STATE FRESHMAN RECOVERING FROM SHOOTING AFFAIR

Parents Hope To Take
Dixon Poole Home
By Today

PILLSBURY PUTS BLAME
ON FORMER EMPLOYEES

Says That Miller and Matthews
Are Responsible for Armed Guard; Declared He Never Allowed Armed Guard Nor Permitted College Funds To Be Used for Ammunition.

By T. A. VERNON

Dixon L. Poole, State College freshman, shot in the face last week by Marshall Hoover, Negro guard of the college apple orchard, is, contrary to the fear at first held, continuously improving, and it is hoped by his parents that he will be well enough to be carried to his home in Spartanburg, S. C., today or the first of next week.

Accompanied by Joe Harris and F. J. Hodges, Poole entered the orchard Wednesday night of last week on a foraging expedition for the fruit. The Negro, who had been in a shadow or behind a tree, suddenly appeared before the boys and fired a load of No. 6 shot, two taking effect in the wounded boy's chest, others striking his face, and one or two of them hitting his eyeball, but glancing off.

After the Negro fired the shot he disappeared in the trees and was found at his home by officers. The Negro explained that he shot the boy, but that he had orders from H. A. Miller, superintendent of the farm. Richard E. Moore, who works in the state license department, happened to be passing at the time and heard the shot. He called the police and entered the orchard to look for the Negro.

The executive committee of the board of trustees held a meeting this week to determine where the fault lay.

In his answer to the trustees' questions Professor J. P. Pillsbury, former head of the department, placed the responsibility for having an armed guard in the orchard upon Miller and C. D. Matthews. Professor Pillsbury did not use Matthews' name, but referred to him as his successor.

CAPT. E. A. HIGGINS IS TRANSFERRED TO GEORGIA

Will Be Supplanted Here By
First Lieut. Chester H. Elms, Order of President

Washington.—Capt. Ernest A. Higgins, now assigned to duty at the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, will be transferred to the 22d Infantry, with station at Fort McPherson, Ga., effective upon his return to duty upon being relieved from further observation and treatment at Walter Reed General Hospital, according to orders issued by the War Department.

Washington.—Under orders issued by the War Department, First Lieut. Chester H. Elms, of the 38th Infantry, is relieved from assignment to that regiment, and is detailed, by direction of the President, at North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering. Lieutenant Elms is now stationed at Fort Sills, Okla., and has been instructed to proceed to West Raleigh to take up his new duties at an early date.

Joseph Carson Matthews, Jr., 507 Wilmington Street, Raleigh, has accepted appointment as second lieutenant in the infantry branch, in the Officers' Reserve Corps, states the War Department.

J. STITT WILSON WILL COME TO STATE CAMPUS EARLY IN DECEMBER

State College students will be greatly pleased to know that J. Stitt Wilson will again appear on this campus early in December. He will be here four days at the service of the students.

During that time he will make several addresses and will be open for private interviews with those who desire them. Many students last year took advantage of this opportunity and profited thereby.

J. Stitt Wilson is one speaker that, though you hear him any number of times, always comes with something new. His speeches one year are very different from those that he delivers other years. He has already made several trips to this campus, and always the students have been interested to note that his lectures are full of life and inspiration and offer something new each time.

A member of the faculty recently made the statement that "J. Stitt Wilson is one of the few speakers that I can hear year after year without hearing at least one or two of the

MAX GARDNER LEARNED PUBLIC SPEAKING HERE

Cunningham Discusses State College Literary Societies
With Students

O. Max Gardner, generally conceded the next Governor of North Carolina, developed his public speaking ability in one of the two literary societies at North Carolina State College, stated Professor C. C. Cunningham, of the department of public speaking, here Wednesday morning at chapel. Professor Cunningham talked concerning the two literary societies—Learner and Pullen—named after the two leaders in the founding of State College.

He told of the advantages of public speaking, saying that even though a student had a thorough "book" education, unless he could translate this knowledge by word of mouth it would be useless. He further stated that the public speaking department was the most important department in the college. A large per cent of the pupils cannot manage to take public speaking. Professor Cunningham stated that the literary societies were the

JINX BROKEN BECAUSE OF DEAN RIDDICK'S NEW SUIT, IT IS THOUGHT

That "the jinx has been broken" is the feeling among the staff of Huneycutt's London Shop, because of the fact that Nat Silver, representing Stetson D. clothes, was seen measuring Dr. W. C. Riddick, dean of the school of engineering and known among the students as "Pap," for a $34.50 suit of clothes of a college model.

Information was brought to us by John R. Anderson. Because of the custom the engineering dean has of wearing his waistcoat with the top three buttons unfastened, it is wondered on the campus if the suit he has ordered will be sent minus these necessities.

"Hell With Both," Voter Says In Straw Vote Held Last Week

Raleigh Visit of "Happy Warrior" Cheered By Crowds

Alfred E. Smith Pays Flying Call to Raleigh and North Carolina Democracy on Way to Louisville

By A. LAURANCE AYDLETT

"The Happy Warrior" of Democracy, Alfred Emanuel Smith, governor of the Empire State and nominee of his party for the presidency of the United States, seemed rather a tired, worn fighter bravely bearing his colors through the "sold southland" as he walked to the stage of the city auditorium Thursday afternoon during his visit to Raleigh, amid the wild clamors, happy shoutings, cheers, and laughs of joy of an enraptured Democratic constituency that vociferously proclaimed their intention of sweeping him to victory in the election next month.

Happy because of the cordial welcome accorded him in Virginia and in North Carolina, a warrior because of his traditional fighting spirit, tired and worn from much handshaking that seemed to be an obsession of those greeting him, as soon as the crowd on the stage could be cleared to give him room and the audience could be quieted down, Smith thanked North Carolina Democracy for its welcome.

His voice, deep, but not too deep; strong and forceful, but having a

GOAT USED AS FEATURE MEREDITH ASTROTEKTON LITERARY GROUP MEETING

With their mascot, a goat, tied during the day in front of the buildings, with a yellow ribbon on his neck, the Astrotekton Literary Society at Meredith College Saturday evening began the initiation of its new members.

One hundred and fifteen new girls were initiated into the society amid wild cries and screams. The initiation marked the end of many days rushing of freshmen by the older members. Following the initiation a most pleasant reception was given in the society hall, honoring the new girls, during which the president of the society, Miss Hesta Kitchin, made her welcome address.

After Miss Kitchin's address the following young ladies gave toasts: Misses Louise Craven, "To the New Astro"; Frances Barnhill, "To the Deans"; Julia Grimes, "To Dr. Brewer"; Bruce Gore, "To the Alumnae"; Pauline Newton, "To Mother Astro"; Rodie Grady, "To the Goat."

The initiation ended with the singing of the society song.

CLOYD SAYS WOMEN ARE FORCING NEW VIEW HERE

If Increase Continues Woman's Building and Specially Designed Courses Will Be Necessary

"It can't be long until the college will have to adopt a policy towards co-eds if it admits and recognizes women," Dean Cloyd said this week. If the number of women increases as it has in the past, a dean of women will be necessary and a woman's building. Last year there were only eight co-eds attending State. This year there are twenty-one. At this rate of increase new curricula will soon be added with the view to women's specialties.

Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, director of home economics, stated last spring that the home economics department of the state hoped within the next year to have a complete course in that subject in the college. Such a course will be a great inducement to women to attend this school. With no larger number of co-eds than State College has in attendance at present it would be impracticable to introduce new curricula such as home economics or physical education for women.

Women are recognized socially in the institution at present, but generally speaking the co-ed situation is new.

A Total of 176 Ballots Shows
Hoover With 8 Majority Over Smith—Small Number Cast and Evident Attempts at Stuffing Not Thought Representative of Campus Opinion—Hold Another Vote This Week.

"To hell with both of them," declared one voter in the recent straw ballot held here on the presidential candidates this year, it was found when a count was made Wednesday of the votes dropped in the ballot box that had been sitting in the college Y. M. C. A. building for more than a week to give all students on the campus plenty of time for an expression of opinion.

Another voter, who appeared to be a staunch Republican, decided to draft the present chief executive into the race at this late moment, and cast a solitary vote for Cal Coolidge.

From some quarter a Socialist vote appeared, bringing Norman Thomas' name into the presidential fray.

That political thinking, or at least political action, on the State College campus is notably lacking was shown by the total of 176 votes cast out of the entire student body of practically 1,600.

Out of this small ballot Herbert Hoover with 92 votes led Alfred E. Smith with 84 by a majority of eight, campus opinion seeming to shift this fall from the Democratic candidate, favored last spring, to the Republican nominee.

The straw vote was conducted by College Humor in collaboration with the college newspapers throughout the country, and was sponsored at this institution by THE TECHNICIAN.

Because of information advanced by one student watching the count that he had seen a freshman cutting ballots out of papers and putting them into his pockets, there was opinion expressed by some that the box had been stuffed and the vote not really representative of campus feeling.

Ballots were counted by A. Laurence Aydlett, editor of THE TECHNICIAN, and R. L. Mintz, Y. worker, on the table where the ballot box had rested.

The counters found 30 votes all marked by the same pen for the Demo-

KING LEAVES FOR Y MEETING IN ATLANTA

Is Treasurer and Member Execu-

Regional Conference

E. S. King, Y. M. C. A. secretary at State College, left Thursday for Atlanta, Ga., where he will attend the executive committee meeting of the Southern Regional Council of the Y. M. C. A. He is treasurer of this organization, and is therefore a member of the executive committee.

This meeting is of great importance, and one of its chief purposes is to make plans for next year's Blue Ridge conference. The conference last year was one of the most successful the Y. M. C. A. has ever held in any part of the United States, and they feel they can make no losses this coming year. They are getting to work to make the greatest show and to achieve the greatest success in a

GRAEVES-WALKER, STUCKY HONORED BY SEPTEMBER ISSUE CERAMIC JOURNAL

Articles by two members of the State College faculty, Dr. J. L. Stucky of the department of geology, and Professor A. F. Greaves-Walker of the department of ceramic engineering, appear in the September issue of the Ceramic Age, one of the leading technical ceramic journals of the country.

Dr. Stucky's article describes the kaolin deposits of North Carolina, the possibilities of future development and the improvements made recently in working them.

Professor Greaves-Walker's article calls the attention of the refractory manufacturers of the country to the rapidly diminishing supply of diaspore in the United States and points out the necessity in the near future of their coming to North Carolina and Georgia for supplies of cyanite and refractory kaolin to replace it.

Freshman Personifies American Girl Today In New Campus Freak

A new freak has presented itself on the State College campus to rank along with the horned toad of the zoology department, this time coming to us in the form of a freshman dressed in feminine apparel.

Last Tuesday night at the first meeting of the Court of Customs, Freshman J. W. Scruggs was placed before the mercy of a jury in the defense of the charge of not wearing the freshman cap last Friday night and Monday afternoon on street. Freshman Scruggs pleaded that an upper classman had hidden his cap, but could not provide witnesses to prove the veracity of his statement.

He was sentenced by A. R. Morley, judge of the court, to wear a dress, provided by the court, from Wednesday morning until Tuesday evening of next week. The dress must be worn at all times except during drill and on Sunday.

Three other freshmen were sentenced to go to the judge and recite the freshmen rules for three days in succession.

Monday Noon Ends Rushing Period of Campus Fraternities

Twelve o'clock Monday morning marks the end of tea dances, feeds, shows, and checking that for the past three weeks has consumed the entire time of fraternity men at State College.

The rushing season is the busiest time of the year for fraternity men, being the period that good fraternity material is sought. During the season practically every fraternity at State has been host to freshmen with dances and feeds.

Everywhere one may see fraternity men with their freshmen—the men they are to sign up. Each year the fraternities pledge on the average eight men each.

After 12 o'clock Monday a period of silence begins, and no fraternity man can speak to a freshman of fraternity matters. Following the period of silence the freshmen are sent bids.

For the past few weeks the freshmen that looked good to fraternity men have fared rather hard because they have been continuously on the run. When they leave one fraternity man, immediately another is "on him." The freshmen meet girls, go to shows, dance and eat, all at the expense of the fraternities.

Price Selects Final Personnel Current College Orchestra

Director Percy W. Price has announced the final enrollment of the State College Orchestra. The meeting at which the personnel of the orchestra was decided on was held Tuesday, October 9.

Seventeen students make up this orchestra, four of whom come from Raleigh.

Director Price has expressed himself as being especially pleased with the personnel of the orchestra. Most of them have shown exceptional ability in college practice, and some of them have already won distinction before coming to State. John Cole of Raleigh, the lone pianist, is frequently in demand as accompanist at church and social affairs in the city.

The orchestra personnel and their instruments are: Major P. W. Price, director; piano, John Cole, Raleigh; saxophone and clarinet, Philip Separk, Raleigh; Roger Harvell, Newton; saxophone and violin, Robert Selby, Charlotte; drums, Fred Fletcher, Raleigh; J. E. Kester, Rutherfordton; cornet, Jimmie Giron, Raleigh; Mangum Harrell, High Point; banjo, A. E. Nebel, Charlotte; clarinet, Hyman Schachtman, Greensboro; bass, Bob McCracken, Whiteville; alto, W. G. Collier, Roanoke Rapids; wood and piccolo, Rufus Vick, Rosemary; violin, H. L. Carpenter, Rutherfordton; J. W. Gillis, Asheville; W. J. Dunning, Rosemary; N. Grosse, Bramwell, West Virginia; V. L. Taylor, Hookerton; J. P. Cranner, Southport.

DAD'S DAY PLANS BEING LAID OUT BY GOLDEN CHAIN

Special Seats for Fathers of Team Behind the Players' Bench

LETTERS BEING GIVEN
EACH STUDENT FOR DAD

Freshmen to Pull Comics Between Halves—Wearing White Shirts, Will Spell "Dad's Day" in Center of Field.

By E. W. BUCHANAN

Special seats will be arranged for the dads of the football players at the Wake Forest game next Thursday, where they will be seated directly behind the players' bench on the field, in celebration of Dad's Day.

This is an innovation sponsored by the society of the Golden Chain at State College as one of its many items on a varied program for this year. Dad's Day was established several years ago and was taken under the auspices of the Golden Chain last year, proving a decided success.

They are continuing the same thing this year, with many additional features for its celebration. When the original plans were laid it was believed that it would be celebrated during the week of the State Fair, and was expected to be a very great success, as many more of the dads of the students would attend the game and visit the college if the fair were in progress than would come otherwise. But the dates for the fair were moved up, so that broke into the plans somewhat.

The Golden Chain society has made special plans this year to write letters to the father of each boy on State College campus. These letters will be written and placed in envelopes and given to the students to mail. The only thing the student will have to do will be to place a stamp on the letter along with the address and drop it in the postoffice.

Special letters are being written to the dads of the members of the senior class, and also to the dads of the members of the football squad.

The fathers of the football squad are being given special recognition by allowing them the seating arrangement in the form of seats back of the playing line, and it is hoped that this will serve as an incentive to the play-

JUDGING TEAMS COMPETE IN TENNESSEE TODAY

State College Squad Left Wednesday for Memphis After Stopover in Atlanta

Another State College team went into competition Wednesday of this week when the dairy-cattle judging team and the dairy-products judging squad, representing the best students in the senior class registered in animal husbandry and dairying, left the West Raleigh campus for Memphis, Tenn.

The National Dairy Show, held there from today until October 20, in connection with the Tri-State Fair, will be common grounds for the competition of teams from several colleges in the large dairying states in the north-central portion of the United States.

A stop-over was arranged in Atlanta Thursday, where the team were guests of the University of Georgia while visiting the city and inspecting several large dairies near there. Both teams afterwards left together for the Tennessee town.

Beginning last spring, Professors F. M. Haig and R. H. Ruffner have been drilling the men in the finer points of cattle judging, while Professor W. L. Cleverger has coached the product-judging team. For the past two years State has sent teams to the National Dairy Show, and in

COLLEGE LANDSCAPE HEAD TALKS TO LIONS-MONARCHS

Says Parks and Playgrounds Should Be Self-Financing and Need No Bond Issues

"Parks and playgrounds can be made to pay for themselves," said M. S. Allen, State College landscape architect, in an address delivered Wednesday at a joint luncheon meeting of the local Monarch and Lions clubs. "There is no longer any necessity for a bond issue to finance these playgrounds," continued Mr. Allen.

Mr. Allen, speaking of the general plans for community recreation parks and playgrounds and methods of financing them, declared that other cities, such as Asheville, Charlotte, Atlanta, Milwaukee, and Birmingham, have found that working through the public school system has been highly effective. Asheville, for instance, he said, establishes playgrounds on no less than five acres of land, and considers playground equipment as important as other school equipment.

Classifying community centers as local or community playgrounds, neighborhood parks, downtown parks, passing-through parks, larger botanical gardens, and recreation parks, Mr. Allen stated that the concessions in such parks could finance their upkeep, as well as the eventual enhancing of the value of the surrounding property.

Municipal golf courses, swimming pools, and the like have proved successful in the parks of other cities, he said. There has yet been no public golf course in the United States, he declared, that has been proved a financial failure.

"Hell With Both" Voter Says In Straw Vote Held Last Week

cratic candidate, and all clinging closely together as if they had been dropped in as a bunch by one man. Since this seemed clearly an attempt to swing the ballot in favor of the New York Governor, these votes were all thrown aside and did not enter into the count.

Several votes were written on blank checks and scraps of paper, some of these even appearing to be cast in an effort to swell the total of each of the candidates.

"I don't believe such a small vote of 176 ballots should be sent to College Humor as representing the political feeling at State College," Aydielt said Wednesday night, "and The Technician will conduct another ballot in this week's issue that it is hoped will not permit dishonesty."

It is planned this time, he continued, to have each voter sign his name to the ballot to enable a check to be made with the list of students compiled by the registrar.

It is hoped in the region of the Technician offices that this time all fraternities, students living off the campus, and every one rooming in the college dormitories will take interest enough in determining the real opinion at State College to cast a vote.

Wednesday of next week the ballot box will again be in the same place in the Y where all can drop their votes. A total count of at least 1,000 ballots, if not more, it is hoped, can be sent to national headquarters as the expression of opinion on this campus.

Duke University students sent in a total of that number in a straw vote cast at that institution last week. It is hoped that all the State College student body will awaken next Wednesday and cast their votes. Only one day will be given for depositing of ballots this time, and it is necessary that all be on the official ballot printed on the editorial page of The Technician and signed by the voter, if the vote is to be counted for either candidate.

King Leaves For "Y" Meeting In Atlanta

student Y. M. C. A. conference at Blue Ridge next summer that the students have ever experienced.

As this is a great opportunity for Mr. King to obtain a line on speakers for State College this year, he plans to make that one objective of his trip. In coming in contact with the Y. M. C. A. leaders there, as well as with other great men, he will have a chance to get the opinion of others as to just who would accomplish most as lecturers on this campus. Dr. Seely has already appeared here, and J. Stitt Wilson is coming in December. These will be only two of the many that the student body will have the opportunity of hearing this year.

A few days ago a questionnaire was sent out to some 400 students, who attended the Blue Ridge conference last summer, asking them to indicate just what parts of the conference were most beneficial to them, and which they thought should be continued. Many questions were asked which would assist the executive committee in laying plans to suit the students. Their idea is to have a conference there each summer that will serve as an inspiration to the offices of the college Y. M. C. A.'s throughout the south. In order best to accomplish this purpose, they must get the opinions of those who attend these conferences as to what parts of the program are most inspirational and helpful.

When these questionnaires are returned to Atlanta they will be gone over and culled, and drawn as to what is the will of "Y" leaders in the colleges throughout the south. The program for next year's conference will then be planned accordingly.

Raleigh Visit Of "Happy Warrior" Is Cheered By Crowds

mellow tone running through every sentence, carried to his listeners what they had been waiting so long to hear personally, that in spite of all odds he would fight for the right and the just.

The eager looks on the faces of those on the front rows, old men who looked as if they had never voted the Republican ticket in their lives, young men who seemed to find full expression for their admiration in the presence of the standard bearer, young women seeming to seek correct guidance in their first years of voting, older women wondering whether their preconceived notions were right—all seemed under the spell of the unusual personality of the New York governor.

"There is a perfect harmony between the two tunes, 'The Sidewalks of New York' and 'Dixie,'" Smith said in speaking of receptions given him in Virginia when the bands played both.

"The south is the same as the north," he said, "the west is the same as the east, the city of Raleigh is essentially the same as the city of Syracuse; the country is a whole; we are all one."

The rush for his hand after he finished his few brief sentences was like the rush to kiss the train of a king by adoring subjects. Bystanders had to be fought off while Smith, his face wet with perspiration, drank deeply of a glass of ice water. No sooner had the tumbler left his lips than about twenty hands were thrust forward for his.

"Don't mob the man!" shouted an army officer standing beside him. The rush that followed him as he moved off the stage carried the glasses, pitcher of ice water, and the Stars and Stripes on the table almost to the floor.

"Look out for the flowers!" some one shouted as the basket that rested on the table tottered and fell.

"Oh, I want to shake his hand SO bad!" one pretty woman wailed as she reached in vain for Al on the steps as the officers hurried him away.

"Mr. Smith cannot make speeches except at night," said Josephus Daniels, secretary of the cabinet in Wilson's cabinet, who strongly opposed Smith before his nomination. Daniels introduced the Democratic nominee to the large audience that had gathered at the capital city from all parts of the state to catch a glimpse of him.

Once again in the open, Smith's renowned happy smile beamed upon the 10,000 or more people that filled Fayetteville Street from curb to curb as the parade started for his special train of eleven cars waiting for him at the Method station.

Al entered the city through the Union depot and passed by State College in resuming his trip to Louisville, Ky., where he will speak tonight.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Smith, smiling and happy at the welcome given her husband, and by his daughters. His visit to Raleigh was only a short one.

A report came to The Technician that after the nominee was on the street in public view, someone tore the Hoover placard and picture from an automobile, after which the crowd demolished the glass of the windows and destroyed upholstery of the front seat.

Other reports told of many stickers bearing the name of Al's opponent being torn up and thrown away after the owners had caught a glimpse of the Democratic candidate.

This was the first visit a presidential candidate has paid to Raleigh since the late Theodore Roosevelt spoke here in 1912.

State Freshman Recovering From Shooting Affair

ture was enlarged Matthews was given complete control, while Pillsbury was made head of the teaching division.

From the first Matthews has maintained that he never ordered Miller or anyone else to place an armed guard over the orchard. Matthews is not under the jurisdiction of the college, but Miller has been suspended until his trial. Miller is now free under a $2,000 bond.

Mr. Pillsbury's statement shows that at one time while he was head of the department he heard shot, investigated, and found that Hoover was using a shotgun. He ordered that it be stopped, and thought it had. The professor's statement also shows that he never made requisitions for shells for the gun, and requested that Miller turn in all cash derived from sales and that bills be paid through the regular channels.

Professor Pillsbury's statement as to the management of the orchard follows:

"The essentials of my own methods in my earlier experience, and my instructions to foremen to follow it are to get near enough to trespassers to be able to identify them—to outwit the trespassers, if possible, by time and manner of approach; to outrun them, or discover him by using a searchlight—so that they might be brought to account before the proper authorities in a regular way. If a man who is acquainted with the class of trespassers most likely to be encountered can be secured as a guard, so much the better."

"For the last four years my duties in connection with the 'orchard' have been of an advisory nature. I have 'managed' the orchard as to production and maintenance, but without authority to employ or to discharge. The marketing of the products with which the matter of the guarding of the crops is most closely associated, has been handled wholly during the last year or two by Mr. Miller and members of the department in charge of marketing courses."

Others Shot
Dixon L. Poole, Sr., father of the wounded boy, has under consideration a suit against the college, according to the News and Observer dated yesterday morning.

The local daily reported it had learned of other students being shot by the Negro watchman of the college, and that Dean Cloyd and President Brooks had learned of it Friday of last week.

Seeming to charge Brooks with convenient failure of memory of the names of the boys who had previously been shot, the paper told of the report already handed to the solicitor.

Brooks' Statement
In a statement to a reporter of The Technician at noon yesterday, Dr. Brooks said:

"The report came to me that a student was shot last year. I investigated, and was told that a doctor downtown had treated the boy. I asked the doctor, but he had no knowledge or record of having done so."

"Then rumors came that it was not last year, but this year. Again, after investigation in collaboration with W. P. Albright, president of the student body, one student came to me and said he had been shot at and that he thought the shot had struck his feet because of a stinging sensation. He, however, had no signs of injury. This student told me of another boy, but did not give his name, who carried results of the shotgun."

"This other student came to me, rolled up his pants, and showed on his leg where two or three shots had broken the skin. I sent him at once to the doctor, who telephoned me at once that no shot were imbedded in the flesh. This was exactly one week before Poole was shot; the Wednesday night before."

"When the executive committee of the board of trustees met I had been unable to get the names of the others who had been in the orchard and who had known of these incidents. I handed the record to the executive committee, which felt that it was a matter then for the solicitor to determine the responsibility for the shooting."

Despite his feeling that the authorities tried to "whitewash" the affair and throw all the blame on H. A. Miller, farm superintendent immediately superior to Marshall Hoover, Negro guard, Mr. Poole, Sr., is deeply grateful for the attention shown his boy after the orchard shooting.

A statement signed by the family of the wounded boy expressed their appreciation of all kindnesses shown the South Carolina youth.

Miller is said by some to have been somewhat grouchy and as acting condescending to those who approached him to buy flowers and other products of the horticultural farm.

Hoover, the Negro, is reported not to be possessed of the highest intelligence and of the type that would do as he was told.

"Darling, I lay my fortune at your feet."

"But you have no fortune."

"No, but what I have will look immense beside such dainty feet."

Fred Vaughn Outstanding for Techs In Line; Outen In Action In Backfield; Silver Gets In At End Position.

(Through News, and Observer by Special Leased Wire)

Pee Dee Fair Grounds, Florence, S. C., Oct. 12.—The Tiger of Clemson came back in the final ten minutes of the North Carolina State-Clemson game here today for a 7-0 win over the Wolfpack.

John Justus, blond-haired boy, turned the trick for the South Carolinians with a pretty 34-yard run in the last quarter. He got through tackle, evaded the secondary defense, and raced down the sideline to cross the final white marker. Asbill dropped the extra point.

The first three quarters of the game were given up to punting, with Captain Bob Warren of N. C. State holding the edge over the Clemson punter. Supporters for neither team had any real good reason for boisterous outbursts of cheering during these quarters.

In the final fourth, however, excitement ranged high. Clemson supporters became jubilant after Justus scored. Justus was not through running after he scored, for he ran thirty yards another time.

In the first half the Techs ran up two consecutive first downs on line plays and a perfect forward pass for thirty yards from Warren to Good-

'Touch' Football Will Be Winter Fraternity Sport

Representatives from the college's leading fraternities met at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon to discuss plans for the formation of an interfraternity athletic league. C. G. Doak presided over the meeting.

After considerable discussion it was voted to make "touch" football the fall sport. Each fraternity will enter a team in the competition, and a schedule of games will be drawn up during the coming week.

Some of the representatives favored swimming as the autumn sport, but finally agreed to sacrifice this sport for that of "touch" football.

win. Two other first downs came by penalties.

Fred Vaughn, N. C. State star guard, turned in a first-class performance in the line. Chink Outen, Basil Melton, Bob Warren, and others saw service in the backfield. George Silver got in at end in place of Goodwin, for N. C. State.

The line-up:

N. C. State	Position	Clemson
Goodwin	Asbill
	L. E.	Swafford
Mayfield	L. T.	Hall
Vaughn	L. G.	Pressley (C.)
Metts	Center	Guy Davis

Jordan	R. E.	Mulberry
Adams	Q. B.	Justus
Warren (C.)	L. H. B.	Padgett
Melton	R. H. B.	S. Davis
Jeffrey	F. B.

Score by periods:
N. C. State 0 0 0 0-0
Clemson 0 0 0 7-7

Substitutions—State: Van for Mayfield, Outen for Floyd, Melton for Warren, Mayfield for Van, Silver for Goodwin. Clemson: Dyers for Swafford, Gassaway for Hall, Gunnells for Guy Davis, Jones for Mouldous, Collins for Solomon, Justus for R. McMullan, Jones for Mouldous, C. McMullan for Mulberry, R. McMullan for C. McMullan, Gassaway for Hall. Clemson scoring: Touchdown, Justus; point after touchdown, Asbill (place kick).

Shift In the Backfield Since Last Week Will Give Pack 174 Average

Several important changes made in the line-up of State College's football team since the Washington and Lee game last Saturday will give the Wolfpack a backfield that will average 174 pounds against the former backfield, whose weight averaged 160 pounds.

Coach "Gus" Tebell has shifted Captain Bob Warren to one of the halfback posts and placed Chink Outen from an end berth to fullback. Basil Melton, fast track man, will occupy the other halfback position.

As "Sparky" Adams is on the injured list, the signal caller's job will fall to either Freddie Crum or Johnny Johnson. With this backfield functioning in future games, State's future opposition will have plenty to worry about, it is said.

'Y' TO ADD OPERA SEATS IN REAR OF THE MOVIE ROOM, REPLACING CHAIRS

The "Y" has started improving the appearance of the room in which the picture show is held by replacing the old chairs in the back with opera chairs, as one of the many forward moves it is making this year.

Last year it started the improvement of the building by repainting the inside of all the rooms and halls in attractive colors. The rooms in which the two literary societies hold their meetings were remodeled and painted so that they were much more attractive to the would-be orators who grace the stages on the meeting nights.

In addition to this improvement, the room that opens to the right of the large front room was attractively furnished with two large lounges and several beautiful plush chairs in order that the boys on the campus might use it as a place to entertain their folks from home or their friends when they were visiting.

For many years the fellows who come in late to the show have had to park themselves on common home-made chairs in the rear of the auditorium while the show was in progress. Those who have to hold this position while viewing the scenes portrayed through the picture show will be glad to know that nice opera seats have been ordered to replace the chairs, and though they come in late now, they can be satisfied they will be just as comfortable and can enjoy the show as much as those who made their appearance earlier.

State Team Meets Defeat of 38-6 At Hands of Generals

By FRANCIS TRIP

The Wolfpack of N. C. State College received a surprising and unexpected 38-6 setback at the hands of the Generals of Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia, last Saturday. Ability to take advantage of the breaks of the game enabled the Generals to amass a score that amazed even the most ardent supporters of the home eleven.

Outstanding among his teammates, who turned back the invading Wolves, was Williams, the sophomore end of the Washington and Lee team. Thibodeau, the Generals' right halfback, also played a brilliant game.

Captain Bob Warren and Melton were the Wolfpack's chief offensive threats. Warren's line-plunging and Melton's running kept the Washington and Lee players in fear whenever State took possession of the ball.

The Generals were able to score soon after the opening kick-off, when White gained 20 yards on five plays. During this period Crum's passing and Warren's line-plunging were brilliant. The Pack's first and only touchdown came in the second period, when Goodwin took a pass over the goal line from Freddie Crum. State worked the ball into this scoring position after a long march down the field.

BLEACHER CAPACITY IS ENLARGED 1,500 WITH ADDITION OF 120 FEET

The seating capacity of the college bleachers is being enlarged again, due to the fact that the space at the big games has not been nearly enough.

The new bleachers, 120 feet long and 67 feet high, with a capacity one-half that of the cement bleachers, are being erected at the southwest corner of Riddick Field. With accommodations increased by 1,500 new wooden seats it is hoped that the large crowds, which are expected at the Duke and Carolina games, will be well taken care of.

Besides the new bleachers there has been a large concrete slab laid at the top and in back of the cement bleachers. This will make a very good box for photographers and newspaper men.

Johnson's try for point after touchdown failed, and the half ended 13-6. In the second half State was held scoreless while the Washington and Lee eleven collected 25 points.

The line-up:

N. C. State	Position	W. and L.
Jordan	L. E.	Sproul
Lepo	L. T.	Hawkins
Vaughn	L. G.	Martin
Metts	Center	Snodgrass
Mayfield	R. G.	Groff
Floyd	R. T.	Fitzpatrick (C.)
Outen	R. E.	Williams
Adams	Q. B.	Faulkner
Crum	L. H. B.	Lott
Jeffries	R. H. B.	Thibodeau
Warren (C.)	F. B.	White

Score—Washington and Lee, 38; State, 6.

Touchdowns: White (2), Williams (2), Goodwin, Lott, Thibodeau. Point after touchdown: Fitzpatrick, 2 (placement).

Substitutions—State: Goodwin for Outen, Johnson for Adams, Melton for Jeffries, Strout for Floyd. Washington and Lee: Soligman for Martin, Eberhart for Lott, Barnett for White, H. Groff for Snodgrass.

Referee, Corrington (Virginia); umpire, Witt (V. M. I.); head linesman, Fetzner (Davidson).

HARRELSON GOOD GOLFER

Many of the students of State College are unaware of the fact that we have a great golfer in our midst. This gentleman, Colonel J. W. Harrelson, is a member of our faculty.

His recent playing has attracted much attention at the Carolina Country Club. Wednesday afternoon he provided the club members a treat by making par scores on fourteen consecutive holes while playing over the local course in the company of Ham Underwood of Fayetteville.

Adolphe Menjou picks OLD GOLD as camera records the Blindfold test

The test was conducted by responsible witnesses who asked Mr. Menjou to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. While the camera recorded the test, only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

"I've discovered a new way of mixing business and pleasure. The parts I play call for the constant smoking of a cigarette... I probably average one cigarette to every hundred feet of film. In the blindfold test I discovered one so smooth, so considerate of my tongue and throat that even the business of wholesale smoking while we're shooting scenes will be a pleasure. The cigarette I voted for proved to be Old Gold."

Why you can pick them

Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant... coarse top-leaves, irritating to the throat... withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma... and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. Only the heart-leaves are used in Old Golds.

Watch for the 1929 Wataugan.
We hear it will be out about next Wednesday. Since the editor may make good use of his English sense of good humor, we expect something good.

We are to be thankful the tragedy of last week has turned out the way it seems to have. To have lost the life of a student would have been a terrible calamity for the college.

Wonder what the next style will be on the campus. We saw a freshman one day this week wearing a girl's costume over his knickers and sweater. Maybe our co-eds will soon appear in overalls.

Too bad we met defeat at the hands of a Southern Conference team. The same thing happened last year, only it didn't mean so much. After that the team picked up and went at it so strongly that we won the championship. Here's hoping history repeats itself.

A STADIUM

Kenan Memorial Stadium at the University of North Carolina is in our opinion the prettiest spot on that campus. State College sorely needs such a construction. Under plans for the "Greater State College" there is supposed to be one where Riddick Field now stands.
Money, we suppose, is the thing that is causing the hold-up.

Why can't a drive be launched among the alumni and friends of the college for a suitable and larger athletic field? When the legislature meets next year, why can't State College ask for an appropriation to be put to that use? If necessary, and if permitted under the North Carolina law, why can't the college issue bonds as the highway body has done to obtain ready money for quick construction? These bonds of the college could be issued serially and retired from a sinking fund set aside from each biennial appropriation given the school by the General Assembly.

There is in the recent development known as Fairmont a place which seems to us ideally suited for the situation of a stadium for State College. The street that now is where the race track of the old State Fair grounds used to be lines out an excellent field.

Comparatively little grading would have to be done. There is already a big hole in the ground, in fact it would seem almost useless for residential purposes. The bleachers could be built up the side of the hole to the roadway, and the valley on the opposite side of the thoroughfare could be purchased and turned into parking space.

Distance from the campus would not be as great as in some of the larger universities where the athletic fields are two miles away.
Kenan Memorial is even further, or certainly as far from the center of the university campus as the site we propose is from our campus.

Several students here have noted the suitability of the old race track

PRESIDENTIAL STRAW VOTE

and other college newspapers throughout the country. Mark this ballot and drop it in the ballot box in the Y.M.C.A. next Wednesday.

be signed below to prevent stuffing.

My name is.....

I VOTE MY CHOICE AS

HERBERT HOOVER, Republican nominee . . . . . ☐
ALFRED E. SMITH, Democratic nominee . . . . . ☐ and the space it encompasses. Now why can't some division of the board of trustees or some group on the campus start a drive for a stadium for State College in the Fairmont section? Shall we begin, boys?

PASSING THE BUCK

The slickest example of passing the buck we have seen for some time took place at this institution last week. As Max Gardner said of Hoover in his speech here some time ago, they may have known nothing about it, but if the information was lacking with all the stories rampant about the campus of several having been shot taken from their bodies, then maybe the administration was dumb.

Of course there are many things we cannot always see or learn that go on about us in everyday life. In this case, however, it seems to us that each one felt himself in a hole, and the only way he could find to get out was to say, "He did it, not I," until several more had been brought in to complicate the thing greatly.

Anyway, Miller has been suspended and Hoover is in jail waiting their chance to come before the courts of the State in order that the people of North Carolina might learn who is responsible in the eyes of the law.

State College seriously regrets the happening of this incident in the college history, and it is more than likely that there will be no more shootings of such a nature on college property.

STUPIDITY

News of a member of the freshman class being shot by a negro guard in the near-by orchard has saddened the hearts of every State College man here. We sympathize with the mother and father because we are conscious of the great grief that they have been brought to by the sad news of their son's calamity.

The boy was one of many students that have gone to the orchard this year to get apples. No doubt none of them ever imagined a guard was there in the form of a stupid negro who held in his hands a shotgun.
Shotguns are made to kill animals with, and none of the students ever realized that the negro might shoot them when they entered the orchard.
That negro was placed there with that loaded shotgun by some one who knew that students frequented the orchard, but who failed to know that a negro, most especially an illiterate negro, is easily scared at night. Some one also failed to know that when scared a negro will do anything, usually the unexpected.

No doubt those boys dropped in on that negro so unexpectedly that he thought they were ghosts, and in a frightened panic began emptying his loaded shotgun directly at them, with the result that one of them is very seriously and probably fatally injured.

Of course unexpected tragedies and accidents will always occur, but many things are easily avoided. One can not place in the hands of a negro of that type a loaded shotgun with instructions to shoot at the ground if some student is trespassing, and expect a person who is subject to great fright to obey those instructions.

There are many ways to prevent the students from going to the orchard, and now, no doubt, an excellent way will be adopted. It is to be regretted that some better way had not been thought of before some one "paid the price."

Certainly such stupidity on the part of some one can be avoided. In the course of this enlightened realm, is it not the purpose of education to avoid such gross negligence?

KARL DEAN.

HELP THE LEADERS

Every year a new freshman class is broken in by the cheer leader. Every year the sophomores, juniors, and seniors refuse to be seen at a pep meeting and refuse to yell at the games. Oh, sometimes they will yell, but the brunt of the cheering is borne by the freshmen.

A lot is said about the school spirit here, but nothing is being done. The freshmen will yell and they attend the pep meetings regularly.

The upperclassmen have not been there. A few sophomores have attended, but not many. Now, let's everyone join in on this and put a little school spirit into the thing.

Join in with the bunch when a parade is planned and when the team leaves on a trip. Let's work for State College.

There will be a pep meeting next Tuesday at 6:30 in Pullen Hall. I want every man that reads this to be there. The meeting will be important; a new yell will be introduced, and final preparations will be made for the Wake Forest game.

Here are some timely suggestions for every State College man:
Cooperate with the cheer leader.
Attend all games, rallies, etc., and yell, yell, yell!

Keep your eyes on the cheer leader.
Follow his motions.
Applaud yells for other schools and for individual players.

Do not hiss or hoot opposing players.
Be courteous to the public; they judge you by your conduct at the games.

Remember, 6:30 Tuesday night in Pullen Hall.

W. T. GARIBALDI.

LESS NOISE

There has been a great deal of unnecessary noise in the dormitories at night since school started, particularly during study hours. There has also been quite a bit of playing of musical instruments, such as band instruments, victrolas, and radios.
These disturbances are very annoying to those who want to study or to sleep, and cannot do so on account of these noises.

Several complaints have recently been brought to my attention about these things, and I wish to call the attention of the student body to them.

There are rules against these disturbances after 7:30 at night, and too, one is infringing upon the rights of the other fellow when he is annoyed or prevented from studying or sleeping by these things.

One of these rules states that there shall be no unnecessary or boisterous

Thump! Thump! Thump!

noises in or around the dormitories at night; the other states that no musical instrument shall be played in or around the dormitory after 7:30 p.m., except on Saturday or Sunday.

Most of us like music, and we can look over a little noise and racket now and then; but I do not think that it will work any hardship on anyone to refrain from these things after 7:30 at night, and try to maintain better order in the dormitories. Just consider the rights of the other fellow first.

"DIGA"

THAT'S the telephone "Hello" in Madrid. In London, it's "Are you there?" But in many foreign countries, Americans find a universal language in the telephone salutations. It's good old "Hello"—a subtle tribute to the fact that the telephone is an American invention.

And so it is with elevator service. Even though they say "Diga" in Spain, the architects of the magnificent new Madrid Telephone Building unhesitatingly said "Otis" because Spain demanded the last word in elevators. You will find in Madrid the same type of Signal Control Elevators that are now installed in those monumental telephone buildings in America, in New York, Cleveland, St. Louis and San Francisco.

Sixty Singers Are Selected For 1928 College Glee Club

Organization of the 1928-29 State College Glee Club with the selection of 60 singers from 80 candidates was announced today by the director, Major P. W. Price.

"We have found a number of very good voices during the tryouts held recently," said Major Price, "and we are looking to a successful year. Some of the men selected have had a good high school training, others have had training in glee club work in other colleges in North Carolina and other states. About eighty men responded to the call for candidates. We selected 60, but this number will be cut down to about 45 men within the next month."

Fourteen candidates are competing for places on the club's quartet of singers, said Mr. Price. Two of the four singers in the club last season were lost through graduation in June. Major Price has always found good voices at State College for a most creditable glee club.

The men selected so far include the following:

First tenors: Robert H. Harrill, Lattimore; L. W. Moore, Norfolk, Va.; E. R. Iseley, Burlington; Joe Mullaney, Hymanis, Mass.; J. T. B. Mabry, Hollister; E. S. Benas, Fayetteville; L. E. Hows, Biltmore; Sherwood B. Brockwell, Raleigh; A. E. Nobel, Charlotte; R. E. Smith, Fairfax, Ala.; W. M. Smith, Mount Pleasant, and F. A. Cella, Raleigh.

Second tenors: C. C. Lane and J. E. Thompson, Raleigh; R. E. Davenport, Columbia, N. C.; J. F. Redman, Cleveland; H. M. Conyers and E. R. Poole, Raleigh; W. J. Dunning, Rosemary; H. R. Garrison, Conway; H. and W. J. Campbell, Dillon, S. C.; C. L. McCullers, Garner; J. H. Mauney, Shelby; F. U. Fletcher, Raleigh; T. J. Byrum, Charlotte; R. E. Mason, Raleigh; R. L. Selby, Charlotte, and C. H. Rabon, Chadbourn.

First bass: J. E. Keetle, Rutherford; G. M. Swicegood, Linwood; E. M. Boyette, Goldsboro; R. A. Showas, Hidsenite; J. E. Bowie, Glendall Springs; R. H. Gatlin, Rutherford; Fred Fletcher and W. T. Williamson, Raleigh.

Second bass: P. A. Latta and H. T. Grider, Raleigh; W. W. Hobbs, Greensboro; M. R. Rowland, Richfield; W. P. Walker, Andrews; F. B. Singletary, Greensboro; L. V. Lowe, Chadbourn; J. W. Hodges, Greenville; M. L. Shepherd, Orrum; H. L. Borney, Elton; E. J. Carter, Winston-Salem; J. H. Brown, Selma; O. D. Haynes, Old Fort, and W. F. Fowler, Winston-Salem.

CERAMIC SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR; STAMEY NEW PRESIDENT

The student branch of the American Ceramic Society held its first meeting of the year Tuesday evening in the ceramic building.

In the absence of D. B. Hall, who did not return to college this year, the meeting was in charge of R. B. Stamey, '29, vice-president. In the election to fill the vacancy he was elevated to the presidency, and was elected representative of the department of ceramic engineering to the Engineers' Council. Joe Parsons, '30, was elected vice-president.

Following the election, 17 new students were initiated.

Plans for Engineers' Day were discussed and the members were urged to begin preparations at once for the Engineers' Fair. Joe Parsons was appointed departmental chairman of the fair committee, E. G. Couch, Jr., chairman of the brass band committee, and H. H. Hutchinson chairman of the parade committee.

The following students were inducted into membership by Professor A. F. Greaves-Walker, councillor of the society:

Members: W. L. Brannon, transferred from the branch at Georgia Tech; H. T. Meyer, transferred from branch at Illinois, and E. Atwood, transferred from the branch at Alfred University; G. V. Harris, Ellsabeth City; J. B. Joyner, Franklinton. Associate members: J. E. Lassiter, Chas. C. Morrison, William C. Bangs, Owen B. Moore, E. S. Bailey, F. T. Dellinger, Robert G. Richardson, LeRoy Thiem, Alphens Stafford, and George E. Barber.

each meet has been a credit to the school, beating teams from such states as Wisconsin and other large dairy states. This year a creditable team is to represent State.

The men making the trip are T. C. Andrews, Mount Gilead; E. V. Vestal, Ore Hill; C. E. Craver, Welcome, and J. C. Cathey, Charlotte. Professor F. M. Haig is to accompany the team as supervisor. Selections for the team were made by the heads of the department on the merits of scholarship and the ability to judge, all men specializing in this kind of work being eligible.

"The intercollegiate dairy judging contests have always been one of the important features of the National Dairy Exposition," Prof. Haig said. "Last year 32 college teams from the United States and Canada competed for the cups and prizes offered. The teams from State College have always given creditable accounts of themselves in these contests, and this year we expect the boys to take one of the high places."

The exposition is featured by the showing of about a thousand head of the finest cattle in America, with exhibits of every phase of dairy husbandry.

J. Stitt Wilson Will Come to State Campus Early In December

same stories over or some of the same thoughts. He always seems to be bubbling over with new things."

He is a man of wide reputation and great success in the world of religion and worldly affairs. The men who procure him believe that it is one of the great opportunities of the college men in coming in contact with such a great philosopher, minister of the gospel, leader of men, and a man with such a personality as is rarely found.

This is one of the many things the "Y" does for the students each year. Each year the program of speakers is outlined and new and outstanding men obtained for the lectures to the students on the questions that are of most importance to them.

All the speakers are well pleased with the hearing they get from the State College students, and the interest that is taken by them in the problems of life.

Dr. Seely remarked that he had traveled throughout many states in making his speeches to students in many different colleges, but that in all these travels and in the making of many hundreds of speeches he had never run across any school that showed as much interest in his lectures as did the students of State College.

J. Stitt Wilson was much pleased both the last year he was here and the year preceding, with the hearing he received and with the way in which both upperclassmen and freshmen came to hear his talks.

Though Dr. Seely's lectures were of a type that would attract attention among any group of students, it is believed that Mr. Wilson's speeches will make just as good an impression on the first-year men. The upperclassmen have all heard him and know what he is. Many of them will return again this year to get that inspiration and enthusiasm that he seems to transfer from his abundant supply to his listeners, as few men can do from the public speaking platform.

ers by having their dads see them perform.

The freshmen will pull off several stunts at the game for the benefit of the spectators, and especially their dads.

One of the features will be forming in letters on the field, in white shirts, to spell out the words "Dad's Day." After this there will be several comedy acts and special stunts performed.

The Golden Chain, in order fully to carry out this program, has selected several men from the outstanding members of the junior class to aid in carrying out the program as parts of different committees. Members of the Golden Chain will be chairman of these committees.

The committees that will function chiefly at this game and during Dad's Day are those on pep meetings and on publicity.

Other committees appointed which will be expected to function during Homecoming Day, November 3, at the Carolina game, are fraternity decoration committee, field decoration committee, and alumni committee. Prizes will be offered again this year as they were last year during Homecoming Day for the best decorated fraternity house.

Following is the letter sent to fathers of students at this institution: "To the Dads of Students of N. C. State College:

"It has been the custom for several years past to set aside a day during the fall as 'Dad's Day.' This year the event will be celebrated on Thursday, October 18.

"The object of the celebration is to get the 'dads' to visit the campus, spend the day with their sons and their friends, look over the grounds and buildings, and get a glimpse of the daily life of the student body.

"On this day one of the big football games of the season will be played. Wake Forest opposing the 'Wolfpack,' present state champions.

"The entire student body extends to you and the rest of your family a most cordial invitation to spend the day with them. Everything possible will be done to make it an enjoyable occasion.

"If you plan to come, have your son reserve a seat for you at the game. There will be a big crowd and this should be done at once.

"Cordially yours,

He went into detail of the organization of the societies. They, he said, are purely student organizations. The professors have nothing to do with it except in an advisory capacity.

College freshman to come out to the first meetings of these societies, on the second floor of the Y. M. C. A., on Friday night, October 12, at 6:30, and join one of them.

Following Professor Cunningham's interesting talk, J. E. Moore, president of the Y. M. C. A. at State College, thanked the freshmen for their financial support of the organization. Mr. Moore heartily endorsed Professor Cunningham's statements regarding the advantages of the societies.

At the closing of the period, Dean

Cloyd said that Dixon Poole, Jr., the freshman who was shot last Wednesday evening, is getting along fine. He said that young Poole would recover his eyesight. Dean Cloyd also told the students not to think hard of Hoover, the negro who did the shooting. Even though he made a great mistake, the negro was guarding property, and did what he thought was his duty. He further stated that he was sorry for both the negro and Mr. Miller, because back of both of them is a higher authority.

Honor Mrs. E. C. Brooks, Jr.

One of the most brilliant social affairs of the fall season was given yesterday afternoon when Mrs. E. C. Brooks and Miss Sarah Brooks honored Mrs. E. C. Brooks, Jr., with a tea in the new home of the president, on the State College campus.

The spacious home was a-bloom with colorful flowers, the color scheme of pink and white predominating.

Receiving at the front door were Mrs. Greaves-Walker and Mrs. A. S. Brower. Mrs. C. L. Mann introduced the guests to the receiving line in the living-room, which was composed of McLean, Mrs. E. C. Brooks, Jr., Miss Mrs. E. C. Brooks, Sr., Mrs. Angus W. Sarah Brooks, Mrs. A. P. Harkness, Mrs. R. P. Read, of Durham, and Mrs. Francis Callum, of Greensboro.

Mrs. Brooks was handsomely gowned in black transparent velvet with shoulder corsage, and Mrs. E. C. Brooks, Jr., was becomingly gowned in pink chiffon with shoulder corsage, while Miss Sarah Brooks wore a white beaded dress with shoulder corsage.

The second receiving line was formed in the dining-room, and was composed of the following young matrons and girls: Mrs. Charles H. Stephenson, Jr., Mrs. George Lyon, Durham; Misses Landrum Norris, Margaret Roney, Margaret Hobgood, Durham; Lela Callum, Greensboro, and Mrs. Laura Duncan, Pearson.

The following young ladies served delicious refreshments in the dining-room: Lula Stockard, Annie Laurie Manning, Sara Hamilton Phillips, Helen Barclay, and Mrs. G. Howard Satterfield.

Others from Greensboro, Durham, and Raleigh received and helped in other parts of the home.

About five hundred guests called during the afternoon.

Pledge Dance

A dance will be given on Wednesday evening, October 17, at the Crozier-Busbee dancing studio, honoring the new pledges of the fraternities of State College.

The Tar Heel Boys, a ten-piece orchestra, will furnish the music. The Crozier-Busbee dancing studio has just been completed in the new building on Hillsboro Street, and is one of the best dance halls in Raleigh.

This dance will mark the climax of the entertainment of rushing season, as the fraternities celebrate the pledging of their freshmen.

Barbecue Supper

Chi Tau fraternity at State College entertained at Melton's barbecue stand in honor of a group of freshmen Friday evening.

A barbecue supper was served. Following the supper a theatre party was formed and all attended the State Theater.

Chi Tau Dance

Chi Tau fraternity at State College Thursday evening entertained a number of freshmen and young ladies with an informal dance at their house on Chamberlain Street.

Block ice cream and cakes was served. Chaperones for the occasion were Mrs. C. C. Early, Mrs. J. N. Mason, and Mrs. R. Galloway.

The following young ladies were present: Misses Davetta Levine, Rollie Torrence, Dell Foley, Eula Beth Warner, Arabella McGill, Dorothy Furr, Mary Lou Coffey, Sarah Busbee, Louise White, Katherine Morris, Anne White, Linda Rand, and Julia Andrews.

Pi Kappa Phi Tea Dance

Pi Kappa Phi fraternity entertained at a tea dance Monday afternoon from five to seven at their home on Hillsboro Street. Members of the fraternities, freshmen, and young ladies of Raleigh were the guests. Punch was served during the dance on the porch.

The following young ladies with their escorts were present: Miss Annie Laurie Underwood with Mr. Bill Garibaldi, Miss Mary Helen Keller with Mr. David Cox, Miss Margaret Crowder with Mr. Marvin Lancaster, Miss Adele Foley with Mr. Arthur Thomas, Miss Martha Galloway with Mr. Walter Clements, Miss Billie Freeman with Mr. Jimmy Summey, Miss Louise White with Mr. Duffey, Miss Anne Vaughn with Mr.

ALPHA ZETA OPENS YEAR AS HOSTS TO NEW MEN—120 FROSH IN AG SCHOOL

North Carolina chapter of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, began its activities for the year at State College, with a general meeting of members of the faculty of the agricultural school with the 120 freshmen taking courses in that department.

Members of the fraternity acted as hosts to the new men and a program of short addresses by the former and faculty members, presided over by W. P. Albright, student body president, was carried out in Ricks Hall.

Present members of the chapter include: W. P. Albright, Greensboro; P. I. Mast, Valle Crucis; N. O. Branson, Campbell, S. C.; E. V. Vestal, Mount Vernon Springs; A. D. Stuart, Hamer, S. C.; R. S. Dunham, Bladenboro, and J. W. Harrell, Gibsonville.

BAY STATE SENDS TEN MEN TO STATE COLLEGE, MOSTLY FROM BEDFORD

Ten students from the state of Massachusetts have registered at State College for the college year of 1928-29. The majority of these men from the Bay State come from the once world-famed "Whaling City" of New Bedford and its surrounding towns.

New Bedford is approximately eight hundred miles from the State College campus. One student, A. C. Smith, who is a graduate in biology, comes from the island of Martha's Vineyard, Mass., which is ten miles out at sea from Cape Cod. Two of the students, John H. White and F. A. Ryan, are from Brookline, and Revere, respectively.

The majority of these men negotiated the distance between their home towns and State College in "Collegiate Fords" and by "hitch-hiking," typical forms of transportation used by collegians.

The men registered who are from Massachusetts are:

Elwin Atwood, Bridgewater, (F.) ceramic engineering.
Anthony Furtado, New Bedford, (Soph.) electrical engineering.
Alec Redfern, New Bedford, (S.) chemical engineering.
Francis Tripp, New Bedford, (J.) chemical engineering.
G. L. Schofield, New Bedford, (J.) chemical engineering.
Fred R. Tripp, New Bedford, (J.) chemical engineering.
A. C. Smith, Vineyard Haven, (Grad.) biology.
J. H. White, Brookline, (F.) business administration.
F. A. Ryan, Revere, (Grad.) poultry.
O. J. Mullaney, Hyannis, (J.) textile dyeing.
Prof. Albert H. Grimshaw of the dyeing department of the textile school is formerly of New Bedford.

$954 RESULTS FROM THE RECENT CANVASS AMONG STUDENTS FOR 'Y' AID

Recent canvass of the dormitories by those men interested in the Y. M. C. A. work brought the figure of contributions from the students up to $954.

In addition to this there is 231 of pledges that were procured by those who helped to make the canvass. These pledges were mostly promises to pay the "Y" a certain amount this fall. A few could not promise to pay anything before the beginning of the second term.

Many students could not be found in the rooms, so the canvass is not complete as yet, and the treasurer has hopes of many more contributions and pledges before it is finished. The budget calls for $1,960 from student contributions, so it is apparent that there is still work to be done and help to be secured from those students who have not contributed.

The faculty campaign is progressing nicely, and many of them are out working on the others who are helping in this way. With the spirit that is shown by the great majority of instructors and deans on the campus, great hopes are held that they will go over the top 100 per cent.

T. A. Grant, treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. this year, states that he wishes to express his appreciation to those giving their support as they have. All the leaders of the "Y" gave a hearty "Amen" to this statement, and expressed their belief that the students this year are giving it better support in every way than any student body before has ever done.

CHEMISTRY CLUB FORMED WITH RUGGLES CHOSEN AS PRESIDENT THIS YEAR

Formation of a chemistry club as the outcome of increased interest in the subject among State College students has just been perfected, with the election of A. C. Ruggles, of Southern Pines, as president; E. H. Harwood, of Winston-Salem, vice-president, and G. N. Owen, of Parkersburg, secretary and treasurer.

The organization's officers said today that they would seek to bring together all students of science at the college into one large club, with the view that they may broaden their knowledge of chemistry and its possibilities, prepare papers for readings, and bring the members into closer contact with one another.

Faculty members in the chemistry department of the college are backing the movement.

GREAVES-WALKER CHAIRMAN

A. F. Greaves-Walker, professor with the department of ceramic engineering at North Carolina State College, received notice today of his appointment as chairman of the research committee on periodic kilns of the National Brick Manufacturers Association, the oldest organization in the world devoted to the technical development of clay industries.

Prof. Greaves-Walker is considered an internationally known authority on ceramic kiln design and construction. The appointment was given him as a recognized leader in this field of ceramic engineering in the United States.

SOILS SCIENCE CLUB FORMED BECAUSE OF INTEREST IN SUBJECT

Interest in the study of soil problems has increased rapidly since Dr. W. B. Cobb took charge of soil teaching on the campus in the fall of 1924.

This interest resulted in the organization of a Soils Science club, when a number of students specializing in taking special work in soils met with Dr. Cobb on Wednesday evening, October 10.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. W. B. Cobb, and J. R. Herman was elected president, with Joseph Williams secretary.

The charter members are: Dr. W. B. Cobb, W. J. Nuckolls, Jr., J. R. Herman, Joseph Williams, J. F. Lutz, R. B. Wooten, Wm. Gettys, A. H. Simerson, E. H. Floyd, E. F. Gooding, H. H. Jobe, W. V. C. Evans, J. H. Swains, —McCrory, E. F. Goldston.

A committee consisting of three seniors, E. F. Goldston, Wm. Gettys, and R. S. Wooten, with Dr. Cobb to act as adviser, was appointed to write a constitution and by-laws for the club, which will be passed on and adopted at the next meeting.

The organization of a club of this nature is due entirely to the ardent efforts of Dr. Cobb, who is one of the nation's best informed men on soil problems.

Harvard Changes

Boston.—(IP)—The "Gold Coast" of tradition in the past was a row of Harvard dormitories, privately owned, luxuriously equipped and occupied by students who had nothing to worry about in the payment of their bills.

The Gold Coast now in the news is a straggling group of ugly buildings almost on the border line between Cambridge and Somerville, which derives its title from the profits of the bootlegging industry.

What Shakespeare says about Coca-Cola

"Halloo your name to the reverberate hills, and make the babbling gossip of the air cry out"

The Bard of Avon gave much good advice. And this piece certainly has been followed by Coca-Cola:

The drink you read about. And the little red sign brightens the streets and corners of cities and towns everywhere, its name more familiar than the names of the streets themselves.
