without excuse from the first make-up period be charged fifty cents for the second make-up.

The method of collecting the fee and the compensation paid instructors for the extra work in conducting make-up periods will be announced later.

The above regulations will go into effect at the beginning of the third term, March 14, 1929.

WIN OVER TENNESSEE

Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 8.—The N. C. State Red Terrors scored a 48-32 victory over the strong University of Tennessee quintet in the opening round of the Southern Conference tournament here Friday last week.

The State team clearly displayed a marked superiority over the highly rated Tennessee outfit and went into the second round by virtue of their victory. Frank Goodwin ran wild in the second half and netted nine field goals in eight minutes. Captain Young also played a stellar rôle by netting four field goals in the first period. Johnny Johnson played his usual brilliant game at guard.

DOWN MISSISSIPPI

Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 8.—The N. C. State College Red Terrors, on their road to the Southern Conference title, upset the highly favored University of Mississippi team, defending champions, and 50-to-28 winners over Washington and Lee, handing them a 34-32 setback in the semi-final round of the tournament here last Monday night.

Goodwin decided the game when he tossed in a pair of free throws during the final moment of the game. State trailed 22 to 16 at half-time.

Bob Warren played a stellar game at guard, while Larry Haar scored four field goals in rapid order in the second half to tie the score at 28-all after the Terrors were trailing "Ole Miss" with seven minutes to play. Selby tied the score with a moment to play, and Goodwin counted two points when fouled twice with but seconds remaining to play. Haar and Goodwin were the stars of the game that gave twenty-five hundred excited fans their full quota of thrills.

TWO SOUTHERN TOURNEY FINALISTS SPLIT EVEN

Carolina, Tech, and Duke Each Win One of Two-Game Series During the Season

A check-up of records of the two finalists in the Southern Conference basketball tournament at Atlanta, North Carolina State and Duke University, disclosed that the Wolfpack and Blue Devils split even on their annual two-game series before the tournament.

State won the first contest, played at Raleigh on January 26, by the score of 40 to 26. Duke won the game at the millionaires' home, 32-21, on February 9. Goodwin, Wolfpack center, played a big part in the local victory, while on the other hand Joe Crosen, Devil pivot, was the main cog in the Duke machine which won later. Crosen did not play in the first game, the Washington, D. C. product being ineligible at that time. He entered Duke in January, 1928, and had to attend classes for a full year before participating in varsity sports.

State's pre-tournament record included 11 victories and 6 losses. The Wolfpack won six conference games and dropped five. For the 17 games played, State piled up a total of 621 points to the opposition's 463, the average being State 36.9/17 points per game; opponents, 27.4/17.

Duke split her series with University of North Carolina Tar Heels, while State lost two games to the Chapel Hillians, the second by the score of 34 to 35.

Wolves Down Opposing Bears 6 to 0 In Fight Of Spring Practice

The Wolves defeated the Bears 6-0 in another practice football game at State College as Line Coach Butch Slaughter put his reserve and sophomore material through another full-time scrimmage.

John Walton, rising sophomore, bucked the Bears' line twice for the only score of the game, after Herman Gardner had intercepted one of Charlie Jeffrey's passes and ran it back 30 yards to the Bears' 10-yard marker. Harvey McLawhorn missed the extra point.

Aside from a snappy 50-yard broken field sprint by Dick Dellinger in the first quarter, the game was devoid of the usual number of thrills. The Cherrville sophomore smashed thru tackle for 50 yards, reaching the Bears' 20-yard line early in the game, but his team failed in the drive for touchdown. Slaughter expressed satisfaction with the good work of Mack Stout at center for the winners. Stout, who wound up the 1928 varsity season at

GLAD WELCOME IS ACCORDED TERROR SQUAD ON RETURN

Southern Conference Champions Met at Station by Huge Crowds

GREETED BY GOVERNOR WITH PRAISE FOR TEAM

Shoulders of Admiring Throats Made Thrones for Kings of Basketball in the South Before Parade Up Fayetteville Street to the Capitol.

By FRANCIS TRIPP

The North Carolina State College Wolfpack, 1929 Southern Conference Champions, were given a tremendous reception on their arrival at the Union Station last Wednesday afternoon, where several thousands of students and citizens, the R.O.T.C. and the State College band had gathered to greet the newly crowned champions.

The players were taken from the train steps, hoisted onto the shoulders of their admirers, and carried to the front of the station, where the students stood bareheaded while the band played "State College Keep Fightin' Along." Several cheers were given the team before they were piled into automobiles, which followed the band as a colorful parade moved up Fayetteville Street to the Capitol.

Here Governor O. Max Gardner, an alumnus of State, congratulated the players and declared, "If I could roll back the pages of time for twenty years to the days when I was a student at State, I'd rather be captain of the state championship team than to be governor of North Carolina." He also complimented Duke and Carolina on their spirit at the tournament.

Coach Gus Tebell, "Doc" Sermon, Student Manager Bob Trogden, Graduate Manager Tal Stafford, Captain Henry Young, Frank Goodwin, Bob Warren, Larry Haar, Maurice Johnson, Gus Wright, Gerald Owen, John Gammon, and Johnnie Mason made up the party. Gus Tebell was showered with compliments from the crowd. He said: "Our boys played well, better than I could have asked

DOAK NOW WORKING HARD FOR BASEBALL SEASON

First Game Will Be Played on March 27 Against Massachusetts Team

Task of getting his baseball varsity in shape for the opening game here on March 27 with Springfield (Mass.) Y. M. C. A. College finds Coach Chas. G. (Chick) Doak with some promising looking pitchers on hand, along with some likely stepping sophomores who are filling the thinning ranks of veterans of other seasons when Doak's Wolfpack won or was runner-up for the state championship.

Early season prospects for a creditable collegiate club at West Raleigh appear bright, although Doak has little to say about his chances.

Nine hurlers have been working but regularly with catchers, while the entire squad of about forty men has been attending lectures on fundamentals of the diamond sport since January 15.

Doak always liked to have a large number of hurlers on his club, and he had been in the habit of using several in each game, whether ahead of the opposition or behind. He let one youngster pitch eight innings in a 1928 game in which the latter yielded but one lone hit, and then the mentor jerked him and started his usual parade of hurlers to the mound. Doak, using this system, turned out the state championship team last season. Since 1929 his teams, with one exception, have made trouble for state and conference championship seekers.

Led by Larry Allgood, captain, from Roxboro, the pitching staff of State College this season includes Sandy Shore of Booneville, a junior; B. S. Linnett, Winston-Salem; W. H. Averette, Oxford; Harvey McLawhorn, Vanceboro; W. T. Williamson, Raleigh; G. A. Harris, Elmwood; J. R. Hampton, Reelfoot, and George Hunsucker, Hamlet.

Charles Eatman, of Thomasville, regular catcher last season, is back in school, along with Jimmy Mayfield, Norlina, and C. B. Turner, Jr., Hendersonville, catchers.

of them, and everyone of them fulfilled his duties supremely."

Dr. E. C. Brooks was highly elated with the spirit of the crowd and proclaimed, "Tebell has produced a team that has brought honor to the state, the college, and themselves."

From the Capitol the boys were taken to the college, where a big sign bearing the title, "Welcome, Champions," greeted them as they passed through the campus gates.

Doesn't this weather get your goat?

We don't prefer to have our office
as cold as it is just now.

We suggest to the student group in charge of revision of the constitution and by-laws of the Student Government here a uni-cameral legislature in the new plans. It has been considered best by one commission, and as such has been embodied in the compilation of that body known as "A Model State Constitution."

We most emphatically and wholeheartedly oppose the fine system for cutting classes, but not knowing what will eventually result from the system, we make this suggestion:
Why not let the money thus obtained go toward the student aid fund or the alumni fund? It is absurd to think students should buy equipment for the College; that is for the state to furnish.

There is a good opportunity on this campus in Dean T. E. Browne's summer school for students behind in their courses, or for those desiring to receive their degrees in three years instead of the traditional four. Men and women seeking advanced credits for higher degrees will also find it to their advantage to attend the State College summer session. Courses ranging from those leading to a Ph.D. to those in coaching and physical education work have been arranged for the coming summer. The cost is normal, so to speak. Students, why not look into the subject?

SOUTHLAND CHAMPIONS

Hooray! the Red Terrors have went and did it! North Carolina State is now known as having the fastest basketball team below the Mason-Dixon line, and that means a lot.

When the red-shirted Wolfpack left the campus in our sophomore year for the conference, carrying along the State Championship for that year, we firmly expected them to run through right up to the last ditch of the conference.

Fate was against the Terrors that year and they failed to enter the semi-finals, although their showing was good. And it was the same tale last year.

But in 1929 the worm turned.
Kicked in the face by the Tar Heels,
four times champions of the conference, and poked in the ribs with the pitchfork of the Blue Devils, the North Carolina State Wolf lay in his den, tired and bleeding, but with an unbroken spirit.

Then the Southland was surprised.
At the blast of a whistle the presumably downtrodden Wolf gathered his hind legs beneath his body and sprang, sprawling, snarling, wounding and fighting the entire distance through the conference and emerged from the fray with the crown of victory cocked collegiately over his left ear.

To the coaches and members of the team the student body of this institution owe their appreciation for what they have done for us. We cannot put the matter in words;
they are too inexpressive.

Coaches and team, North Carolina
State is proud of you. We love you.

IS THIS GRAFT?

We understand that students cutting announced quizzes, laboratories, or failing to hand in written work on time will be required next term to pay fifty cents for the privilege of making up the deficient work.

This money, as explained to us on class, is to be paid in at the treasurer's office and the receipt shown the professor in charge of the class work, unless the student prefers to take a zero on that work. The funds will then go to the department to provide "equipment and supplies."

The action, we understand, originated in the agricultural department and was strongly upheld by some other branches of the College.

If this matter is allowed to stand like this, what will it mean? There can be only one solution—it will be gradually changed to include all class cuts other than those mentioned.
It will mean that every time a student cuts a class he will have to pay fifty cents as well as lose his points toward graduation and the knowledge missed by non-attendance. That is how the whole thing will eventually develop. But is that all?

Is this not an opening for a system of grafting at State College? We have always been leery of fines and their disposal since, in our sophomore year, our good friend, the editor of The Walaugan, brought the Raleigh police department into considerable prominence over the disposition of his fine for speeding.

Newspapers at the time carried statement corroborative of the college youth to the effect that the officers had pocketed the money that was supposed to go into the coffers of the city of Raleigh. And now
State College is going to fine students for non-attendance at classes. Could anything be more ludicrous?

Could anything be more ludicrous?
How could the students be sure their "fines" went toward adding equipment and supplies? The College is not responsible for an accounting to the student body for monies given it by the members of the campus colony. How could we know the "fine" money would be legitimately spent?

Is the State of North Carolina so poor that the students of one of its institutions have to buy equipment and supplies for some of its departments?
Is the Federal appropriation for this school so small that it has to be increased by student fines to keep the school in operating condition?

We call now upon Senator Wiley M. Person, of Franklin. Now is the time for an investigation into the affairs of the College. Does the Senator think the institution should thus impose upon the student body?
Does he think it fair to the taxpayers of the state to support the school by taxes and then send their sons and daughters here and help support parts of it by fines? Bring on your investigation now, Senator.

Another champion of State College
we call to arms, Senator Walter Clark, of Mecklenburg, who is looking after the best interests of the school, but who, we feel sure, will never fail to overlook the best interests of the student body.

Governor Gardner, you who are today North Carolina State's most distinguished alumnus, would you leave such an opening for mischief on the campus of your younger days? Will you see the appropriations committees of the Legislature cut down the allotment for this school, for any school, to such an extent that it has to be padded out by assessments from the students?

We don't believe the faculty has taken sufficient consideration of this matter. It is unthinkable to us that they would take such action as to permit some unprincipled instructor in the future to pad out his salary by part of the supply fund from
"fines."

No matter what the precedent set by other colleges might be; no matter how many of them might have this system already; no matter what State College thinks about it, the people of the commonwealth of the Old North State should not permit such an opening for later corruption.
We must look at it not only from the present, but also from the way it might develop within the next fifty or seventy-five years.

What of the Teapot Dome scandal
in the Federal Government and administration not so long ago? What of the Veterans' Bureau graft? What of the Pennsylvania and Illinois crooked senatorial elections? Every one thought "all was Jake" until it was brought to light. Where did these all begin? In some opening innocently made, perhaps, yet one that was taken advantage of in after years. Shall such be the case at this institution?

Such a policy as has now been undertaken by the present faculty is as dangerous as dynamite. It might prove too great a temptation for future faculties.

If there is to be any changing of the class-cut program, let it be along different lines. Surely some more satisfactory and safer system can be devised.

Why, the faculty is only making more work for itself. What of the departments that have no student assistants to take charge of the make-up work? It means double time for the instructors.

If there is to be an uplifting in the scholarship of the student body, why not keep the good men on the faculty? Why let the best men of instruction go to schools that realize their true worth and keep the half-act professors who don't know a horse from a hole in the ground,
when it comes to putting their stuff
across?

We don't believe the faculty will choose the fine system, after suitable reflection on its dangers.

Student Forum

WHY FINES?

When the far-famed Missouri point system was adopted by the college some four years ago, it was announced to the student body that their hopes to graduate would be somewhat blighted
if they cut classes, since each class absence would take off a third of a point. This to a large portion of the students seemed unfair.

If a student foolishly cut a quiz, he received a zero on the quiz, which is as it should be. Some kind-hearted professors, however, give their students a chance to make up for a quiz that has been missed. All well and good.

Now, I beseech ye, hearken to the latest ruling of the faculty. Do you cut or otherwise miss a quiz, a fine of fifty cents will be levied upon you.
This money, so they say, will go into a fund to purchase classroom supplies.
(Perhaps they will buy some hatracks upon which we may hang our great-coats and hats!)

Regardless of where this money will go, I contend that such a fine is unjust.
Are we children that we shall be punished because we happen to miss a quiz? It is OUR loss, not the faculty's. They are paid to give the quizzes, not to act as petty tyrant officers.

Some beloved professors are in the habit of not announcing quizzes. One must be prepared at all times, when attendance on their classes, to stand a quiz on any and all subjects they have lectured on. Is it fair that we shall be charged fifty cents for missing one of their unannounced quizzes, or any other ones, in fact?

YOU will have to pay it if you are

General view of the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

PROBABLY no single spot in this country is more widely known than West Point, where our future army commanders receive their education and training in the arts of war.

As an army post in the Revolution, West Point's fortifications were the works that Benedict Arnold attempted to deliver into the hands of the British. Later the United States Military Academy was established and is now composed of magnificent buildings, parade grounds and athletic fields.

It is a source of pride to the Otis organization that most of the famous buildings of the world are equipped with Otis Elevators and West Point is no exception to this rule; five Otis Elevators are installed in various buildings of the Academy.

Throughout the world, in far-off places and at home in familiar surroundings, we find that people everywhere depend upon

Gus Less Concerned Over Recovery Ruling Than Over Extra Point

The change in the rule regarding recovery of the ball in a football game does not interest Coach Gus Tebell of North Carolina State College nearly as much as the change in the regulation concerning play for extra point after a touchdown.

The Wolfpack coach, in commenting on the changes, recently said he believed the former rule would affect the result of Southern Conference games very little. The rules committee in session last week in New York altered the gridiron code so as to make a ball "dead" at the point of recovery by the defensive team following the fumble by the offensive.

"Tebell is somewhat pleased with the change in the extra point play, whereas in the future the try for point will be made from the two-yard line instead of the three- or five-yard mark. Gus believes the team without a consistent drop-kicker will this coming season resort to line plays.

"We can develop a good line pun-ger who can dive the necessary two yards and make the extra point," said Tebell. "I believe teams which do not have a good extra-point kicker will in the future try for the extra point by means of line plays, either through center, guard, or tackle." Tebell's 1928 Pack lost to Duke by two extra points and tied Carolina mainly because drop kicks failed. The State-Duke game resulted in a 14-12 victory for DeHart's men, they getting their two points after touchdowns. The Carolina-State game ended at 6-all, neither eleven adding the extra point.

By means of special camera attachments and lights invented at the Columbia Pictures studios in Hollywood, it was possible to film all the underwater action in "Submarine," the De Luxe special production coming to the Palace Theatre on March 11th and continuing through the week, under water. A highly sensitive lens enables the film to register objects moving at a depth of 150 feet under the surface of the sea.

The nature of "Submarine" made it impossible to use miniatures or do the work in a tank. One of the big thrills shows the sinking of a submarine and the futile attempt on the part of several divers to go down to it. Jack Holt not only succeeds in reaching the depth, but attaches oxygen lines to the disabled ship. Another sequence shows Holt attaching depth bombs and buoys to a sunken craft in a tropical port.

Dorothy Revier and Ralph Graves are featured in support of Holt. The picture, known as an Irving Willat production, was directed by Frank Capra.

It is difficult to conceive Nancy Carroll as shopworn. She is too bright, too elusive, too lovely to give even the faintest suggestion of what the word connotes. Yet she is "The Shopworn Angel" in the absorbing new Singing and Talking feature which comes to the State next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Gary Cooper, the popular young player of the Paramount studio, is featured with her in this picture.

Nancy Carroll and Gary Cooper are a unique pair of screen lovers. Nancy is the dainty, super-sophisticated little chorine who has probed the heights and depths of Broadway, and has sought and purchased its glittering luxury.

Gary is the shy, bashful, awkward boy from the West who gets to New York for the first time when his company mobilizes there on its way to France. These two meet, the clean-minded youth and the gilded Broadway beauty. These two love. Then Nancy realizes that he loves her for

WILL REVIEW PARADE

DEAN I. O. SCHAUB

Dean I. O. Schaub, of the School of Agriculture of State College, will review the regimental parade on Red Field next Monday. Dean Schaub is a graduate of State College, and took his first position here as director of extension in 1924. He was made dean of the agricultural school in January, 1926, and has held that position since that time.

Since his graduation from this institution Dean Schaub has done efficient and valuable work, not only in the college, but also in the extension office of the United States Department of Agriculture, where he was in charge of the southern states. It is sufficient to say that he is a native-born Tar Heel, a graduate of State College, and is well grounded in agricultural work, both by training and experience.

Seniors taking military and agriculture are E. H. Floyd, L. W. Moore, J. E. Rhyme, E. P. Storey, and A. E. Tucker.

Juniors who take military and agriculture are A. G. Bullard, J. P. Choplin, Joe Ellis, E. T. Frisbie, and L. E. Haws.

what he thinks she is, not for what she really is.

In addition to Nancy Carroll and Gary Cooper, Paul Lukas, the "John Barrmore of Hungary," who has won renown in a long series of important parts on the American screen, has a leading role. There are dancing girls galore, and tender, thrilling scenes. It is a super-refined entertainment.

Fox Movietone News and Three Movietone Vaudeville acts will be seen on the same program. The acts are: Bernardo De Pace, "Wizard of the Mandolin"; "Van and Schenck" presenting "Comedy and Songs," and a Movietone Revue, featuring Frances White and Jack Pepper.

Ramon Novarro, the popular star of "Ben Hur" and "The Student Prince," takes to the air in his latest starring vehicle, "The Flying Fleet," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sound presentation, which opens a three-day engagement at the State Theatre next Thursday with Anita Page and Ralph Graves in supporting roles.

"The Flying Fleet" is a thrilling picturization of peace-time aviation; replete with all the adventures and daring deeds of youthful airmen in the service of the United States Navy.

From their care-free days at Annapolis, through the period of intensive training at an aviation school in California and the attempted nonstop flight to Honolulu, with its subsequent disaster and thrilling rescue, this picture tells an absorbing story of youthful daring in logical and entertaining fashion. There is a romance, too, and a thoroughly delightful one. The girl in question is Anita Page, a recent Wampus beauty, who finds herself besieged by two ardent aviators. The boys in question are lifelong friends, and, naturally enough, loving the same girl presents many difficulties. But it all winds up in a manner that is sure to please audiences everywhere.

Novarro gives a splendid performance as the daring young aviator, as does Ralph Graves; and Anita Page proves quite irresistible as the reason for all the fluttering hearts. Others in the cast who do good work are Edward Nugent, Carroll Nye, Sumner Getchell, and Gardner James. "The Flying Fleet" was directed by George Hill.

On the same program will be seen a Paramount News reel and Sunshine Sammy and Brothers, of Our Gang fame, presenting songs and dances, and featuring the buck dance up and down a stairway.

DOGS ROASTED AND HOT COFFEE MADE IN FORGE ROOM BY MECHANICALS

A wiener roast in the college forge shop featured the meeting of the student branch of the A. S. M. E. last Tuesday night. Wieners were roasted and coffee boiled over the open fires of the forges. Afterwards the business of the meeting was transacted, the major part of which concerned the float for the Engineers' parade, and also the Engineers' Fair. Faculty members attending this meeting were: Dr. W. J. Dana, honorary chairman of the student branch; Professor J. M. Foster, Professor Wheeler, and Professor Voll.

Alexander Says Golden Rule Can Be Well Applied

"The Golden Rule can be applied with success in the world of business," said Dr. W. W. Alexander at his lecture in Pullen Hall Monday night at six-thirty.

This was the second of his series of lectures here at the college, and at this time he told the story of the life of John J. Eagan, one of the former industrial kings of the south—a man who decided early in his life that he would apply the principles of Jesus to his business, whether or not he failed or made a success. The result was that at the time he died he was making 15 per cent of the east-iron pipe in the United States, and was shipping considerable to other countries, and was worth many millions.

Throughout his life he applied those principles that are involved in the Golden Rule to all his different walks of life. Thousands of workers, professional men, and others mourned his death. He had truly "fought a good fight."

At this lecture Monday night Mrs. Logan from Shaw University rendered a series of hymns and spirituals with her chorus of thirty voices which were highly enjoyed by every one present.

Sunday afternoon Dr. Alexander talked to the Freshman Friendship Council, and on Monday he met the cabinet of the local Y. M. C. A. at a

Dear Sirs:

Having just returned from my fishing camp in northern Ontario, and in the reflections upon a fortnight of most excellent weather, wonderful fishing and complete camp comfort, I feel that an appreciation of Edgeworth is due, as one of the principal factors of our enjoyment.

In past years, I have taken along a supply of various well-known brands of smoking tobacco, never having become fully acquainted with the difference in the smoking qualities of the so-called high-grade tobaccos now upon the market, and acting upon a tip from an old smoker friend, and as a matter of convenience in packing, this year I took along a dozen tins of Edgeworth Plug Slice.

There are no places nor conditions in existence where the contentment drawn from a briar pipe meets with keener enjoyment or more critical analysis than beside the camp-fire after a strenuous day in the great outdoors.

It is the unanimous opinion of the smokers among my party that Edgeworth is without a peer, and that its smoothness, fragrance and fine smoking quality are unsurpassed and unmatched; and I thank you for making it possible to obtain it.

Yours truly,
(Signed) H. N. Curtis

Sunday night he spoke of the race question at Edenton Street Methodist Church, and his lecture was broadcast over WPTF.

He was scheduled to speak both on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and at the drill period on Tuesday, but pressing calls made it necessary to leave before that time.

CAROLINA EXTENDS HAND TO STATE FOR TRIUMPH IN CONFERENCE TOURNEY

One of the first telegrams of congratulation received by State College officials on the triumph of the Wolfpack in the Southern Conference basketball tournament at Atlanta was from the athletic council of the University of North Carolina. Dr. A. W.

Hobbs, chairman of the council, conveyed the University's congratulations in a wire to Tal H. Stafford, graduate manager of athletics at State.

Dr. Hobbs' wire follows: "The University Athletic Council sends State College congratulations on the wonderful team which brings the Southern Conference basketball championship to North Carolina."

Mr. Stafford replied as follows: "We deeply appreciate your kind and generous congratulations upon our recent achievement. We are proud and happy to join with the University that select group of basketball warriors who have succeeded in bringing more than half of the conference championships to the Old North State."

The girl who thinks no man is good enough for her may be right, but she is more often left.—Yodel.

Invitations Received

The following invitations have been sent by the R. O. T. C. cadets to their friends: "The North Carolina State College R. O. T. C. Regiment requests the honor of your presence at the Military Reviews, held on the college campus each Monday at 12:00 noon to 1:00 p.m., from Monday, March 4, to Monday, May 27."

Alpha Gamma Rho Dance

The Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity of North Carolina State College, entertained delightfully at a dance at their home at 2220 Hillsboro Street a recent evening. The house was decorated with flowers which were in harmony with the fraternity colors of green and gold.

Dancing was enjoyed for several hours and refreshments were served to the following members and guests: Messrs. Lewis Upchurch and Miss Frances Caldwell, Al Allwood and Miss Marie Patterson, Louie Watkins and Miss Gretchen Rabe, Bruce Davis and Miss Dorothy Hayes, Dallas Adams and Miss Gertrude Separk, Randolph Anderson and Miss Erin Bloodworth, Sam Hickman and Miss Elizabeth Mason, Dan McCall and Miss Julia Lusk, Rowe Mauney and Miss Pat Patterson, John Ramsey and Miss Cleo Ashby, Reynolds Allen and Miss Valley Lewis, Buck Patterson and Miss Virginia Dixon, Francis Guild and Miss Elizabeth Wade, Eddie Poole and Miss Marguerite Holland, and Messrs. Pete Roberts, Hubert Floyd, Horace Carpenter, Henry Love, John Anderson, Ken Badgett, Jack Keeter, Kinchen Carpenter, Guy Harris, Eddie Caldwell, Rawls Guthrie, Gillis, and Fort.

Chaperones were: Professor and Mrs. Bill Armstrong, Mrs. Edgar Caldwell, Mrs. Norris, Professor C. W. Sheffield, and H. J. Maness.

Dr. Forster III

Dr. G. W. Forster, of the agricultural economics department, has been ill for about ten days from bronchitis and influenza.

R. C. Campbell III

R. C. Campbell, of the cotton marketing division, was recently operated on for appendicitis.

Personals

Mr. Jimmie Johnston had Mr. Pat Duffy as his guest last week-end in Rocky Mount. They attended the Rocky Mount Country Club dance Saturday and played golf Sunday.

Mr. John Walton left Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock and arrived in Atlanta in time to witness the State-Duke game.

Hicks Will Offer Course on Life of Christ Next Term

Next term, for the first time in the history of the institution, a course in the "Life and Teachings of Jesus" will be offered at N. C. State College by W. N. Hicks, who spent last year at Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, preparing himself to give courses of this nature.

The course will fill a real need at State College. The graduates who have gone out to teach in the state and into business and industry find they are expected to be community leaders as well as teachers and technicians. No community leader can afford to be ignorant of the life and teachings of Jesus, because He has influenced the world for moral betterment more than any person who has ever lived.

In speaking of the course, Mr. Hicks said: "The course will consist of a review of the life, principles, and social ideals of Jesus as recorded in the Synoptic Gospels. Special attention will be given to the Sermon on the Mount. A study of Jesus teaching about God, trust, prayer, wealth, war, and peace will be made. An effort will be made to discover and to appraise the individual and social implications of Jesus for the present age."

This is a course well worth the while of any State College man, and full credit for it will be allowed. The Young Men's Christian Association is sponsoring this course and commends it to State College men. E. S. King, Y secretary, said.

"The numerous campus activities make voluntary Bible study in the dormitories and fraternity houses almost impossible," he continued. "Therefore the Y. M. C. A. believes that curriculum courses in Religious Education should be offered. The college administration endorses this policy."

CAPTAIN OF CO. C, R. O. T. C.

WALTER M. GASTON

Cadet Captain Walter M. Gaston, of Candler, is leader of Company C of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at North Carolina State College this year.

Gaston, a senior, is majoring in electrical engineering at State, is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineering, Chi Alpha Sigma social fraternity, and his activities include rifle team shooting and track. He is poet of the senior class.

Hendersonville, was chosen as the "most military" corporal in the Reserve Officers Training Corps regiment at North Carolina State College. H. E. Atkinson, of Winston-Salem, was selected by the judges as the next best.

Turner was awarded the annual military scholarship, while Atkinson received a prize offered by the regiment commander, Major C. C. Early. These two sophomores won out in the final inspection over seven other corporals, the group having been picked as the best noncommissioned officers of the class.

The elimination started with the 600 freshmen, 350 of whom were accepted for the military course. Out of the 220 sophomores in the regiment last September, 75 were picked, the nine surviving in the competition for the honor. Each represented the best corporal in the best company. It was a case of the survival of the fittest, said Major Early.

Turner and Atkinson competed with Corporals R. B. Gardner, of Mt. Holly; T. S. Williamson, Davidson; J. Y. Bass, Birmingham, Ala.; J. E. Hull, Washington, N. C.; H. B. Merriam, Greenville, S. C.; R. H. Gatlin, Raeford, and Sam Dimeo, Philadelphia, Penna.

The judges were Colonel J. W. Harrison, Major Early, Lieutenant C. H. Elms, and Cadet Colonel John H. McKinnon. Captain W. R. Watson had charge of the corporals during the judging.

REHEARSALS ALREADY BEING HELD ON NEW MASQUERS' PRODUCTION

The play, "R. U. R.," has been cast and several rehearsals have been held by the Red Masquers, local dramatic society at N. C. State. Work has been started on the scenery and other technical arrangements are being made, according to announcement by E. C. Overall, president of the society.

The play, "Rossum's Universal Robots," written by the Copek brothers, is under the direction of Mr. Oberholzer, director-in-chief, and Mr. O. C. Cunningham, advisory director. Both are members of the college faculty. Mrs. Oberholzer, who has had much experience in dramatic productions, is also assisting in producing the play.

The following cast has been selected: Helma, Ada Spencer; Domina, H. B. Merriam; DeGaul, M. R. Viopond; Alquist, G. R. Alexander; Jabry, T. M. Vernon; Berman, W. P. Walker; Helman, G. L. Clark; Emma, Miss Moran; Helena, a Robotess, Josephine Richards; Radium, a Robot, J. D. Britt; Plubius, a Robot, John White; Marius, a Robot, W. P. Seagraves; Sulla, a Robotess, Nancy Kendrick; a Robot Servant, I. W. Liggett. Numerous other Robots, to be played by other members of Red Masquers.

The play promises to be a great success, formally introducing State in drama to the public.

Some of the technical directors have been selected. Some places, however, are still open, but all positions are expected to be filled within a few days.

The play is expected to open the latter part of April in some near-by town, followed by a presentation in Raleigh. Other dates are being made for a road trip through the state in May, playing in some of the larger towns of the state.

The college authorities are co-operating wholeheartedly with the society in an effort to institute the study and production at the college, thereby opening a new field of activities to the students which has not been offered before.

DISCUSSION DIFFERENT SUBJECTS FEATURE OF ELECTRICAL MEETING

The Tuesday night meeting of the A. I. E. E. was given over to the discussion of different subjects by four students who had studied these subjects. The talks were all very interesting and instructive, and the students and professors present seemed to enjoy this opportunity to increase their knowledge of these various subjects.

The first talk was given by Mr. Barney, who spoke on "Thermal Overload Protection," in which he described the action of the Thermal Overload Circuit Breaker, and compared it with the other types. C. M. Calhoun made the next talk on "Automatic Frequency Control," in which he showed how much more efficient this method was than the old hand method. He also told something of the future of the automatic control. D. E. Jones then made a talk on "Radio Telephone Equipment As Applied to Railway Service." He described how the radio system worked on freight trains between the engine and cab. He compared this way of communication with the old flag-waving or walking from end to end methods; showed the advantages of radio, and described its future. E. R. Price gave the final talk on "Electrically Heated Houses," in which he compared coal-heated to electrically-heated houses. He came to the conclusion that as yet the electrically-heated houses were only for the rich.

At the conclusion of the final talk, Mr. Mosely, president of the local A. I. E. E., and Professor R. R. Brown exhorted the students present to get busy on their exhibits, and to stir up the other students to be getting their exhibits ready.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS HELD BY NEWLY FORMED GRANDCHILDREN'S CLUB

The first regular meeting of the Grandsons' and Granddaughters' Club of State College was held last Tuesday night in the "Y." Thirteen members were enrolled out of the thirty students eligible for membership. The two faculty members, W. N. Hicks and F. B. Meacham, were present to add to the enrollment.

The constitution was read again and final changes made. The motto chosen for the club is very appropriate for the occasion, being "Chip Off the Old Block," with the flower forget-me-not. The colors are red and white, the same as that of the school, because it will add the fathers better to remember their college days when they see the section set aside for them in the bleachers at the game chosen by the club to get the fathers and mothers together.

Officers for the club were elected for the coming year. R. G. Vick was chosen president by a unanimous vote; W. R. McCracken, vice-president; A. H. Tucker, treasurer; E. H. Meacham, secretary, and Professors Hicks and Meacham, faculty advisers.

"There can be no conflict between science and religion," says a prominent scientist. It's a pity Darwin isn't alive today. He and Dr. John Roach Straton would be such good pals.

One way to trap a beaver

Not everybody in the Hudson's Bay Company was a trapper, any more than everybody in the Bell System is a telephone engineer.

The Hudson's Bay people trapped a good many beavers in the company offices, where the skillful financing and careful business management served to back up the men actually on the front lines. Organized activity succeeded then just as it does today. The men who put up telephone lines can work the better because back of them are other men who painstakingly design and make their equipment, and still other men who correlate all these activities into a smoothly meshing plan.
