HABIT IS HARD TO BREAK, SAYS SEERLY IN TALKS

Gives Famous Lectures on "Manhood" and "Womanhood"

MAKES THIRD TRIP TO STATE COLLEGE CAMPUS

Four Lectures Bring Back Many Students Who Had Heard the Speaker on Former Visits—Talks Designed Especially for Freshmen.

"Habit cannot be broken," said Dr. F. N. Seerly in his lecture to the students of State College Wednesday at noon. "We must find a substitute for a habit instead of trying to break it."

This was the first of a series of four lectures that Dr. Seerly delivered here this year. It is his third trip to the campus, and he has always scored a grand success. Many of the students who heard him the first time came back the second and third times to hear him deliver his lectures designed primarily for first-year men just entering college, but which offer many suggestions and interesting thoughts for the upperclassmen. He is a very interesting speaker, and even though a person has heard him once before, the same lecture always goes good a second time.

The lecture Wednesday noon was based on habit-building, and was more or less an introduction to the other lectures which followed.

The thought that he tried to drive home to the students throughout the lecture was that up until this period they had been gathering building material for the balance of life, and what that future life will be is determined by the kind of building material that has been put into it up until this time and will be added within the next year or two.

PLAN MEETING FOR THOSE INTERESTED IN TEACHING

To Be Held Here on October 8 as Planned by Extension Director Frank Capps

Plans for holding a general meeting for all persons interested in teacher training and educational studies, to be held at the Raleigh Junior High School Monday evening, October 8, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing extension classes, were announced Friday afternoon by Frank Capps, director of the college extension division of State College.

Seventeen subjects will be offered this year by the extension division, said Mr. Capps, and work completed in each class will count three term hours of resident credit at State College and two semester hours with the State Department of Education toward raising certificates. Tuition fee for each course will be $7.50.

"The subject matter of some of the courses offered is rather general," said Mr. Capps, "such as psychology, sociology, and elementary science. Definite courses in these subjects will be determined at the first regular class meeting. Classes in other subjects will be organized, provided there is a demand for them."

Edward W. Ruggles, assistant director of the work, announced that the following courses will be offered, with the State College professors teaching them:

Elementary science, H. L. Cavenses; United States and North Carolina history, two courses, H. T. Laffer; federal government, Mr. Laffer; psychology, Dr. Karl C. Garrison; visual aids, L. O. Armstrong; German, L. E. Hinkle; French, Mr. Hinkle; Spanish, Mr. Hinkle; sociology, W. S. Winston; social psychology, Mr. Winston; short story writing, interpretative readings of Browning, and public speaking, C. C. Cunningham; journalism, Stewart Robertson; contemporary American literature and survey of American literature, A. I. Ladu.

Juniors Give Contract To Charles Elliott Co. Direct for Class Rings

The ring committee of the junior class have placed their order with Chas. H. Elliott Company for the rings for the seniors next year.

As an exception to the general rule, the rings will not come through the Students Supply Store this year, but will be sold direct to the students. The prices are $13.50 for the miniature, $16.20 for the medium, $22.50 for the large, which is considerably less than the price formerly paid for the same rings.

During the latter part of the third term of this year the representative of this company will come to State College campus to take the names of those who desire rings the following year. During the summer the rings will be made up according to the orders, and during the first week-end after registration next fall he will return here with the rings and turn them over to those who have the money ready and desire them at that time. If some are left over they will be placed c. o. d. in the postoffice to remain five days, after which time they will be returned to the company. The down payment this spring will be $2.20 on each ring. The balance will be paid on delivery of the rings. The ring committee, which was selected at the meeting of the junior class last Tuesday, is composed of J. P. Choplin, chairman and president of the class; H. D. Pinkston, and W. D. Spence.

At this meeting two men for the student council were also elected to take the place of two who did not return this year to school.

FELLOWSHIP GROUPS OPEN PROGRAM FOR THIS TERM

Twenty Groups Meet at Respective Meeting Places For Opening Program Wednesday

At the sound of the six-thirty whistle Wednesday evening, September 26, twenty Freshman Fellowship Groups assembled in their respective meeting places to begin their program for the fall term.

According to reports from the leaders as well as the freshmen this initial meeting was very successful. The freshmen entered into the discussion with a large degree of interest. Many showed by their questions and answers that they had given thought to the subject which was being discussed.

"Who should go to college?" was the subject that was discussed at the first meeting of the groups. W. N. Hicks prepared the outline for this topic and also led the leaders' discussion group the previous Monday night, in preparation for the work with the freshmen Wednesday evening. These outlines, which were given to the freshmen to use as a guide in the discussion, contained such questions as: "How is a college possible?" "Is it a social institution?" "Society demands that who should go to college?" "Are you proving worthy of your half scholarship?"

The Freshman Fellowship Group idea originated in the Freshman Friendship Council three years ago. Having been helped with many of their problems in the council that year, the members thought that more of the freshman class should be given the benefit of discussing freshman problems together. Thus they conceived the idea of organizing the freshmen into groups in the various dormitories for the purpose of discussing problems that confront first-year men from time to time. Consequently the following fall a number of such groups were organized. The first attempt to put on a program of this nature was so successful that the Y. M. C. A. still carries on this work.

Those in charge of the program plan to have ten meetings of the groups this term. The plans now are to discuss men and women relationships October 10, and follow that by devoting two nights to the study and criticism of student government. Choosing a vocation will perhaps be discussed after the discussion on student government.

The Y. M. C. A. staff feels that this work with the freshmen meets a need that is not being met by any other organization on the campus at the present time, namely, an opportunity for a number of the upperclassmen to help orient the first-year men. It also provides a time and place for the great moral and religious issues of the day to be discussed in a frank, sincere manner.

WINS MILITARY HONORS

FRANK P. GOODWIN

Cadet-Major Frank Goodwin has won more honors for State College and himself. His reputation as a football and basketball player is known all over the State, but few know of his military achievements.

Goodwin attended the R. O. T. C. camp at McClellan, Alabama, this summer for six weeks. While he was in camp he gained the respect of his superior officers for his knowledge of his duties and the spirit with which he carried them out. The commanding officers of the camp commended him for being one of the best informed men in camp and a leader in military duties and outside activities. He was the best soldier in his company and one of the best in the camp. On the rifle range he proved his ability by winning the expert rifleman's rating. He has risen to a high position in the State College regiment because of the ability and spirit which he exhibits.

Purdue Back Hart

Lafayette, Ind.—(IP)—A knee injury, suffered by Raymond (Pest) Welch, star boilermaker back, has dimmed football prospects at Purdue University.

Welch twisted his knee while playing baseball this summer, and it is still in bad shape, being held by two braces. Indications are he will be out of the earlier games, at least, Coach James Phelan has been advised.

Blue Key Endorses Move To Audit Finances Of Every Student Group

DAIRY JUDGING TEAM GOES TO MEMPHIS OCTOBER 10

Will Compete With Groups From Large Dairying States in Tri-State Fair

The dairy cattle-judging team and the dairy product-judging team of State College, composed of the four best students in the senior class taking animal husbandry and dairying, are preparing for a trip to Memphis, Tenn. This team will represent State College in the National Dairy Show, which is being held in connection with the Tri-State Fair.

Beginning last spring, Professors F. M. Haig and R. H. Ruffner have been drilling the men in the finer points of cattle judging, while Professor W. L. Clevering has coached the product-judging team. For the past two years State has sent teams to the National Dairy Show, and in each meet has been a credit to the school, beating teams from such states as Wisconsin, and other large dairy states. This year a creditable team is to represent State.

The team will leave Raleigh next Wednesday, October 10, and will stop over in Atlanta for the eleventh as the guest of the Chamber of Commerce of that city. While there they will meet the team from the University of Georgia, and will be shown around the city and inspections made of several fine dairies near there. Both teams will leave together for Memphis.

The men making the trip are T. C. Andrews, Mount Gilead; E. V. Vestal, Ore Hill; C. E. Craver, Welcome; and J. C. Cathey, Charlotte. Professor F. M. Haig is to accompany the team as supervisor. Selections for the team were made by the heads of the department on the merits of scholarship and the ability to judge, all men specializing in this kind of work being eligible.

Dixon Poole Is Seriously Wounded as Result of Shot

Ag. Fair Will Be Given This Year At State Exhibit

Tragedy Occurs When He Enters College Apple Orchard With Two Friends—Shot Strike His Face and Chest, Penetrating Lungs.

In a large tent, near the main entrance to the State Fair Grounds, during the week of October 22, when the big state-wide exhibits are being held, the agricultural students of State College will have their eighth annual Agricultural Fair, announces R. W. Shoffner, Greensboro, president of the student organization that puts on the "Ag" fair.

Prizes valued at $1,000 will be offered this year. The usual fair parade with all six departments of the agricultural school represented by floats, will not take place this year, but will be superseded by a single large exhibit embodying the projects of all divisions that will be shown on the local thoroughfares.

A silver loving cup, donated by the merchants of Raleigh, will be offered for the best exhibit the students devise.

"More interest is being shown this year than ever before in our fair," said Mr. Shoffner, "and all indications point to a great success for the project. We will have more displays of farm crops and livestock which the agricultural students are gathering from their home farms."

The exhibits by schools with departmental leaders include:

Poultry, J. R. Rhyne, of Dallas, N. C.; agronomy, A. E. Tucker, Danville, Va.; biology, J. F. Pappenfus, Orange Free State, South Africa; animal husbandry, E. V. Vestal, Mt. Vernon Springs; horticulture, L. A. Stone, Nashville; vocational education, F. M. Coley, Staunton, and agricultural administration, N. O. Branscom, Campbell, S. C.

The vocational educational float won the cup last year in the street parade. Officers of the agricultural fair, strictly a student organization, include: R. W. Shoffner, Greensboro, president; J. W. Harrell, Greensboro, vice-president; P. H. Mast, Valle Crucis, secretary; A. D. Stuart, assistant secretary; Hamer, S. C., and R. S. Dunham, treasurer, Bladenboro.

Would Keep Check on Money of All Campus Organizations Except Social Fraternities—Adopt Constitution and By-Laws in First Meeting of Year.

The North Carolina State College chapter of Blue Key, national fraternity, went on record yesterday at the semi-monthly luncheon meeting of the group in the college cafeteria, as supporting the resolution drawn up by W. P. Albright, president of the student body and a member of Blue Key, to have a yearly audit of the books of each student organization on the campus, with the exception of social fraternities.

"For some time," Albright said, "different individuals have brought to my attention a growing sentiment for such a policy. Under this system all organizations in which students take part, social and honorary, will have a close check made of the disposition of their funds."

"It is an excellent idea," Professor A. F. Greaves-Walker, recently elected faculty adviser of the local chapter of Blue Key, said. He then went on to give an example in which the funds of one student organization had been spirited away from the campus at the end of the year. There never was anything in the treasury of this organization, he said, despite the fact that it never gave dances or showed any outlay of money.

It is the plan of the Student Council, Albright said, which will take action upon the matter, to present a resolution to the president of the college asking that he take action upon the matter if it is in his power. In any other case the resolution will be presented to the executive committee of the board of trustees when the committee holds its next meeting, in about two months, he said.

Possible serious tragedy may result from what was meant to be only a foraging expedition in the college apple orchard when Dixon Poole, Spartanburg, S. C., freshman, was shot at close range by Marshall Hoover, negro watchman of the grove of trees.

Having perhaps thought only of the fruit that awaited their picking to go the way it has gone with many other students here this term, Dixon, accompanied by Joe Harris and F. J. Hodges, entered the orchard unaware of the negro who crouched in a shadow near by.

The negro, rising and pouring the load of No. 6 shot from his gun into the faces of the boys, two of the shot entering Dixon's lungs and others his face, drove all thoughts of their mission from the students' minds.

When the echo of the shot had died away on the night air, the negro was fleeing under the trees, and the boys stood for a moment stunned.

Hodges went for help while Harris carried the wounded boy to the fence that surrounds the orchard. Richard E. Moore, who works at the State License Department building, happened to pass the scene about the time of the shooting, called the police, and then entered the orchard to search for Hoover.

At his home on State Highway 10, the negro admitted to officers he had shot the boy, but said he was acting in self-defense. The police ordered him given him by H. A. Miller, superintendent of the horticultural farm.

Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of the college, and Miller both state that the negro was told to shoot at the ground—Continued on page 2.

COLLEGE OFFERS NEW COURSE IN LANDSCAPE GARDENING

New Course Created To Meet Demand For Landscape Gardeners—Whitesell Teaching

North Carolina State College is this year offering a four-year professional course in landscape architecture, or gardening. This new course has been incorporated into the department of horticulture and school of agriculture because of a growing demand and need for young men trained in the art of creating and preserving beauty in the surroundings of human habitations, in such a manner as to combine the maximum of utility with the maximum of enjoyment.

The course, as it is being taught at State College, gives the student training in surveying and engineering; drawing and landscape painting; plant materials; architecture; principles of design and civic art, which includes city planning and regional designing.

For students who take this training the following objectives are possibilities: (1) landscape horticulturist; (2) extension specialist in landscape gardening; (3) landscape engineer or contractor; (4) landscape architect or designer.

In addition to the professional curriculum, several elective courses are offered to the laymen in landscape designing. These courses should lead to a keener appreciation of the beauties of the landscape, and consequently a better acquaintance with the methods employed in arranging land for use and the accompanying landscape for enjoyment. The student is taught not only to improve his home grounds in a tasteful way, but also trained to become a public benefactor in the preservation of native landscape beauties.

Professor J. P. Pillsbury, who designed and established a similar course at Pennsylvania State College, is the designer of the course offered at this school. In the absence of Professor Pillsbury, who is away for the year doing graduate work at Harvard University, the course will be conducted by Herbert L. Whitesell, a State College graduate. Mr. Whitesell has completed three years of graduate work at Harvard, where he earned the degree of Master in Landscape Architecture. He has worked in a number of leading offices in the East.

PINE BURR TAKES 19 NEW STUDENTS IN HONOR GROUPS

Largest Number Ever to Enter Local Scholarship Society

TWENTY-TWO CHOSEN, BUT THREE ARE NOT PRESENT

Harrelson Presents Burrs in Chapel—Only Campus Observance Commemorating Founders' Day—Three Elections Held Yearly.

The largest number ever chosen to enter the Pine Burr Society, local organization of scholarship and leadership, were voted upon Tuesday night, and when the count was made it was learned that twenty-two students generally considered outstanding in classwork and college activities would make up the new membership for the fall quarter.

Colonel J. W. Harrelson formally presented the initiates with their pine burrs bearing a red and a blue ribbon, colors of the society, at the general chapel exercises Wednesday morning. The Pine Burr program was in recognition of Founders' Day, commemorating the opening of the college for the first time October 3, 1889.

Initiation of nineteen of the new members was held at 8:30 Wednesday night in the banquet hall in the north end of the college YMCA building, and was followed by the initiation supper at 7:30 in the college cafeteria.

The Pine Burr Society is peculiar to State College. Its charter forbidding its affiliation at any time in the future with a national organization, and is neither professional nor departmental in its membership. Student members must be registered for a degree, a resident of the college for two years, never having failed on any course, average not less than 85, and be active in some college student work.

Three Times Yearly It has been the custom of the Pine Burr Society to choose its members once each quarter during the regular—Continued on page 2.

MILLER ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR P. E. WORK THIS YEAR

Students Will Be Required To Pass Swimming Tests For First Time

The more than 1,900 students taking regular physical education courses at North Carolina State College this year will be given exercises daily to develop their bodies, and will be required to pass swimming tests.

In announcing plans for this work, John F. Miller, professor of physical education at the college, said that North Carolina high schools, judging from students in his classes, have been giving little or no drill in posture and carriage exercises, body building exercises, or in drills for response to command.

"Intensive drill will be given all freshmen in gymnastic marching to develop response," said Mr. Miller. "Calisthenic drill will be given them to develop posture, and heavy apparatus work to develop the body; group games for hygienic benefits. All freshmen will also be required to pass a test in swimming. They will not be given credits in this work until they do pass the swimming tests. The Brink system of instruction will be used with classroom work."

Mr. Miller said that business men of today who lead strenuous lives should take some form of recreation if they are to keep up with the rapid pace of living. He will introduce such popular sports as golf, tennis, and playground baseball, volleyball, handball, and basketball.

"Sophomores will be taught rudiments of the technique of these sports, along with the rules of the games,"—Continued on page 2.

Band on State Fair Special Trip—Major Price Takes 32 Men

Thirty-two members of the State College Band, accompanied by Major P. W. Price, director, were on the annual State Fair Special when it left Raleigh Wednesday morning for a tour of North Carolina in behalf of the State Fair.

State College bands have been furnishing music for the State Fair specials for the past few years. For two years there were no fairs called State fairs.

Members of the band, with their home addresses and the instruments they play, follow: J. H. Sherrill, Winston-Salem, and R. L. Beard, Winston-Salem, baritone; H. W. Horney, High Point, W. G. Collier, Roanoke Rapids, and W. W. Williams, Badin, alto; J. P. Raht, Lenoir, W. R. Mc-

Racken, Whiteville, and H. S. Brooks, Oxford, bass; A. F. Kearns, Raleigh, bass drum; Sherwood Brockwell, Raleigh, J. B. Gurley, Rosemary, R. W. Harvell, Newton, James LeMarr, Spray, R. H. Harrill, Lattimore, G. R. Kornegay, Burgaw, A. P. Moss, Albenmarle, Phillip J. Separk, Raleigh, and Hyman Sachtman, Greensboro, clarinets; Rutus G. Vick, Rosemary, piccolo and flute; R. L. Selby, Charlotte, saxophone; P. E. Davis, Raleigh, J. A. Gerow, Raleigh, G. M. Harrell, High Point, J. D. McCall, Jr., Florence, S. C., J. M. Regan, Hickory, and E. W. Freeze, Jr., High Point, trombones; H. L. Gupton, Raleigh, W. T. Williamson, Raleigh, and B. P. Matthews, Goldsboro, trumpets.

Miller Announces Plans For P. E. Work This Year

said Mr. Miller. "Track, soccer, and 'tag' football will also be introduced to bring about proper hygienic habits of circulation, respiration, and elimination."

"Instruction in required classes this year is doubled, that two members of the teaching staff may be with each class. One handles freshmen in his training program, while the other handles sophomores in sports program. This permits smaller classes and much more efficient instruction along definite lines."

"The work is presented, according to Mr. Miller, to give the individual student opportunity to learn to keep his own body in good physical shape. Its object is not so much to take a sick person and make him well as it is to build a reserve power in each student, capable of throwing off disease rather than being a target for it."

A racing tip bureau was located in New York. The sign in the bureau read, "Our selections even amaze the horses."

in the event intruders should enter the orchard, and not at the persons themselves.

Hoover is now in the county jail as a precaution taken by authorities who feared trouble from schoolmates of the wounded boy if serious complications set in, and especially if he should die.

Poole lay in Rex Hospital Thursday night with doctors and nurses fearing pneumonia might set in. His father came to Raleigh at once in response to a telegram sent by E. L. Cloyd, dean of students.

Just before a prayer meeting for him, led by Rev. J. Powell Tucker, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and held in Pullen Hall Thursday night, it was learned that Poole was in much better condition than was expected, and it was thought pneumonia would not set in.

Dr. Brooks last night issued the following statement:

"Dixon L. Poole, of Spartanburg, S. C., a member of the freshman class, was shot and seriously wounded by a negro, Marshall Hoover, in the apple orchard west of the college campus about 8 o'clock in the evening. Marshall Hoover is a farm laborer employed by Mr. H. A. Miller, superintendent of the horticultural farm, and in addition to his regular farm duties, Hoover was employed to watch the apple orchard during the day as well as at night."

"I am informed that sometimes, but not always, he carried a shotgun, and was advised that he might fire it only to frighten away any trespassers who would not leave after warning. Mr. Miller says that Hoover has been employed in this capacity for about three years, and his instructions have been if he carried a gun to be careful to shoot only to frighten, and not toward the trespassers."

"Who are you?" was one question that he put to the students, and his answer was that the brain will determine who a fellow is, and that a person is just what his personality is.

His continued urge through his forceful language was that the boys seek the proper building material to put into their life.

He lectured again Wednesday night on "Manhood." In this lecture, which was one of the most inspiring, he urged the freshmen to become real men and live up to the ideals that their mothers would have them.

Thursday at 2 o'clock he followed this idea up with a discussion of the sex problems that the freshman meets up with in college and his other life. Thursday night "Womanhood," undoubtedly one of the most beautiful in thought of all the lectures, was delivered.

After the lectures each night Dr. Seerly conducted an open forum meeting in which anyone was at liberty to ask any questions on which they might wish information.

He was on the campus for two days and many of the students had the pleasure of a private interview with him, which added to his helpfulness on this campus.

ord as favoring better quartering of visiting athletic teams to this school. It was reported at yesterday's meeting that the athletic department under Tal H. Stafford had taken steps to care for opponents of State College teams at a downtown hotel. Blue Key had suggested at first the remodeling of the basement floor of the college Y.M.C.A. Adoption of the constitution and by-laws of the local chapter of the organization and the submitting of the name of Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of the college, as an honorary member, were the other items of business taken up at the first meeting.

Blue Key is a national organization recognizing character, personality, leadership, participation in campus activities, and scholarship among students in American colleges and universities.

The local chapter was installed at the close of school last spring, when the State College Order of the Red and White was absorbed by the national fraternity.

Membership consists of no less than twelve nor more than thirty-five men who are members of the junior or the senior class at State College, and who have fulfilled the other requirements set down by the mother organization. Officers of the State College chapter of the Blue Key fraternity are Dan H. Hutchinson, president; P. W. Elam, vice-president; W. R. Fitzgerald, secretary; R. P. Shapard, treasurer, and W. V. C. Evans, sergeant-at-arms.

Membership consists of Prof. A. F. Greaves-Walker, Frank Capps, P. W. Elam, Statesville; H. H. Burroughs, Bethel; A. B. Holden, Wilmington; A. M. C. Greaves-Walker, Raleigh; Dan H. ### Pine Burr Takes 19 New Students in Honor Group

scholastic year, and the meeting of last Tuesday was held to choose those found eligible during first term. Two more meetings will be held this year, one in the winter and a second in the spring quarter, to determine the complete membership for this year.

The organization was founded in 1922 by Col. J. W. Harrelson, professor of mathematics at the college, one of the chief figures in its development.

Since that time the Pine Burr Society has held to the standards set at its formation: good scholarship, meaning an average of 85 per cent or above on classroom work, and participation in extra-curricular activities of the college for two years of residence at the institution, thus bringing those who aspire to its membership before the eyes of the whole student body of State College.

For Advancement
For the past few years the society has been backing all steps in college improvement that have been in need of support, as well as those that were upheld more strongly.

Recommendation of the organization several years ago that the board of trustees name all dormitories and buildings on the campus that at present have no official designation, has taken definite shape in the fact that the board will perhaps take action at its next meeting, E. L. Cloyd, dean of students, said.

Although the board took action independently of the Pine Burr Society, the names submitted by that organization were for the most part looked upon with favor, he continued.

Membership and Officers
Officers of the society this year are: H. H. Burroughs, president; Dan H. Hutchinson, vice-president; A. B. Holden, recording secretary; P. H. Mast, treasurer; A. M. Greaves-Walker, sergeant-at-arms; E. L. Cloyd, chaplain, and Col. J. W. Harrelson, corresponding secretary.

Student membership at the beginning of this year consisted of: W. P. Albright, Greensboro; A. L. Aydtlett, Elizabeth City; H. H. Burroughs, Bethel; M. C. Finch, Rocky Mount; A. M. Greaves-Walker, Raleigh; A. B. Holden, Wilmington; D. H. Hutchinson, Charleston, S. C.; P. H. Mast, Valle Crucis.

New members initiated this week were: E. F. Bass, Goldsboro; C. H. Belvin, Jr., Raleigh; E. J. Brown, Crumpler; E. W. Buchanan, Spruce Pine; C. E. Craver, Welcome; R. S. Dunham, Bladenboro; G. G. Fornes, Arapahoe; E. T. Frisbie, Marion; C. H. Harshaw, Grove City, Pa.; H. W.

Wolfpack Will Meet Generals At Lexington

First Southern Conference Game for Techs This Year

WOLVES TAKE TO ROAD AFTER DEFEATING ELON

Team Drills on Washington and Lee Plays During Past Week—Pack Possesses Offensive Power—Generals Took Last Game From Techs—Many Grid Contests Today.

Coach "Gus" Tebell and his Wolfpack departed yesterday afternoon for Lexington, Va., where the N. C. State gridiron warriors will battle Washington and Lee University this afternoon.

Last week the Wolfpack chewed little Elon College to such an extent that when the final whistle sounded the score read 57-0, with State on top.

This afternoon the Pack should find the Virginians to be a little bigger mouthful than were the Elon gridsters, and a close struggle is predicted.

During the past week the team has been drilled against an offense similar to that used by the Washington and Lee team in their game last Saturday. This should prove to be advantageous to the Pack when they take the field today. The State team seems to be possessed with a wealth of offensive power—with Captain Warren, Crum, Jeffrey, Adams, Goodwin, and Melton.

Two years ago Washington and Lee defeated State here by a 14-0 score, but the student body has confidence that the Wolfpack will be victorious in this afternoon's game. Many of the students will follow the team and will be on hand to give their team the proper support.

(By Intercollegiate Press)

The second week of intercollegiate football will find the following more important teams in action:

Oberlin at Akron; Mississippi at Alabama; Clemson at Alabama Polytechnic; Bowdoin at Amherst; New Hampshire at Boston University; Worcester Polytechnic at Brown; St. Mary at California; St. Bonaventure at Canisius; Ashland at Carnegie; Wyoming at Chicago; Kentucky at Cincinnati; Cedar Falls at Coe; Southwestern at College of Emporia; Montana State at Colorado College; Union at Columbia.

Lincoln, Neb. — (IP) — Marion Broadstone, promising candidate for a line position on the University of Nebraska football team, has to wear glasses all the time, but that won't keep him out of the game.

Broadstone has had himself fitted up with a special helmet, in which are built a pair of special shatterproof glass spectacles. It is said there are about two dozen such helmets in the country.

Bethlehem, Pa. — (IP) — Julius Seligson, 19-year-old junior at Lehigh University here, this summer won the national collegiate lawn tennis crown.

OUT TO GIVE 'PACK 1928 BIG FIVE TITLE

GRID STARS WHO SHINE AT N. C. STATE

North Carolina State presents its captain and full back, Bob Warren, for regional honors. He does the punting and passing for the 'Pack, although he has mates in the backfield who can take care of these same departments. Bob weighs 197 pounds, and is counted upon as an outstanding ball carrier in the upper Southern Conference region.

Chink Outen, 196-pound back, has been shifted to end by Tebell, who sought to strengthen his line. John Lepo, playing his second varsity year, performs at tackle. Lindsay Jordan, Winston-Salem boy, is again at end, opposite Outen, and figures in the overhead Wolfpack attack frequently.

In the 'Pack line, Line Coach Butch Slaughter has two heavies, "Bad Bill" Metts and Fred Vaughan, at center and guard respectively. Metts, a Greenville, S. C. boy, was uncovered last year when he put up a brilliant fight against an Army outfit, the Wilmington (N. C.) Light Infantry, as a member of the State reserve team. Vaughan is playing his third year at guard, and is considered a crack man to break through for interference running.

Sparky Adams is State's sorrel-top quarterback, still a youngster, as this is his second year on the varsity.

SEVENTEEN ANSWER FIRST CALL FOR CROSS COUNTRY

In answer to the call for varsity cross-country candidates, which was issued about a fortnight ago, seventeen candidates reported. Since that time they have been holding daily practices over the four-mile course.

Captain Hoyt, Alexander, and Redfern are the only letter men from a year ago, but much promising material will be available from last year's freshman harriers. Sophomore aspirants include Stovall, Ashe, McGuinn, and Johnson. Other candidates include Truesdale, Green, Haynes, Biggerstaff, Lawrence, Miller, Shepard, Jones, Riley, and King.

A schedule of varsity races is being arranged, and it is expected that the team will experience a successful year.

Last year State's harriers finished third in the State meet. They also scored wins over Davidson College and Clemson. Duke and Carolina managed to defeat the local hill-and-dalers in dual meets last year.

Frosh Football Squad Lining Up For Clash Last of This Month

The freshman football squad is gradually being rounded into shape for the opening clash scheduled for the latter part of this month.

Coach Drennan has worked his boys daily during the past week and scrimmages against the varsity have aided in the development of the team.

Efforts to secure a local high school team to provide the Wolflets a practice game for this afternoon have failed, so two picked teams will scrimmage.

Some of the outstanding players on the squad are Avery, Kennedy, Garfield, and Gardner, ends; Lawrence, Mooney, Nylen, and Britton, tackles; Cooke, Duffy, and Warren, guards; Gorham, Grigg, and Gardner, center. Backfield prospects include Morris and White, quarterbacks; Brown, Barnes, Fulford, Davant, Walton, Dellenger, and Herndon, halfbacks; Barbour, Rose, and Buffalo, fullbacks.

Old Gold hits a homer for Babe Ruth in Blindfold cigarette test

"Yes, I am well over 21... so I couldn't see no reason why I shouldn't make the blindfold test. As I tried the four leading cigarettes I kept this 'box score' on the results:

- No. 1 . . . . . out at first
- No. 2 . . . this one 'fanned'
- No. 3 . . . out on a pop fly
- No. 4 (OLD GOLD) a home run hit!

"OLD GOLD'S mildness and smoothness marked it 'right off the bat' as the best."

Our advertisers were solicited with the purpose of putting before you dependable shopping points. Remember this, and feel perfectly safe in guiding your shopping by THE TECHNICIAN.

Men aren't ever safe. Now, a woman has invaded even the sacred precincts of the Pine Burr Society.

We express our regrets to the friends and relatives of Dixon Pool for what happened last Wednesday night.

Are classes beginning to worry you and seem in the way? If so, then you're getting tired of school already.

Sorry the postoffice department hasn't yet finished their work on the mailing list. We hope by next week you will get your TECHNICIAN through the mails.

We have with us for a few days a former editor of this paper, who has been in the "Big City" for a few months. Maybe he wishes he was back here for good, where he wouldn't have to worry about subway wrecks.

We saw a good bit of the equipment of the registrar's office being moved to Peele Hall this week. Here's hoping that on the way over they lose none of the points the students have made.

The military department has been examining our office, perhaps getting a preliminary layout of the way they will be situated after the building is remodeled. We don't mind, just so they don't courtmartial us.

SHOTGUNS AND APPLES

Out of a clear sky one night this week came the news that a fellow-student had been wounded and was probably in a serious condition as the result of what might have been an accident or a grave mistake.

On the night of Founders' Day Dixon Pool lay in a hospital and Dean E. L. Cloyd was called out from a banquet celebrating the anniversary of the opening of the college to send word to the boy's parents and do what he could to help.

Like Ladon, the dragon, guarded the golden apples of Hesperides from the onslaughts of Heracles, Marshall Hoover, Negro watchman, protected the college orchard from inroads by students.

As long as the trees have been there foraging expeditions have been engaged in, with the fruit as their goal; as long as they are there raids will be made—after this has all been forgotten.

Hoover says he was watching under instructions given him by H. A. Miller, superintendent of the farm, to "pour it into them," when he shot at the boys.

Miller, however, says he told the Negro to fire into the ground, and never to shoot at invaders. He is backed up in his statement by Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of the college.

And the Negro is now in jail, ostensibly to protect him from possible harm from fellow-students of the wounded boy, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

We are certain the students of State College would not have made a bad situation worse by attempting anything that would put the school in a worse light. It already is bad enough to have such a tragedy happen on our campus.

Of course everyone makes mistakes. Hoover made an extremely serious one when he loosed the load of number six shot in the boy's face. The college, perhaps, made a more serious one when it allowed the man to be armed while guarding the apples. Are a few pieces of fruit worth the price of a student's life, or at least his eyesight?

If Mr. Miller had realized how hotheaded a Negro can become, especially one as some say Hoover is (not possessed of the highest mentality), why did he give him shells at all?

Many a farmer has sprinkled the retreating trousers of barefoot urchins with salt and pepper when they attempted inroads on his watermelon patch. Many a robber has been frightened from a dwelling by a blank cartridge, fired from a pistol in the hands of the master of the house.

Then, why was it necessary that the college's apples be guarded by number six shot back of the business end of a shotgun in the hands of such a Negro?

If the watchman could not handle foragers by his own strength, a night stick, such as a policeman carries, would have aided him in driving them away, with much less danger of fatalities resulting.

Then, too, how many students would have lingered among the apple trees when someone shouted at them from the darkness? There would have been a race to see who would be the first to go over the fence. And then there would have been no need for a shotgun.

So, why should the entire blame be laid upon the Negro? Of course he shouldn't have fired upon the boy; but that does not lift the burden from the college in supplying him with loaded shells, when blanks, a stick, or a shout would not have put a freshman in the hospital.

TRY 'EM OUT

Suppose a student went to Gus Tebell and asked for a uniform, as he would like to go out for football. Suppose Gus said: "No, I have enough men out." What would the student think? Perhaps he would think that student activities here were run on a strictly partisan or political basis.

A few days ago a student went to one of the cheer leaders and asked permission to try out for cheer leader. Since he had been a cheer leader in high school, he supposed he could qualify.

To his surprise and disappointment the cheer leader replied: "No, I have enough men out." What did the student think? He thought that cheer leading was for a select few and outsiders need not apply.

It is an accepted fact that we haven't enough college spirit here.

Is this the right way to promote it and bring about more pep and loyalty? Figure it out for yourself. H. M.

Honor Systems as a Blind

The inefficiency of the honor system is forcibly cast into the foreground by the request of the Yale Student Council that such system be abolished. This demand grew out of general campus feeling that an honor pledge is not effective, and those who did obey the rules would not report those who were not averse to cribbing.

In a small institution the honor system may possibly work, but among the colleges and universities of larger enrollment there is not enough personal contact between the individual students to incite interest in the other man's morals.

The University of Virginia is the only southern university which can lay claim to an efficient honor system. It is true that most southern institutions have some form or another of the system, but in the majority of these colleges it is used merely to relieve the responsible parties of obligations to see that students do not cheat. It is not a question of giving a student the opportunity of self-discipline. We have yet to observe the man or woman who derived any degree of self-control from the honor system.

There is less cheating in Auburn since the removal of the honor system, and there are fewer attempts at cheating. There is only one remedy for cheating, and that is to impress dishonest students with the fact that they only hurt and victimize themselves.—Auburn Plainsman.

Is College Life Worth While?

Now that the newness has worn off our college year, I wonder how many of us find the life we are beginning to lead monotonous and dull. Do we look upon it as holding nothing for the future except themes and notebooks and math problems? Have we become discouraged and downhearted and wonder why in the world we ever decided to come to college anyway? If this is the case it is time we all paused for a few minutes to realize why we are here, and to decide if the life we lead here is going to be worth while.

Our college life is what we make it. If we come with the idea of putting all our time and efforts into it we will certainly gain something in return. On the other hand, if we are careless and flippant in our work college will mean very little to us. There are three groups of girls in every school today. In the first group is the girl who devotes all her time to her studies, who has no interest in outside activities, but who makes excellent marks on all her work. In the second group we find the girl who never "cracks a book" until the time for tests, who manages to get by on a few subjects, and who is always complaining of how dull college is. Lastly, we have the girl who goes neither to one extreme nor the other. She studies and makes good grades. She is interested in all activities about the campus, and can always be relied upon to help at any time. In other words, she is a "good sport."

College to a girl of this type will be worth while. She is not only enjoying the present, but is preparing for the future. She does not have time to find her life monotonous or dull. If there were more of this group of girls in college, how much better place it would be! Since it is up to us to make our college life worth while, let's all try throughout the coming months to do everything in our power to make this the best year ever!—The Salemite.

Last Day For Senior Write-ups Is Oct. 15, Says Annual Editor

The deadline for senior write-ups for the 1929 Agromeck has been set at October 15, since after then the work of assembling the senior section will begin. The staff hopes that all will be in by that date, and that they will not have to type them after they have been handed in.

Write-ups this year should not be more than 150 words nor less than 100, Bob Shepard, editor, said. He also is anxious for the composers to be original and especially requests that no one refer to an old annual for his ideas.

"And please don't start off, 'John Smith halls from Slickville,'" he emphatically announced.

"The success of any annual depends upon the cooperation it gets from the student body," Shepard continued; "and the staff of the 1929 Agromeck would greatly appreciate it if everybody would help them to make this the biggest and best State College annual."

"Y" RECEIVING SPLENDID SUPPORT FROM STATE'S STUDENT BODY THIS TERM

Monday night the "Y" cabinet and the men of the new student committee gathered in the Y. M. C. A. following supper and indulged in a free-for-all ice cream and cake feed.

This was a preliminary matter for the laying of plans for the carrying on of a drive to get more contributions from the students for the Y work this year. The meeting was called by T. A. Grant, treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. for this year, to solicit the aid of these men in seeking financial help from the student body.

Wednesday night following Dr. Seerly's lecture, these men canvassed the dormitories to carry out their program.

On registration day many of the fellows who did not pay at that time to the "Y" stated that within a few days they would contribute, so this drive was instituted on the assumption that many of the fellows were now in position to contribute.

The leaders of the Y work at State College are highly pleased with the marvelous support the student body is giving the institution this year, both financially and spiritually. Better spirit toward the Y seems to prevail than ever before.

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS OFFERED FOR ESSAY ON THE ELECTION OF SMITH

Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the former Ambassador to Germany, has offered two prizes of $1,000 each for the best essay written by college students or graduates of not more than two years standing on the subject, "Why Alfred E. Smith Should Be Elected President of the United States." One prize is for women and the other for men. The contest will close on October 20th.

The New York World, Buffalo Times, Trenton Times, Raleigh News and Observer, Richmond Times-Leader, Arkansas Gazette, Gainesville, Fla., Sun, Columbia, S. C. Record, Nashville Tennessean, Lexington

Herald, Nevada State Journal, Atlanta Journal, and Providence News are cooperating with the College League in conducting the contest.

Essays may be sent to these newspapers or to the New York committee at 1775 Broadway, New York City; the Central Regional Committee at the Hotel Jefferson, St. Louis, Mo., or the New England Committee at the Hotel Statler, Boston, Mass. Each of the various committees will pick the two best essays written by men and the two written by women that are submitted to it. Only these sectional selections will qualify for the money prizes.

The essays are to be limited to 500 words, and will be judged on strength of argument, form of composition, and excellence in English. They must be typed, or written, on one side of the paper. The name of the author, with college and class, must be enclosed.

WILLIAMS WILL HEAD CHEMICAL ENGINEERING GROUP DURING 1928-1929

The first official meeting of the Chemical Engineering Society was held in Winston Hall Tuesday evening, with W. V. M. Williams, senior chemical engineering student, presiding.

He urged all those present to keep up their interest that they might make the coming meetings as beneficial as possible. During the year each member of the society will be permitted to lecture upon a chemical engineering topic. Arrangements have also been made to have several famous chemical engineers address the society. Moving pictures showing the details of various chemical manufacturing processes will also be shown to the society from time to time.

P. C. Ellis, G. L. Griffin, and Fred R. Tripp volunteered to lecture at the next meeting.

An election of new officers for the year 1928-29 followed, in which the following were chosen:

W. V. M. Williams, president; F. J. Hodges, temporary secretary; W. E. Koonce, vice-president; L. R. Mercer, treasurer; F. J. Hodges, reporter.

F. J. Hodges volunteered to be float supervisor.

W. E. Koonce was chosen representative for the "Brawl," and P. C. Ellis, parade representative.

The program committee was selected as: W. E. Koonce, chairman; F. J. Hodges, Fred Thomson, and R. A. Rodaquez.

The publicity committee will be: F. J. Hodges, chairman; J. W. Hodges, P. C. Ellis.

PRINCESS JULIANA WILL BE PILORIED UPON MARRIAGE

Leyden, Holland, Oct. 3.—(IP)—Princess or no princess, when Juliana, heiress to the throne of the Netherlands, decides to marry, she will be pilloried upon the announcement of her betrothal.

That is, her name and that of her fiancé will be hoisted on a post, nicknamed the "Pillar of Dishonor," in the Women Students Club of Leyden University.

Princess Juliana is a student at the university, and incidentally enjoys much more freedom here than she does at the royal castle at The Hague, where a rigid court atmosphere exists.

When informed that she could matriculate at Leyden, the princess, then 19 years of age, exclaimed, "Fine, then I can wear high heels."

At Leyden everything possible is done to permit her to live a care-free life. To be sure, a secret service man shadows her unobtrusively.

Pipe Convert Ends Agonizing Tobacco Hunt

New York, N. Y. June 30, 1926

Larus & Bro. Co. Richmond, Va. Gentlemen:

I started smoking on cigarettes, but after meeting a young lady for whom men who smoked pipes had a greater charm, I promptly switched to one.

Then my agony began. I tried one brand of tobacco after another, always working on the theory that the more you paid for tobacco, the better it would be.

I tried imported special mixtures. I paid as much as fifty cents an ounce. All to no avail.

Then came the day I tried Edgeworth. It was at a ball game. I had run short of the certain brand I was smoking, and a casual acquaintance offered me a pipeful from his pouch. I imagine my delight when after the first few puffs I did not feel the old familiar bite. I puffed on, inhaling the delightful aroma, and oh, boy! It was sweet right down to the bottom.

Nothing has separated me from my pipe, or my pipe from Edgeworth, since then.

Yours very truly,

The patient yelled, "Please don't bring a woman in this room, doctor!"

... with their feet on the ground

MEN of vision, yes. But don't overlook the fact that those old Roman road builders and empire builders kept their feet firmly fixed on the ground. They faced the facts squarely. They were demons for detail. They were the world's first great organizers. Pioneering in the telephone industry is like that. It is a work of vision and of leadership into new fields. But back of it all must be the ability to organize men, money, material and machines.

The telephone executive must coordinate his machine before he can run it. He must understand the possibilities in his organization before he can lead it. That done, his opportunity is empire-wide, vision-broad and ambition-deep.

VOTING DUTY IS SUBJECT OF ORATORICAL CONTEST TO BE STAGED BY LEGION

The duty of an American citizen to vote whenever a ballot is opened has been made the subject of an oratorical contest by the North Carolina division of the American Legion in which high schools and colleges of the State have been asked to choose representatives. A maximum limit of 15 minutes has been set upon the speeches, which may be as short as the contestants desire to give in the finals at 8 o'clock on the night of November 5.

October 29 has been set as the date when names of college participants are to be sent to Cale K. Burgess, local attorney, before the representatives of each school meet at 2 p. m. on November 5 for the preliminary contest. The finals in both the high school and the college contests will be held that night.

Winner of each group will receive a substantial cash prize and a medal or a silver loving cup, and there will be other prizes for those who are runners-up.

Pupils in the eighth, ninth, tenth, and eleventh grades who wish to enter must have their names sent to Mr. Burgess through their school superintendent by October 18. An elimination contest will be held on October 22 for each county, and on the 29th each congressional district will have an elimination contest. The State contest will be held in Raleigh, November 5, at 2 p. m., with the finals that night at the same time as the college contest.

SOUTH LACKING

New York.—(NSS)—Southern colleges are doing little to prepare their students to cope with the growing industrialism of the South, according to an article by Professor Howard Munford Jones in the October issue of The New Student. "Nowhere in the South," he says, "has the study of economics proceeded so far as to offer notable opportunities for advanced training. One goes North for his graduate work in this field. Only belatedly has the study of sociology come to be an effective force in southern university life, and at that, only in a few schools. Yet it is evident that the South needs now, as it needed a hundred years ago, an effective examination of the foundations upon which the industrial system is to be built."

For thereby hangs a tale . . . a tale of the up-and-up enjoyment experienced smokers have found in this finest blend of choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos.
