THE WOLFPACK MEETS RICHMOND

ANOTHER season rolls around with the Wolfpack and the Spiders of the University of Richmond starting off the Southern Conference warfare with what stacks up as one of the best games of the season. . . . You remember these Spiders who last year made the headlines with their victory over the University of North Carolina. . . . They haven't played State in a regular game since 1935, but they are not strangers to Riddick Stadium. . . . A couple of years ago they came down for a practice contest which ended the winter workouts. . . . That affair ended in a tie. . . .

State and Richmond have met eight times since 1902. . . . Seven of those meetings resulted in victories for the 'Pack. . . . The other, in 1906, was a scoreless tie. . . . But the fortunes of the Spiders have been on the upgrade since '34 when Glenn Thistlethwaite took over as head coach. . . . Only nine points have been scored against State in those eight engagements, but that total may be more than doubled today since the Spiders present a squad which includes eight lettermen ball carriers. . . .

Doc Newton, beginning his fifth year as head coach, offers another colorful combination which has 23 lettermen available. . . . Co-Captains Cutie Carter at center and Bob Cathey at blocking back head the veterans. . . . The other monogram winners are Hoot Gibson, Frank Owens, Marion Stilwell, and Phil Avery, ends; Pete Boltrek and Woody Jones, tackles; Dink Caton, John Barr, and Mac Williams, guards; Jimmy Allen and Norm Wiggin, centers; and Doug Dickerson, Dud Robbins, Dick Watts, Foy Clark, Jack Huckabee, Reuben Morgan, Earl Stewart, Peanut Doak, Cecil Fry, and Sonny Gilbert, backs. . . .

Richmond is the first in a long line of strong opponents which will be faced by the Wolfpack this fall. . . . For 11 successive Saturdays State goes into football competition against the best this part of Dixie can offer. . . . After the Spiders come Davidson, Clemson, Furman, Wake Forest, Newberry, Carolina, Virginia Tech, Georgetown, Duke, and William and Mary. . . . No wonder Coach Newton and his capable helpers, Herman Hickman and Babe Wood, lost no time in getting the squad off to a fast start. . . . The boys have been working unusually hard so far. . . . They have to work hard from now until December to tackle a schedule like that. . . .

It's far too early to make any predictions about the Wolfpack. . . . The coaches feel that the team should be a little better than the 1940 outfit which won three out of nine but which came so close to getting wins over Carolina and Wake Forest. . . . The rules changes may help some, but at the same time they may work to better advantage for the opponents. . . . The kicking game for the 'Pack should be improved which will be a big help. . . .

Next week it's Davidson in Greensboro in another night contest. . . . The Wildcats are said to be better than at any time in recent years. . . . They are out for revenge. . . . The game may be one of the toughest of the season for State. . . . Davidson has reserves this year and may be able to hold up in the second half. . . . Last year in the first two periods they outplayed such clubs as Carolina and Duke. . . .

After Davidson it's Clemson in Charlotte in an afternoon scrap on October 4. . . . The Bengals are bigger and better than ever, but the contest should be a good one. . . .

Tonight, though, the season starts. . . . The 'Pack and the Spiders get the ball rolling. . . . It looks like another great year for football. . . . Remember the schedule—especially those home games. . . .

Touchdowns and winning scores depend immeasurably on the keen sight as well as the training and ability of the players. So, eyes need the protection of PROPER LIGHT during reading and study hours—and that's true, not only of athletes but of all of us.

ELECTRIC DEALERS are always glad to demonstrate Sight-Saving Lamps without obligation. Many designs are very moderately priced.

THE NEW RULES

By EDDIE DOOLEY

THE FOOTBALL rule changes this year, like a crème de menthe frappé, are short and sweet. They are easy to remember, and while apparently insignificant, will have marked effect on the game. Usually when changes are made in the mandates covering the game, there is quite a howl from coaches whose pet ideas are not part of the innovations. This time, however, almost all the football mentors in the circuit put their stamp of approval on the work of the rules committee.

This year, a team can make as many substitutions as it wishes, and the same player may return to the game in the same period in which he was withdrawn. Off-hand, the conclusion might be that this provision will work an injustice on small teams who are short of reserves. Since they have not as many substitutes they cannot meet the influx of fresh players sent into the fray by the opposing team.

The fact of the matter is, small teams get a break by reason of this new rule. Formerly a player taken out of the game in one quarter could not go back into action in the same session. Not infrequently small teams playing elevens of size and affluence found themselves in the embarrassing predicament of being shorthanded. Having sent all their reserves in the final quarter, the coach had to sit by and watch his men take a terrific trimming even though they might scarcely have been able to stand up. But under the new arrangement, there can be more interchanges of players, and the natural result will be a constant supply of fresh men going into the game. The weary player can be relieved repeatedly.

Spectators who fear football will be ruined by too many substitutions must not forget that in close games, coaches are unwilling to send in substitutes without good reason. They believe it is poor policy to send a boy to do a man's work, and if the sub were as good as the regular, he would have started the game anyway. If the game is a rout — well, who wants to stay to see the finish?

The most important change is that which permits the ball to be handed forward to a player in the backfield. Many teams have had plays in recent years which flagrantly violated the rule prohibiting a forward pass from less than five yards back of the line of scrimmage. But officials were lax about calling infractions, and little was done about enforcing the rule.

Under the present mandate, a back can go ripping towards the line, and just before he ploughs through, he can hand the ball to a teammate going the other way. Formerly it was necessary to hand the ball laterally or backwards on such a play. Not now. Any lineman, provided he is a yard back of the line of scrimmage and facing his own goal line, may carry the ball when handed to him by a back. This does not mean that guards and tackles will be seen running around like backs. Having a lineman play as a back does not help much, and the chances are there will not be many plays involving linemen handling the ball.

Another important change has to do with the pass. Formerly a fourth down pass incomplete in the end zone resulted in a touchback. If team A was on the five yard line, and had an incomplete pass over the goal line, it meant the other team took the ball on the 20 yard line, — a loss of fifteen precious yards. Under the new rule, the incomplete pass in the end zone is regarded as any other play, and the defending team takes possession at the point where the last play started.

This will encourage passing into the end zone, especially on fourth down. It will throw a heavier burden on a team with its back to the wall, because it will not find itself in such a safe position as formerly, when a fourth down pass went bad in the end zone resulting in a touchback.

The other change has to do with a player of the kicking team illegally touching a ball inside the opponent's ten yard line. This was often done to avoid the ball rolling over for a touchback. Now the rules in such an instance say a touchback is automatically declared when a player touches the ball illegally in this ten yard zone. In other words, it's hands-off the ball when it's bouncing around near the goal line. And that means a break for the receiving team.
