WILLIS CASEY
Tournament Manager

The home of the 1953 Dixie Classic is the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum, which was opened to the public for the first time when State met Washington and Lee on December 2, 1949.

The building, which was erected at a cost of more than three million dollars, contains more than 30 offices and many square feet of storage space in the tremendous basement, plus an arena with a seating capacity of more than 12,000 persons.

Construction of the huge building was begun in 1942 and the structural steel was completed in the fall of 1943. World War II prevented the completion of the structure and all work was halted in September, 1943. Not until September, 1948, was authorization received to begin again on the building.

The building is one of the largest in the South. It is 371 feet long and 180 feet wide and the inside arena's dimensions are 312 feet by 108 feet. Approximately 8,000 comfortable chair-type seats are located upstairs. The lower-level seats include 3,000 graduated stand end seats and 1,00 permanent chair seats on the sidelines.

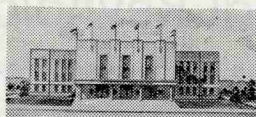

The building has six separate entrances, two on each side and in the front and rear of the structure. Four ticket booths, providing space for eight sellers are located in the front entrance.

The Coliseum will be the site of the Dixie Basketball Classic December 28-29-30.

Besides athletic events, the building is utilized for such other activities as agricultural meetings, industrial gatherings, livestock exhibitions, farm machinery shows, student meetings and large State-wide gatherings.

The Coliseum is under the management of W. Z. Betts of Raleigh former Director of Purchasing and Contracting for the State of North Carolina.

An estimated 260,000 persons saw basketball in the Coliseum last year with approximately 58,000 on hand for the Dixie Classic. The Coliseum holds the distinction of being the only on-the-campus building in the nation to attract such a large number of persons for basketball in a single season.

Dixie Classic

TOURNAMENT SIDELIGHTS

By ED STOREY, Publicity Director

This is the 5th annual Dixie Classic tournament and it bids fair to be the most unpredictable of any of these of the past. N. C. State's record of having won all of previous events, appears in jeopardy, to say the least. Seton Hall, Tulane, Oregon State and Navy present perhaps the strongest intersectional field ever to enter the tournament and the Big Four teams of Duke, North Carolina, Wake Forest and State are rated more evenly matched than ever before.

The list of intersectional participants in the Dixie Classic includes many fine institutions, Cornell, Colgate, Penn State, Brigham Young, Georgia Tech, West Virginia, Southern California, Rhode Island University, Princeton, Holy Cross, Pennsylvania and Tulane and Navy who return this year. Each has been high in praise of the Classic and the fine Southern hospitality extended by fans and officials alike. It is indeed a privilege to add both Oregon State and Seton Hall this year to the long list of fine teams.

Each year the writers and broadcasters present at the tournament along with the coaches select the tournament all-star team and the most valuable player award. Past most valuable selections have been: Dick Dickey, N. C. State, 1949—Sam Ranzino, N. C. State, 1950—Lee Terrill, N. C. State, 1951 and Ernie Beck, Pennsylvania, 1952.

The past all-tournament teams read like this: 1949—Dick Dickey and Sam Ranzino, N. C. State, forwards, Paul Horvath, N. C. State, center and Joe Tocci, Penn State and Johnny Mitchell, Rhode Island at the guards. 1950—Sam Ranzino, N. C. State and Dick Groat, Duke, forwards, Paul Horvath, N. C. State center, Dave Alton of Colgate and Joe Fitzpatrick of Navy, guards, 1951—Bobby Speight of N. C. State and Johnny Clume of Navy, forwards, Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest, center and Dick Groat, Duke and Lee Terrill, N. C. State, guards, 1952—Togo Palazzi, Holy Cross and Ernie Beck, Pennsylvania, forwards, Bobby Speight, N. C. State, center, Dickie Hemric, Wake Forest and Jack Richey, Brigham Young, guards.

On this page and on the opposite page you'll find the Dixie Classic and Coliseum records that the eight teams will be shooting at in this year's tournament. Some of the marks are mighty impressive and will be hard to top, but these teams are good and may exceed some existing marks.
