Notes from The Wolfpackage

By ED STOREY, Director of Athletic Publicity

Ringing down the curtain on the home football schedule is today's contest between State and Florida State University. Neither team can boast any great record, but each is building for the future with young players, who're certain to make their mark before bidding adieu to their respective alma mater.

Football at Florida State is comparatively new as far as modern day records are concerned. The team fielded its first club in 1947 after a layoff of 31 years. From 1905 through 1946 the institution served as a college for women.

Since 1947, however, the Seminoles have done well. Coach Don Veller took over in 1948 and through 1951 won 88, lost 18 and tied 3, winning three Dixie Conference championships and playing in the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla., two years.

This season the Seminoles have a rebuilding job and have lost their three games to date with Louisiana Tech, Louisville and Virginia Military. Coach Veller's club, however, is improving steadily and should be ready to play its best game of the year today against the Wolfpack.

Several standouts you'll want to watch in the Seminole lineup today are End Curt Campbell and Tackle Vic Szczepanik, the co-captains and Tailback Roy Thompson and Fullback Stan Dobosz. They make the unbalanced single-wing attack a potent one.

Coach Horace Hendrickson is proud of his freshmen and sophomores who have stood up well under the pounding of some of the best teams in the South. These youngsters along with a handful of juniors and seniors have learned many lessons this year that will stand them in good stead as time goes on. They have given State followers hope for better gridiron teams in the future and the Wolfpack coaches feel that the outlook is good for years to come.

The installation of the split T formation is a task that cannot be accomplished in a few short weeks, which was the case here at State. Any coach will tell you that any new system, no matter what its style, requires time and patience. State followers must be willing to wait until next year before they can expect any results from the change over in style of play. The decisive beatings State has taken at the hands of George Washington, Georgia and Duke point up the need for more experience in the Wolfpack scheme of things. Offensively and defensively, more work is needed, but these things will come in time.

Today's game should be a real good scrap, because both teams are well coached and pretty evenly matched in manpower and experience. It is true that one team or the other might make the contest one-sided with a break or two, but on paper State and Florida State should play a fine game this afternoon.

A few of the Wolfpack players who're doing a fine job this year and will bear watching in the future include two freshmen tackles, C. M. Price of Prospect, Va., and Henry Spivey of Weldon, N. C. Both boys are used on both offense and defense and their progress has been a pleasing thing to the State coaches who believe these 18-year old youngsters will be two of the finest players ever turned out here in the years to come.

Others doing a great job include Sophomore Bob Paroli, who plays center on offense and tackle on defense, Senior Ends David Butler and Bob Dentz, two defensive stars who can hold their own with any players in the Southern Conference, Linebackers Harvey Yeates and Ray Barkouskie, a pair of seniors, playing their final home game this afternoon, and a dozen other excellent athletes who'll be out there giving their best. There isn't space here to mention them all, but they have done a good job and will get better as the season moves along.

From here until the end of the season State is on the road. Next week it's Wake Forest in Gore Stadium at Wake Forest, the following week to Lexington, Va., to face Washington and Lee and then to Pittsburgh to face those terrible Pitt Panthers. The wind-up is Nov. 22 at Williamsburg, Va., against William and Mary, then an open date and on Dec. 6 to Lubbock, Texas, to meet Texas Tech.

Meet . . .

The Florida State Head Coach DON A. VELLER

In three years as head football coach at Florida State University, Coach Don Veller has elevated the Seminoles from an all-losing season in 1947 to three straight Dixie Conference championships, an upset victory over Wofford College in Tampa's Shrine Cigar Bowl game of January 2, 1950, and an undefeated and untied season in the Fall of 1950 and to a 6-2 mark in 1951.

Three of Veller's teams at Elkhart won the Northern Indiana prep school football title competing with such well known schools as East Chicago, Hammond, Gary, South Bend and many others. Two of his Elkhart teams, in 1938 and 1941, were undefeated.

Coach Veller's first three teams at Florida State have all taken Dixie Conference titles, the Seminoles never having suffered defeat in Dixie Conference play. Veller's 1949 team defeated Wofford in the 1950 Tampa Shrine

Cigar Bowl and his 1950 eleven became the first white college team in the history of the state of Florida to finish a complete varsity schedule undefeated and untied.

Veller was born at Bicknell, Indiana, where he went through grade school and high school and became one of the town's all-time great prep school athletes. Don then entered Indiana University where he was a varsity performer for the Hoosiers in 1932, 1933 and 1934. Playing his final game for Indiana in 1934, Veller climaxed a brilliant three-year college career, and forever endeared himself to Indiana fans, by defeating arch rival Purdue with a twisting 82-yard touchdown run.

In recognition of his athletic ability while a student at Indiana Veller was awarded the Big Nine Medal (which is presented annually to one man in the Big Nine Conference based on scholastic and athletic proficiency); the Balfour Award (given annually to the athlete who brings "honor and distinction to Indiana University"); and the Chicago Tribune Award (given annually to the player selected "most valuable" by his teammates). Veller was also named to and played on the East team in the annual East-West Shrine game at San Francisco after the 1934 season.

Coach Veller also has a remarkable record academically, now holding four degrees which is believed to be a record among football mentors. He received the B.S. degree in 1935, the M.S. in 1938 and the director of physical education degree in 1947, all from Indiana University. Then on June 12, 1950, Veller was awarded the doctor of physical education degree at Indiana.

Veller served from 1942 through 1946 as an officer in the U. S. Air Force, being at one time chief of the information and education division for the Third Air Force. He advanced to the rank of Major before leaving the service.

The Veller coaching system is basically the single wing, to which he has added certain "cockeyed T" plays which his former coach, Bo McMillan, introduced with much success at Indiana, and many innovations of his own. One trait to be found in all Veller-coached teams is that they are sound in football fundamentals—blocking and tackling.

Coach Veller is married—his lovely wife's name is Frances—and he has no children.

C. A. (Tim) Temerario – End Coach

The appointment of C. A. (Tim) Temerario, former end coach and chief scout with the Cleveland Browns as football end coach and defensive coach at North Carolina State College was announced last April by Dr. H. A. Fisher, chairman of the college athletic council.

C. A. (TIM) TEMERARIO
End Coach
N. C. State

Temerario, a native of Lorraine, Ohio, has an extensive background in both collegiate and professional football circles. A graduate of Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pa., with a Bachelor of Science degree in Education, Temerario holds a Master's degree in Education from Indiana University and has completed a major portion of his work toward a doctorate in Physical Education.

Following his collegiate gridiron career at Geneva College and his graduation in 1931, Temerario played one season of professional football before entering the coaching ranks of East Liverpool, Ohio, High School. In 1934 Temerario accepted an appointment as freshman line coach at the University of Indiana and remained until 1938 when he moved to Denison University as football line coach and head baseball coach.

At Denison Temerario served as assistant professor of Physical Education and worked in both football and baseball. In 1941 Temerario left Denison to become a physical education instructor at Indiana University and football end coach under Coach Bo McMillian.

Temerario entered the Navy in 1942 and served in the V-5 program under Captain Tom Hamilton. His first assignment was at the Iowa Pre-Flight School at Iowa City, Iowa, where he worked with Bernie Bierman, former Minnesota coach as head of athletic department and assistant football coach.

During his Navy service Temerario saw overseas duty in both the Philippines and during the invasion of Normandy.

Temerario was released from the Navy in September of 1945 and immediately took over as head line coach at Indiana University. He remained at Indiana through 1947 when he joined Coach Bo McMillian in a move to the professional Detroit Lions. Temerario remained with the Lions through 1949 when he switched to the Cleveland Browns.

In his two seasons with the Cleveland Browns, Temerario gained a wide reputation for his ability as defensive coach.

Defensive Coach Beattie Feathers

Former Head Coach Beattie Feathers, who tutored Wolfpack teams from 1944 through 1951, has been retained on the current staff to guide the defensive destinies at State. He is certainly well-versed in this art, having produced teams which led the nation in defense in both 1946 and 1947.

In point of service Feathers is the oldest member of the State athletic staff. He came to West Raleigh in 1943 as assistant football coach to Williams (Doc) Newton and in 1944 was named head football coach. During his eight seasons as head coach his teams won 36, lost 37 and tied four.

A native of Bristol, Va., Feathers has a long career behind him as a player that includes 15 seasons in high school, college and professional football. He was an All-State fullback at Bristol, Va. before heading for the University of Tennessee where he became one of Coach Bob Neyland's all-time great stars. Feathers was selected All-America in 1933 and was rated one of the finest backfield stars ever turned out at the Volunteer institution, which is a consistent producer of stars.

BEATTIE FEATHERS
N. C. State

In 1934 Feathers moved into the professional ranks with the Chicago Bears and here he attained the height of achievement once again. In his freshman season in the play-for-pay ranks, Feathers led the league in the ground gaining department, personally accounting for 1,800 yards rushing, which stood for 13 years as the league record until it was broken by Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles in 1948. Feathers teamed with Fullback Bronco Nagurski as the one-two punch of the fabulous Chicago Bears, which won the pro title for five seasons while Feathers was a player.

Beattie saw seven seasons with the Bears and then wound up as a player with the Brooklyn Dodgers and Green Bay Packers. Injuries hampered him during his last season in the league. In 1940 Feathers moved into the coaching field with Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone, N. C. After two years as assistant he was made head coach.

Feathers should prove to be a great asset to the State staff this season. Head Coach Horace Hendrickson says, "I know of no one who can do a better job of setting up defenses than Beattie Feathers. He is highly respected among coaches throughout the Southern Conference and we are mighty happy that he is staying here to help with our squad."

ABOUT OUR SQUAD

We don't have room on this page for more than just a few of our squad or star programs and personalities. Of course, we've got plenty more—both big names and big shows.

We're not the most powerful station in the world—or even in Raleigh—in terms of watts. But we do have something—a very big something. That's listeners. At almost any given time of day, most of the radio dials in Raleigh will be tuned to our GC frequency.

We're not big. We're not overly-powerful. We're not fancy. But we manage to do a doggone good job of carrying the broadcasting ball.

We're the most popular station in Raleigh for news, for sports, for kids and mystery shows. And for morning and night music and variety shows.

We hope you enjoy today's game. We hope you'll tune us in next time you're in Raleigh. We hope you'll come up and pay us a visit. We think you'll like us, too.

Roy B. Clogston

ROY B. CLOGSTON
Athletic Director

After four years at the helm of N. C. State's athletic program, Roy Bennett Clogston has shown that he knows his way around. His popularity has grown by leaps and bounds and everywhere he has made additional friends for the school's athletic teams.

Taking over the reins at State on August 1, 1948 Clogston found many problems confronting the program, but with a systematic effort he set about the task of building Wolfpack teams and facilities to the point where today they are considered among the best in the Southern Conference.

Under Clogston's administration the huge William Neal Reynolds Coliseum was completed and readied for the 1949-50 basketball season. It was largely through his personal efforts that the first contest was staged in the structure on December 1, 1949.

Clogston has untiringly devoted his time to the progress of athletics at State. He has been instrumental in helping round out the schedule of intercollegiate contests for State teams and through his efforts a full-time tennis and soccer coach was added to the Wolfpack staff. Not only is Clogston vitally interested in the major sports on the campus, but he is a close follower of the so-called minor sports of swimming, track, tennis, golf, soccer and wrestling.

A graduate of Springfield College at Springfield, Mass., Clogston is a native of Ballston Lake, N. Y. He holds a degree in physical education from Springfield and a Master's degree in physical education from New York University.

Clogston's background in college athletics is extensive. For nearly 20 years he was director of athletics at St. Lawrence University at Canton, N. Y. and during his tenure there established St. Lawrence as one of the leading small colleges in national athletic circles. At St. Lawrence he served as head football coach as well as golf and wrestling mentor.

During World War II Clogston saw extensive service with the Navy. He served as administrative officer under Commander Tom Hamilton in the far-famed Hamilton-program which brought recreation facilities to the far corners of the world. He also served as rehabilitation officer on Guam and

Willis R. Casey

Assistant Athletic Director and Swimming Coach

Jack-of-all trades on the State athletic staff is Willis Casey, who has one of the most impressive records as any tank coach in the Southern Conference. Besides his coaching duties, Casey handles much of the business of the athletic department, is manager of both the Dixie Classic and Southern Conference basketball tournaments, and pitches in to assist in running off track and cross country meets.

Willis R. Casey

Casey's record as swimming coach is slightly terrific. Although only 32 years old he has amassed a record of 123 victories against only 12 losses in seven years as head tank coach at N. C. State. His 1952 Wolfpack team won 14 and lost once and as individuals won eight Southern Conference titles. During his 10 years of coaching in the Southern Conference, he has nine times won the Carolinas A.A.U. title and copped five Southern A.A.U. crowns.

Over the years Casey has coached many successful swimmers, including 40 boys who were National Junior Champions of America. Standouts of the past year include Frank Nauss, Southern Conference 1,500, 440 and 220 champion, who is also a member of the All-America team in the 440-yard free style, Bob Mattson, Southern Conference 150-yard individual medley, and 150-yard breaststroke champion, also a member of the 1952 All-America medley team.

Willis is a graduate of the University of North Carolina where he majored in Physical Education. He was a champion swimmer in his undergraduate days and one of the top breaststrokers in the nation. After graduation from Carolina he remained as swimming coach for two years before coming to N. C. State in 1946.

Casey has been instrumental in not only raising the standard of swimming teams at N. C. State, but he has also assisted greatly in improving track and cross country teams. He began the North Carolina Cross-Country Championships, which are held annually at State and also instigated the first Big Four All-Star track and field meet, which is held each year. Casey was recently elected as secretary of the Southern Conference Cross Country Coaches Association and is also a member of the Southern Conference Swimming Committee.

Head Trainer Merle J. McIntosh

Newest addition to the N. C. State athletic staff is Trainer Red McIntosh, who comes to West Raleigh via the University of Arizona and Rhode Island State University. McIntosh reported for duty on September 6.

A native of Newcastle, Pa. Red was an outstanding football player in 1929. In 1930 Red enrolled at Duke University as a player under Coach Wallace Wade and saw service with the Blue Devils for two years before leaving that institution to play professional football. For two years he barnstormed around the country until he signed with the Cleveland Rams.

In 1936 McIntosh returned to college, enrolling at Slippery Rock Teachers College at Slippery Rock, Pa. As an undergraduate he also assisted with the football team as line coach. During McIntosh's stay at Slippery Rock that institution ran up a string of 23 straight football victories that extended over three seasons.

After leaving Slippery Rock in 1940, Red was football coach at Emerson High School in Union City, N. J. for a period of four years. In 1944 McIntosh accepted a job as assistant football coach and trainer at Rhode Island State. During his eight year stay with the Rhodies, McIntosh took time off to study physio-therapy at New York University, and serve an internship at St. Joseph's Hospital in Providence, R. I.

McIntosh holds a degree in physical education from Slippery Rock Teachers College and has completed graduate work in physio-therapy at New York University. While at Rhode Island he was an instructor and assistant professor of physical education.

Trainer McIntosh has wide experience in treating all types of athletic injuries. Rhode Island Football Coach Ed Doherty says, "Red McIntosh can rehabilitate an injury faster than anyone I've seen in the business." Other Rhode Island coaches attribute much of the success of the Rams great basketball teams to the skill and savvy exhibited by McIntosh. Frank Keaney, former cage coach, and H. C. Haire, present basketball mentor, both are high in their praise of McIntosh's ability as a trainer. Fred Tootell, Rhode Island track coach, says "If Red McIntosh can't get 'em ready to run, there's no hope."

The new State trainer was to have accepted a position at the University of Arizona on Sept. 1, but when he was offered the opportunity to join the staff at West Raleigh he requested to be released from his contract at Tuscon in order to report to the Wolfpack.

RIDDICK STADIUM

Riddick Stadium, present site of North Carolina State's home football contests, was started in 1907 as an athletic field and the first football contest was played on September 30, 1907 between State and Randolph-Macon.

In 1912 the stadium received its present name when the senior class voted to name the field in honor of Professor W. C. Riddick, who is regarded as the father of athletics at North Carolina State.

Construction of the concrete stands on the west side was begun in the summer of 1916 and during that year football contests were held at Raleigh with Davidson and Wake Forest.

In 1928 the stadium was enlarged and the east stands were completed. The field house and present lighting system were completed during the 1938-39 seasons.

Many changes have taken place in the physical field as it now exists. Once it was level with surrounding ground, but grading and new construction has lowered the present field until it is approximately eight to ten feet below the level of the surrounding earth.

During recent years the large crowds attending contests in Riddick Stadium have forced athletic officials to increase the seating capacity by adding extra bleachers at both ends of the playing field. The structure, which once could care for only 5,000 persons in 1916 can now accommodate a gathering of about 20,000 people.

Head Coach Horace (Horse) Hendrickson

Taking over the football coaching reins at N. C. State this year is Horace Hendrickson, former Duke University football star, who has been in the coaching field for the past 18-years. He brings a wealth of experience to his first head coaching job in the Southern Conference, which includes positions at Duke, Elon College, University of Pennsylvania and with the professional Brooklyn Dodgers.

HORACE HENDRICKSON
Head Football Coach
N C State

A native of Beaver Falls, Pa., Hendrickson attended Kiski Prep and was a standout performer on football, baseball and basketball teams. In 1930 he entered Duke and went on to become one of that institution's greatest all-around athletes, starring as quarterback of the Blue Devils first Southern Conference championship team, as regular third baseman on Coach Jack Coombs baseball squad and earning letters as a basketball regular under Coach Eddie Cameron. He is one of the few three sport-lettermen in Duke athletic history.

Wallace Wade, now commissioner of the Southern Conference, who coached Hendrickson at Duke, rates the new Wolfpack football coach as one of the greatest quarterbacks he ever coached. Wade's career covers nearly a half-century of coaching great teams at Alabama and Duke. Hendrickson achieved his nickname "The Horse" during his senior year at Duke when he played every position in the Blue Devil backfield.

Hendrickson's football achievements at Duke were many. He was selected to the All-American first-team and was a standout in the 1933 game with Tennessee, which Duke won 10-2. Hendrickson was also voted to several All-America blocking teams.

After his graduation in 1934 from Duke, Hendrickson was named assistant freshman coach by Wallace Wade. He remained in that capacity through June 1937 and also assisted in basketball and baseball.

In the summer of 1937 Hendrickson was selected to his first head coaching job at Elon College and it was the start of one of the most successful connections ever made by the Fighting Christians. During the five years from 1937 through 1941 that Hendrickson guided the destinies of Elon, the football squad won two North State Conference championships, two in basketball and three in baseball. Hendrickson was head coach of all three sports as well as athletic director. His football teams, meeting the best in the North State, won 32, lost 12 and tied 1.

After a highly successful 1941 season when the Elon Christians won eight and lost only once and claimed the North State Conference crown, Hendrickson resigned to move to the University of Pennsylvania as backfield coach under George Munger and head baseball coach. Hendrickson served as chief scout for Munger's Pennsylvania Quakers, who won the Ivy League title each year during Hendrickson's stay between 1942 and 1948.

Hendrickson resigned at Pennsylvania in 1948 to join Carl Voyles with the now defunct Brooklyn Dodgers of the National Football League. In the Dodger organization Hendrickson scouted for the baseball team and handled the backfield coaching job.

When the Brooklyn team decided to withdraw its football interests from the professional game Hendrickson had several offers of coaching assignments, but his love of North Carolina drew him back to his alma mater, Duke University, where he was named head freshman coach of football, baseball and basketball.

Hendrickson's second job at Duke was a highly successful venture as all his other assignments had been. His first Blue Imp freshman football squad was undefeated in six games during the 1949 season and ranks as one of the best yearling teams ever produced at Duke. In 1950 Hendrickson's freshman team won three and lost two. Among the victories was a 19-0 win scored over an N. C. State freshman team, which was one of the best turned out at West Raleigh.

When State began a search for a new backfield coach in the summer of 1951, Hendrickson was recommended for the position and was immediately signed to a three-year contract. He assumed his duties on August 1, 1951, and took over as chief scout in addition to his backfield coaching job.

In December, 1951, when the State Athletic Council began a search for a new football coach they had to look no further than their own staff to pick a successor to Beattie Feathers. Hendrickson was given the approval of the council and was signed to a three-year contract. He immediately assumed the duties and began to lay plans for the 1952 season.

A thorough student of football, Hendrickson has had experience with all styles of play. He began to switch from the single-wing to the split T-formation in spring practice in April and succeeded in moulding the squad into the new style of play in time to impress observers in the annual Red-White intra-squad contest in May.

Hendrickson faces a big task with the 1952 Wolfpack, but its one that he is tackling with a determination that has characterized his entire coaching career, which has never been marred by a losing season. He predicts no miracles with his first Wolfpack team, but those who know "The Horse" feel that he will give State one of its better clubs. Hendrickson's lifetime record as a head coach shows 41 victories, 14 defeats and only one tie. During five years in the tough North State Conference at Elon his teams lost only five league games and were never beaten by more than two touchdowns. At Duke as freshman mentor his teams won nine and lost only twice and his Blue Imps were regarded as the best coached yearling team in the Southern Conference.

At Duke Hendrickson was an outstanding campus leader as well as one of the greatest athletes in that institution's history. He graduated with honors with a Bachelor of Arts degree in History and a minor in Education.

POWER

Power . . . to some, may be represented in the driving piston-like legs of a fullback, churning his way through a mass of unyielding humanity. Still . . . to another person, it may bring to mind the lifting of tons of earth with one scoop of a giant shovel or perhaps a big diesel engine pulling a mile long string of freight cars.

All of us . . . at some time, have thrilled to a display of power in one form or another . . . and realize that progress is dependent upon power.

Yes, this country depends on power of all kinds . . . particularly electric power. That's why electric companies, like Carolina Power & Light Company, make sure that a plentiful supply of power is available.

Carolina Power & Light Company is now engaged in the biggest program of expansion in its history . . . a $100 million program that offers reasonable assurance that everybody in this area who wants electric power, may continue to have it . . . when . . . where, and in whatever quantity it is needed, at the flick of a switch.

Backfield Coach Billy Hickman

A T-formation quarterback with wide and varied experience, Billy Hickman is a valuable addition to Coach Horace Hendrickson's coaching staff. Like Mike Karmazin, Hickman assumed his new duties at State last March in time to assist with off-season drills.

WILLIAM HICKMAN
Backfield Coach
N. C. State

Hickman, a native of Baltimore, Md., has earned five varsity monograms, four at the University of Virginia and one at Maryland. After a highly successful prep school career at Baltimore Polytechnic, Billy entered Maryland in 1943 and played regular at quarterback as a freshman under Coach Doc Spears.

In 1944 Hickman was inducted into the Navy training program and assigned to the University of Virginia where he played football under Coach Art Guepe for one season before going to Cuba for another Navy assignment. In 1946 Hickman was discharged from the service and entered Virginia. He was a regular quarterback for Coach Guepe for the next three seasons, 46-47-48 and one of the stars of the team. During his stay at Charlottesville Hickman played every position in the Virginia backfield on both offense and defense.

After taking a degree in Mechanical Engineering in 1948 Hickman remained at the University of Virginia to help Coach Art Guepe with the Cavalier backfield. After two years at Virginia, Billy moved to Duke University at Durham, N. C. in 1950 where he helped Coach Wallace Wade set up defenses against the T-formation.

In 1951 Hickman accepted a position with the Elliott Machine Corp. of Baltimore, Md. as a consulting engineer. During the fall he kept his hand in football by doing some scouting for Coach Guepe at the University of Virginia.

Last March when Coach Hendrickson began a search for a T-formation specialist, Hickman was recommended to him most highly by several leading coaches. A call to Baltimore brought an interview with Billy and after two weeks of negotiations, Hickman finally agreed to return to the coaching field and take the post at N. C. State.

A very serious student of the T-formation, Hickman has become a virtual authority on the subject as far as the Wolfpack staff is concerned.

Line Coach Mike Karmazin

Big, likable Mike Karmazin joined the State football staff last March in time to assist Coach Hendrickson with the installation of the brand new split T-formation attack for the Wolfpack.

A native of Irwin, Pa., Mike has a rich football background both as player and coach. After making all-state at Norwin (Pa.) High as a guard in 1939, Karmazin cast his football future with Duke's Blue Devils at Durham, N. C. where he was to become one of the Big Blues best forwards.

Karmazin was an All-Southern under Coach Wallace Wade for two years, 1940-41 and was regarded as one of the best running guards ever to play for Duke. He was selected to the All-America second-team and made a first-team selection on the All-America Blocking squad. Mike was one of the mainstays of the Duke Rose Bowl team which met Oregon State in the transplanted contest at Durham, Jan. 1, 1942.

Mike entered the Coast Guard in 1942 and served for three years before returning to Duke to complete work on a Bachelor's Degree in History. At Duke he was assistant under Coach Wade during his undergraduate days.

Karmazin decided to take a crack at professional football in 1946 and played two seasons with the New York Yankees. During both seasons in the play-for-pay ranks the Yankee team was runners-up to the Cleveland Browns for the pro championship. Karmazin returned to Duke in 1948 to assist with the Duke defenses and remained with the Blue Devils until 1951 when he was named head coach at Fork Union Military Academy, Fork Union, Va. His 1951 team had a record of five wins and four defeats.

When Horace Hendrickson was named head coach at State he immediately sought Karmazin's services to help install the T-formation attack for the Wolfpack. Mike agreed to terms and immediately moved his headquarters to Raleigh where he and his wife, Betty and their two-year old daughter now make their home.

Although only 33 years old Karmazin is regarded by Hendrickson as one of the best young football coaches in the business. At State Mike will have charge of all line play and will concentrate his work on developing offensive blocking assignments, a department in which he excelled as a player.
