THE GATOR BOWL

On New Year's Day 1946 a new era in top-notch sports events dawned on Jacksonville with the birth of the "GATOR BOWL," a football classic that has been the dream of Jacksonville citizenry for many years, and a project that is destined to quickly take its place as a stellar event of annual importance to the gridiron people of the nation.

The Gator Bowl is the outcome of the birth of an idea to give our city, community and the entire Southeastern section of the country an attraction each New Year's Day that will be second to none in the years to come.

The Gator Bowl came into being early in December 1945 when a small group of prominent and enthusiastic football-minded citizens met and decided to stage their first annual game on January 1, 1946. The idea spread like wild-fire and within ten days the "pioneers" were joined by a hundred more of their fellow citizens eager to help.

Officers were elected . . . press and radio were contacted . . . two great football machines were booked . . . tickets were sold . . . arrangements were made . . . and with the coming of the New Year the "baby" of all bowl games celebrated its birth with the Wake Forest "Deacons" defeating the University of South Carolina "Gamecocks" in a thrilling battle 26-14.

Ten thousand spectators thrilled to the spectacle that was highlighted by the half time appearance of the Jacksonville Naval Air Station band, and all were loud to acclaim the successful launching of the good ship "Gator Bowl."

Members of the Gator Bowl executive committee were invited to attend the Atlanta Touchdown Club Jamboree, and were publicly acclaimed for their efforts in staging the successful initial game.

A dream come true, arrangements were immediately started for the holding of the 1947 event. Additional sponsor memberships were made available to the public.

If you are a member of the Gator Bowl, we invite you to ask your friends to join; if you are not a member we invite you to join; membership application blanks are available at the Gator Bowl office, 311 West Duval Street, Jacksonville 2, Florida.

November 18, 1946

Mr. George G. Robinson, Executive Secretary
Gator Bowl Association
311 W. Duval Street
Jacksonville, Florida

Dear Mr. Robinson:

I am very glad that you are planning bigger things for the next Gator Bowl game and it is a pleasure for me to make a statement in regard to the first Gator Bowl game.

"It was a distinct honor and pleasure for the Wake Forest College football team to be selected as a participant in the first Gator Bowl game played at Jacksonville, Florida, on January 1, 1946. Our opponent was the University of South Carolina and we had a fine game with their team.

We found the officials of the Gator Bowl to be most cooperative in every respect. The traveling arrangements and the hotel accommodations were the best we have ever experienced. The people of Jacksonville were very hospitable to us and our team and coaches and supporters had a great time in Jacksonville.

We found Jacksonville to be easily accessible to people wishing to see the game by rail, air and highways; and we believe that this game will grow and prove to be one of the major attractions on New Year's Day. The Municipal stadium of Jacksonville is a fine place in which to play the game. The field was in splendid condition and the accommodations at the stadium were excellent. Our team enjoyed the sight-seeing tour and the dog races that we attended very much. The weather was ideal for football, and we found it to be about the same that we experienced during November in North Carolina.

I believe that the Gator Bowl has a great future and we would be glad to play in it at any time we were selected as one of the participating teams. I heartily recommend this bowl game to any college team without any reservations whatever."

With best wishes for continued success in all future Gator Bowl games, I am

Cordially yours,

D. C. WALKER
Football Coach

HERE is a truly great California wine. A wine of breeding, balance and delicacy— with the supreme quality of a classic. Its memorable bouquet is a tribute to the 100 years of wine making heritage behind each bottle.

HERE are few pleasures to equal the contentment and all's-right - with - the - world feeling that comes with serving Sea-Bo wines. It's the family's reward at the close of a busy day. Sea-Bo is always in harmony with just such moments of leisure and relaxation. Its full flavor, its delightful true-to-type character, its uniform quality are the crowning achievements of master vintners.

Wardlaw Says . . .

A young lady examined my handsome new Gator Bowl tie clasp the other day. "What position did you play?" she asked.

"Right tackle," I responded, but I didn't tell her that I played it for the Wellford-Lyman-Tucapau Consolidated High School in 1926.

Every time that I look down at my handsome gold 'Gator with the football on his back pleasant memories crowd to my mind—memories of New Year's Day in one of America's loveliest cities; of succulent steaks, symbolic of Jacksonville's hospitality; of dogs in full cry after "Rusty"; and of a darn good football game.

If folks who attend Gator Bowl games in the future have as good a time as did we who inaugurated it in 1946, the Bowl is assured of success. The Western Conference can have its roses, as far as I am concerned. I'll take those Jax Beach shrimp any time.

It was my privilege to represent the University of South Carolina in matters pertaining to public relations at the first Gator Bowl game, and to chaperon a group of South Carolina newspapermen—not that Winchell, Finnefrock and Baker wouldn't provide chaperonage enough for any occasion.

I am now a publicity director emeritus, but if the Gamecocks ever go to the Gator Bowl again, I'll come out of retirement and hobble along. I'm proud of my charter membership in the Gator Bowl Sportswriters Association, as proud as any sports writer could be. And besides I have some unfinished business with some dogs—and some shrimp.

Seriously, all of us who were connected with the University of South Carolina's participation in the Gator Bowl are among its most enthusiastic backers; we are exceedingly pleased that we had a part in launching it. We lost the game, but we put on a darn good show and nobody was too sad about it.

Football is a great game. There are many forces working for its destruction at present. But lovers of the game should have no worries about its future as long as games like the 1946 Gator Bowl can be played—games hard and clean, games characterized by real sportsmanship. May the Gator Bowl always stand for that kind of football.

We Are Glad To Help In This Great Work

To the People of Jacksonville and all Gator Bowl Fans

a bang-up game that will help it advance another great stride towards its lofty goal.

The brainchild of an enterprising group of men in this bustling, progressive city, the Gator Bowl game last season between the University of South Carolina and Wake Forest's Demon Deacons was a thriller. It was a fine beginning. Last year with only a couple of weeks to get ready they put on a masterful football show that considering the circumstances compared quite favorably with the great gridiron classics being staged throughout the nation that day. Their idea was to give Jacksonville something new and different in the sports line.

But this year's game will be bigger and better than last year's and next year's will surpass even the first two. People from all over the Southeast will flock here year after year in times to come. Why?

Well, it's truly a great pleasure to return to Jacksonville. All of us who came down from

If you good people see a little fellow from Charleston, S. C., who'll be wrapped around a big, brown Florida cigar, perched up in the press box at the second annual Gator Bowl game, January 1, 1947, drop around and ask him why he's in Jacksonville covering the event. He'll tell you something that goes like this—

Yes, I've returned to Jacksonville just as a martin to its gourd, to witness another great New Year's Day grid game, to enjoy this splendid city and to renew acquaintances with some grand folks.

You see, I came down here with the South Carolina team last January 1 to take a small part in inaugurating this Gator Bowl. I'm really delighted to be back and I expect to return for this classic year after year.

I'm back to see my friends Arnold Finnefrock, Charlie Baker, George Robinson and Frank Winchell, just to mention a few, and to see the Gator Bowl Association put on the Carolinas with the opposing teams were overwhelmed by the wonderful reception we received as visitors. The courtesy and consideration shown us by the friendly people of Jacksonville overpowered us. It is something we will never forget.

We were struck by its clean streets, fine hotels, beautiful homes, public buildings and churches, and its thriving up-to-date business establishments. We enjoyed its entertainment spots, scenic attractions and dog track but it was the people themselves who made us feel like a friend at home.

Jacksonville with its Gator Bowl is a city whose future as one of the South's greatest cities is unlimited.

I left last year with the hope of returning and now I'm back.

You know, Jacksonville's a great town. Its Gator Bowl is a great achievement that must grow and grow and grow.

Fanning With Finney

By Arnold Finnefrock
Times-Union Sports Editor

Although it was arranged on short notice — just three weeks before it was played to be exact — Jacksonville's first annual Gator Bowl football game last New Year's Day proved to be an artistic success and the financial loss incurred was negligible.

The contest, played in weather that was clear and cool, resulted in a 26-14 victory for the Wake Forest Deacons over the lighter but scrappy Gamecocks of the University of South Carolina.

Coach D. C. (Peahead) Walker's Demon Deacons, a pre-game 13-point favorite, scored in the first quarter but the Gamecocks, tutored last season by John McMillan, retaliated with a second period touchdown and converted the extra point to hold a 7-6 lead at half time.

Wake Forest's power told in the last half, however, the Deacons driving 79 yards for a tally in the first four minutes of play, Fullback Richard (Rock) Brinkley plunging over from the two-yard stripe.

The Deacons added two more touchdowns in the last period but the plucky Gamecocks had one more thrill reserved for the approximately 10,000 spectators, Charley (Dutch) Brems, speedy halfback from Pompton Plains, N. J., intercepting a pass by Herb Appenzoller, and racing 90 yards for his team's second marker.

Brems placekicked the extra point just as he had done after Fullback Bobby Giles had smashed over from the one-foot line to culminate an 80-yard advance for South Carolina's first touchdown.

Brinkley and Tailback Nick Sacrinty sparked the Wake Forest offensive that rolled up 396 yards and 24 first downs as compared to South Carolina's 157 yards and seven first downs.

The Deacons moved 36 yards for their initial tally, N. Sacrinty accounting for the last two yards.

It was Brinkley again who brought a successful finish to a Wake Forest march of 80 yards early in the fourth period. Dick Foreman, Deacon center, set up the last touchdown when he partially blocked when Giles' punt, Wake Forest getting possession of the oval on the Gamecocks' 25. On the next play, Wingback Bob Smathers went wide around left end for the counter.

Bo Sacrinty kicked the extra point after the last two Wake Forest Tallies.

To Charles Hilty and Ray McCarthy goes a full measure of the credit for originating the idea of a bowl game for Jacksonville.

Along with Maurice Cherry and W. C. Ivey, they underwrote last year's contest but the comparatively small indebtedness they incurred was taken over by the Gator Bowl Association when it was formed on a permanent basis as a non-profit organization.

In one brief year the Gator Bowl Association has grown to such proportions that it was able to present, in Oklahoma and N. C. State, two of the country's leading football teams for its second annual game today.

President W. E. (Ted) Arnold and the other officers of the association are deeply grateful for the support they have received and hope you'll obtain a full measure of enjoyment from today's contest between Beattie Feathers' Wolfpack and Jim Tatum's Sooners.

Unlike last year's game, which brought together two teams that were members of the same conference and had met each other during the regular season, today's affair matches up clubs with excellent records (Oklahoma 7-3 and N. C. State 8-2) from different sections of the country.

Best Wishes to the Gator Bowl

REX ENRIGHT,

Head Coach and Athletic Director
The University of South Carolina

As Jacksonville's Gator Bowl celebrates its first anniversary, it has no more sincere well-wishers than we of the University of South Carolina. We will always be proud that we had a part in launching this splendid undertaking, and we will take pride in your achievements.

Jacksonville is one of the nation's most beautiful and hospitable cities. It was my privilege, and that of my family to live here while I was attached to the Jacksonville Naval Air Station. We enjoyed every day of our stay, and when we come back to Jacksonville we feel as though we are coming home.

The Gator Bowl is predestined to success. The calibre of the men who are backing it, the attractions of the city itself, the whole-hearted way that Jacksonvillians have gotten behind this civic enterprise insure it against failure. I know that every team which goes to the Gator Bowl will leave its enthusiastic boosters.

The 1946 Gator Bowl game was a good game, certainly one of the best bowl contests in the nation. It was filled with brilliant running, with hard tackling and blocking, with spectacular passing, and it was characterized by as fine a level of sportsmanship as I have ever seen.

Wake Forest had the best team, the most powerful team, and the best team won. But the out-manned Gamecocks put up a fight which was quite in keeping with the symbolism of their name. They really gave the fans their money's worth.

Many sports writers have said that there are too many bowl games nowadays. Perhaps they are right. But the Gator Bowl is not one of those we can afford to do without. Keep it going! Keep it always dedicated to those high ideals of sportsmanship and pride in achievement which have made America great. You can't lose.

Some day we hope to come back to the Gator Bowl as participants. But until then we'll be on the sidelines cheering. There is a warm spot for you in every Gamecock heart.

State College Rolls Along!

The North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, having a physical plant of 47 buildings, reached approximately 11,000 persons annually in the pre-war years through its regular residence courses, extension classes, correspondence courses, and special short courses. More than 23,000 men and women were trained here for war work during World War II. The plant now has expanded to embrace 54 buildings, including two new dormitories under construction.

State College is one of the Land-Grant colleges established under the provisions of the Morrill Act, passed by Congress on June 2, 1892. The first session of the College was that of 1889-1890.

The name, the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, was used in the establishment of the institution, but the name was changed by the General Assembly in 1917 to its present form.

In its session of 1931, the General Assembly passed an act of which the following is the first section: That the University of North Carolina, the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, and the North Carolina College for Women are hereby consolidated and merged into 'the University of North Carolina'.

The State College Campus, embracing 125 acres, lies within the limits of Raleigh, the State Capital. The College is located a mile and a quarter west of the Capitol on Hillsboro Street and U. S. Highway No. 1. Adjoining the campus to the west are 456 additional acres including the College orchards, gardens, poultry plant and farms, and the Central State Agricultural Experiment Station.

The institution has acquired 1,387 more acres about one mile west of the campus. This tract of land is maintained as livestock farms by the Department of Animal Husbandry and Dairying.

State College has as its main purposes resident teaching, extension teaching, and research. Regarded as one of the leading technological institutions in the nation, State College is advancing the economic development and increasing the living standards of the people of North Carolina through technical education and research.

The College's main divisions include the School of Agriculture and Forestry, the School of Engineering, the School of Textiles, the Division of Teacher Education, the Graduate Division, the Basic Division, and the Summer School. The Department of Military Science and Tactics, providing ROTC training for the students, consistently has received an annual rating of "excellent" from the War Department.

The pre-war enrollment was 2,600. It now has sky-rocketed to 4,902, as an all time record.

The birthplace of Andrew Johnson, 17th president of the United States, is located on the campus.

Tough!

Getting by our friend here looks like a tough job even for a Blanchard.

Getting a house built these days is tough, too. For one thing, of course, there just aren't materials enough to go around. Some day — and it may be sooner than we've dared hope—Bond-Howell will again be able to offer home-builders an unlimited selection of top-grade lumber and building materials . . . the kind of selection you'd naturally expect of North Florida's largest lumber dealers.
