NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE

Chattanooga's Moccasins, winners of three games in five starts, provide Coach Beattie Feathers State College Wolfpack with the opposition tonight and though you may be expecting only a fair to mediocre ball game, let us assure you that there'll be plenty of action on the gridiron of Riddick Stadium.

Victors over Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, 12-0, Centenary, 20-0, and Dayton University of Ohio, 19-13, the Moccasins bring a fine team here tonight, which is rated by many experts as one of the better smaller college outfits in the nation.

The Mocs operate from the Notre Dame shift and display a colorful brand of hipper-dipper football. In case you aren't on your football the Notre Dame shift, dreamed up by the immortal Knute Rockne, is a variation on the T-formation. The Moccasins come out of the huddle, line up in the T, then with the first series of numbers called by the quarterback, they shift into the single-wing. The shift moves the quarterback over from behind center to a position directly between the strong side guard and tackle, with the wingback wide as usual in the single-wing. Simple, isn't it, or is it.

Chattanooga is coached by A. C. (Scrappy) Moore, a former University of Georgia quarterback. He's an old hand at this coaching business and a past master with the Notre Dame shift. You'll probably see a lot of thrilling football from the Moccasins, for they're as treacherous on the gridiron to their opponents as their name implies.

State seeks tonight to get back on the victory road from which they were so roughly brushed two weeks ago by a dogmatic band of Florida 'Gators and a swivel-hipped halfback named Bobby Forbes. Last week's open date in the schedule didn't do much to improve the much-injured Wolfpack, but there'll still be enough Red and White warriors on the field to give the visitors a rough time of it.

You'll witness a change over in the State backfield for the first time tonight. Fullback Leslie Palmer, who ranks as the fifth best punter in the nation, has been shifted to the tailback position to help out State's regular ball-carriers, Gwynn Fletcher and Charlie Richkus. At fullback its husky George Allen of Kings Mountain as the starter with John Huzvar, and Dick Johnson on hand as reserve strength.

Despite the loss to Florida, the Wolfpack still clings to one of the top spots in the nation as a defensive team. In four games against Duke, Clemson, Davidson and Florida, State has yielded an average of only 105.8 yards to opponents. This includes running and passing. State, too, has been impressive on pass defense and was rated the third best team in the nation after four games, having given up only 32.0 yards per game. State is the only team in the nation which has held the mighty Duke Blue Devils to less than 70-yards gained both running and passing.

You'll probably witness one of the most interesting punting duels ever exhibited in Riddick Stadium tonight. Chattanooga's Halfback Hartford Granitz holds a 42.3 yard mark for the season. He kicked a total of 273 yards from scrimmage in six tries against Tennessee for an average of 45.5 yards per try. State's Palmer has a 44-yard average for four games and against Duke Palmer booted for a neat 53-yard mark. When these two men lock up in a punting duel, you'll be seeing two of the best in the nation.

The next big date on State's schedule is Nov. 15 when the Wolfpack bangs heads with the highly-rated Wake Forest Deacon Deacons in this stadium. It's an afternoon affair with the kickoff set for 2 o'clock. Next week State is at Chapel Hill to face the University of North Carolina Tar Heels.

AFTER 58 YEARS

North Carolina State College, the center of technical education and research in the South, celebrated the 58th anniversary of its establishment on October 3, 1947, and rededicated itself to the ideals and principles of its founders.

Chancellor J. W. Harrelson, the present chief administrative officer of the institution, has led the College to its greatest period of usefulness. The College and its allied agencies reach many thousands of North Carolina citizens annually with its varied services in agriculture, engineering, teacher education, and textiles.

Establishment of the institution was due largely to the militant efforts of Col. Leonidas L. Polk, hard-hitting editor of The Progressive Farmer, the Watauga Club, and the provisions of the Morrill Act of 1862. From its humble beginning, the college has marched straight ahead to take a position of leadership among the institutions of technology in the United States.

The College has grown from its one building in 1889 to a physical plant valued in excess of $7,000,000 today, with a building program of over $6,000,000 now in progress. The enrollment has advanced from 72 students—who reported to President Alexander Q. Holladay during the first academic year—to over 5,000 today.

The teaching faculty has jumped from President Holladay's original staff of 20 to approximately 400 now.

During the pre-war years, State College reached about 11,000 persons annually through its regular residence courses, extension classes, correspondence courses, and special short courses. More than 23,000 men and women were trained at the college for war work during World War II.

Adjoining the campus to the west are 456 acres including the College orchards, gardens, poultry plant and farms, and the Central State Agricultural Experiment Station. About one mile west of the campus, the institution has acquired 1,300 acres which are maintained as livestock farms by the Department of Animal Husbandry and Dairying.

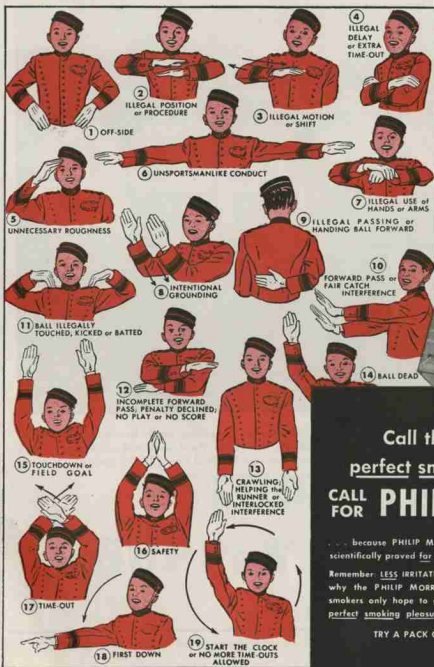

The College's main divisions include the School of Agriculture and Forestry, the School of Engineering, the School of Textiles, the Division of Teacher Education, the Graduate Division, the Basic Division, and the Summer School. The Department of Military Science and Tactics, providing ROTC training for the students, consistently has received an annual rating of "excellent" from the War Department.

Principal landmarks on the campus include Holladay Hall, the school's first building; the birthplace of Andrew Johnson, 17th president of the United States; Memorial Tower, impressive monument to the State College students who served in World War I; the home of the chancellor; Pullen Hall, named in honor of R. Stanhope Pullen, who donated the land for the original campus; a memorial to the 13 original colonies; and other sites of interest.

State College has more than 25,000 living alumni, many of whom are nationally known for their accomplishments in industry, science, military progress, agriculture, education, and political life.—Rudolph Pate.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN OF THE PROPOSED ALUMNI MEMORIAL BUILDING

To honor more than 6,000 State College boys who served in World War II, and in loving memory of more than 300 who made the supreme sacrifice, the alumni, faculty, and friends of State College propose to erect and finance by voluntary contributions a memorial in the form of a beautiful building. It is to be of fire-proof construction and will be located just south of Holladay Hall. The estimated cost is $400,000, of which $75,000 has been raised.

This is one of the specific projects that is being sponsored and promoted by the North Carolina State College Foundation, Inc., a corporation whose sole purpose is "to foster and promote the growth, progress, and general welfare of North Carolina State College.

Additional funds and pledges are needed in order that this building may soon be a reality.

Do you know?

Do you know...

who holds the field goal record?

Charley Brickley, one-man Harvard team (1911-1913), two time All-American, kicked 23 successful field goals in two seasons. In 1911 he made 11 good and 12 more in 1912. In the latter season, three were made against Princeton and two against Yale, Harvard's arch-rivals.

Do you know...

a 4 yard loss the biggest "gain"?

The "Ramblin' Wreck" of Georgia Tech in 1916 swamped tiny Cumberland U. by a score of 222 to 0. The best that C.U. could do against one of the great teams of that era was to hold one of their "losses" to 4 yards. In that game, the G.T. end scored 18 consecutive points after touchdown.

Do you know...

a U. S. president was a coach?

Woodrow Wilson, while a professor at Princeton in 1890, led his "Tearing Tigers" to a championship. Always a devotee of the game, as a part-time coach the late president coached his "Nassau" boys through a 14 won and 1 loss season.

Do you know the old scores?

On the Gridiron and on the Farm

'Extra Points' Pay Dividends

In football the 'extra point' is the one way of getting maximum results for each touchdown. It is often times the difference between Victory and defeat. On the farm the farmer may also assure himself of maximum results by using the extra points available in Open-Formula feeds and fertilizers.

FCX Open-Formulas are College approved and tested . . . they are the farmers guarantee of highest quality . . . they assure maximum results.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR THE EXTRA POINTS IN OPEN-FORMULA

THE CASE OF THE TWO BROTHERS

(LEM AND CLEM)

This is the most cockeyed story you have ever read. No one gets hurt, everybody loves everybody, and everybody has a good time.

You see, it's this way. The two brothers, Lem and Clem—the only difference between them is Lem's extra curl (count 'em), they both like football, particularly big-time football. Usually they go together.

This year Clem's gotta' stay home—we don't know why, he's just gotta'. But Clem has a good time anyway because he can hear Ray Reeve's play by play description of the big games over his own local radio station. We are sure Clem will be glad for you to pull up a chair and join him.

Sixteen Games

AN APPRECIATION

To the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, we acknowledge with grateful appreciation the support given this College through their Athletic Committee.

With the help of the citizens of Raleigh, Alumni and friends of State College, we hope to obtain much success in the future. In order to justify the continued support of our advertisers, we suggest that their stores be included in your next shopping tour. Upon visiting their places of business, simply say, "I saw your advertisement in the State College Football Program."
