

CALS Undergraduate Journal Club (UJC) Constitution

MISSION

To prepare the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences undergraduates for post graduate plans in scientific fields. The journal club will help students to become familiar with advanced literature in science and will help to improve students' skills of understanding, presenting, and debating current topics of active research.

ORGANIZATION AND DEVELOPMENT

The CALS UJC will have biweekly meetings. There will be two journal articles presented at each meeting. The journal article to be presented must be sent out two weeks before the presentation. Journal Club presentations can be paired or individually presented. The Journal Club focus is open to all CALS sciences.

MEMBERSHIP and OFFICERS

The CALS Undergraduate Journal Club is open to any undergraduate in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences. Officers are by volunteer basis and are required to fulfill their duties of organizing the meetings, dates, and location(s) for the year.

DUES

There are no dues required for this organization.

AMENDING THE CONSTITUTION

The CALS UJC advisor and meeting coordinator have the power to amend the constitution at any time of the year.
