OCTOBER 10, 1953, RIDDICK STADIUM

A vintage advertisement for Lucky Strike cigarettes. The background is a light blue gradient. Three women are depicted in a stylized, mid-century modern aesthetic. The woman at the top left has blonde, curly hair and is shouting into a large red megaphone. The woman at the top right has dark, styled hair and is pointing towards the center. The woman at the bottom left has blonde, curly hair and is holding a black umbrella. In the center, a pack of Lucky Strike cigarettes is shown, with two cigarettes protruding from the top. The pack is white with a red circular logo containing the words 'LUCKY STRIKE' and 'IT'S TOASTED'. A red banner is draped across the middle of the pack.

HEAD COACH

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

EDDIE WEST—Sophomore—195-lbs., 6-3,
19, Alexandria, Va.

Played both quarter and half last year and learned much as freshman. Currently rates as the top quarterback on the State squad and on his performance may rest the success or failure of the Wolfpack team.

PERCY RIDEN—Senior—220-lbs., 6-2, 22,
Lewistown, Pa.

Although he has yet to earn a varsity letter, Riden has been used often as a reserve at tackle. Last year he showed most improvement and is due to see plenty of service this season.

CARL WYLES—Senior—185-lbs., 5-9, 22,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Saw plenty of action last year in early games and is definitely one of leading quarterback candidates on the squad. Is excellent passer, but has plenty to learn about defensive play and ball-handling.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

JOE BARRINGER—Sophomore—195-lbs., 6-0, 19, Jacksonville, N. C.

A real hard runner. Barringer can play both offense and defense with equal ability. Picks his field well and is regarded as second only to Langston as a runner. Needs to learn a bit more about the T-formation.

CHRIS FRAENHOFER—Senior—184-lbs., 5-11, 22, Kenmore, N. Y.

Perhaps the best defensive halfback on the State team last year, Fraenhof saw little offensive duty. However in Spring game he blossomed forth into a good runner and pass receiver.

TED KILYK—Sophomore—185-lbs., 6-1, 19, Phoenixville, Pa.

Scored two touchdowns last year as strictly a defensive player, using one intercepted pass and returning one punt for a score. Kilyk is the leading candidate for the right halfback position.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

HARRY LODGE—Senior—185-lbs., 6-0, 20, Blauwnox, Pa.

Most experienced of the returning end lettermen, Lodge has played extensively for the past two years, earning his letter as freshman in 1951. Can handle both offensive and defensive jobs without impairing team and does top job both ways.

HENRY BROWN — Sophomore — 190-lbs., 6-1, 22, Lexington, N. C.

Earned varsity letter last year as freshman defensive halfback, but was converted to end position in Spring with excellent results. Likely will be one of the best ends on present team and can be expected to see extensive action.

ALBERT D'ANGELO—Sophomore— 190-lbs., 5-10, 19, Greensburgh, Pa.

One of the best guard prospects since All-Southern Bernie Watts and Charlie Musser at State, D'Angelo is the pride and joy of the coaching staff. He has a quick, powerful charge on defense and is perhaps the best offensive blocker on the squad.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

TONY LEONE—Sophomore—220-lbs., 6-0,
22, Bronx, N. Y.

With some additional speed, Leone may become a regular at this position before season is over. Does fine job on both offense and defense and is learning fast. Outstanding prep school lineman at New York Military Academy before coming to State.

FINLEY REED—Sophomore—193-lbs., 6-3,
20, Warrenton, N. C.

Suffered broken ankle in pre-season drills last September and did not return to work-outs until late November. Played briefly against Texas Tech. Has fine potentialities and is rated as one of the best end prospects in several years at State.

DAVID GEBHARDT—Sophomore—187-lbs.,
6-0, 20, Oaks, Penn.

Saw some varsity action last year on defense and has the speed and maneuverability to develop into good offensive player also. Likely will be used more frequently this season. Spirited performer, who loves the game and is inspiration to his teammates.

Best Wishes for a Successful Season

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

EDWIN MAZGAJ—Junior—200-lbs., 6-0, 29, Lacksawanna, N. Y.

Broken shoulder kept him out of action as freshman, but Mazgaj came back last year to see more extensive action, although he was hampered by a wrist hurt. Expected to be one of the better guards on team and could rate starting nod.

BEN KAPP—Senior—215-lbs., 6-0, 21, Paterson, N. J.

Coming into his own last year after reserve roles during freshman and sophomore seasons, Kapp is likely to be one of the Wolfpack's key linemen. Is rugged defensive player and last year developed considerably as offensive blocker.

DEWEY STALLINGS—Sophomore—220-lbs., 6-1, 19, Wallace, N. C.

Converted from tackle to center this big fellow is potentially an outstanding addition to the ranks of the center candidates. He'll need to get experience in offensive play, but can play defensive football with the best on the current Wolfpack team.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

WILLIAM TEER—Junior—190-lbs., 6-0, 21, Hillsboro, N. C.

Used extensively on defense last year Teer also has the ability to do a good job on offense. A good pass receiver and fine runner. Bill Teer could become a surprisingly good football player before many games. Although lacking in experience he will be a key man in State's hopes for the '53 season.

JAMES FRAZIER—Junior—193-lbs., 5-10, 20, Goldsboro, N. C.

Another up-and-coming prospect at guard, who is certain to see more service this year. Used primarily as reserve for two years. Frazier is improved over past seasons. Has speed and good defensive ability. Needs work on offensive blocking, but is developing rapidly. Good spirited performer and is willing to learn.

RALPH MUELLER—Junior—200-lbs., 6-0, 21, Paterson, N. J.

Although used only briefly last year, Mueller is perhaps one of the best offensive centers on the team. Defensively he has had little experience, but may get the chance to play both ways this year. Center spot is wide open and anyone of the four top candidates could get the starting nod. Mueller is a hard-worker and has improved steadily since freshman year.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

DICK TONN—Sophomore—210-lbs., 5-11, 20, Cleveland, Ohio

Although he played mostly on defensive last year, Tonn learned to do good offensive job in Spring game. Is tough linebacker on defense and is coming along fast as accurate ball-snapper and offensive blocker.

MIKE NARDONE—Sophomore—185-lbs., 5-9, 20, Peekskill, N. Y.

Saw freshman action as defensive linebacker, but was converted to guard in Spring practice. Shows promise of developing into first-rate performer. Is rough and tough tackler and is best on defense.

DON LANGSTON—Junior—190-lbs., 6-0, 21, Lexington, Ky.

Most consistent ground gainer last year, Langston is the backbone of State's offensive punch and does a fine job on defensive work. Hard running, clever broken-field man, Don gained 499 yards on 100 tries last year for almost five yards per try.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

JOHN ZUBATY—Sophomore—188-lbs., 6-0,
19, Blairsville, Pa.

Used extensively last year as both offensive and defensive halfback last year Zubaty exhibited some fine ability and caught seven passes, scoring one touchdown.

HENRY SPIVEY—Sophomore—235-lbs., 6-4, 20, Weldon, N. C.

Big, powerful Spivey is fast becoming one of State's best linemen. As a freshman last season he earned a varsity letter and turned in topnotch job as defensive player.

KEN URGOVITCH—Junior—210-lbs., 6-2,
21, Garfield, N. J.

One of the most improved players on the current State squad, Urgovitch along with Kapp gives State two fine left tackles.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PLAYERS

MONTE SEEHORN—Junior—175-lbs., 5-10, 20, Marion, N. C.
Hampered by shoulder injury last year, Seehorn likely will be used as reserve this year. Has good speed and is coming defensive player. Needs experience in T-formation, but has shown improvement over freshman year. Fine pass receiver and can be counted on when in lineup.

CHARLES DAVIS—Sophomore—205-lbs., 5-11, 20, Goldsboro, N. C.
Hard-working Davis is developing fast and is due to see more extensive action this year. Has good offensive blocking ability and is working to improve defensive play. Always a hustler, this lad could become one of the most important linemen on the Wolf-pack squad. Needs experience, but likely will get it this year.

Notes from The Wolfpackage

By ED STOREY, Director of Athletic Publicity

State and Davidson are meeting for the 44th time tonight and its one of the longest continuous football rivalries in the South. The record books shows State has won 26, Davidson 11 with six contests ending in a tie. The series began back in 1899.

Tonight both teams are seeking their first victory of the 1953 season. Davidson lost to Georgia Tech by 53-0 and Richmond, 16-0, while State has bowed to Carolina, 29-7 and George Washington 20-7.

The Wolfpack and the Wildcats each have relatively small squads this year, but both have some fine football talent. State will field a 30-man squad tonight with Coach Bill Dole expected to bring a 29-man squad representing Davidson. Twenty-five lettermen are listed on the Davidson roster with State having 14.

State is particularly proud of several men in uniform tonight. Sophomore Guard Al D'Angelo of Greensburgh, Pa., is one example of the outstanding talent on the Wolfpack team. D'Angelo, a 193-pounder, has played 56 minutes in both the Carolina and George Washington contests. He accounted for 12 unassisted tackles last week against GW and helped out on a dozen more. D'Angelo threw Colonial backs for a total of 31 yards loss and one occasion he broke through to pitch Quarterback Joe Strum for a 13-yard loss that stopped a George Washington march.

Three men played 60 minutes last week against GW, including Quarterback Eddie West, Halfback Chris Frauenhofer and End Henry Brown. They may be called upon to go the distance again tonight along with other State players.

Fullback Don Langston is another outstanding State player. A junior from Lexington, Ky., who weighs 195-pounds, Langston was the No. 2 individual rushing star of the Southern Conference last year and is already doing a terrific job this season. Other important Wolfpack men are Guard Ed Mazgaj, Tackles Ken Urgovitch and Bob Dunnigan and End Harry Lodge.

In losing to both Carolina and George Washington, State has amassed nearly 500 offensive yards, leading both previous opponents in first downs. Defensive mistakes have cost State five of the seven touchdowns scored against them thus far. Neither Carolina nor George Washington ran the ball down the Wolfpack's throats and it's not likely that any team will do that this season.

Davidson, too, has its share of players who deserves a prominent spot in any pre-game analysis of tonight's contest. Halfback Jimmy Thacker is rated one of the finest runners in the South and he has played brilliantly this year. Thacker, a junior from Rome, Ga., averaged 6.5 yards per carry last year, gaining 536 yards. Quarterback Johnny Gray is another key man, who is an excellent passer along with Henry Brown, a Carrollton, Ga. junior.

The 'Cats have some topflight linemen in Center Harry Petersen, End Charlie Cousar, Guard Dickie Davis and Tackle Neil Graham. They carry the load up front in the Davidson wall and you'll find they give the opposition plenty of trouble. Also watch Fullbacks LeRoy Fargason and Jim Broughton.

Next week State is at home for another clash with an old rival, Wake Forest's Demon Deacons. This series, like the one with Davidson tonight, has been a long continuous rivalry. It's a night contest with the kickoff slated for 8 p.m. If you haven't already gotten a ticket, we'd like to suggest that you pick one up right away either in downtown Raleigh at Lanier-Womble's on Fayetteville Street or at the Coliseum Box Office. Its certain to be another fine contest, one that you won't want to miss.

Backfield Coach Billy Hickman

A T-formation quarterback with wide and varied experience, Billy Hickman is a valuable man on Coach Horace Hendrickson's coaching staff. Like Mike Karmazin, Hickman assumed his new duties at State March, 1952 in time to assist with off-season drills.

WILLIAM HICKMAN
Backfield Coach
N. C. State

After taking a degree in Mechanical Engineering in 1948 Hickman remained at the University of Virginia to help Coach Art Guepe with the Cavalier backfield. After two years at Virginia, Billy moved to Duke University at Durham, N. C. in 1950 where he helped Coach Wallace Wade set up defenses against the T-formation.

In 1951 Hickman accepted a position with the Elliott Machine Corp. of Baltimore, Md. as a consulting engineer. During the fall he kept his hand in football by doing some scouting for Coach Guepe at the University of Virginia.

When Coach Hendrickson began a search for a T-formation specialist, Hickman was recommended to him most highly by several leading coaches. A call to Baltimore brought an interview with Billy and after two weeks of negotiations, Hickman finally agreed to return to the coaching field and take the post at N. C. State.

A very serious student of the T-formation, Hickman has become a virtual authority on the subject as far as the Wolfpack staff is concerned. He has set-up complete books for every member of the State team on the split T.

Hickman, a native of Baltimore, Md., has earned five varsity monograms, four at the University of Virginia and one at Maryland. After a highly successful prep school career at Baltimore Polytechnic, Billy entered Maryland in 1943 and played regular at quarterback as a freshman under Coach Doc Spears.

In 1944 Hickman was inducted into the Navy training program and assigned to the University of Virginia where he played football under Coach Art Guepe for one season before going to Cuba for another Navy assignment. In 1946 Hickman was discharged from the service and entered Virginia. He was a regular quarterback for Coach Guepe for the next three seasons, 46-47-48 and one of the stars of the team. During his stay at Charlottesville Hickman played every position in the Virginia backfield on both offense and defense.

Line Coach Mike Karmazin

Big, likable Mike Karmazin joined the State football staff in March, 1952 in time to assist Coach Hendrickson with the installation of the split T-formation attack of the Wolfpack.

A native of Irwin, Pa., Mike has a rich football background both as player and coach. After making all-state at Norwin (Pa.) High as a guard in 1939, Karmazin cast his football future with Duke's Blue Devils at Durham, N. C. where he was to become one of the Big Blues best forwards.

Karmazin was an All-Southern under Coach Wallace Wade for two years, 1940-41 and was regarded as one of the best running guards ever to play for Duke. He was selected to the All-America second-team and made a first-team selection on the All-America Blocking squad. Mike was one of the mainstays of the Duke Rose Bowl team which met Oregon State in the transplanted contest at Durham, Jan. 1, 1942.

Mike entered the Coast Guard in 1942 and served for three years before returning to Duke to complete work on a Bachelor's Degree in History. At Duke he was assistant under Coach Wade during his undergraduate days.

Karmazin decided to take a crack at professional football in 1946 and played two seasons with the New York Yankees. During both seasons in the play-for-pay ranks the Yankee team was runner-up to the Cleveland Browns for the pro championship. Karmazin returned to Duke in 1948 to assist with the Duke defenses and remained with the Blue Devils until 1951 when he was named head coach at Fort Union Military Academy, Fort Union, Va. His 1951 team had a record of five wins and four defeats.

When Horace Hendrickson was named head coach at State he immediately sought Karmazin's services to help install the T-formation attack for the Wolfpack. Mike agreed to terms and immediately moved his headquarters to Raleigh where he and his wife, Betty and their three year old daughter now make their home in Country Club Homes.

Although only 33 years old Karmazin is regarded by Hendrickson as one of the best young football coaches in the business. At State Mike has charge of all line play and will concentrate his work on developing offensive blocking assignments, a department in which he excelled as a player.

C. A. (Tim) Temerario — End Coach

The appointment of C. A. (Tim) Temerario, former end coach and chief scout with the Cleveland Browns as football end coach and defensive coach at North Carolina State College was announced April, 1952 by Dr. H. A. Fisher, chairman of the college athletic council.

C. A. (TIM) TEMERARIO
End Coach
N. C. State

Temerario, a native of Lorraine, Ohio, has an extensive background in both collegiate and professional football circles. A graduate of Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pa., with a Bachelor of Science degree in Education, Temerario holds a Master's degree in Education from Indiana University and has completed a major portion of his work toward a doctorate in Physical Education.

Following his collegiate gridiron career at Geneva College and his graduation in 1931, Temerario played one season of professional football before entering the coaching ranks of East Liverpool, Ohio, High School. In 1934 Temerario accepted an appointment as freshman line coach at the University of Indiana and remained until 1938 when he moved to Denison University as football line coach and head baseball coach.

At Denison Temerario served as assistant professor of Physical Education and worked in both football and baseball. In 1941 Temerario left Denison to become a physical education instructor at Indiana University and football end coach under Coach Bo McMillian.

Temerario entered the Navy in 1942 and served in the V-5 program under Coach Tom Hamilton. His first assignment was at the Iowa Pre-Flight School at Iowa City, Iowa, where he worked with Bernie Bierman, former Minnesota coach as head of athletic department and assistant football coach.

During his Navy service Temerario saw overseas duty in both the Philippines and during the invasion of Normandy. He was twice commended during the invasion of France.

Temerario was released from the Navy in September of 1945 and immediately took over as head line coach at Indiana University. He remained at Indiana through 1947 when he joined Coach Bo McMillian in a move to the professional Detroit Lions. Temerario remained with the Lions through 1949 when he switched to the Cleveland Browns.

Head Trainer Merle J. McIntosh

Trainer Red McIntosh, came to West Raleigh via the University of Arizona and Rhode Island State University. McIntosh reported for duty on September 6, 1952.

A native of Newcastle, Pa. Red was an outstanding football player in 1929. In 1930 Red enrolled at Duke University as a player under Coach Wallace Wade and saw service with the Blue Devils for two years before leaving that institution to play professional football. For two years he barnstormed around the country until he signed with the Cleveland Rams.

In 1936 McIntosh returned to college, enrolling at Slippy Rock Teachers College at Slippy Rock, Pa. As an undergraduate he also assisted with the football team as line coach. During McIntosh's stay at Slippy Rock that institution ran up a string of 23 straight football victories that extended over three seasons.

After leaving Slippy Rock in 1940, Red was football coach at Emerson High School in Union City, N. J. for a period of four years. In 1944 McIntosh accepted a job as assistant football coach and trainer at Rhode Island State. During his eight years stay with the Rhodies, McIntosh took time off to study physio-therapy at New York University, and serve an internship at St. Joseph's Hospital in Providence, R. I.

McIntosh holds a degree in physical education from Slippy Rock Teachers College and has completed graduate work in physio-therapy at New York University. While at Rhode Island he was an instructor and assistant professor of physical education.

Trainer McIntosh has wide experience in treating all types of athletic injuries. Rhode Island Football Coach Ed Doherty says, "Red McIntosh can rehabilitate an injury faster than anyone I've seen in the business." Other Rhode Island coaches attribute much of the success of the Rams great basketball teams to the skill and savvy exhibited by McIntosh. Frank Keaney, former cage coach, and H. C. Haire, present basketball mentor, both are high in their praise of McIntosh's ability as a trainer. Fred Tootell, Rhode Island track coach says "If Red McIntosh can't get 'em ready to run, there's no hope."

The Head Coach

William "Bill" Dole

When Bill Dole took the reins of Davidson's sagging football fortunes last year, with but a few months ahead to make the Wildcats at least have 11 men on the field, many an eye-brow was raised in speculation.

Dole's tremendous success with his first Davidson College football team in 1952 not only raised those eye-brows higher, some even left the forehead entirely in tremendous enthusiasm over the return of the old-time Davidson fighting spirit that Dole has given his youthful team.

True, Bill Dole's first Davidson team won but two games in nine tries, but when the facts are given thorough consideration, it can be seen that the accomplishments of 1952 were done with approximately 33 men, almost half of whom were freshmen.

Bill Dole greeted his first day at Kalamazoo, Michigan, where he spent his boy-hood and high schools days. After graduation from high school Bill entered Michigan State, where he remained one year before transferring to the University of West Virginia.

An injury hampered his varsity competition at West Virginia, where he received his bachelor's degree in 1932. Dole then went to work on his Master's degree, which he received from New York University in 1936.

Dole studied abroad in Germany in 1933, and upon his return to the states began assuming various educational responsibilities. He was named president of the West Virginia State Physical Education Association in 1934, and when he moved into North Carolina circles after the war he was named as a member of the North Carolina High School Athletic Executive Committee in 1946-47-48. Dole organized the first state high school basketball tournament in North Carolina, held under the auspices of the state at Duke University in 1948.

Dole began his coaching career in high school football in West Virginia after his graduation from the University there. He coached at Beaver High in Bluefield, W. Va., for seven years, producing an undefeated team in 1940.

After World War II, Bill moved to North Carolina, where his coaching "know-how" burst forth in a hurry at Fayetteville High School where he had two straight championship elevens in 1947 and 1948.

With his name becoming so well known at Fayetteville, it was only natural that Bill's next move would be into the collegiate ranks, and the likable sandy-haired mentor heeded the call to Eastern Carolina College. He gathered in the reins of the faltering Pirates in splendid fashion, and in his very first year his ECC team won 4 out of nine games. The next season saw the Pirates become the scourge of the North State Conference as the ECC gridders won 7 out of ten.

When Crowell Little resigned at Davidson in the late spring of 1952 to enter the business world, the Davidson authorities were quick to seek Bill Dole, and the very popular Wildcat boss was quick to win their confidence, as well as the extreme confidence of writers, fans, friends and alumni with a spectacular showing with his first Wildcat squad last season.

This season will be but another step Bill Dole is taking towards making the Davidson Wildcats a respected football opponent in Southern Conference competition, and though he expects better things from his young stalwarts this year, his bright eyes are fastened on 1954 and 1955.

Bill is married to his former college sweetheart, the lovely Helen Elizabeth Williams, of Beckley, West Virginia. The Doles have one son, Bill, Jr., aged 11.
