COL. JOHN W. HARRELSON Dean of Administration, N. C. State

About twenty-five years ago there graduated from State College a young man who ranked high in his class and who held the admiration and esteem of his fellow classmates. Just a little over one year ago, trustees of the Greater University met to name a dean of administration at State College to succeed Dr. E. C. Brooks, resigned because of ill health. After careful consideration the trustees selected the young man, who had graduated 25 years ago, to fill the place left vacant by Dr. Brooks. The new administrative dean, Colonel John William Harrelson, had ideas as to how this institution could be made a more desirable place, and he set about in a quiet way to carry out his plans. Almost immediately, the effects of his innovations were felt. Freshmen were segregated, a student-activities building was set aside, a higher standard was instituted, and many campus improvements were ordered. More mature than the 1909 graduate, but still youthful in appearance, Colonel Harrelson has not ceased his tireless efforts to make State College a school to which the people of the State of North Carolina can point with pride.

TONIGHT'S GAME

The game tonight brings Wake Forest and State College together for the 28th time on the football field.

The schools first met in a football battle back in 1908 and with the exception of 1909, have met every year since.

In fact, the State-Wake Forest game is one of the oldest annual football attractions in the State.

A glance at scores of the past games show that State was the winner on 19 occasions. Wake Forest came out ahead six times, and two games resulted in ties scoreless battles.

If the game chart is studied more closely it will be noted that Wake Forest has shone best since 1929. State defeated Wake Forest 8-6 in 1929 and has not won a game since.

The two scoreless battles came in 1932 and 1933. Last year, State was doped to beat the Deacons, but with Walton Kitchin throwing passes left and right, the men from Wake Forest marched up the field and scored the winning touchdown with a second left to play.

This same Kitchin is back again this year. It is said that he has a bad arm and may not get in tonight's game. If he is held on the bench, fans here tonight will miss seeing one of North Carolina's best passers.

Should Kitchin be called on tonight, the game is likely to turn into a real passing duel as State has in Cowboy Robinson and Joe Schwerdt, sophomores, passers who some believe can match Kitchin's skill.

State is favored tonight. It also was favored in 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, and 1934. Yet, the Deacons got the better of the argument each year.

The Deacons have been pointing for tonight's game and whether Kitchin gets in or not, State will have to play better ball than it did against Davidson or South Carolina to win.

Wake Forest is stronger this year than in 1934 and faired better against Carolina, Duke, and Clemson than any other teams to face these powerful machines this year.

Coach Anderson sees the game as a toss-up and Hunk is pretty good at guessing 'em

> It will be the first home game this season for State and also the first varsity game played in Riddiek Stadium since the completion of the new west stands.

> There will be lots of folks here tonight to see Cowboy Robinson and Eddie Berlinski, State's two sensational sophomore backs, in action. These youngsters have not been disappointing thus far this season although Davidson and South Carolina sought to cover them.

> But, Robinson and Berlinski are not the only players on the State club. Joe Ryneska appears to be the best fullback in the State and Joe Schwerdt and Charlie Gadd are working nicely as the quarterbacks. Jake Mahoney, Howard Bardes and Eddie Entwistle are three other backs who are playing brilliantly.

State's line lists any number of stars. Heading the list is Steve Sabol, rated as one of the nation's best centers, and Captain Barnes Worth, right guard.

Bert Shore, left end, and Captain Perk Reinhardt, center, are the leading Deacon linemen.

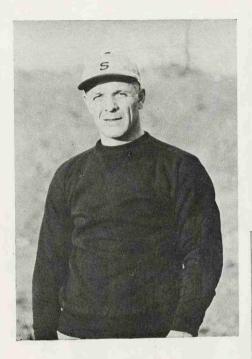

Scores of the past 27 games are:

THE "GREATS" OF 1925

WASHINGTON POLISHED OFF CALIFORNIA, AFTER THE BEARS HAD GONE FIVE YEARS WITHOUT A DEFEAT.

TEN SEASONS AGO 1925 FOOTBALL

Ten brief seasons ago, in the middle of what is now known as the Stadium Building Era, we talked about:

How a great Alabama team defeated a great Washington team 20 to 19 in the Rose Bowl game of January 1, 1926.

And it was argued that, perhaps, after all, Dartmouth was greater than Alabama and Tulane, co-champions of the South; or than Michigan in the mid-West, or than Washington in the West. You may remember that the Hanoverians won every game on their schedule, although some were so critical as to say that their schedule might have been a lot tougher than it was, and those who make a specialty of mythical titles named them national champions.

Fielding H. "Hurry Up" Yost called his Michigan team of '25 the "greatest team I have ever seen in action." Remember that Mr. Yost coached point-a-minute teams at the beginning of the century, when you read that quotation. Michigan was defeated 3 to 2 by Northwestern on a quagmire field, and Northwestern later officially declared that had the game been played under favorable conditions, Michigan would have won in a walk. Accordingly, Northwestern conceded the league leadership to the Wolverines. Sporting, what?

The Wolverines had Benny Friedman, Oosterbaan and a number of others whose fame still lives.

On the Pacific Coast California's long reign was broken in 1925, first by the Olympic Club and, later, by the University of Washington, the team which was the last to win from the Bears before their "five years without a defeat" era began.

Walter Camp, the "Father of American Football," originator of the plan of naming All-American teams, and chairman of the football rules committee, died March 14, 1925, while attending the annual session of the rules committee. Andrew Latham "Andy" Smith, of California, one of the greatest coaches the game has known, died at the close of the season, in Philadelphia.

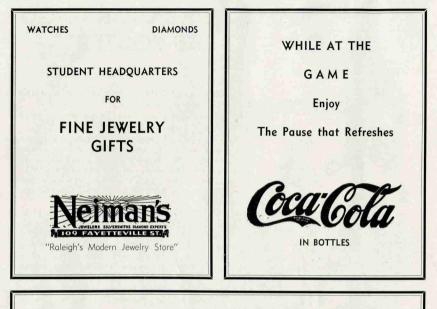

The rules in 1925 for the first time definitely prohibited clipping. There were other less important revisions, and at the end of the season was introduced the five-yard penalty for more than one incompleted pass in a series of downs, a rule which was modified in 1934.

Some of the players we talked about: Morley Drury, of U. S. C.; "Red" Grange, of Illinois; Benny Friedman, of Michigan; George Wilson and Elmer Tesreau, of Washington; Ernie Nevers, of Stanford; Andrew Oberlander, of Dartmouth, and others.

The temporary decline of Notre Dame, after a great 1924 season with the "Four Horsemen," was a topic of national interest. Page 10

AMONG THE STARS

State's linemen, led by Captain Barnes Worth, right guard, and Steve Sabol, all-Southern center, played one of the best defensive games against

Riddick Field

South Carolina last week at Columbia ever turned in by a State College team.

The Gamecocks were unable to make a single first down from scrimmage or by passes. At the end of the game, the Teeh forwards had set them back for a total loss of 37 yards.

SABOL

It would be difficult to pick out the outstanding men of this brilliant defensive battle. The starting men—Mac Cara, Carl

Goode, Alex Regdon, Sabol, Worth, E. V. Helms, and Jess Tatum—and those who served in relief rolls—Mac Berry, Carroll Conrad, Roger Mass, Vince Farrar, Mason Bugg, Herb Kirsehner, Cecil Brownie, Dan Piloseno, and Odell Smothers—played unusually fine ball.

On offense, Eddie Berlinski and Joe Ryneska looked best as runners with Cowboy Robinson shining with his passing and kicking. The Cowboy also did his share of lugging the ball. Charlie Gadd returned punts nicely and caugh two passes, one resulting in a touchdown.

E.BERLINSKI

Eddie Entwistle got off a 75 yard punt—believed to be the longest kieked in the Southern Conference this year—and Jake Mahoney made a wonderful interception of a Gameeock pass. Howard Bardes turned in a feature play in breaking up one particular Gamecock pass.

NESKA

E. V. Helms also should be mentioned for his extra-point kicking.

Joe Schwerdt, starting quarterback, was running the team nicely until knocked on the head and had to go out of the game. Schwerdt's quarterbacking against Davidson two weeks ago was said to be a perfect example of fine quarterbacking.

State seems headed for a good year if the stars continue to shine.

OFFICIALS' SIGNALS

WHEN THE umpire jerks his thumb back over his shoulder, you know that the runner is out. That baseball signal is probably the most familiar gesture in sport.

But do you know the football signals? Probably not, because they are, as far as spectators are concerned, comparatively new. Study them as they are sketched in the accompanying panel, and they will increase your enjoyment of the game. The signals illustrated here are the most commonly accepted signals now in use.

FIG. 1—Pushing movement of hands to front, with arms hanging downward: Signal for penalty for crawling, pushing or helping the ball-carrier.

FIG. 2—Hands on hips: Signals penalty for offside or for illegal kick-off formation.

FIG. 3—Grasping of one wrist: Signals penalty for holding.

FIG. 4—Military salute: Indicates penalty for unnecessary roughness.

FIG. 5—Shifting of hands in horizontal plane: Signals penalty has been refused, an incomplete pass, missed goal, or that the play is to be re-played.

FIG. 6—Both arms extended above head: A score; if the palms of the hands are brought together, a safety is indicated. If the hands are shifted in a vertical plane above the head; time out.

FIG. 7-Folded arms: Flying block or tackle.

FIG. 8-Waving hand behind back: Signals penalty for illegal forward pass.

FIG. 9-Horizontal arc of either hand: Signals player illegally in motion.

FIG. 10—Pushing hands forward from shoulders with hands vertical: Signals penalty for interference with forward pass, also a pass which touches a player ineligible to receive it.

New Rule

A runner who is on his feet, even though he be held by an apponent may run, pass, or kick until the whistle is blown.

BY KENNETH PRIESTLEY

A football season without new football rules is like apple pie without cheese, beer without pretzels or hot dogs without plenty of mustard, but here one is and there's nothing to argue about, unless it's the rules already in the book.

After a period of tinkering which began in 1929 with the famous "fumble rule" and ended last year with the changing of the dimensions of the ball, the Rules Committee last winter met, decided football was a pretty good game as played in 1934, made a few minor changes, and dispersed, receiving the congratulations of players, coaches and spectators.

What they did can be stated briefly. The most important alteration merely qualifies the so-called "dead ball" rule, making it permissible for a runner who is on his feet but held by an opponent, to run (if he can), or to pass or kick until the whistle is blown. That means that your favorite halfback has a little more chance to break away from a losse tackle, whereas under the former rule, the whistle ϵ ould and would be tootled as soon as his forward progress ceased.

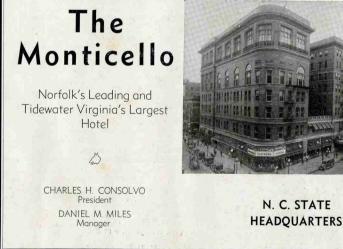

The committee didn't say so, but it was evidently their hope that officials wouldn't be quite so quic's with the whistle.

The other changes: Clarification of the rule governing the interchange of positions by linemen and backs by defining the positions of the center, guards and tackles as those occupied by those players when they originally enter the game. The rule by which fouls committed by both teams offset each other now includes one exception: "Should a punted ball be illegally downed and then there be a personal foul by the opponents, the kicking team may refuse the offsetting penalty. In such case the ball belongs to the receiving team at the spot where it was touched."

Now that you know all about the new rules, let's 'enjoy the game!

PINE AND THISTLE WHITE HEATHER Flora Macdonald College in its new "bib and tucker" is additional evidence of the upto-date service of this company and the diligence of the management of the Wolfpack Gridiron.

The four-color cover and the new type faces mark the beginning of the fourth successive year this magazine has been produced in our plant —four years of continued improvement and pleasant relations.

> This may be the reason we list on the left such an imposing number of publishers who find expression of their exacting requirements in our service and facilities.
